COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1951. 139th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 32. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 1951. No. 21.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 13, 1951.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. LOUIS LYTLE, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Houtzdale, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Gracious Lord and Father of us all, we unite our hearts and minds in a common purpose and brotherhood. By Thy grace our Nation was brought into being, and Thou hast made her great. We thank Thee. Day by day we invoke Thy presence and counsel, that we may continue to build upon those foundations that have been laid—of justice and equity for all.

These are days of great trial and testing for our Nation. Many of our young men and women are facing danger and death for the things we treasure and believe to be right. May their sacrifices not be in vain. May Thy presence and blessing be with them and with the leadership both of our Nation and of our great Commonwealth.

May we be free from unreasonable pride, from selfishness and all unworthy motives. May we be true to the high trust that has been committed to us. Give us wisdom and guidance in the performance of our tasks. May our labors be blessed, is our prayer in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. MALLERY, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO NAME THE NEW NORTH BRIDGE AT HARRISBURG THE M. HARVEY TAYLOR BRIDGE

In the Senate, March 5, 1951.

It is fitting that the long and distinguished career of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor in business life, civic affairs, and legislative activities be duly recognized.

His faithful and constructive services have had a most beneficent influence on the welfare and the prosperity of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the bridge over the Susquehanna River connecting the State highway system in Cumberland County with the system of State highways in Dauphin County, at Forster Street in the City of Harrisburg, be designated as the M. Harvey Taylor Bridge; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said bridge suitable tablets or markers to perpetuate this resolution.

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, March 12, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur),

That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 19, 1951, at three o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 19, 1951, at four thirty o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE CONCURS IN ADMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 1

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to House Bil No. 1, entitled:

An Act, relating to the civil defense of this State and its coordination with national defense, providing for the establishment of a State Council of Civil Defense, local and district councils of civil defense, Mobile Support Units, prescribing the powers, duties and immunities thereof and of their personnel, authorizing mutual aid compacts, and providing penalties.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 48

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 48, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 3 of the act, approved the eighteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 137), entitled "An act providing for the appointment, powers and control of members of volunteer fire companies as special fire police, and conferring powers on them at fires attended by their fire companies in any city, borough, town and township," by correcting the name of the Pennsylvania Motor Police to the Pennsylvania State Police.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PRESENTATION OF PUPILS FROM BRATTON-McVEYTOWN-OLIVER JOINT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Mr. WADE. We are honored, Mr. President, by a visit from pupils of the Bratton-McVeytown-Oliver Joint School District, the Junior and Senior Classes from this school district, and in particular the class of social studies, and Mr. Robert H. Fleck and Mrs. Steel, their instructors.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would ask the guests of Senator Wade to please rise.

PRESENTATION OF MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS OF MYERSTOWN HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, on behalf of my colleague, Senator Diehm, I would like to present to the Senate the members of the Senior Class of the Myerstown High School, Lebanon County, Pennsylvania, who were brought here by Frederick W. Lantz, the Class Advisor, and Harvey L, Nitrauer, the Supervising Principal. They are in the gallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the guests of Senators Diehm and Kessler please rise in place?

PRESENTATION OF MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS OF PINE GROVE HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, might I interrupt the order of business just long enough to follow in the train of what has gone before. We seem to be very fortunate today in having a number of fine groups of young Americans present in the gallery, and I just find that we have some visitors from Schuylkill County this afternoon, sixty-nine seniors of the Pine Grove High School, under the leadership of Mr. Werley, their Supervising Principal, and Mrs. Ruth Christ, their guidance teacher.

The PRESIDENT. Will the guests of Senator Wagner please rise in place and take a bow?

RECESS

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, for a meeting of the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, when Senator Sordoni's name was submitted for confirmation to the Senate as the Secretary of Commerce, I stated on this floor that although I would vote for Senator Sordoni, I was voting because I had confidence in his executive ability.

Senator Sordoni is a man who, by hard work and by efficiency in his business, has established an enviable name for himself as a successful businessman.

It certainly was no surprise to me that a man of his type who is accustomed to giving a full day's work, found that he was given an empty title and that the Department that he was to head would not require very much attention.

So, in keeping with the way that Senator Sordoni has lived and worked, he refused to accept money for work not done. I believe that the position he has taken has confirmed my statement that this Department is unnecessary and is merely a place where a political party functions for the benefit of the party instead of the State.

I repeat, that it is time for us to cut out all unnecessary expenditures and that should be our first step before we consider new taxes.

This State is overly burdened with taxes and something should be done to bring efficiency and economy back into our State Government.

I also wish to read and place on the record an editorial in the Pittsburgh Press on Monday, March 12, 1951, pertaining to the same subject.

"IS THIS NECESSARY?

"ANDREW J. SORDONI, new head of the State Commerce Department, let some kind of cat out of the bag the other day. He announced he won't draw his $15,000-a-year pay for his State job.

"That's because he isn't going to spend full time on the job.

"Mr. Sordoni is a busy man. He controls 14 companies with 5000 employes and a daily payroll of $50,000. His contracting firm has 127 contracts in seven states and he's a director of a charitable foundation with 80 million dollars.

"He undoubtedly is an able man, and a good choice for the job. But if Mr. Sordoni can run the Commerce Department as a sideline to his many other activities, that raises the question of how important the department is, as an agency of the State Government.

"The Commerce Department was established by Governor Arthur H. James (1939-43) to advertise and 'sell' Pennsylvania to industrialists looking around for a place to build plants.

"Curiously, the first advertising campaign featured Governor James more than it did Pennsylvania. And Mr. James showed up shortly thereafter as a candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

"Mr. James' first Commerce Secretary quit over the matter of what agency handled the State's lush advertising contracts.

"Later administrations have been more peaceful. But the department's payroll usually contains some high-priced personnel whose duties might be construed as more political than governmental.

"Governor Fine's Administration now is casting around for ways and means of raising another 100 or 150 million dollars, on top of the billion dollars the State Government needs every two years.

"One way to cut down the bite on the taxpayer is to cut down on spending. In this connection, we note that the Commerce Department got an appropriation last time of $1,200,000 plus another $225,000 for the State Planning Board. Total: Nearly 1½ million dollars.

"Maybe we ought to have an agency to 'sell' Pennsylvania and make more jobs here. Also, maybe the Commerce Department, like the rest of us, can get along with less, in these days of national emergency.

"It's worth looking into."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I certainly would like to suggest to the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that if he wants to cooperate in cutting down expenses he might look into the cost of printing long-winded editorials in the Legislative Journal. I understand that we do not get that for nothing. May I also suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that he go down and talk to Senator Sordoni, whose praises he has eulogized here on the floor of the Senate so effectively, and find out what that Department is doing.

Mr. President, may I suggest, in all deference to the gentleman of the Senate, that Senator Sordoni, as we all well know, is not the type of man who would occupy a position merely to be a window dressing for anybody, any group or any political party. Senator Sordoni is convinced that the Department of Commerce makes a real, a genuine and a sincere contribution to the industrial and intellectual development of Pennsylvania, and he feels that his years of experience, his ability and his knack of getting things done will in a way make that Department far more effective and far more of a contributory measure than it has ever been before. I think, Mr. President, that before the gentleman from Allegheny starts to criticize what Senator Sordoni is not doing in the Department of Commerce, he should go down and find out what the gentleman really is doing and whether or not the Department is producing.

I have seen reports, Mr. President, from the Department of Commerce, and I have seen some of them since the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Sordoni, has taken charge of that Department, and really it is amazing the things that he has contributed already to the industrial development of this great Commonwealth. By his contacts, through the hundreds of companies that he personally owns and which are interlocked with the great Sordoni empire, he has been able to attract already into Pennsylvania a great number of industries where employment is those industries will help the people of Pennsylvania and he is doing that. He can do more in a day, Mr. President, than a lot of people that we have had in high public offices can do in a week, and because of the fact he has been so liberally rewarded by some omnipotent being and that he has accumulated unto himself so much of the worldly goods, he feels that he is again helping Pennsylvania if he can make a slight gesture toward, perhaps, Sordoni scholarships to help poor people receive an education, and I am sure nobody would complain about that. I would say in all seriousness, before you eliminate even mentally the Department of Commerce under Senator Sordoni, it would pay you to go down two flights and find out what he is doing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would suggest to the Majority Leader that his long-winded statements, too, cost a lot of money.

Mr. President, I am not attacking Senator Sordoni. I am complimenting Senator Sordoni, but I know that the Department of Commerce which the gentleman from Allegheny is praising is not a necessary part of this government. The work that is done there is all duplicated by the Department of Internal Affairs. The Secretary of Internal Affairs does the work and the Department of Commerce gets the records from there, and may I say that I know a little bit more about the Department of Commerce than the Majority Leader does. I have the pay roll of the Department of Commerce and I shall talk on that at length very shortly. After all, you cannot finance campaigns by hiring people in the Commerce Department to do all the political writing for your Party.

ANNUAL ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to take this opportunity of advising the Members of the Senate of the Annual St. Patricks' Day Dinner that we are going to hold at the Penn-Harris Hotel on Tuesday Evening, March 27. The Committee, composed of Members of the House and Members of the Senate, has worked hard in order to get a good entertainment program and a good dinner for you. We are going to have Howard Lanning's Orchestra and several acts of entertainment. I am quite sure that all of you will have a good time.

The tickets are now on sale and they may be procured from any of the Irish Members of the Senate.

Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MEADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MEADE. Mr. President, within the last several weeks there has come to public attention in the City of Philadelphia, and, no doubt, anyone with a historic mind throughout the Nation knows there have been several disastrous fires within the vicinity of our National Shrine, Independence Hall. I am concerned about this not only because I represent the district wherein Independence Hall is situated, but I am concerned as a citizen of not only the Commonwealth but also of America. I feel that such hazard and chance for destruction of a citadel such as we have in the Third Senatorial District should not be endangered by the fact that it may be destroyed by a disastrous fire.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am presenting this resolution not only on behalf of myself but also on behalf of Senator Chapman and Senator Stiefel.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING SECRETARY OF FORESTS AND WATERS TO SUBMIT A REPORT ON PROGRESS TOWARD THE CREATION OF THE INDEPENDENCE HALL MALL

Messrs. MEADE, CHAPMAN and STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, twice during the last month, raging fires from adjacent buildings threatened to engulf and consume our greatest National Shrine—The Independence Hall in the City of Brotherly Love, and

Whereas, the approaching celebration of the One Hundred Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence will again focus the eyes of the Nation on Independence Hall and bring streaming thereto pilgrims from all over the land, and

Whereas, the Independence Hall had been in the past and still is exposed to fire hazards abounding in its surrounding tinderbox area of deteriorating buildings and abandoned lots, and

Whereas, one of the impelling reasons for the creation of the contemplated Independence Hall Mall comprising the area of Philadelphia lying between Fifth and Sixth Streets and extending north of the Independence Hall from Chestnut Street to the Delaware River Bridge Plaza, was the elimination of the fire hazards which in the past have repeatedly threatened the Shrine, and

Whereas, the aforesaid fire hazards as well as the squalid buildings surroundings the Independence Hall are a blemish on the escutcheon of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, the funds appropriated in the past by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania have sufficed for the acquisition of only a part of the area of the contemplateed Independence Hall Mall, namely the block lying between Chestnut and Market Streets and Fifth and Sixth Streets, and

Whereas, any further delays in the asquisition of the remaining area north of Market Street and the ensuing construction of the Independence Hall Mall will endanger the entire project, and

Whereas, the Federal Government is making rapid strides in the creation of the Independence Hall Park that will adjoin at a right angle the Independence Hall Mall and will extend eastward to the Delaware River,

Now Therefore, be it resolved:

(a) That the Secretary of Forests and Waters submit at once to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania a detailed report as to the progress made by his Department toward the creation of the Independence Hall Mall specifying inter alia the approximate date of the completion of the clearance of the block already acquired,

(b) That the Secretary of Forest and Waters submit at once to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania a detailed statement covering the plans of his Department for the possible completion of the Independence Hall Mall during the 1951-1953 Biennium,

(c) That the Joint State Government Commission be instructed to initiate at once an intensive study of the problem of the completion of the Independence Hall Mall in order that suggested appropriate enabling legislation may accompany its reports to be submitted in time for enactment during the current Session of the General Assembly.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. MEADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Mr. FREED asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FREED. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the Senators that over the weekend they check on their abattoirs, butchers and hamburger stands within the State. I have correspondence here that indicates that we are selling in this State horseburgers, not hamburgers, and if we are selling any amount of horseburgers in this State, I think according to the law—the Act is No. 147—definitely says it is not for human consumption. I have in mind one particular place in Bucks County that has had something over nine thousand dollars worth of sales last year for horseburgers. In our town we have it through our public schools. Just two weeks ago a butcher's daughter came in and tried to find out what they must do to stop them from getting horse meat in their butcher shops which they have marked beef and put up in small chunks and sold as of a certain uniform weight.

Mr. President, I believe if we check over our districts at home we may find some horse meat, and let's kick it out of this particular State. Thank you.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 13, 1951.

The House met at 12:00 o'clock noon.
The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend William Hugh Fryer, offered the following prayer:

We pray, O Lord, for all those Thy servants who are responsible for our civic welfare, health and security. May Thy Holy Spirit guide our Councillors that they will have a care only for what will promote good government; and to all others in positions of responsibility give such a sense of duty that no self-interest shall turn them from it. We also remember before Thee those who are employed in our service in dangerous or lowly work, for we are all members one of another and all labour is honorable in Thy sight. Help us each one, to do well the work we have to do, for the good of all, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, March 12, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. TOMPKINS and CLARENCE E. MOORE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1951.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the owner of many acres of land from which natural resources including but not limited to oil, gas, minerals and wood products are obtained; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth has granted leases and operating rights and privileges to others to develop, produce, cut, mine, quarry and carry away said resources; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth proposes to grant additional leases and operating rights and privileges for the aforesaid purpose; and

Whereas, The action and proposed action of the Commonwealth has and will produce considerable revenue; and

Whreas, It is to the best interest of the Commonwealth and the local communities where said resources are located that the greatest amount of good should proceed to them from these operations and should therefore be investigated by the General Assembly; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) that the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to immediately investigate this matter and report on the following:

1. Leases and operating rights granted to others on Commonwealth lands;
2. Protection afforded to the Commonwealth by reason of operations on adjoining lands;
3. Conservation of natural gas in the field to prevent unusual drainage and encroachment of salt water.
4. Use of abandoned gas fields on Commonwealth land as storage reservoirs;
5. The practice of cutting and removal of timber and other wood products, from Commonwealth owned lands;
6. The stripping and mining of coal, clay and other minerals and resources on Commonwealth owned lands;
7. Earmarking of revenue derived from all of the above operations for educational and scholarship purposes; mental health and other welfare projects;
8. Return to the county from which said resources are produced a portion of the revenue derived therefrom;
9. Any other matter germane and relative thereto.

Bomberger,	Cooper,	Headlee,	Lafore,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 96, as follows:

An Act to reenact sections one to nine inclusive of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2803) entitled "An act providing a method of annexation of townships of the first class and parts thereof to cities and boroughs and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto" by making the same applicable in counties of the second class and repealing inconsistent laws excepting as to proceedings now pending

The General Assembl of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Sections one to nine inclusive of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2803) entitled "An act providing a method of annexation of townships of the first class and parts thereof to cities and boroughs and regulating the proceeding pertaining thereto" are hereby reenacted to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That whenever electors equal to at least ten per centum of the highest vote cast for any office in any township of the first class continguous to a city or borough at the last preceding general election or whenever ten per centum of the qualified electors residing within any part of a township of the first class contiguous to a city or borough shall petition the council of such city or borough for the annexation of the township of the first class or part thereof to the contiguous city or borough and for a referendum on the question of such annexation the council shall cause a question to be submitted at the primary election occurring at least sixty days thereafter by certifying a resolution duly adopted to the county commissioners of the county or counties in which any part of the city or borough or the township of the first class is located for submission of such question on the ballot or on voting machines at such election both in such township and in the city or borough to which annexation is desired in the manner provided by the election laws of this Commonwealth

Such question shall be in the following form

Do you favor the annexation of the township of ..... (or the part of the township briefly described) to the city (or borough) of .....?	Yes No	—— ——

If a majority of the persons voting on such question in the entire township and a majority of the persons voting on such question in the city or borough shall vote "yes" then the township of the first class or part thereof as the case may be shall on the first Monday of January next following be and become a part of the city or borough

All petitions shall be accompanied by a plot or plots of the territory to be annexed showing all streets and highways municipal improvements and public buildings and all petitions for the annexation of a part of a township of the first class shall include a description of the part of the township sought to be annexed

Section 2 Until changed in the manner provided by law the township of the first class or part theretof if not divided into wards shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city or of the enlarged borough if such borough is at the time divided into wards and if the township or part of a township at the time of the annexation was divided into wards then each ward of the township or part of a township shall constitute a separate new ward of the enlarged city or borough (if divided into wards) and shall be numbered by the council of the city or borough consecutively beginning with the next highest number after the existing highest numbered ward of the city or borough Until changed in the manner provided by law all election districts in the township of the first class or part thereof shall remain as constituted at the time of the annexation and shall become election districts of the enlarged city or borough All election and other officers of such election districts in office at the time of the taking effect of the annexation shall continue in office until the expiration of their respective terms unless sooner removed as provided by law

Section 3 In the case of the annexation of an entire township of the first class all the indebtedness of the township as well as the indebtedness of the city or borough to which the same is annexed shall be paid by the city or borough as enlarged by such annexation and all territory included within the limits of the same shall be liable for the payment of the floating and bonded indebtedness and the interest thereon of all the territory included within such enlarged city or borough All taxes thereafter levied therefor shall be uniform throughout the territorial limits of the enlarged city or borough

All of the public property owned by any such township shall become and remain the public property of the city or borough to which it is annexed

Section 4 Where any part of any township of the first class is annexed to any city or borough the township officers of that part of the township not annexed and the city or borough council shall make a just and proper adjustment and apportionment of all public property owned by the township at the time of annexation both real and personal including funds as well as of indebtedness if any to and between the township and the city or borough In making such adjustment and apportionment of the property and indebtedness the township and the city or borough shall be entitled respectively to share in a division of the property and indebtedness in the proportion that the assessed valuation of the land remaining in the township bears to the assessed valuation of the land annexed The adjustment and apportionment as made shall be reduced to writing in proper form and duly executed and acknowledged by the proper officials and filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions in the county in which said city is located

Section 5 In case the council of the city or borough and the township authorities cannot make such amicable apportionment and adjustment of their property and indebtedness in compliance with this act within six months after any such annexation then the council or any officer of the township may present a petition to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the city or borough is located whereupon the court shall appoint three disinterested commissioners residents and taxpayers of the county not residing in the city or borough nor in the township who after hearing notice of which shall be given to the city or borough and township interested as the court shall direct shall make report to the court making an apportionment and adjustment of all the property as well as indebtedness if any to and between the city or borough and the township said report to state the amount if any that shall be due and payable from the city or borough to the township or from the township to the city or borough as well as the amount of indebtedness if any that shall be assumed by the city or borough or by the township or both of them

Section 6 The commissioners shall give the city or borough and the township at least five days notice of the filing of their report and unless exceptions are filed thereto by the city or borough or by the township within thirty days after filing thereof the same shall be confirmed by the court absolutely and any sum awarded by said report to the city or borough or to the township shall be a legal and valid claim in its favor against the city or borough or township charged therewith and the amount of debt if any apportioned to any city or borough or township shall be a legal and valid claim against such city or borough or township charged therewith and any property real or personal given and adjudged to the city or borough or the township shall become and be the property of the city or borough or the township to whichever one the same is given and adjudged and upon such report being confirmed such claim or indebtedness charged against any city or borough or against any township may be collected in the same manner as a judgement is collected against any city or borough or township Such commissioners shall be allowed five dollars per day for each day actually spent by them in the performance of their duties together with their actual necessary expenses All costs and expenses of such proceedings shall be apportioned by the court to and between the township as it shall deem proper

In case exceptions are filed to the report of such commissioners the court shall dispose of the same taking testimony therein if deemed advisable and the decision of the court thereon shall be final and binding on the several cities boroughs and townships unless an appeal is taken within thirty days to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases

Section 7 In cases in which such cities boroughs or townships of the first class are situated in two or more counties the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the city or borough is located shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the matter but the same shall be heard by a judge not a resident of either of the judicial districts affected who shall be called to preside specially in the matter and in such case the court shall appoint the commissioners hereinbefore provided for them both or all of such counties

Section 8 When an election is held on the question of annexation under the provisions of this act and the township of the first class proposed to be annexed or in which the territory proposed to be annexed is located votes against such annexation the question of such annexation shall not again be voted upon for a period of two years from the date of such election

Seciton 9 All proceedings for the annexation of a township of the first class or a part thereof to any city or borough under the provisions of any existing law that are pending and not finally disposed of on the effective date of this act shall in the discretion of the courts before which they are pending or if not pending in any court upon petition of any city borough or township affected to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the township is located be discontinued and vacated and all proceedings for the annexation of any township of the first class or part thereof to any city or borough shall thereafter be had only under the provisions of this act

Section 2 The act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 430) entitled "An act providing a method of annexation of parts of townships of the first class in counties of the second class not in excess of twenty per centum of the assessed value of any such township in counties of the second class to contiguous cities of the second class boroughs or other contiguous townships of the first class and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto" and all other acts and parts of the acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed except as to proceedings new pending

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

ARTICLE V

Recovery of Possession

Section 501 Notice to Quit—A landlord desirous of repossessing real property from a tenant may notify in writing the tenant to remove from the same at the expiration of the time specified in the notice under the following circumstances namely (1) Upon the termination of a term of the tenant (2) or upon forfeature of the lease for breach of its conditions (3) or upon the failure of the tenant upon demand to satisfy any rent reserved and due where there is not personal property on the premises adequate to satisfy the rent in arrears except such property as is by this act exempt from levy and sale on distress for rent

In case of the expiration of a term or of a forfeiture for breach of the conditions of the lease where the lease is for any term of less than one year or for an indeterminate time the notice shall specify that the tenant shall remove within thirty days from the date of service thereof and when the lease is for one year or more then within three months from the date of service thereof In case of failure of the tenant upon demand to satisfy any rent reserved and due the notice if given on or after April first and before September first shall specify that the tenant shall remove within fifteen days from the date of the service thereof and if given on or after September first and before April first then within thirty days from the date of the service thereof

The notice above provided for may be for a lesser time or may be waived by the tenant if the lease so provides

The notice provided for in this section may be served personally on the tenant or by leaving thet same at the principal building upon the premises or by posting the same conspicuously on the leased premises

Section 502 Complaint If the tenant shall fail to remove from the real property in compliance with such notice the landlord or his agent may complain in writing under oath or affirmation to any justice of the peace in the county in which the real property is situated

The landlord's complaint shall set forth with particulars dates and amount (1) that he was quietly and peaceably possessed of the real property from which the tenant was notified to remove (2) that he demised the same for a specified or indeterminate term to the tenant or to some other person under whom the tenant claims of the lease (4) that the term for which the same was (3) that due notice to remove has been given to the tenant or that no notice was required under the terms demised is fully ended or that a forfeiture has resulted by reason of a breach of the conditions of the lease or that any rent reserved and due has upon demand remained unsatisfied as the case may be (5) that the tenant retains the real property and refuses to give up possession of the same and (6) the amount of rent if any which remains due and unpaid and the amount of damages claimed for unjust detention of the real property if any

Section 503 Summons and Service Upon the filing of the complaint the justice of the peace shall issue his summons reciting substantially the complaint and directed to any constable or the sheriff of the county commanding him to summon the tenant to appear before such justice of the peace to answer said complaint on a day not less than five nor more than eight days from the date of the summons and at a time fixed therein

Such summons may be served personally on the tenant or by mailing the same to the tenant or by posting the same conspicuously on the leased premises

Section 504 Hearing Judgment Writ of Possession Payment of Rent by Tenant On the day and at the time appointed or on any day to which the case may be adjourned the justice of the peace shall proceed to hear the case If it shall appear that the complaint has been sufficiently proven the justice of the peace shall enter judgment against the tenant that the real property be delivered up to the landlord and for damages if any for the unjust detention of the demised premises as well as for the amount of rent if any which remains due and unpaid and for costs of the proceeding

At the request of the landlord he shall after the fifth day after the rendition of such a judgment issue a writ of possession directed to the constable or sheriff commanding him forthwith to deliver actual possession of the real property to the landlord and also to levy the costs and amount of judgment for damages and rent if any on the tenant in the same manner as judgments and costs are levied and collected on writs of execution

If however it shall appear that the said complaint is vexatious and unfounded then the justice of the peace shall dismiss the case and assess the costs against the landlord

At any time before any writ of possession is actually executed the tenant may in any case for the recovery of possession solely because of failure to pay rent supersede and render the writ of no effect by paying to the constable or sheriff the rent actually in arrears and the costs

Section 505 Return of Constable or Sheriff The constable or sheriff shall make return of said writ of possession to the justice of the peace within ten days after receiving the same He shall be answerable in default of executing said writ according to its terms and for failure to pay over the amount received by him in satisfaction of the judgment or the rent and costs paid to him by the tenant in the same manner as such officers are now by law answerable on other writs of execution

Section 506 Appeal Certiorari Within five days after the rendition of judgment either party may appeal to the next court of common pleas upon filing in that court a bond with one or more sufficient sureties conditioned for the payment of all costs and rent that have accrued or may accrue up to the time of final judgment and for damages assessed if any in case the judgment shall be affirmed Any such appeal shall be tried in the same manner as other suits are tried Such appeal shall not be a supersedeas to the writ of possession in any case except upon special allowance of the court to which the appeal is taken

If upon the appeal the jury shall find in favor of the tenant they shall also assess any damages which he may have sustained by reason of his removal from the premises costs and that the tenant shall retain or recover posand judgment shall be entered for such damages and session of the demised real estate as the case may be The tenant shall have the necessary writ or writs of execution to enforce said judgment

A writ of certiorari to remove the proceedings before the justice of the peace may be had as in other cases and the court of common pleas shall review the same de novo

Section 507 Proceeding Where Title to Real Property Is in Dispute If in any such proceeding by a landlord to repossess real property the tenant shall declare in writing on oath or affirmation that the title to the real property is disputed and claimed by some other person named by the tenant by virtue of a right or title accruing since the commencement of the lease by descent from or deed or will of the landlord and if the person so named and claiming does not forthwith appear voluntarily then the justice of the peace shall immediately issue asummons reutrnable in six days commanding such person to appear before him

If the person so summoned fails to appear the justice of the peace shall proceed to give judgment as though no such dispute or claim had been made

If the person so summoned shall declare in writing on oath or affirmation that he verily believes that he is entitled to the real property in dispute and shall give bond as hereinafter provided then the justice of the peace upon notice of the filing of such bond shall not enter judgment

Any such bond shall be filed in the court of common pleas of the county shall be in such sum as the court shall fix shall have thereon one or more sufficient sureties and shall be conditioned that the person claiming title to such real property shall prosecute his claim by ejectment at the next term of the court of common pleas If said claim is not so prosecuted the bond shall be forfeited to the landlord and the justice of the peace shall proceed to give judgment and cause the judgment to be executed as hereinbefore provided

Section 508 Proceedings Where Tenant Claims Title as Joint Tenant or Tenant in Common If in any such proceeding by a landlord to repossess real property the tenant or person in possession shall declare in writing on oath or affirmation that the real property in dispute is held and claimed by him as joint tenant or tenant in common with the landlord and that he verily believes that the real property so held does not exceed in quantity or value the just proportion of the tenant's share as joint tenant in common and shall file a bond in the court of common pleas with one or more sufficient sureties in such sum as the court shall fix conditioned to prosecute his claim by ejectment at the next term of court of common pleas then the said justice of the peace upon notice of the filing of such bond shall not enter judgment If the said claim is not so prosecuted the bond shall be forfeited to the landlord and the justice of the peace shall proceed to give judgment and cause the judgment to be executed as hereinbefore provided

Section 509 Return Where Tenant Retains Forcible Possession Notice to Tenant that Alias Writ Will be Issued Required Use of Force and Service Thereof In any case brought by a landlord before a justice of the peace for the recovery of the possession of real property if there is no supersedeas to the writ of possession and the tenant or occupant forcibly detains the real property against the officer serving the writ of possession the constable or sheriff shall make return of the writ as follows "Unserved because the tenant or occupant forcibly details possession of the real property"

Whereupon after the expiration of ten days from the rendition of judgment by the justice of the peace as in this article provided and the issuing of the writ of possession to the officer such officer shall notify in writing the tenant or occupant that an alias writ of possession will be issued setting forth his duty to use such force as may be necessary by the breaking in of any door or otherwise to enter upon the real property for the purpose of executing a writ of possession in accordance with the judgment obtained

Any such notice may be served personally on the tenant or occupant or by leaving same at the principal building upon the premises or by posting the same conspicuously on the leased premises

Section 510 Alias Writ of Possession Forcible Ejection of Tenant or Occupant If the tenant or occupant fails to deliver up possession of the real property within ten days after the service of the notice as provided in the last preceding section the justice of the peace shall issue an alias writ of possession and the officer shall thereupon use such force as may be necessary by the breaking in of any door or otherwise to enter upon the real property and to eject the tenant or occupant and shall deliver possession of the real property to the landlord or his agent

Section 511 Remedy to Recover Possession by Ejectment Preserved Nothing contained in this article shall be construed as abolishing the right of any landlord to recover possession of any real property from a tenant by action of ejectment or from instituting any amicable action of ejectment to recover possession of any real property by confessing judgment in accordance with the terms of any written contract or agreement

Bomberger,	Cooper,	Headlee,	Lafore,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 228, as follows:

An Act to amend section 733 of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" by providing for an alternate procedure in desertion and nonsupport cases

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 733 of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 733 Desertion and Nonsupport If any husband or father being within the limits of this Commonwealth separates himself from his wife or from his children or from wife and children without reasonable cause or neglects to maintain his wife or children (1) his wife or children may file a petition prepared by the district attorney and joined in and consented to by the husband or father in the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the wife or children reside or in the county wherein the desertion or failure to maintain took place setting forth the facts relating to the separation from or neglect to maintain his wife or children or both whereupon the court or any judge thereof in chambers shall enter an order fixing a time and place for hearing or (2) any magistrate upon information made before him under oath or affirmation by his wife or children or either of them or by any person may issue his warrant for the arrest of the person against whom the information shall have been made and bind him over with one sufficient surety to appear at the court of quarter sessions or other court having jurisdiction there to answer the said charge of desertion

The said court after hearing in a summary proceeding may order the person against whom complaint has been made or petition filed being of sufficient ability to pay such sum as said court shall think reasonable and proper for the comfortable support and maintenance of the said wife or children or both and to commit such person to prison there to remain until he shall comply with such order or give security by one or more sureties to the Commonwealth and in such sum as the court shall direct for the compliance therewith The court may also issue the appropriate writ of execution against any property real or personal belonging to the defendant and its writ of attachment execution against any money or property to which he may be in any way entitled whether under what is known as a spendthrift trust or otherwise which shall not exceed fifty per centum thereof and shall remain a continuing levy until the order has been paid in full with costs The person against whom an order is made shall not be entitled to the benefits of any exemption law now in force or hereafter passed

The provisions of this section shall apply to any trust whether it is known as a spendthrift trust or otherwise whether such trust was created or came into existence before or after the passage of this act When an attachment execution is issued the further proceedings thereon shall be in the manner provided in the case of foreign attachments

Any wife so deserted shall be a competent witness on the part of the Commonwealth and the husband shall also be a competent witness

Should any such person abscond remove or be found in any other county of the Commonwealth than the one in which said warrant issued he may be arrested by the said warrant being backed by any magistrate of the county in which such person may be found

Whenever the court of quarter sessions of any county in the Commonwealth commits the person complained of to the county prison there to remain until he complies with their order or give security etc the court may at any time after three (3) months if it shall be satisfied of the inability of such person to comply with the said order and give such security to discharge him from imprisonment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—4

Bomberger,	Cooper,	Headlee,	Lafore,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 238, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 256 of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," by authorizing fish wardens to make arrests without warrants under certain circumstances.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate a sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. In the absence of Mr. Gibson, will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Clearfield what are the duties of a fish warden?

Mr. BRETH. The duties of a fish warden are principally to enforce the fish laws of the Commonwealth.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman feel that the additional protection that is asked for here is in line with the fish laws of Pennsylvania?

Mr. BRETH. I certainly do.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman have any sportsmen's organizations that have asked the passage of this particular bill?

Mr. BRETH. I have.

Mr. LOVETT. Would the gentleman mind telling the House what sportsmen's organizations throughout the State have asked for the passage of this bill?

Mr. BRETH. In reply to the gentleman, I have a letter here from the President of the Isaac Walton league of Pennsylvania wherein he says various things, but principally I think this will clear the matter up as far as this bill is concerned. He says:

> "I am glad to know that people are becoming more conscious of this situation where our 'would-be' sportsmen are taking advantage of the land owners."
> "Only last year eighty-five farmers on one stream of water in Greene County posted their farms to hunters and fishermen because of the . . . . lack of proper protection in that stream."

That is a letter from R. Stanley Smith, President of the Pennsylvania Division of the State Isaac Walton league.

In addition to that, just this morning I received several telegrams from Westmoreland County in particular. One of them is from the President of the Westmoreland County unit which says "Please support House Bill 238, defeat 306."

House Bill 238 is the bill under debate. 306 is the firearms registration bill which sportsmen are opposing.

The Secretary of the Westmoreland County Sportsmen's League, Gilbert Webber King says "This organization supports the enactment of House Bill 238 into law." The delegation of Westmoreland County Sportsmen's Association, Mr. Moyer of Greensburg says "House Bill 238 should be passed." There are other communications I received from various sections and there are other communications I don't have at hand, but I think those two might influence my friend.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I am not asking the gentleman to influence me in any way. I just wanted to know what Sportsmen's organizations were really supporting this piece of legislation.

Now he mentioned the Sportsmen's organization of Westmoreland County, which is my County and he said he received a telegram this morning. I would like to know from the gentleman whether or not since yesterday he contacted the Westmoreland County Sportsmen's organization in order to get that telegram this morning.

Mr. BRETH. I have, Mr. Speaker.

As the Members of the House know, I asked for leave of absence last week to attend the International Wildlife Conference in Milwaukee and I was absent from the House when my good friends on the Fish Committee held a meeting, discussed this particular bill and released it; it had their approval. I was not here at that time.

I did not think that this bill would come out so quickly, nor that it would receive the sentiment and the backing of so many individuals, not only in the House but in the state among the sportsmen's group. When I came back yesterday the bill had been okayed, as I understand it, by the caucuses of both sides of this House and was up for final passage.

I talked to my friend Jim Lovett from Westmoreland County and he raised a few minor objections or major objections which ever way you want to look at them, to this bill. He asked me as we talked it over yesterday whether or not I had heard from the Westmoreland County Sportsmen's organization. I said I had not, so when I went home last night I called several of them on the telephone and they said they knew of the bill, what they intended to do, but that they had not taken any action on it. I asked them would they please wire me today what their sentiments were, and they have done so. That is the entire story.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that the Westmoreland County Sportsmen's Association has got into touch with the small groups throughout this County, the sportsmen's clubs and had this legislation brought before those groups in order to have their approval or disapproval of this legislation?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, most county sportsmen's organizations operate the same. In other words sometimes they meet once a month sometimes every two months, sometimes every three months. But like any organization, they elect officers who are familiar with the situation, familiar with most of their desires. There is no suspicion on the part of any member of the club to put anything over on them or that their officers will do anything to take away any of the rights and liberties regarding game and fish laws. They more or less trust them, particularly in this matter. I will repeat what I told Mr. Moyer, I said, this is up for a third reading and final passage in the House. There is no attempt to railroad it. It is just a normal process and if we are not ready that is not the final action that will be taken on this bill. If the bill passes this House it will go to the Senate, where it has to go into committee, come out of committee and if there is any attempt or misinformation given out to put this bill across it can certainly be taken care of later on. In other words this is not final action on this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman.

I feel that this particular bill takes in a lot of territory, and I am not of the opinion that the Members of the House of Representatives should pass legislation on the grounds that it will go over to the Senate and the Senate will have the right to amend or defeat or do what they like with a particular bill. This House should give consideration to legislation before it is passed on to the Senate.

My honest opinion of this piece of legislation is that it is increasing the power of the fish warden to the extent that he would be an officer-at-large in the state of Pennsylvania to arrest without warrant. This bill does not only apply to men who carry fishing license or hunter's license. This applies to the general public throughout the state. If you should happen to go out on a picnic leave some papers or something along the stream somewhere, the warden would have a perfect right to come along and arrest you for leaving rubbish along the stream. Now these things are always passed on with very good intentions to catch the fellow that is breaking the laws and causing disturbance throughout the State. That is not always what happens because the fellow who is an habitual law breaker is very careful; he will break the law when the fish warden or any other officer is not around. It is the poor innocent fellow that they catch with this type of legislation.

I say to you that it has come to the stage again that if we are going to give police authority to the fish warden, the game warden and every other warden that we see fit, we will soon find ourselves in a police state and will not be able to turn around that there is not some officer there to arrest us. For that reason I think that this House should give some consideration to this legislation. I personally could not vote for this kind of legislation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if on a sunny day I happen to be sitting beside a limpid stream with a bottle of amber fluid in my hand and while I am contemplating the glories of nature the bottle happens to slip out of my hand into the stream, would I become liable for a ten dollar fine if some fish warden happened to come along and see the fall?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Andrews I have two answers to that.

Mr. ANDREWS. I only want one answer, the right answer. I want the gentleman to tell the truth?

Mr. BRETH. The fish warden would arrest you, Mr. Andrews but not under this law. He would arrest you and take you to the Sanitary Water Board for polluting the creek.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request the gentleman from Clearfield to address his remarks to the Chair.

Mr. BRETH. Thank you Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has not answered the question and will the gentleman please give me the privilege to finish the interrogation?

Page 3, line 10 says "leaving garbage, bottles, cans, rubbish or any other type of debris in or along streams or adjacent lands" and I asked him specifically whether if a bottle fell out of my hand into the stream and a fish warden imagined that I had thrown it into the stream, could he arrest me without a warrant and fine me ten dollars? I would like an answer to that question.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I think he could, under the law, if he so desired. The answer to that question, Mr. Speaker, can be found in practically every law we have in the state governing the rights and actions of individuals. Technically, under the highway laws, if any driver of an automobile were followed for a half a mile or a mile, a state policemen could probably arrest him for half a dozen things, and the same is true of this bill. Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill is not a — —

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I still have the floor and I only interrogated the gentleman. I didn't invite him to make an address. I conclude that the gentleman has answered my question and I thank him.

This is more than a facetious situation. The gentleman has admitted if for any reason: carelessness or because my pastor came along and I had a bottle of beer and I wanted to get rid of it and threw it into the stream, or for any other reason, a prowling fish warden could arrest me for tossing that bottle into the stream, and arrest me without a warrant, and fine me ten dollars.

As the gentleman from Westmoreland has correctly pointed out, this is not a matter that concerns just the people that fish; it concerns everybody that takes children out into the wilds on a Sunday afternoon outing or a weekday outing and the children leave debris around and a fish warden comes along he can operate under this act.

I say that the property owner should have some redress for any damage to his property, but that you should give the fish warden the broad powers that are given under this bill, jurisdiction over every Sunday party that goes out into the country, that it is not in line with correct legislation. For once having started out with a difference of opinion from the gentleman from Westmoreland, he has converted me to his point of view, and I consider this dangerous legislation.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. Is the gentleman familiar with the doctrine of law known as the doctrine of "hot pursuit."

Mr. BRETH. Not being a lawyer, no.

Mr. ROSE. I note by line 7, on page 3 that the fish warden would be permitted to arrest someone "in pursuit." Would he be enabled to go, under the terms of this provision, back to the home of an individual who left debris on the banks of a stream and arrest him without a warrant?

Mr. BRETH. That question I cannot answer. This bill was prepared in the Legislative Reference Bureau. The Bureau was told the aims of the bill or what the bill should aim at, and as far as knowing whether a fish warden could chase you in your automobile and follow you into your house, I do not know.

Mr. ROSE. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker I find myself in a position where I have to differ from my friend from Clearfield and join with the gentleman from Westmoreland and the gentleman from Cambria in opposing this measure.

While in my own district there are very few people who engage in fishing, I think we would be setting a bad precedent, in passing this measure, to allow any official such broad power. It would certainly be treading upon the civil rights of a large number of our citizenry if we permit the arrest of individuals without warrants on such minor offenses. To give them such extreme powers would I think, be going far on the road toward what the gentleman from Westmoreland refers to as a police state. For that reason I am going to oppose this measure.

The SPEAKER. The chair would inquire of the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, whether he is aware of the temporary absence of the co-sponsor of this measure from the Hall?

Mr. BRETH. I am, Mr. Speaker, I would be willing to pass over this bill temporarily or delay it for a little while.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, if the desires to make a motion to place the bill on the Final Passage postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the principal sponsor, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. We will not oppose that motion provided the bill is not called up today. He will not dare call it up tomorrow because he knows what will happen to it if it does.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the principal sponsor of this measure, I made that motion, but I didn't make it to back out because there are many, many reasons why this bill should be approved. In other words, I am placed in a very peculiar position. I would not want the impact of what has been said to be the final impact in having the Members of this House make up their mind as to how they wish to vote. I would like to personally request every Member to please keep his mind open on this particular bill because it is a most excellent bill and one that has been needed for a long time.

The SPEAKER. Does the Chair understand also that it is agreeable to the gentleman, Mr. Breth, in accordance with the request of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that if the bill is placed on the final passage postponed calendar it will not be called up today.

Mr. BRETH. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading consideration of House Bill No. 247, as follows:

An Act to amend the title and the act approved the sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 164) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering minors seventeen years of age or older to contract for and to make loans in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944" or any agency of the Commonwealth hereafter created and saving and relieving the parents guardians and trustees of such minors from any liability therefor unless joining therein" by extending the provisions thereof to include certain adults and empowering the minor spouses of such persons to join in the execution of certain contracts and validating the actions of minor spouses of such adults in heretofore joining in the execution of any such contracts under certain conditions

Section 1 The title of the act approved the sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 164) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering minors seventeen years of age or older to contract for and to make loans in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Ace of 1944" or any agency of the Commonwealth hereafter created and sawing and relieving the parents guardians and trustees of such minors from any liability therefor unless therein" is hereby amended to read as follows.

AN ACT

Authorizing and empowering certain persons including minors seventeen years of age or older to contract for and to make loans in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944" or any agency of the Commonwealth hereafter created and the minor spouses of such persons to join in the execution of Such contracts prohibiting the disaffirmance of such contracts on the grounds of minority and saving and relieving the parents guardians and trustees of such minors from any liability therefor unless joining therein

Section 2 Section 1 of said act amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1096) is hereby further amended to read as follows.

Section 1 Any person including a minor who is at least seventeen years of age [and] who is eligible for guaranty or insurance of a loan pursuant to the act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944' as amended and supplemented is hereby authorized and empowered nothwithstanding such minority if it exists to enter into any contract in this Commonwealth for any loan or loans guaranteed by the United States or any agency in accordance with the provisions of said act of Congress as amended and supplemented and the rules and regulations promulgated from time to time pursuant thereto or any agency of the Commonwealth hereafter created and [such minor] any such person is also authorized and empowered to execute and acknowledge all documents deeds mortgages and other or similar papers of any such [minor] persons irrespective of age is hereby authorized and empowered nothwithstanding such minority to join in the execution of any such contract In the event such a [minor] person obtains such a loan or loans neither he nor his minor spouse despite any law or decision of any court to the contrary shall be permitted to avoid the contract of such loan or loans because of his or her age nor shall he or she be permitted to interpose the defense that he or she is a minor in any action or actions based upon such contract or contracts or arising out of any loan or loans authorized herein nor shall the parent or parents or guardian or guardians or trustee or trustees of any such minor be liable in any way whatsoever because of or on account of such contract or contracts or loans which may be entered into or joined in by such minor pursuant hereto unless expressly a party thereto

Section 3 Whenever heretofore any minor spouse of any person eligible for guaranty of insurance of a loan pursuant to the act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944" and its amendments and supplements has joined in the execution of any such contract loan or other papers necessary and incidents thereto such joinder is hereby validated for all purposes subject to the prohibition that no such contract or loan may be avoided nor may the defense of minority be interposed as a defense in any action based on any such contract or arising out of any such loan.

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immedilately upon final enactment.

And said bill have been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 5, 1951.

It is fitting that the long and distinguished career of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor in business life, civic affairs, and legislative activities be duly recognized.

His faithful and constructive services have had a most beneficient influence on the welfare and the prosperity of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the bridge over the Susquehanna River connecting the State highway system in Cumberland County with the system of State highways in Dauphin County, at Forster Street in the City of Harrisburg, be designated as the M. Harvey Taylor Bridge; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said bridge suitable tablets or markers to perpetuate this resolution.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. FILO. I would like to interrogate Mr. Walker or Mr. Hare, one of the sponsors, or someone here who is familiar with the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr Speaker, I would like to know when this bridge was built, by whom the moneys were appropriated for this bridge. Were the moneys appropriated from the State, Federal government, or what other source.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the money was appropriated from the State. I think I am right in that. I believe that it was done by the Highway and Bridge Authority . . . Thinking back, it was done by the issuance of bonds.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman further. Is it customary that we name public buildings, bridges, after persons that are living?

Mr. SMITH. I don't believe it is customary but I don't think it is out of the ordinary, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. It is my personal opinion, Mr. Speaker, that it is out of the ordinary. I wish to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman guarantee, in the future, to name a bridge after me?

Mr. SMITH. If I could guarantee that, Mr. Speaker, I would like one named after me sometime in Philadelphia.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would read this resolution that he would notice that the wording is not a must. It says "urging the Department of Highways." I don't believe that is carrying it to the point of twisting the Department of Highway's arm too much. It is "urging" I believe; it is a courteous gesture, and if the Department sees fit it has the privilege of doing so with the consent of the Senate and the House. It does not say that this bridge or any other bridge must be named after an individual.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Can the gentleman inform me concerning the vote in the Senate on this resolution.

Mr. SMITH. I believe, Mr. Speaker, I don't want to be sure of this but I think it was a 49 to 0 vote. I believe the gentleman from Dauphin County did not vote and that was the reason for the odd vote. It was 49 to 0. He refrained from voting because of having an interest probably, and according to our Constitution he should do that, or it may be a courteous gesture on his part.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the Majority Leader.

I think his information is correct, Mr. Speaker. The vote in the Senate was a unanimous vote. I have recently come under fire because I was not in complete agreement with the gentlemen in the other House, and so now perhaps as an act of reparation and repentence I must record myself in complete agreement with the unanimous decision of the Senate in this particular.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a comment that I think is honestly due at this time.

Yesterday when a shaft of light came in from one of the windows the Speaker facetiously said to the Minority Leader that it looked to him like a halo. Well, I've never seen a real halo and I don't know; but I've seen a lot of artists depict pictures with a shaft of light coming out of the heavens glowing on an individual. I, for some reason or other, thought a little bit last night about that. A shaft of light in an artists' mind, I believe, is trying to bring out character or holiness, if you must, or some other great attribute of an individual.

Yesterday the gentleman from Cambria made a statement. It took a little bit of courage to make that statement. He was convinced he was right. It was against some of the thinking of his own party, but he had the courage, he had the ability and he had the honesty, knowing that he was right, that he didn't want to make a political football out of something that shouldn't have been political.

The gentleman just made another statement today. And I'm not being facetious when I say this because I mean it sincerely. I think it was a courageous honest and sincere act that was done yesterday, and I think, this is carrying it a little bit further; maybe that shaft of light did come down on this gentleman for a certain reason. Coincidences happen like that. I would like to believe honestly that a man of courage, such as himself, with the ability he has to do the things that he has done for the good government of this State, might have been recognized a little bit in the way of a shaft of light. When I look at a picture from now on, believe me I'm going to think of our friend, Hi Andrews, for every halo and for every shaft of light that an artist puts in in bringing out character and courage.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr Speaker, on one occasion Vice President Marshall came to Johnstown. He was introduced by Judge McCann. Judge McCann started praising Marshall, and bragged and he praised him and praised and praised him until Marshall's status almost approached that of Deity. While McCann talked, Marshall sank lower and lower in his seat. Everybody wondered how Marshall was going to dig out from under that introduction.

When Marshall finally got the floor he said the Judge's introduction reminded him of some years back when William and Martha back on the farm went to town to do their shopping. They went in to see and shop in the drug store, and the druggist had some new contraption.

The farmer asked him what that was. "Why, that's a soda water fountain." "What's it do?" "Well, it makes soda water." "What's it cost?" "Why, it costs a nickel." "Well, come on Martha, let's have one of them new fangled soda waters." Martha was a little suspicious but her husband said: "I'll try one, I'll try one." So the druggist handed him his soda water, the farmer took a sip. He said: "Come on, Martha, have one, too; t'aint nuthin but sweetened wind."

I thank the gentleman.

Mr. FILO. Mr Speaker, I wish to have it be made known that I wasn't attacking the integrity of Senator Harvey Taylor, but I do think it's a good idea that we should not follow the statement made by Mr. Andrews, our Minority Leader, because of the fact that the Senate passed the bill 49 to 0, it should come over to this House and we should follow their procedure. If that was the case, we could all go home. I think we should look into the merits of bills, whether passed 49 to 0 or one to 0.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to welcome a former Member of the House, now Mayor of the city of Johnstown, Hon. Walter E. Rose, Cambria County.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. MINTESS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1951.

One of the perennial landmarks of colored Philadelphia, Andrew Stevens, has been removed by death.

Throughout his eighty-two years, Mr. Andrew Stevens displayed the unusual initiative and resourcefulness that are so essential to anyone if he strives to emerge from obscurity and prejudice and take his rightful place of leadership among his people.

His full life had its usual quota of prosperity and adversity. As a pioneer banker among his colored fellowmen in Philadelphia, Mr. Stevens not only flourished for many years, but also suffered the cruel disaster of "folding up"—when insidious rumor gave voice to an unfounded financial instability that is the inevitable forerunner of a bank's collapse.

Not deterred, nor defeated by his financial reverses, Mr. Stevens directed his interest and energies to the Bureau of Recreation. As an employe of the Bureau, he was assigned to the Seger Center at 10th and Lombard streets. His ability and industry soon won for him the supervisorship of the Haddington Center, and, more recently, of larger and more active centers of recreation.

During the early twenties, 1921 to 1924, Mr. Stevens was trict of Philadelphia, in which capacity he served with elected as the representative of the 6th Legislative Diszeal and distinction.

Whereas, the death of Mr. Stevens has deprived Philadelphia of one of its most interesting and distinguished servitors and has produced an irreparable breach in the ever-dependable phalanx of colored citizenry; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives express its deep sorrow and regret at the passing of one of its former Members and extend to the citizens of Philadelphia its sympathy for their loss of a most able civic leader and worker; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives direct its Chief Clerk to transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Stevens' surviving widow, Mrs. Andrew Stevens, 3914 Wallace street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION

Mr. FILO offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, March 14, 1951 at 10.00 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1.26 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1951. 139th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 32. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1951. No. 22.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 14, 1951.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. LOUIS LYTLE, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Houtzdale, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

In reverent silence we stand before Thee, O Lord our God, acknowledging Thy presence, Thy goodness and Thy power. We covet Thy blessing. We would be wise and understanding. We would do what is right. Contrary forces and opinions often perplex us. It is not always easy to make right decisions or to resolve our differences. Without Thy help we could not do it.

We have often failed to do what we would do. Forgive us our neglect and failures. Continue to bless our humble efforts. Dispatch the work of this Senate, and, as many go homeward, wilt Thou go with them?

Grant peace and unity, strength and prosperity to all our Nation. God bless and save this Commonwealth. Amen

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. McGINNIS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

CLERK OF THE COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS OF THE PEACE AND CLERK OF THE COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER, LEHIGH COUNTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 14, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Moulton L. C. Frantz, 1239½ Tilghman Street, Allentown, Lehigh County, for appointment as Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace and Clerk of the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lehigh, until the first Monday of January 1952, vice Robert E. Brader, deceased.

JOHN S. FINE.

BILL SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 156, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-first day of April, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 665), entitled "First Class City Home Rule Act," by changing the requirements for publication in newspapers of charter proposals and amendments.

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGE

Frantz, 123½ Tilghman Street, Allentown, Lehigh County, for appointment as Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions, of the Peace and Clerk of the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lehigh, until the first Monday of January 1952, vice Robert E. Brader, deceased.

JOHN S. FINE.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATION

Mr. WATSON, asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nomination read by the Clerk.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. WADE,

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nomination reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. LETZLER,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nomination reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. FREED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STEVENSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, during the Session of 1949, the General Assembly directed the Local Government Commission, among other duties, to codify the laws relating to third class cities and also relating to counties from the second to the eighth class. We have finished the first portion of this work, namely, the codification of the third class city laws.

Mr. President, I might say that our aim has been to assemble and place in orderly arrangement all the statutes and decisions affecting the laws pertaining to third class cities. We have attempted to relieve the law of all inconsistencies, obscurity and uncertainty, and we have tried to eliminates all repetitious matters. In fact, we believe that we have a readable code, the application of which will be greatly facilitated.

Mr. President, this code will contain some three hundred and forty-six pages. We intend, as an aid to the Members of the General Assembly in the consideration of this code, to prepare a statement in the way of information explaining just what has been done, article by article, in the code, which will enable the Members to take the code with this information and know exactly what has been placed in the code.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. STEVENSON, MAHANY, MALLERY and HALUSKA read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 357, entitled:

An Act to reenact, revise and amend the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto."

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, do I understand that the volume sent up there is all one bill?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire at this time to interrogate the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stvenson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, it will be a pleasure.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson, with regard to the printing of this bill, which will be quite substantial, if the gentleman, since he is not only a co-sponsor but as Chairman of the Committee on Local Government, would object if the Chief Sergeant-at-Arms would impound the printed copies of this bill, subject to the approval of the gentleman from Clinton, so that they do not go astray? This will be a very expensive printing job and we will only have so many copies available, and I would like to impound them in charge of the gentleman from Clinton so that the printing courtesy does not become abused.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, that is perfectly satisfactory. I might say for the edification of the gentleman from Allegheny, that it is our purpose, in case we are confronted with some amendments in this code, to try to work out some arrangement with the House of Representatives so that all amendments might be placed in it at one time, and that would relieve the printing situation somewhat and also make for more economy.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson, the purpose of my suggestion is, as he well knows, that frequently we receive requests for hundreds of copies of bills; of course, all the political subdivisions affected by this act will be interested in getting a copy but, unfortunately, the requests never come in for a single copy. They usually send in and request quite a number of copies, and I want to bring to the attention of the gentlemen of the Senate that the cost of this will be terrific, and if the Committee on Local Government will cooperate in the distribution, it will help to prevent a reprinting of the bill while it is in the bin.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I would like to further state that we have had mimeographed copies of this bill made, I believe to the extent of one hundred, which I think will be used to service the cities of the third class, outside of the requirements that we have here in the Senate, so that they will receive mimeagraphed copies of the bill as presented, and there will not be as much demand for the pink copy when it is prepared.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to inquire from the gentleman if it is the intention of the Committee on Local Government to further consider the bill and then later report it out so that it will be printed in white, or could the Committee, having perused the bill in the Local Government Commission, report the bill out and eliminate the printing of the bill pink?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, that will be perfectly satisfactory. We have made a very careful study of this, a personal study. Senator Mahany was Chairman of the Subcommittee, and Senator Haluska and Representative Swope and myself spent a great deal of time, and we personally went over each section of this act and we believe it is in very good shape.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 46

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I move that Rule 46, which requires all bills when introduced in the Senate shall be printed on pink paper be suspended and that the printing of Senate Bill No. 357 be made in white.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I appreciate the interest shown by the gentleman from Allegheny County and by my colleague from Clinton County, but we are certainly departing from a procedure here that is unheard of. I realize that it is quite a bill, but I also realize the people of the third class cities are keenly awaiting publication of this bill. If we are to pass up the printing of the bill in pink, then we could do it with other bills and find a short cut and eventually keep the people back home from knowing what is going on. I agree we should have some limit, but I believe the bill should be printed in pink.

Mr. President, it is our duty to inform the people back home. This is an important piece of legislation, affecting the lives of thousand of people. We have gone through this bill from cover to cover, and any short cut is not the answer to good legislation.

Again, Mr. President, I say I think we should regulate the number of bills that go out, but we should follow the same procedure on this bill as we follow with every other piece of legislation.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, yield to the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 46 WITHDRAWN

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I am advised that we are not permitted to make this short cut, so I would like to withdraw my motion that Rule 46, which required all bills when introduced in the Senate shall be printed on pink paper be suspended and that the printing of Senate Bill No. 357 be made in white.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

The PRESIDENT. Is that satisfactory to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I just want to say that I appreciate that and it answers my problem. Again, I want to agree with Senator Walker that it is expensive operation, but I hope that we do not get to the point where the people back home will not be able to get a copy. Let us decide how many copies we should have and make certain that all of our solicitors, and third class city councilmen and mayors at least can get a copy of the bill. Beyond that we can certainly save money.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, it certainly is not our desire to deprive anybody who has a direct or indirect interest in the proposed code. We have no desire to prohibit them or to interfere with them getting a copy of it. It is just merely a warning on a practice that creeps into Capitol Hill every Session. For example, on bills that were co-sponsored by Senator Barr and myself we would get telegrams or letters asking us for twenty-five hundred copies of the bills. Now, their enthusiasm is overcoming their better judgment when they wire in here asking for twenty-five hundred copies of a bill. That, of course, is not an exaggeration. It is something that actually happens to you.

Now, Mr. President, I want to say to the gentlemen of the Senate that there are certain commitments that we make on printing that we must keep. Just for example, the Cabinet and the House are entitled to so many copies of every bill and this, inconformity with the rest, will be furnished to them. However, if it is necessary to have an additional printing of a bill the size of the one that was just introduced, it is going to cost us thousands of dollars in additional printing. May I say to the gentleman that while I do not serve on the Local Government Commission or on the Local Government Committee, it is my impression that every political subdivision affected by that code has been sitting in on the drafting and the phraseology of every word of it, so that this is no surprise package to them. I am just asking for the cooperation of the Senate in seeing to it that we are not going to be subjected to double printing of a bill this size.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, at the request of the sponsor of the bill, I move that Senate Bill No. 37, on second reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto a section providing for absentee voting be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, does this mean the end of the bill?

Mr. WALKER. No, Mr. President, we were going to put the bill over in order and the sponsor of the bill requested that it be recommitted so that they would be able to put

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 14, 1951

The House met at 10:00 a. m.
The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Charles F. Trunk, Jr., Pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Who hast given us a land in which we are free to read and hear Thy Word, to worship Thee, and to work to-gether for the coming of Thy kingdom: Grant that the liberty given to us may be continued to our children and to their children by our wise use of Thy gift. Keep us free from false philosophies, foolish decisions, and careless actions. May we govern with Thy guidance so that the people of this Commonwealth may be led always to a knowledge of Thy governance in the Name of the Prince of Peace. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, March 13, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. FENRICH and MIKM. RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1951.

The Sarah Heinz House located on the north side of Pittsburgh is currently celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its founding.

During the half century of its existence, it has developed one of the best youth training programs in the United States, furnishing the youth of the north side of Pittsburgh splendid opportunities to engage in sports, games, camping, and handicrafts at a cost, to them, which is practically nominal.

The achievements of the Sarah Heinz House constitute a solid answer to the blight of juvenile and parental delinquency that clutters the headlines of our newspapers daily. This institution in the public interest run by private funds has built character over five decades and is now building character for the grandchildren of the children it began to serve.

The Sarah Heinz House has increased its worth by retaining the unsolicited interest and support of the children it fosters when they mature, and has an "alumni" association as large proportionately as any university; now therefore be it

Resolved, (by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania) That we hereby extend our congratulations to the Sarah Heinz House in Pittsburgh on its fiftieth anniversary for its many achievements over the years and to all those benefactors who have been instrumental in guiding it along its successful path; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk shall transmit copies of this resolution to Mr. A. J. Jeffrey, Sarah Heinz House, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Mr. H. J. Heinz II, Heinz Manufacturing Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and Mrs. Joseph Quashnock, Mt. Troy Road, North Side, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. FILO. RESOLUTION No. 20.

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1951.

Whereas, A self-styled "Homesick Mountaineer" has left his illness blind his outlook and jaundice his reactions to the highest source of inspiration, affection, devotion and courage known to mankind, namely, Pittsburgh women in particular and Pennsylvani women generally; and

Whereas, The aforesaid homesick individual has openly expressed his displeasure with the gracious women of Pittsburgh and their lovely prototypes in other parts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; in a letter to the editor of a Pittsburgh paper of widespread and general circulation; and

Whereas, The beauties, virtues, charms and other gracious qualities of Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania women have long inspired along life's pathways and guided and helped through the vicissitudes of an often difficult path, their husbands, children, and many friends; and

Whereas, These women, through great enterprise in the home, in industry, in offices, and the many diverse activities known to modern womanhood, have made their marks as individuals of strong character, fitting into places of high individual responsibility and showing a knack for cooperative enterprise rarely equaled and never surpassed in ancient or modern times; and

Whereas, These great qualities have been overlooked and totally disregarded in the letter to the editor of the Pittsburgh newspaper; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby publicly proclaim its unending faith in the overlasting beauty, charm and graciousness of the women of Pittsburgh and all other parts of Pennsylvania, whose beauty, charm, and grace not only mets the eye, but springs from an inward never ending source of great versatility, courage, and resourcefulness.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McMILLAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this is perhaps not a good day to address the House expecting a gallery but nevertheless the House is in session today and the subject which I expect to discuss is one of such importance that the day is neither important or necessary. I expect to discuss briefly the subject of Public Assistance in Pennsylvania.

I realize full well that this subject is perhaps a little touchy. It is one which, as Dale Carnegie would put it, is not one on which you can influence voters and win elections. However I am not one that is willing to admit that that should always be the ruling factor in the discussion of these problems.

I want to say this in starting out so that there is no misunderstanding. I am speaking as a Member of the Legislature and I am speaking for every man on the floor of this House when I say that, both Democrats and Republicans, we have done everything in our power to see to it that there are no needy, hungry, indigent people in Pennsylvania.

We have appropriated millions and millions of dollars for that purpose and those millions of dollars have come out of the pockets of the tax paying public. I stand on this statement, that this Legislature, neither Democrat or Republican, can be accused of negligence on the part of the indigent and the needy people of Pennsylvania.

I find when we get the record that our good intentions, our good desires, have been taken advantage of from two points of view. One is that we charged some individuals with the administration of this program and the expenditure of some hundred and seventy million dollars in the last biennium, and in the past biennium we find that these people charged with the administration and the handling of these funds have taken advantage of us.

We also find from the record that the people who have applied for assistance, who would take of those funds, who would use up their neighbors' taxes, have also taken advantage of the Legislature and hence of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. And I say this, that we have no right to permit such a situation to continue.

Let us look at the record a little bit. We find, and I don't find too much criticism with this, but we find this to be a fact, that for a family of four people the grant has risen from 1938, $48.85 to 1950, $129.90. If this same grant had followed the cost of living index as given by the United States Department of Commerce, and I dare say that it cannot be accused of being too conservative in that matter, the rate would have been $90.38 instead of $129.90. In other words we were allowing a family of four $39.52 over and above the average cost of index living.

Now I admit that even $129.90 is not too much for a family of four. I admit that, but on the other hand assistance does not mean, in any sense of the word, an average over and above anyone else. That average for a family of four of $90.38 includes not only the people who receive relief, but you and me.

Another thing that we find in the recent investigation and the thing that I find most criticism with is the fact that on September 30, 1950 we had 15,740 eligible, able bodied men and women on the relief rolls of Pennsylvania. Of that 15,740 people only 448 were at work on useful jobs relieving the load on the tax payers in the local communities. I want to tell you this, that about a hundred of them were from my own county where I have raised particular Cain about this thing.

I happen to be the president of a school board at home. I had some of these very people stand right at the entrance to this new school building of mine and tell me, "Bill, my God, there is an election coming up"—it was only four days before the election. That is the kind of thing that we are faced with here.

The reason I find particular fault with this situation is not only the moral principle of the thing, but here is the law. The Pearson Work Relief Act which was written in 1939. It is Pamphlet Law 401 and you can get it and take it along with you. It very specifically states that the administrators of public assistance in Pennsylvania—and I shall read it to you—in section 4 it states this:

> "It shall be the duty of such governing bodies and of the persons in charge of each state district office, institution or other agency of each regularly organized organization or institution to furnish employment for as many of these employables as possible."

It goes on to state that it shall be the duty of the administrators of public assistance to see that there are work lists (that is, the number of men employable in a particular district) to be made known to the road supervisors, the school boards, the borough councils, and so forth, and that they in turn then could put these people to work.

When I started to dig into this thing I could hardly find this act. It was a difficult thing to look it up. No one seemed to know there was such a thing, but here it is.

Another thing I want to call to your attention in that particular act is this. It says that any employable, able bodied man who lives more than one mile from one of these projects has to be paid transportation charges. Nobody pays my transportation charges to my job, and I live a lot farther away from it than one mile.

Let me point out to you gentleman that the school law says that a child of one of these people must walk a mile and a half to school. We recognize the fact that a child is able to walk a mile and a half to go to school, and yet we'll send a bus around to pick up the father and haul him to work if he is slightly over a mile away. Now what kind of thinking is that?

We have found further in this report that during the year 1939 for some reason or other, call it faulty arithmetic, call it negligence, you can read into the record many things, I'll let you do whatever you wish, but we found in turning this thing inside out in the Joint State Government Commmission reports, that there was an estimated over-payment in 1949 of $7,953,000, almost eight million dollars over-payment.

I have just completed, as President of this school-board, building a new sixteen room consolidated school building which is costing us $172,000. Do you realize how many school buildings eight million dollars would build? Over forty. If we had eight million dollars cash to pour into Indiana county for new school buildings, we would not be asking for one nickle for new school buildings of any kind for the next twenty-five years, perhaps. Yet we have poured eight million dollars down this hole. Of that amount, five million seventy-five thousand dollars was actual state tax money that you and I sat here and voted to taken away from the people of this Commonwealth. The rest of it was Federal tax, but regardless of where it comes from it is still tax money and it comes out of the peoples pockets.

Now we are willing to admit, because the record shows this situation, that these abuses have occured. They do exist, and I am going to offer some suggestions for the correction of this situation.

We are now entering upon a new administration with a new director, and in discussing this situation with the new director I am informed that procedures are now in order which will correct some of these abuses. I shall run down through these recommendations very hurriedly.

The first one is that relief rolls, the recepients of relief, should be just as much a public record as your tax record and mine. Anybody can go to the Court House and find out exactly how much tax I pay on my real estate to help support this thing. It is a community function. If they so desire it is possible that they can find out how much income tax you pay. That's no secret. So why should not those who want to abuse this privilege be recorded? I realize there are some who are absolutely needy and should have help; we don't deny that; we are not going to be stingy or tight-fisted with the thing. We don't want anybody to be hungry, but on the other hand, we certainly don't feel that we should be taken advantage of by those who can work.

The next suggestion is that the 1939 act be enforced rigidly, that these reports go to the these municipalities. I have introduced amendments to the bill to change the mileage from one mile to two and a half miles. I have introduced amendments to the act to include cemetery associations and everything that is of a semi-public nature which is supported wholly or in part by public contribution, at least be eligible to use these people. In that way there will be no community unable to provide adequate work projects. I also recommend that eighteen year olds, boys and girls, be put on a basis of their own unless they are attending the public schools of this Commonwealth. Today, throughout this country, we find a situation where a farmer can not find a boy to help him; a woman can not find a girl to do housework or anything else. If you go to some of these families with eighteen year olds and, ask some of them to go to your home and do some work, they will refuse, and I know where it has been done with the statement that it will affect their public assistance grant.

They are fighting about the question of whether we will send eighteen year olds into Korea to defend your home and mine. If they are old enough to be sent to Korea to die, they are old enough to go out here and help a farmer plow a field or milk a cow.

Number four, that grants in public assistance be kept a little more in line with the index cost of living in order that we do not create a growing situation on where it is more desirable and easier to stay on relief than it is to go to work. If a man now should draw a hundred twenty-five, a hundred fifty, or two hundred dollars for his family by sitting at home, that is certainly a lot easier than earning two hundred and twenty-five dollars going out to work. And what does he care about the moral principle involved.

Number five, we are going to have to develop some kind of control over the expenditure of relief money after it reaches the recipient. We find in many cases, where the father finds it more desirable to stick to the old adage, "What! a sack of flour and no whiskey in the house?" The father goes down and spends the money for liquor at the beer garden and the children go to school without shoes.

Now believe me, I taught school fifteen years; I know what I am talking about. I have been a school director for a long time, and I know something about it from that angle.

Number six, more stringent legislation should be placed on the books to preempt and take over the earnings of a father who finds it to his advantage to skip off and leave his family on public assistance. Let us go after this fellow and make him take his responsibilities the same as you take yours.

Number seven, and this is a touchy subject, but it is involved in this whole program and so we might as well face it. You can find on the relief rolls of Pennsylvania today many cases of women, unmarried, and yet the mother of several illegitimate children. Believe me, it has become a business. It always was a business, but this one is a profit-making business. It has become an advantage, because the more children in the family the higher the relief grant. I can point out to you many cases right in Indiana county. I do not need to go to somebody else's county, don't forget, where the father has pulled out and left the family, and children continue to come into this family regularly. They are either his or somebody else's. That is an undisputable fact. Then let us take his wages, as I suggested before and keep this family.

If this is the case of an unmarried woman, or a divorced woman being promiscuous, careless, and indifferent, then I say that after she becomes an habitual, especially at the end of the second child-birth, that woman should be institutionalized and the children she already had put into a decent home. Now she can either accept that solution or I could suggest another one, which I will leave out right now.

Number eight, the system of careful administration of public assistance should be very thoroughly studied to see if we cannot somehow reimburse the counties from the state level. Let the relief be administered back home by elected officials upon whom the taxpayers can place their finger if the thing is not being done right.

Number nine, no marriage licenses should be issued to couples who are now on the public assistance rolls. This, believe it or not, exists.

Number ten in line with the 1939 Act, if you are going to make this the perfect system of distribution of relief, this rule should be made: That every field office of public assistance have one employee, a practical individual, not necessarily a college graduate, although that should be no deterring factor, someone who understands work projects and relief projects. It shall be the duty of that individual to do noting but contact boards of supervisors and school boards, and so forth to see that there is a backlog of work projects available at all time for these people.

Number eleven, we should check the entire setup for the administration of relief qualifications, rules, regulations—and I am speaking for the Legislature on this point, because whether you sit on the minority or majority side of this House, we still are going to have to vote the money to carry this thing out.

Another situation which I think needs some attention: If a man has worked all his life, raised a decent family, and then in the declining years of his life he finds that he has nothing left but a little home in a small community of Pennsylvania, or anywhere else, he puts up his home as collateral to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In other words, it becomes his bank account for the remaining years of his life and his wife's. Now some people disagree as to having to put that home up. I don't, because, as the General Assembly, if we step in and take over that man's burden and the burden of his own children in taking care of him, then we, instead of the children, should receive that home. That is the end of it, at least so far as they are concerned. I agree with that principle.

Another thing that we could do is go just one step farther and take up the case of the man who needs assistance, who is granted assistance, and put a lien against him just the same, so that when he goes out and goes into the war plants and starts to make his $15 or $20 a day, let him reimburse the Commonwealth for a fraction of what he received when he was helped. The way it is now in our present setup, we are penalizing the individual in the community who has tried to develop a clean cut little home and finds that is all he has left at the end of the road.

Now the next and final point, after we have cleaned house let us see to it that the aged and the blind, and the mother with dependent children are thoroughly and adequately taken care of. You will have plenty of money to do it if you get the chiselers off the rolls.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McMILLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I seek information. Under existing law, who establishes the standards of relief?

Mr. McMILLEN. That is the Administrative Board's power, I believe.

Mr. ANDREWS. Who constitutes the Administrative Board?

Mr. McMILLEN. Right off hand, I couldn't answer that question.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is there an Administrative Board?

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, I understand there is. There is the Executive Director.

Mr. ANDREWS. Can the gentleman tell me how many times in the past two years the Administrative Board has met?

Mr. McMILLEN. I cannot answer that, Mr. Andrews. On this Administrative Board I understand it is the power of the Governor to appoint that Board, and he appoints the County Boards of Assistance, and so forth.

Mr. ANDREWS. Could the gentleman think I was wrong if I said that the Administrative Board, as a matter of fact, has never functioned? And it has seldom met, that it has delegated its powers to the head of the Department?

Mr. McMILLEN. Perhaps that is true. I am not positive, but perhaps that may true, and I presume like all Boards the Executive Director has a lot of authority.

Mr. ANDREWS. Then the gentleman would say that the increase in assistance over and above the index figure is the increase that has been sanctioned directly or indirectly by the controlling Board?

Mr. McMILLEN. That I do not know, but that is what I am talking about, as a Member of this Legislature representing both Democrats and Republicans. I want to know where this leak is.

Mr. ANDREWS. And then, does the gentleman agree that the responsibility now rests and has rested with the controlling board?

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, the board is appointed. I presume they have authority, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. A further question. Is the Auditor General authorized under existing law to audit and check relief cases?

Mr. McMILLEN. As I understand it, there is not much check on those accounts. It is authorized, but I do not know to what extent they audit those accounts as they go through. I cannot answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Would it not be the gentleman's opinion that the lamentable condition that he describes would indicate that there has been no thorough overall audit on the part of the Auditor General's Department?

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, they check them, you are aware. I wonder how definitely and how closely the Auditor General checks the payroll accounts that go from here over to him—from this Legislature over there. I understand they are auditing the accounts and checking them right now, very, very strenuously. The whole thing is being gone over, that is why I am pointing this out at this time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman not agree that had there been any semblance of audit upon the part of the Auditor General's staff, that the conditions that he has described could not have arisen, or if they arose, would have been cured?

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, I doubt very much if that would have caught many of the conditions which I have described, Mr. Andrews, because when an account comes in from an investigator or from a county office for payment, it certifies that John Jones get $25 or $35.20, the checks then go out on that basis. The abuse or whatever you want to call it, negligence perhaps, occurs out in the local areas rather than here at the central office.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not understand that the auditors visit the local offices and that they examine the case records of the various individuals that are on relief. They do not operate from headquarters, that they operate in the field and I am again asking the gentleman if that field force has been effective, then could the situation that he talks about have been continued?

Mr. McMILLEN. I did not quite get the point of your question, Mr. Andrews, I'm sorry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman ever taken the pains to examine the personnel of the supposed auditors that have been sent into the field by the Auditor General's Department for the purpose of determining their capacity for the job?

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, I have not, but I presume that they are capable enough. After all, even though it is Republican now, it was Democratic until just recently, so I presume that both parties had competent men in there.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

What the gentleman from Indiana has said is in a large measure true. First of all the controlling board has not functioned. The controlling board has seldom met. The controlling board has delegated its functions and its responsibilities to the executives of the Department of Public Assistance.

The auditors who have functioned under the direction of the Auditor General's departments have in no way been fitted for their job. They have been merely decrepit politicians in many instances nesting on a public payroll.

What the gentleman has succeeded in doing is indicting, and properly indicting a system of management which first of all has developed a board of directors that have not directed.

Second, they have played politics with the auditors that were supposed to be in the field auditing. And in many of the counties of this Commonwealth, the very chiselers at which the gentlemen has pointed an accusing finger have been maintained as a political asset.

Now the problem the gentleman faces is to divorce public assistance from state politics and from local politics, and until he has done that his scheme of reform will fall to the ground. There has been an atrocious period of political control, political play for place in the Department of Public Assistance. And if it is the intention of the gentleman to cure that sort of thing we certainly will be glad to give him aid, succor and assistance.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. SMITH. HOUSE BILL No. 684.

An Act providing for the observation of the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence; creating a commission to cooperate with like commissions of the government of the United States and of the City of Philadelphia in arranging ceremonies; and making an appropriation.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

By Mr. WHALLEY. HOUSE BILL No. 685.

An Act to further amend subsection four of Section 3 of the act, approved the nineteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1356), entitled "An act to regulate the sale and delivery of solid fuel, as herein defined; providing for the appointment of licensed weighmasters; prescribing their powers and duties; authorizing substitute licensed weighmasters; imposing certain duties on the Department of Internal Affairs; and providing penalties," by providing that copies of weighmaster's certificates may be seized for use as evidence by any inspector of weights and measures.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

By Mr. CLAPPER. HOUSE BILL No. 686.

An Act to further amend clause (a) of section 407 of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (1933-34, P. L. 15), entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale, manufacture, possession, transportation, importation, traffic in, and use of alcohol, and alcoholic and malt or brewed beveragese; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State government, courts, and district attorneys; authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses, subject to local option, to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises; forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in, connection with, and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others; providing for the forfeiture of certain property; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees; and imposing penalties," by requiring clubs to pay the same license fees as required of hotels and restaurants located within the same municipality.

Referred to the Committee on Liquor Control.

By Mr. CLAPPER. HOUSE BILL No. 687.

An Act to further amend clause (e) of section 19 of the act, approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 252), entitled, as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the traffic in malt and brewed beverages, as herein defined; providing for the licensing of the manufacture, transportation, sale and distribution of such beverages; imposing license and permit fees, and providing for collection and distribution thereof; restricting ownership and interest in licensed places; permitting municipalities and townships, by vote of the electors, to prevent the licensing therein of places where such beverages may be sold for consumption on the premises, and regulating elections for this purpose; imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, quarter sessions courts, district attorneys, the Department of Justice, proper authorities of political subdivisions of the State, and election officers; providing penalties; and repealing existing acts," by providing that club license fees shall be the same as for retail dispensers' licenses in the same municipality.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

Mr. MADIGAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker I would like to say a brief word about a resolution that is reposing in the kindly keeping of the Rules Committee.

Some time back, I introduced a resolution requesting that the head of the Department of Forests and Waters be asked to furnish certain information. The head of the Department of Forests and Waters has been under fire in various directions. A candid answer to the questions which my resolution contained might have removed him from the angle of fire. I think that politically the Rules Committee and the Admiral have been just a little bit dumb in not embracing the opportunity to clear the Department and the head of the Department from the burden of accusation that has been leveled against it.

I gave the distinguished Admiral an opportunity through the rules committee, to state his side of the case. But with the customary disregard for legislative inquiring that has characterized that Department, there has been no effort upon the part of the distinguished Admiral in any way to answer the questions that the Members of the General Assembly have been asking and that the general public has been asking.

I would suggest as a matter of proper procedure that if the Admiral wants to get out from under the cloud that now envelopes him, that he request the Rules Committee to release that resolution and come clean with a clean statement.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. RUBIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, March 19, 1951 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:09 a. m.) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 19, 1951.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN C. MOORE, Pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, Coudersport, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Lord of all power and giver of grace and wisdom, we commend to Thee all who are engaged in the government of this Commonwealth, especially this Legislature now in session. Grant to them clean hands, pure hearts and unfailing devotion to the cause of righteousness. To Thee, merciful God, we commend their work, praying that it may be such as will promote Thy work in our midst. Let all they think or speak or do be for Thy glory and for the good of Thy people. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. McPHERSON, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATIONS

The CHAIR cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communications, which were read by the Clerk:

Department of State

BISMARCK, NORTH DAKOTA

March 6, 1951.

President of the Senate
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Sir:

In compliance with the instruction of the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota, I am pleased to forward to you an attested copy of Concurrent Resolution "M" relating to certain provisions of the Federal Highway Acts.

Respectfully Submitted,

THOMAS HALL, Secretary of State.

STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

Department of State

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

I' Thomas Hall, Secretary of State of the State of North Dakota, do hereby certify that the attached

House Concurrent Resolution M

relating to an amendment of the Federal Highway Act is an official copy of the described document, duly adopted by the House of Representatives of the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota, and on file in my office.

Dated at Mismarck, North Dakota this the 6th day of March 1951.

THOMAS HALL, Secretary of State.

Thirty-second Legislative Assembly, State of North Dakota, begun and held at the Capitol in the City of 'Bismarck, on Tuesday, the second day of January, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-one.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION "M"

(Bubel, Holand, Jansonius and Leet)

A concurrent resolution memorializing Congress to amend the Federal Highway Act so as to prohibit the diversion of revenue received from federal motor-user taxes, and to provide for an increased federal matching ratio so that all such revenue be returned to the states and used for road development.

Whereas, in 1934, Congress, in effect, said that, since it is unfair to tax the user of the highways unless the revenue from such tax be used for road improvements, any state that diverts highway motor-user taxes will be penalized under the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, in order to comply with the requirements of such Federal Highway Act, North Dakota adopted, as part of its constitution, Article 56, which required that revenue from gasoline and other motor fuel excise and license taxation, after deduction of cost of administration and collection authorized by legislative appropriation only, and statutory refunds, shall be appropriated and used solely for construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways, and payments of obligations incurred in the construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways, and

Whereas, other states have, in similar manner or by statute, prohibited the diversion of highway motor-user taxes to other than road improvement uses, and

Whereas, the Federal Government itself now diverts about two-thirds of the income which it receives from motor-user excise taxes, having in 1949 returned to the states only about four hundred million dollars out of 1.3 billion dollars it so received, this according to an interview with Thomas H. MacDonald, U. S. Commission of Public Roads, in the December 29, 1950 issue of the United States News and World Report, and

Whereas, because of increased governmental costs, many states are unable to raise sufficient funds with which to match Federal funds allowed for highway construction, even though some states are and have been allotted additional matching aid, by reason of the inability of other states to match their allotments, and

Whereas, it appears the states are and have been unable on a fifty-fifty matching basis, to raise sufficient funds to use more than a third of the federal tax collected from motor users, so that two-thirds of the revenue received from this federal motor-user tax is being and has been diverted by the Federal Government to other uses than road improvement, this directly contrary to the requirements imposed by Congress upon the states by the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, there is increasingly imperative need for additional highway construction and reconstruction to bring even a small percentage of highways up to standards required by present day traffic, and to insure their military use in time of national emergency, and

Whereas, much desperately needed additional highway construction and reconstruction could be made, if the two-thirds of the federal motor-user taxes, now being diverted to other uses, could be used for the purpose for which they were intended and for which Congress has required that similar funds in the states be used,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved By The House of Representatives Of The State Of North Dakota, The Senate Concurring Therein:

That the thirty-second legislative assembly of the state of North Dakota respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to so amend the Federal Highway Act, and such other acts as may be necessary, as to prohibit the diverting of Federal motor-user taxes to any other purpose than that of road development, and to provide for an increased ratio of Federal funds compared with state funds, so that all federal motor-user taxes be used for the development of roads, that, instead of matching state funds, so that all Federal motor-user taxes be used Federal Government match state funds on the basis of three dollars to one dollar.

Be It Further Resolved, that a duly attested copy of this concurrent resolution be sent by the Secretary of State to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the state of North Dakota, to the Secretary of the Interior, to the United States Commissioner of Public Roads, and to the Secretary of the Senate and to the Clerk of the House of Representatives of all other state legislative assemblies now in session.

February 20, 1951

To all Governor and Presiding Officers of the State Legislatures:

Sir:

Our State Legislature has just adopted House Concurrent Resolution No. 4, a Resolution Memorializing the Legislatures of the Several States of the United States to Require Military Service of All Qualified Citizens Without Regard for Race, Creed, or Color. The enclosed copy of the Resolution is being forwarded at the direction of Honorable Hugh H. Stokes, Speaker of our House of Representatives.

Very truly yours,

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 4

Introduced by Mr. Indseth

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

A Concurrent Resolution Memorializing the Legislatures of the Several States of the United States to Memoralize the Congress of the United States to Require Military Service of All Qualified Citizens Without Regard for Race, Creed, or Color.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of South Dakota, the Senate concurring therein:

Whereas, in these days of pressing national emergency and undeclared war, with the prospect of general war ever present and American citizens already dying in the service of their country, the most fundamental duty of a citizen is that of military service, if mentally and physically qualified therefor; and

Whereas, certain groups refuse to perform this primary duty of an American citizen, taking refuge in their religious affiliations as justification for such refusal; and

Whereas, there are numerous necessary military tasks, sometimes dangerous, which are performed without the bearing of arms or the attendant obligation of participating in the taking of life of an enemy; and

Whereas, it is discrimination in the most vicious degree that any person should enjoy the benefits of life in these United States without assuming the primary obligations thereof while others are required to perform their full duty as citizens;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the House of Representatives of the 32nd Session of the South Dakota Legislature, the Senate concurring therein, do urge and recommend that the several states of the United States memorialize the Congress that at least general noncombatant service without exception because of race, creed, or color be required of all conscientious objectors.

Be It Further Resolved that copies of this Concurrent Resolution be forwarded to the Governors of the several states of the United States and other presiding officers of the various legislative assemblies of the several states of the United States.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. PROPERT, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 19, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 26, 1951, at three o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 26, 1951, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WOLFE, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as amended, House Bill No. 175, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the Joint State Government Commission to make a comprehensive study of the migratory habits of fish, particularly shad, and the stocking and tagging of shad below and above the Safe Harbor Dam, the Holtwood Dam and the Conowingo Dam, and to cooperate with the federal government in connection therewith; prescribing powers and duties and making an appropriation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SNOWDEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, in the 1949 Session of the Legislature we adopted unanimously a resolution calling for a study of a certain of piece of road in the western part of the State of Pennsylvania, having in mind adding it onto the Turnpike Commission as a toll road. We called upon the Secretary of Highways to make a study in connection with the Turnpike Commission concerning this matter, and I now have the report from the Secretary. I would like to present and have the Clerk read the report, and at the same time I would like to have given to each Senator a mimeographed copy of this report.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Department of Highways

Harrisburg, March 14, 1951.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to Senate Resolution Serial No. 42 introduced by Senators Dent, Snowden and Lane on April 21, 1949, and adopted the same date, relative to a study to be made by the Secretary of Highways in conjunction with the Turnpike Commission to determine the advisability of transferring the State Highway beginning on Legislative Route 117, Traffic Route U. S. 119 near the New Stanton interchange of the Turnpike, and extending westerly through Westmoreland, Fayette and Washington Counties, by way of Belle-Vernon, Speers and Bentleyville to a point on Legislative Route 118, Traffic Route U. S. 40, southeast of the City of Washington, to the Turnpike Commission to be a part of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, with the motor license fund reimbursed from Turnpike bonds for the monies expended by the Department of Highways in designing and building said road, the Department of Highways has consulted with the Turnpike Commission.

Prior to reaching any conclusion as to costs involved in making the physical alterations which would be required if the road should become a toll road, our attention was called to the Federal Highway Act which provides in section 9 of the Act approved July 11, 1916 (Public Law No. 87, 67th Congress) "That all highways constructed or reconstructed under the provisions of this Act shall be free from tolls of all kinds."

Federal Aid funds have been used in the improvement of the subject road, and such funds were granted subject to the above quoted excerpt from the Federal Highway Law, which has been continued in all subsequent Federal Highway Legislation.

Therefore, It is respectfully submitted that the road under discussion can not become a part of the Pennsylvania Turnpike without violating the Federal Statute under which some of the funds expended thereon were appropriated.

Very truly yours

RAY SMOCK.

RAY F. SMOCK, Secretary of Highways

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if I may pray the indulgence of the Senate, one of the bills I am about to present to the Chair is a bill that I think the Legislature of Pennsylvania, especially those of us who have had the opportunity of going up into Canada fishing, would take a great deal of pleasure in voting for. It is a bill, Mr. President, that has been very highly recommended and advocated by one of our metropolitan papers in the Pittsburgh Press. Johnny Mock, the Outdoor Editor, has been leading the fight for years to have the fishing law in Pennsylvania amended so that our neighbors to the north, our Canadian neighbors who have been our hosts for years of very pleasant and enjoyable fishing, would have the opportunity of fishing here in Pennsylvania.

As the gentlemen of the Senate know, the present fishing law prohibits the issuance of fishing licenses to aliens, and this bill, Mr. President, would extend our non-resident fishing license privilege to our good friends to the north, so that we can reciprocate the hospitality shown by our Canadian hosts, and I know that those of us who have had the chance of fishing in Canada will be so glad that we can say to those folks up north, "Here is a chance for us to return in a small measure the marvelous hospitality you have been extending to us over all these years."

Therefore, Mr. President, in this era of brotherhood and good neighborly feeling, I would like to present this bill to the Chair.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 366, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection A of Section 221 and to amend Section 241 of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," by extending non-resident fishing privileges to Canadians and redefining resident.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 367, entitled:

An Act relating to the effect of writs of attachment, execution and foreign attachment served upon banks.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 368, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 12 of Article XIV of the act, aproved the seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 20) entitled "An act for the government of cities of the second class," by requiring all conferences of the mayor with a quorum of council to be open to the public.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

An Act relating to adverse claims to bank deposits, prescribing the manner in which such claims must be supported to be entitled to recognition and limiting the effect of attachments or retraining orders against banking institutions having branch offices.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 371, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, (P. L. 594), entitled "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways; authorizing their construction, maintenance, and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions; limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways; conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities, persons, associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act," by adding a new route in Wayne County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 372, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1202 of the act approved the fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven, (P. L. 519), entitled "An act concerning boroughs, and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating to boroughs," by authorizing boroughs to appropriate money to charitable organizations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. BERGER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 373, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters for the purpose of constructing retaining walls and for flood control stream clearance in certain counties, and for necessary costs and expenses in acquiring real property easements and rights of way necessary for construction of such retaining walls.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

RECESS

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, to permit a meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am presenting a resolution urging the Governor to consider proceeding immediately with the building of the long delayed Executive Mansion.

I had long been of the opinion that the people of Pennsylvania were dissatisfied with the present place. I felt certain that the Governors were unhappy in it, and my recollection was that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania had made every provision and passed every law necessary to get a new one built

All of this was conclusively proved to me over the week end when I finished reading the new book, "Shelter for His Excellency," by Colonel LeRoy Greene, which tells the story of the Executive Mansion in a most interesting manner.

I feel certain that in promptly building the new mansion, for which the ground has been purchased and the plans made, the Commonwealth would actually be saving money rather than spending money. It is in the interest of economy that the new masion be built at once.

We have alreadv spent nearly two hundred thousand dollars on the new place, yet not one stone has been put upon another in its building, and we are paying interest on the money.

We have paid out more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars on the present mansion in an effort to keep up the nearly one hundred year old structure, and it is still nothing but a patchwork job. We have put nearly seventy-five thousand dollars into the Adjutant General's house at Indiantown Gap so that the Governor could use it, and we still do not have a satisfactory Executive Mansion for the Governor.

I am told that plans are under consideration to spend upwards of one hundred thousand dollars on the present mansion, in an effort to restore it and make it more livable and useful.

All of this would be stopped and we would save money if the building of the new Executive Mansion were accomplished and these other two costly and inadequate places closed out. The bill has long since been passed providing for the sale of the present mansion, and the building at Indiantown Gap could be returned to military service.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

URGING THE GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA TO CONSIDER THE ADVISABILITY OF ERECTING THE NEW EXECUTIVE MANSION

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 19, 1951.

Whereas, An historical book, entitled "Shelter for His Excellency" by Lt. Colonel LeRoy Greene, has just been published and contains a complete history of the Executive Mansion and the 100 Governors of Pennsylvania with special reference to those Governors who have lived in the Executive Mansion; and

Whereas, The book, in great detail, documents the discomfort and the inconvenience which the Executive Mansion has caused to a great number of its occupants and discloses a fact which all of its occupants have suspected, viz:—it was formerly a small house to which a twin house has been attached, with a false front to make it appear as a single house; and

Whereas, It is an architect's monstrosity into which the inordinate sum of $350,000 has been poured by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for rebuilding and reconstruction alone, without considering the cost of continuously refurnishing and redecorating the place; and

Whereas, The book also documents the fact that this relic of 1864 is entirely inadequate to the needs of 1951 and, by the record, has not been adequate since Governor Beaver lived there when the place was known as Keystone Hall, and that the Governors subsequent to him have repeatedly pointed out said deficiencies; and

Whereas, During the administration of Governor Arthur H. James, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, appointed a joint committee of both Houses to cause the erection of a new Mansion, and the ground was purchased by an appropriation of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania at Front and Maclay Streets, Harrisburg, for the erection thereon of a new Mansion; and

Whereas, Paul P. Cret, internationally-famed architect was hired to, and did, draw plans for the new Executive Mansion to be located at Front and Maclay Streets, and was paid for said plans by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania passed an act empowering the General State Authority to build an Executive Mansion and

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorized the Governor of Pennsylvania to sell the present Executive Mansion at 311-313 North Front Street; and

Whereas, All necessary action has been taken by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to meet the needs and the specifications for a new Mansion; and

Whereas, The actual work on the new Mansion had got under way, but was halted by the critical shortages of materials and other demands of World War II, and nothing has been done since the end of World War II to resume the building program; and

Whereas, In order to escape the discomforts of the present Executive Mansion, the post-war Governors have occupied the official Indiantown Gap Military Reservation home of the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, which has resulted in the building of still another Mansion for the Adjutant General and may result in the building of additional inadequate Mansions unless the new Executive Mansion is promptly started; and

Whereas, It is understood that plans have presently been proposed and are under consideration, to spend as much as $100,000 for a further rebuilding and enlarging of the present Executive Mansion, which has already involved a greater expenditure of money than the investment could conceivably warrant; therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, in session assembled urge the Governor of Pennsylvania, His Excellency, John S. Fine, to immediately consider the advisability of the erection of the new Executive Mansion, and use the ground already bought and to paid for and the plans already prepared, drawn, and paid for.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

GOVERNOR'S BUDGET MESSAGE

The CHAIR cleared his table and announced receipt of the "Fifteenth Biennial Budget of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" and "Supplement to the Fifteenth Biennial Budget of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" for the fiscal biennium June 1, 1951, to May 31, 1953, together with the "Budget Message of John S. Fine, Governor of Pennsylvania to the General Assembly, March 19, 1951," copies of which have been placed on the desks of the Senators.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

JOINT SESSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 19, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to appear before the Members in Joint Session at ten o'clock a. m., Wednesday, March 21, 1951, to comment on the Budget and to present a Tax Program.

JOHN S. FINE.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we have just received the Fifteenth Biennial Budget Message from the Governor. However, at his request we are to meet in Joint Session on Wednesday to hear his message that will cover the budget, and, I hope, the tax program to finance the budget.

Mr. President, we believe it to be in the best interest of the people of Pennsylvania to withhold any remarks whatsoever until after the Governor's message is delivered on Wednesday of this week.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to request that the gentlemen of the Senate be given an opportunity between now and Wednesday to study the budget, and during that interim we will be glad to answer any questions either on or off the Floor that the gentlemen of the Senate might desire to ask regarding it because I appreciate the fact that some of the gentlemen, who are privileged to be serving their first term with us, might not be familiar with the make-up of the budget. We will be glad to cooperate with them and explain it to them in case they have any questions.

An Act requiring every person in the employ of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any political subdivision thereof, other than elected officers, to take an oath of loyalty and imposing certain duties upon the State Civil Service Commission, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and county commissioners.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I feel that it is a right of our American citizens to have an opinion, but I feel that it is a privilege to work for any political subdivision of our Commonwealth and I cannot for the life of me see why any person so employed would refuse to affirm or take this oath that is being offered as an amendment to Senate Bill No. 27.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, on behalf of Messrs. LANE, NEFF, MALLERY and myself, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 19, 1951.

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend William Hugh Fryer, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we beseech Thee to look with favor upon our land and people. All undeserving, Thou hast made us great among the nations of the earth. Let us not forget that this place and this power have come of Thee, and that we have them as a trust to use in Thy service. Save us from pride and arrogance make us quick to see the need of those less fortunate than ourselves, and to be resolute in purpose to promote good will and fellowship among all men; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Wednesday, March 14, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MADIGAN, BOWER and WOOD (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 21.

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1951.

Whereas, There are now on Pennsylvania farms dairy animals, poultry, and general livestock worth in the aggregate more than $412,000,000, producing approximately 75 per cent of the total annual income of Pennsylvania agriculture, or in monetary terms, about $575,000,000 a year; and

Whereas, The greatest economic losses to the dairy, poultry and general livestock industry are occasioned by the inroads of animals diseases and parasites; and

Whereas, Existing facilities for training persons qualified for the practice of veterinary medicine within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are inadequate to meet the existing and still growing need for doctors of veterinary medicine; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania State College, by virtue of its scientific personnel, its resources for research, its close working relationship with dairy, poultry, and general livestock raisers throughout the State, and its physical location, is the appropriate institution to develop the needed facilities; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the members of the General Assembly hereby request the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College to authorize the establishment of a school of Veterinary Medicine at the Pennsylvania State College and, at the earliest possible time, to erect such buildings, employ such personnel, and establish such programs of research and instruction as in their judgment are requisite to the proper maintenance and operation of such a school of veterinary medicine; and be it further

Resolved, That if the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College establish such a School of Veterinary Medicine, the members of the General Assembly hereby pledge their support in providing the essential financing for constructing and equipping requisite research, instructional, clinical and administrative buildings, and also for the proper operation and maintenance of such of those units as are completed and ready for use prior to June 30, 1953. Funds appropriated by the members of the General Assembly on the basis of this resolution would be in addition to the amount appropriated for the operation and maintenance of the Pennsylvania State College as it is now constituted; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House send a copy of this resolution to the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. JOHNSON from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution No. 19.

Mr. HEIM from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended, House Resolution Serial No. 11 (House Resolution No. 22).

Mr. MORAN from the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 545, entitled:

An Act to amend Subsection (f) of Section 302, of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by providing that employers reserve accounts shall not be charged with compensation paid to certain employes.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

BUDGET MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 19, 1951.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In compliance with Article VI of the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, I have the honor to lay before the General Assembly a State Budget for the fiscal biennium from June 1, 1951 to May 31, 1953.

The two budgets Governor Duff submitted to you during his tenure called upon the General Assembly to meet the complex situations of a post-war period. Provision necessarily had to be made for many deferred demands. In many instances State facilities and services suffered during the war period and the depression which preceded it. These had to be rehabilitated and some had to be extended. State appropriations had to be greatly stepped up to meet the high costs brought about by inflation.

A sizeable program of public works was undertaken during this time both from appropriations and by the various Authorities. To the latter this Legislature must now appropriate rentals in excess of 13 billions of dollars, only a small portion of which obligation heretofore existed. While some of that program was completed in the last Administration, much of it remains to be completed by this Administration. That program is now our obligation—yours and mine. In addition, commitments were made by the Legislature approximating 100 millions of dollars for which no revenue was provided, as will be hereinafter detailed.

Moreover, in the conduct of State Government we are on a different level than that of ten years ago, or even of four years ago. We cannot today think in the same terms as then. Many State costs have doubled. Some costs such as building construction are three times what they were then. Compensation of State employes has increased. The minimum salaries of many public school teachers have been doubled and the maximum considerably more than doubled. Public assistance grants now per person are nearly two and one-half times 1940 grants.

The general cost of living stands 75 percent above that of ten years ago but for many items, particularly food and clothing, the costs are more than double.

When the budget under which the State Government is now operating was prepared in 1949 it was assumed that the level of National income would remain somewhat at the level then existing—the price level was expected to remain somewhat the same. Those assumptions were not far off the mark for most of this two-year period. But they changed rapidly and they no longer hold true. Price levels have risen higher and higher. Since the beginning of the Korean war there has been a sharp increase in the cost of living and National income has stepped up rapidly. The prospect is for still higher costs. We have a soaring economy which has not yet been fully harnessed.

Before taking up the 1951-1953 budget, let us review the General Fund finances during the biennium.

The financial program set up two years ago for this biennial period has operated successfully and as planned with the exception of expenditures for public assistance and for public school subsidies. Due primarily to strikes, public assistance expenditures have far exceeded expectations. Fortunately a $25,000,000 contingent appropriation was made. That appropriation is now nearly exhausted and there is need of a deficiency appropriation of $10,000,000 to complete the biennium.

The appropriations for school subsidies, it appears, will fall $5,342,820 below the amount estimated to be necessary when present appropriations were made. Outside of that there is need of additional deficiency appropriations amounting to $1,240,725, which deficiencies will be explained in detail later.

Total appropriations for 1949-1951 were $725,129,000 plus a contingency appropriation of $25,000,000 for public assistance. To meet these appropriations there were estimated revenues of $657,800,000, a surplus of $63,235,000, $1,650,000 transferred from special funds, and $2,800,000 of appropriations to be repaid to the General Fund. There was an unappropriated balance of $356,000.

In order to provide funds to meet the $25,000,000 public assistance contingency appropriation, a number of appropriations were curtailed as follows:

Act 75-A—1943 Session	$ 546,591.72
Act 73-A—1945 Session	5,585,199.46
Act 55-A—1947 Session	8,996,906.43
Act 56-A—1947 Session	8,138,032.48
Act 23-A—1947 Session	1,000,000.00
Act 89-A—1949 Session (World War II Veterans Compensation Sinking Fund, Excess Interest)	733,269.91
Total	$ 25,000,000.00

To secure funds for the $25,000,000 conditional appropriation for Public Assistance, it was necessary to transfer construction projects amounting to $16,154,000 to the General State Authority. These projects either have been completed or are under way.

At the end of the first year of this biennium, May 31, 1950, the estimate of revenue, $327,862,899, was realized, (excepting the sum of $361,054.36). During the second year of the biennium, due primarily to a much higher level of business activity, it now appears safe to predict that revenues will be higher than for the year ending May 31, 1950. We can therefore predict that total revenues for the present biennium will be $678,500,000. After providing for the deficiency appropriations which I am recommending in the sum of $16,583,545, there will remain an estimated surplus of $10,026,557. This will be available for use during the next biennium, 1951-1953.

As we then turn to the budget for the 1951-1953 biennium we find ourselves confronted by one of the most uncertain outlooks imaginable. Who can predict what conditions will prevail in the two-year period from next June first? Yet that is the task we have to undertake. A new function, Civil Defense, confronts us. This eventually could require a large outlay of funds. One of the great difficulties in preparing a financial program for the next two years is the uncertainty of what the Federal Government will do in this emergency, and what requirements will be imposed upon us by our National Government. We do not know what controls will be imposed or to what extend our economy will be regulated. Both revenues and expeditures are thus made most difficult to predict.

The situation four years ago, as I explained, required the undertaking during the post-war period of a vast amount of necessary work which was impossible of accomplishment during the war years. There is much of that work still to be done. But, we find a situation wherein civil defense and production required in defense of our Country must have top priority. In view of this, we should reappraise projects which have been planned but have not yet been started. All projects should meet the strictest test of necessity before being undertaken. Projects which have been started should be completed as soon as possible. We should not consider new projects or activities which will in any way interfere with the defense effort. The State Government must be conducted in such a way that maximum help will be given to the National defense.

The tremendous expenditures and huge taxation programs of the Federal Government dictate that all State expenditures should be essential and be kept to a minimum. This policy combats inflation and should be pursued on all governmental levels. Moreover, we must do everything possible to make manpower and materials available for defense and bring our State Government in line with that policy.

Necessarily for our next budget, we have to make some bold assumptions. We assume that the price level will not be less than that presently prevailing and that there will probably be considerable further increase. Correspondingly there should be a very substantial increase in National income because of the great increase in military expenditures. Business activity, even though production for civilian use is limited, is expected to be at a level higher than that presently existing. Employment should be at a peak level with very little unemployment.

The budget I am presenting to you calls for General Fund appropriations for the 1951-1953 biennium in the amount of $853,513,930 which amount includes a reserve of $20,000,000 for Civil Defense. The amount without the reserve, $833,513,930, compares with $766,094,548 for the 1949-1951 biennium, an increase of $67,419,382. However, the recommended appropriations also include $112,- 000,000 of obligations arising from actions taken before the advent of this Administration. These include $60,000,000 for bonus financing, $42,000,000 additional for school subsidies and retirement payments required under existing law, and approximately $10,000,000 additional for State Authority rentals.

If these new obligations totaling $112,000,000 were deducted from the recommended appropriations, the required appropriations for the 1951-1953 biennium would be $741,513,930, or a reduction of $24,580,618, below the amount of appropriations including deficiencies, required for the 1949-1951 biennium.

In the total of $853,513,930 of appropriations which we recommended for the next biennium, it must be remembered there are included not only 112 millions of dollars prior commitments for which no revenues were provided, but also included are, $20,000,000 additional for public schools beyond the present requirements of law, $20,000,000 reserve for civil defense and provisions for salary increases granted during the present biennium. In this total recommended is, also, an increase of $9,310,570 for universities, colleges, and other State-aided institutions.

Our chief aim has been to keep the budget for the operating costs of the State Government at its lowest possible level, and at the same time provide adequately for civil defense for health and for education. An examination of the budget will show how well this intention has been carried out.

The appropriations recommended for the support of the public schools is an increase of $47,000,000 from $203,000,000 to $250,000,000 or 23 percent. The appropriation recommended for teachers retirement is an increase of $10,804,000 from $26,640,000 to $37,444,000, an increase of 41 percent. The amount recommended for appropriation for higher education represents an increase of 39 percent.

The appropriation recommended for the promotion of health appear in a number of places in the budget. Provisions are made for an increased patient population at the tuberculosis sanitoria and the Crippled Children's Hospital, for continuing stream pollution elimination, health examination of school children, care and treatment of mental patients, support of the medical hospitals, both State-owned and State-aided, and adequate provision for all the other functions of the Department of Health.

Civil Defense

Civil Defense is a most vital function. We must carry it out to the fullest extent required. The amount of funds needed for the next two years is difficult to predict especially because much depends on the fluid program of the Federal Government which, of necessity, is our guide. I am recommending an appropriation of $20,000,000. This appropriation is to be considered in the nature of a reserve to be used only in case of absolute necessity. The amount to be allotted for administrative purposes should be limited to a maximum of $1,200,000. Other purposes for which funds may be needed are for stockpiling medical supplies and other materials and for such other purposes as may be deemed necessary by Federal and State authorities.

It appears that in case of an actual war emergency requiring greater expenditures than provided the Constitution would allow us to borrow funds immediately.

Public Instruction

The amount recommended to be appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction is $368,688,687. This is $70,483,187 more than the present appropriations and recommended deficiencies.

This increase is explained by the fact that under existing law $27,000,000 additional is required for support of the public schools, $4,000,000 additional for transportation subsidies, and $10,804,987 for payments to the School Employes' Retirement Fund. I also, am recommending $20,000,000 for the support of public schools beyond existing law, and $11,204,120 additional for universities and colleges including Teachers' colleges and other educational institutions.

The $27,000,000 increase in the amount recommended for the support of public schools is due to several causes, the increase in the minimum appropriation provided in Act 536 of the 1949 Session, the special plan established for reimbursing school districts which operate high schools jointly, and the change in the formula for reimbursing school districts on account of tuition.

The increase of $4,000,000 required for reimbursement for transportation is due to the provision in Act 443 of the 1947 Session which mandated additional transportation effective for 1949-1950 and thereafter. It also is due to the fact that one-room schools are constantly being closed in rural areas resulting in an increase in the number of pupils being transported, and further due to inflationary costs bringing about an increase in the unit cost in connection with transportation.

The increase of $10,804,987 in the recommended appropriation to the School Employes' Retirement Fund is due to salary increases required by Act 542 of the 1949 Session, to greatly increased benefits at the time of retirement as provided in Act 185 of the 1949 Session, to additional liabilities caused by the admission of new members, to the payment of withdrawn contributions authorized by Act 275 of the 1949 Session, to a regular guaranteed annual allowance of $1200 for an employe having forty or more years of service as required by Act 541 of the 1949 Session, and to the interest deficits for the years ending June 30, 1950 and June 30, 1951.

The increase of $9,304,120 for universities and colleges and other state aided educational institutions is necessary because of loss of income to those institutions due to an expected decline in enrollment arising from military demands and because of increased costs since the last appropriation was made.

The increase of $1,900,000 recommended for the teachers' colleges is due in large part to the expectation that there will be a considerable decrease in receipts to those institutions, estimated to be $1,897,000, due to a considerably smaller number of veteran students and an anticipated decline in enrollment from students leaving for military service.

The appropriation of $20,000,000 which I am recommending for the support of the public schools beyond the requirements of present law is being made available with the intention that it will be applied in the best way possible to help our schools. Whether it can best be used to raise the reimbursement level, to increase teachers' salaries, or perhaps a combination of both, or in some other manner, requires the serious study of the Legislature. I shall be glad to give you my full cooperation in dealing with that important problem.

Under Act 557 of the 1949 Session, the State assumed an obligation of helping to pay rentals for school buildings built by the Public School Building Authority for school districts. The appropriation for 1949-1951 was $500,000, none of which has been used. But. it is expected that some buildings will be completed and that some districts will begin paying rentals in the next two-year period. The amount needed is quite uncertain, particularly in view of the emergency defense situation. I am recommending that an appropriation of $1,000,000 be established for that purpose. This should be sufficient in addition to the $500,000 unused appropriation.

Public Assistance

The amount appropriated for Public Assistance for the present biennium was $161,100,000, and a conditional appropriation of $25,000,000. The $161,100,000 appropriation has been expended and the Department started spending the $25,000,000 conditional appropriation, about the middle of December, 1950. The Department estimates that an additional appropriation of $10,000,000 will be needed to complete the biennial period after the $25,000,000 appropriation has been exhausted. The amount I recommend for the next biennium is $136,300,000.

Since the beginning of the Korean War the employment situation has greatly improved in the State, and there has been a great drop in the number of persons dependent upon Public Assistance. With the great increase in defense production ahead, it is reasonable to believe there will be a further reduction in the Public Assistance caseload. This assumption motivates my recommendation of an appropriation of $136,300,000. Also we intend stricter supervision to keep off the Public Assistance rolls, any who do not properly belong on them.

Health

The appropriation I am recommending for the institutions under the jurisdiction of the Deparatment of Health —the three sanatoria and the Crippled Children's Hospital is $11,650,000 as compared with $10,650,000 in the present biennium. This represents an increase of $1,-000,000 or 9.4 per cent. That amount will permit a very considerable increase in the number of patients in these institutions, if sufficient personnel can be obtained to minister to them.

I am recommending an appropriation og $6,000,000 for school health examinations so that this important work can be continued.

I am also including a recommendation for appropriations for cancer research and for rheumatic fever treatment in the Department of Health in the same amounts as those of the present biennium. A further appropriation of $300,000 is recommended to help finance the work of the Cancer Research Laboratory at Fox Chase.

I am recommending an appropriation of $150,000 for the establishment of alcoholic clinics. This is a step in a field which needs more attention.

It is proposed to reorgnize the State Health Department increasing its efficiency at no appreciable increased cost.

Welfare

For the institutions under the jurisdiction of the Department of Welfare, I am recommending an appropriation totaling $102,523,000. This compares with $91,870,000 for the present biennium, an increase of $10,653,000. Of this increase 9,183,000 is recommended for the mental institutions. This increase is due primarily to increased patient population and for improved care and treatment of those patients in many new institutional buildings which will be completed and in operation in the next two-year period, and, further, to increased costs of operation.

The Department of Welfare is requesting an appropriation of $250,000 to aid in establishing psychiatric services in private institutions, and an appropriation of $300,000 to aid in establishing psychiatric wards in general hospitals. The present Mental Hospital Appropriation act permits use of that appropriation for these worthy purposes. The requested $550,000 has been included in the appropriation recommended for mental hospitals.

The appropriation I am recommending for the State-aided hospitals—$15,365,000—is an increase of $1,000,000 over the appropriation in the present biennium and is recommended to help meet increased costs at these hospitals. I have recommended an approximate increase of another $1,000,000 for state-owned hospitals.

At the last Session of the Legislature an appropriation of $500,000 was made for the first time to promote nurses training in private hospitals. Under that appropriation, 89 hospitals received aid in nurses training courses. The appropriation was not sufficient, and was exhausted last July. I am recommending a deficiency appropriation of $440,000 to complete the biennium. As it is tremendously important to increase our nursing corps, I recommend an appropriation of $940,000 for this purpose.

Mines

The Department of Mines, during the last two bienniums, has undertaken important work of sealing abandoned coal mines. This is done to prevent acid water contaminating the streams. In a recent report, the Secretary of Mines showed that 989 seals had been made.

This is much more work of this nature to be done, and it seems to me that this work should be continued. I am recommending an appropriation in the amount of $1,-407,000 which is the same amount as for the present biennium.

State Police

The total appropriation recommended for the Pennsylvania State Police is $20,368,350. This compares with $19,440,000 in the present biennium, or an increase of $928,350.

The increase is due, in part, to salary increases which have been made during the past two years and, also, to the fact that the force was increased 400 men during the two-year period. However, all 400 did not serve the whole two-year period.

My recommendation is that the General Fund and the Motor License Fund carry the same proportions of appropriations for the next two years as they carried in the present biennium. This would result in an appropriation of $6,118,350 from the General Fund, and the balance from the Motor License Fund.

Property and Supplies

The appropriation for salaries and expenses recommended for the Department of Property and Supplies, $4,500,000, is less than the 1949-1951 appropriation of $3,702,000 plus $833,000 spent by the Construction Bureau of that Department and charged to projects undertaken. In the next biennium, all expenditures will be made from the $4,500,000 appropriation recommended.

An appropriation of $13,194,000 to the Department of Property and Supplies, is recommended for State Authority rentals. This is an increase of $9,444,000 over the appropriation for that purpose in the present biennium. The $13,194,000 is the amount estimated by the General State Authority and the Department of Property and Supplies to be sufficient for rentals for projects to be completed in the next two-year period. A detailed explanation of the request will be furnished to the Appropriation Committees along with the explanation of the other appropriations requested by the Department.

Military Affairs

The appropriation needed for the Department of Military Affairs is difficult to predict in view of the uncertainty with respect to the National Guard in the next two years. If the remainder of the National Guard should be called into Federal Service the Department has completed plans to establish and finance a State Guard of three regiments.

During this two-year period in order to help finance the administrative cost of paying the Veterans Bonus, the Department had to eliminate considerable repair work which had been planned at the armories. The department estimates the amount of such work eliminated at $498,000. During the next two years, the Department plans to undertake those repairs along with others as they become necessary.

These are the chief reasons for the increase requested by this department.

Department of State

(A) State Employes' Retirement Fund

The appropriation recommended for the State Employes' Retirement Fund is $6,755,000, which compares with $4,642,000 in the present biennium—an increase of $2,113,000 for 1951-1953 biennium.

There are a number of causes for this increase, chief of which are the laws, (1) The Act which admitted State per diem workers to the Retirement System, (2) the law which permitted transfers from the Public School Employes' Retirement System to the State Employes' Retirement System, (3) the law permitting transfers from the 1/160th class to the 1/100th class, retroactively, and, also, for the salary increases which were given since the last appropriation was made. Still another reason is the failure of the Fund to earn the required four per cent interest because of continuing low interest rates.

(B) Soldiers' Absentee Voting

A new appropriation becomes necessary to make effective Act 1, 1951, known as the Soldiers' Absentee Voting Law. The amount estimated for this purpose is $383,000 and I recommend that amount be appropriated.

Public Works

As stated previously, there are large construction programs underway which this Administration is obligated to complete. As of March 1, 1951, there was a total of $11,416,033 in projects uncompleted and being financed from General Fund construction appropriations in the Department of Property and Supplies. This uncompleted program can be classified as follows:

Welfare Institutions:
Mental Hospitals, Feeble-Minded and Epileptics	$3,660,093
Penal and Correctional Institutions	843,750
Medical and Surgical Hospitals	289,000
		$4,792,843
Educational Institutions:
Teachers Colleges and Other State-owned Institutions	$831,000
Pennsylvania State College	1,950,614
		$2,781,614
Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission		33,576
Health Institutions		1,619,000
State Police Barracks		512,000
Miscellaneous—State-owned Institutions, State Parks, Et Cetera		1,677,000
Total		$11,416,033

As of March 1, 1951 the General State Authority had a total program of $148,364,194 in uncompleted projects. That program is as follows:

Welfare Institutions:
Mental Hospitals, Feeble-Minded and Epileptics	$88,003,221
Medical and Surgical Hospitals	5,455,345
Penal and Correctional Institutions	2,527,019
Welfare Institutions—Equipment	4,624,910
		$100,610,495
Educational Institutions:
Teachers Colleges and Other State-Owned Institutions	$22,427,896
Pennsylvania State College	12,169,785
Educational Institutions—Equipment	1,063,651
		$35,661,332
Health Institutions		2,945,045
State Police Barracks		2,852,577
Forests and Waters:
Stream Clearance, Flood Control, and State Parks		6,115,822
Miscellaneous		178,923
Total		$148,364,194

Requests are now on hand for a large amount of additional major public works, primarily at Welfare Institutions and Teachers Colleges.

Despite increased costs, many of these projects are necessary and urgent and should be undertaken as soon as possible. One of the many things which need special attention is provision for additional facilities for the care of youthful offenders. It appears that a new institution may be necessary for this purpose, and this should have your serious consideration.

In my General Fund appropriation recommendations in this budget, there is no provision for construction or other major public works. If a program of public works is economically feasible and is undertaken, I shall recommend that the borrowing limit of the General State Authority be raised and that the program be prosecuted by that agency.

But, as I stated previously, I am not in favor of any activity that will in any way interfere with the defense effort or further disturb our present economy. We should approach construction programs with extreme caution. I suggest that we study the situation during the Session and decide later, in the light of defense developments, the course we should pursue. I may need to communicate with you again on this subject at a later date.

Forests and Waters

The appropriation recommended for operation of the Department of Forests and Waters is $6,845,000. In the present biennium the Department has made expenditures from three appropriations for the work of the Department —the appropriation for salaries and expenses in the general bill, appropriation under Act 83-A of the 1945 Session, and appropriation under Act 23-A of the 1947 Session, estimated to be a total amount of $11,583,682 by the end of the biennium. Therefore, the appropriation recommended for the next two years is a reduction of $4,738,682.

The Department estimates that $1,000,000 will be needed for dredging of the Auburn, Tamaqua, Kernville, and Felix desilting basins in the Schuylkill River project, in accordance with the agreement with the Federal Government, and for maintaining and repairing the 23 silt impounding basins. I recommend an appropriation in that amount.

An appropriation of $2,000,000 is recommended to continue the development of the Independence Mall in Philadelphia. The properties in the block between Chestnut and Market Streets and between Fifth and Sixth Streets have been purchased and demolition is underway. The $2,000,000 appropriation recommended for the next two years would continue the project by allowing purchase of the properties or part of the properties in the block north of Market Street.

An appropriation of $1,500,000 is recommended to continue the development of Point Park in Pittsburgh. All of the properties have been acquired for that project and about half of the demolition completed. This appropriation recommended is for the purpose of completing demolition and for grading and surfacing for temporary, revenue-producing parking facilities.

Salaries of State Employes

During the present biennium a general salary increase was granted in the sum of $200 per employe for those receiving $3,000 or less. No general increase was given for those with salaries above $3,000. However, there have been a number of meritorious increases for some employes receiving above that amount.

The appropriations I am recommending for the departments will permit some adjustments to be made where past salary increases have not been sufficient. The cost of living poses a serious question whether salary increases, beyond those now possible under recommended appropriations for the departments ought not to be made. I suggest that we consider this situation during the Session when we will have more information on the trend in cost of living and on the yield of our revenue sources. Then we can decide whether some provision not now included in the budget, should be made for increasing State employes' salaries.

Deficiency Appropriations Recommended

The budget includes a schedule of the deficiency appropriations I am recommending. Of the $16,583,545 total, $10,000,000 is for public assistance to complete this biennium when the $25,000,000 appropriation is exhausted. The Department of Public Assistance estimates that the $25,000,000 appropriation will be exhausted early in April and that $10,000,000 will be required to May 31.

Of the $16,583,545 total, $5,342,820 is for deficiencies in public school subsidies. These amounts represent the differences in actual payments under existing law as compared with the estimates set up two years ago.

A deficiency of $750,000 is requested for financially handicapped school districts. The $750,000 appropriation for this purpose for this biennium has practically all been obligated on applications received for the school year 1949-1950. The Department of Public Instruction found that in general the financial situation in districts investigated during 1949-1950 was more acute than in the previous year due to higher mandated teachers' salaries and to the fact that most of the financially distressed school districts are already levying the maximum tax on real estate permitted by law. Applications for assistance for 1950-1951 are being received by the Department at about the same rate as during 1949-1950 which makes the request for a deficiency appropriation of $750,000 imperative.

The deficiency of $312,650 requested for Legislative printing, is explained by the fact that it has been the practice to carry over certain expenses of a Session, particularly printing expenses, for payment under the appropriation immediately following the Session. The deficiency of $7,275 requested for printing and distributing service organization convention reports, is due to an underestimate two years ago of the amount that would be required.

The amount requested for the Department of Labor and Industry is due to the fact that the appropriation for this biennium provided practically no margin for salary increases and other higher operational costs.

The amount requested for the Department of Justice, $200,000, is due to expenditures incurred by that Department for salary increases not contemplated at the time the appropriation was made, for expenses incurred in trials and Grand Jury investigations in the City of Philadelphia and in Allegheny County.

The deficiency appropriation of $440,000 requested for training of student nurses is necessary to make the payments required for the two-year period since the $500,000 originally appropriated was exhausted last July.

I have specifically referred in this message only to the appropriations of those departments which required further explanation and clarification. The recommended appropriations of other departments present no unusual factors and are clearly set forth in the budget.

A detailed statement of the requests of all of the departments will be furnished the Appropriation Committee of the General Assembly.

Motor License Fund

The estimated total of funds available in the Motor License Fund for the 1951-1953 biennium, is $385,407,372, assuming the present gasoline taxes are maintained. This total consists of an estimated unobligated cash balance of $22,763,972, June 1, 1951, and $362,643,400 of estimated receipts, including Federal aid, for the 1951-1953 biennium. This total of $385,407,372 compares with $402,098,200 estimated for the 1949-1951 biennium, a decrease of $16,690,828.

For the 1951-1953 biennium the estimate of receipts from Federal aid is $46,000,000. Receipts from sources other than Federal aid, are estimated at $316,643,400 for 1951-1953 compared with $307,619,900 for 1949-1951.

The estimate of funds available for 1951-1953, $385,407,372, will permit the Department of Highways to have a budget of $300,000,000 for the 1951-1953 biennium. This will permit the following expenditures during the two-year period compared with those estimated for the present biennium:

	Estimated 1949-1951	Estimated 1951-1953
Construction	$207,556,000	$188,805,000
Resurfacing	16,390,000	14,100,000
Overhead Engineering, Equipment, etc.	38,373,000	37,095,000
Maintenance	54,681,000	60,000,000
Totals	$317,000,000	$300,000,000

Other Appropriations for Motor License Fund

An appropriation of $10,000,000 is recommended for cities, boroughs, and first class townships and $10,000,000 for townships of the second class. These are the same as the appropriations for the present biennium.

The allocation recommended for the Pennsylvania State Police, $14,250,000, is an increase of $610,000. This, as explained earlier in this message, is due primarily to salary increases which have occurred during the present two-year period and to the fact that the force was gradually increased by 400 men in the present biennium, whereas in the next biennium full provision is made for the two-year period for this increased force.

An allocation of $12,000,000 is recommended for the Department of Revenue, an increase of $1,337,500 over the amount expected to be spent in the present two-year period. This increase is explained chiefly by increases granted during this biennium, by greatly increased work, particularly in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, and by increased costs of materials, postage and printing in that bureau, and for increased cost of the Highway Safety Program.

Revenue

It is estimated $680,000,120 will be raised from certain existing taxes. This amount plus the $10,026,557 surplus is less than the recommended appropriations for 1951-1953 by $163,487,253, which must be raised by additional taxes. How these respective revenues will be raised will be detailed in a special message to the Legislature on Wednesday of this week.

Conclusion

As there is a large amount of carry-over obligations to be financed because of legislative mandates prior to this Administration, and being conscious of the tremendous Federal and local tax loads and substantial State taxes now carried by the people of this Commonwealth, my aim in making this budget has been to cut requested appropriations to an irreducible minimum.

I have shown that when these carry-over obligations are deducted from my recommended appropriations, the remaining amounts requested from the Legislature are considerably less than those in the present biennium.

This budget shows that we estimate it will cost $741,513,930 to operate the State Government for the 1951-1953 biennium with the aforesaid deductions. This is $24,580,618 less than the appropriations, including deficiencies, required for the past two years. Moreover, without deducting the $112,000,000 mandated obligations, over which we have no control, from our recommended budget, there is only a difference between the 1949-1951 and 1951-1953 budgets of $1,240,843.88 for the whole State Government, all funds.

A further illustration of how this budget has been pared may be gathered from the fact that the amount we now recommend for running the State's business during the next two years is less than the amount the departments had available in the present two-year period.

Still further evidence of the fact that this budget has been severly pruned is that $35,000,000 has been cut from normal departmental requests for appropriations not including requests for construction.

The two years ahead of us will not be ordinary years. They will be abnormal years and will impose extraordinary demands on everyone of us and upon our State Government. To project State financing into the vagaries of the next two years is as hazardous as it now becomes necessary. There will be many serious and unusual problems which can only be solved through mutual cooperation. I pledge you my full support and the support of this Administration in this task.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN S. FINE, Governor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The Administration has given birth to a budget. The overdue accouchment was attended by many learned political doctors. As to whether or not the protracted period of labor has been justified, will undoubtedly depend upon future events.

The most that can be said, at this time, for the budget child that has been born, is that it is unusually large for its age. A sizable creature, one would say. A creature tipping the financial scales at a record weight.

Concerning the maternity of this budget child that has been laid upon our legislative doorstep, we have no comment at this time.

Perhaps it can be said that mother and child are doing well.

At this time however there is perhaps occasion for doubt as to who or what sired this budget child.

There even may be occasion for doubt as to just who will claim this infant as their very own. It is even possible it will be listed for adoption.

In the midst of the scene there is perhaps only one tragic figure. That tragic figure is the Pennsylvania Taxpayer who undoubtedly will ultimately be cast in the role of a sugar-daddy.

When the parents of the budget child that has just been born desert it, forget it, regard it only with averted eye, the Pennsylvania Taxpayer must serve it as a foster parent.

Curiously enough, while the foster parents of our precious budget child are free to come and go their smiling way, it is the potential foster father, the Pennsylvania Taxpayer, who finds himself upon the operating table.

The gentle Chinese have an instrument of reform known as "The death of a thousand cuts." The procedure under the Death of a Thousand Cuts formula is designed to lead the patient to accept any solution to any pending problem—and end the agony.

Just now the Pennsylvania Taxpayer is in the position of a patient in a hospital, strapped on the operating table, without having been given the benefit of an anaesthetic, and surrounded by surgeons who are discussing the case.

"Let's cut off a few fingers," says one surgeon.

"No, no, no," says another surgeon, "not just a few fingers. Let's cut off the left leg."

"Hardly sufficient, that," counters another surgeon, "let's cut off both legs."

Another surgeon suggests that they dig out the patient's liver.

The discussion continues within the hearing of the patient, until the poor, unfortunate pleads with the surgeans to do something, to do anything, anything that will end the agony.

That, perhaps, is the point we are rapidly approaching, the point where the patient will accept any treatment the political doctors may elect if only it will terminate the agony.

We have all read the story, in part, of what the political doctors have been proposing.

"A flat income tax," says one.

"Not a flat income tax, but a tax upon a tax," says another.

"Out with both suggestions," counters political doctor number three. "What the situation calls for is a sales tax."

"No, no, no, not a sales tax," pleads political doctor number four. "Let's have a tax on the gross receipts of business, big and little."

Doctor number five files a dissent to all the suggestions made—"What we should do," he says, "is boost corporate net income tax, retain the 'pop' tax, boost the utility gross receipts tax, and load cigarettes with another penny."

And so the discussion has raged and undoubtedly continues to rage, and quite likely the scene has been plotted for the purpose of so alarming and confusing the patient—the Pennsylvania Taxpayer—that he will soon be shrieking "Do something, do anything, only end the agony."

It is not our purpose to discuss a non-existent tax program. This is, however, an historic occasion—the birthday of a record-breaking state budget. A birthday which foreshadows a revision, to some extent at least, of the Commonwealth's tax structure.

The present Administration admits that either old taxes must be increased or new taxes imposed.

This admission is long overdue and it must be considered in the light of statements made by administration spokesmen during the recent campaign.

On September 9, 1950 the Pennsylvania State Republican Committee, in convention at Pittsburgh, adopted a Platform.

The concluding paragraphs of that document read: "This Platform represents the honest and sincere intent of the Republican Party of Pennsylvania. With God's help, we will conform to its precepts."

The taxation plank in the Platform duly adopted by the Pennsylvania State Republican Committee, in convention assembled, contains a paragraph which reads: "We propose to eliminate the soft drink tax. We are mindful that new obligations have to be financed, but we anticipate that the increase in revenue and the decrease in expenditures arising from a changed situation, coupled with strict economy and good management, will be sufficient to avoid any additional taxes."

It is, of course, true that the paragraph quoted does not contain a clear cut, definite promise, but it was a paragraph which undoubtedly served to deceive a portion of the people, a paragraph which served to deceive many honest Republican campaigners.

If the present Governor did not run on the party plank contained in the platform, there were a great many pepole who thought he did. Spokesmen for the party now in power created an atmosphere of confidence—a feeling that if it were returned to power it would confine tax levies within the scope of the existing tax structure.

It wasn't until after the people had returned their verdict at the polls that spokesmen for the party now in power began, timidly, to suggest that perhaps, perhaps, it would be necessary to increase taxes.

The "perhaps" was sheer deception, conscious or unconscious.

The Democratic Party and its candidates faced the situation in quite a different fashion. Democratic Party spokesmen said repeatedly that in their opinion it would be necessary for the General Assembly, when it organized on January 2, 1951, to find at least $150 million in new tax money.

Republican spokesmen said they anticipated it wouldn't be necessary to increase the tax burden.

The Democratic spokesmen said they anticipated it would be necessary to increase taxes.

It is barely possible the people said to themselves: "Republican Party spokesmen say no new tax will be needed—Democratic Party spokesmen say that a considerable sum in new taxes will be needed. The Republicans, therefore, are the better party. They'll keep taxes within the limits of existing tax structure."

What was the Democratic Party's tax plank? Its tax plank read: "We pledge the creation of a non-partisan expert commission to recommend an equitable system of taxation, based upon ability to pay, to provide revenue for the legitimate needs of the Commonwealth."

The position taken by the present Minority Party, the Democratic Party, during the recent campaign, was that Pennsylvania's present tax structure was a crazyquilt affair, that it was the result of a patchwork system, a patch here and a patch there, until the point has been reached where there isn't any place for any more patches.

We proposed a non-partisan, scientific approach to Pennsylvania's tax problem. There have been innumerable tax commissions appointed in the past, but the end to which the past commissions have devoted themselves was not the reconstruction, the revision of the existing tax structure, but rather the shifting of a tax burden from one taxpayer's shoulder to the shoulder of some other taxpayer to the end that the taxpaying goose might be plucked in such manner as would occasion a minimum of squawking.

That end, it would seem, is still being served. The paramount question being asked among the political doctors who are now operating, or planning to operate, upon the taxpayer, is not "What sort of a tax structure will most equitably divide the tax load?" but rather "What sort of a tax structure, what sort of new taxes, what sort of increases in existing taxes, will do the least damage to the party in power?"

And so, we await with interest the final verdict of the political tax doctors and we already can detect the murmurings upon the part of the potential taxpayer—"In the name of Allah the Merciful, trot out your political tax package—and end the agony!"

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's remarks that he has just made, when he is condemning us for putting the cost of government on John Q. Public, I do not know who pays the cost of government in a democratic type of government except John Q. Public and I hope the public always pays the debts of the Commonwealth. If we get into any other kind of payment of debts it certainly would not be a democracy, and that is what we have existed on up until now.

The gentleman quoted from the Republican platform. It is not quite fair just to quote from one part. It should be construed in its entirety. I would like to make a quotation also from the platform. In the taxation clause, it states

> "Taxes needed to provide for the internal security of the Commonwealth and for the general welfare of all the people of Pennsylvania will be levied without placing undue burdens upon any group or class."

I do not believe on September 9th, 1950 when this platform was written, that it was any secret that there would be new revenues needed.

I have a letter here, a copy rather, that is dated June 9th. This letter came from the defeated candidate for Governor and was addressed to His Excellency, Governor James H. Duff. In this letter, the defeated candidate states "that we shall be faced with a substantial deficit at the end of this biennium and that the next administration will have to raise not just a hundred and fifty million dollars, but more like three hundred million in new tax money for the 1951 and 1953 biennium." At the time that letter was sent to Governor Duff because he quoted what Governor Duff said about added costs of government, that a hundred and fifty million dollars will be needed in new tax money. That was in June. The Democratic candidate for Governor at that time realized that inflation would increase the amount of dollars needed to defray the cost of government, but, he was incorrect to the tune of one hundred and fifty millions.

> One of the things in just going over this budget that I have noticed is that the appropriations to the Departments are approximately the same if not a little bit less than allowed during the last biennium.

I think we have kept our promise that the cost of government would not increase.

The additional revenues that have been asked for,—and let me just give them to you approximately, school subsidies approximately $27 million; the soldiers' bonus for retirement of the bonds and interest, approximately $54 million; the teachers retirement fund approximately $11 million, and the General State Authority rentals approximately $10 million. That could fluctuate either way because of the amount of construction that would be done.

Remember one thing, every one of those items that I have just read were mandated by you gentlemen in this House. We have to pay that over and above last biennium. All of those are over last year's budget.

We say in the budget that we are recommending $20 million for Civil Defense. I do not believe on September 9th, before a so-called police action in Korea went into a full-fledged war, that we could tell how much money we would need for Civil Defense, so we have appropriated or rather recommended to the General Assembly $20 million to be applied to Civilian Defense.

We have also recommended that school subsidies be increased by another $20 million.

This is also a platform pledge, and I would like to read from the platform where it says that our children are entitled to the best educational facilities available, maintained at the highest standards, by the most capable, best paid teachers.

We have also recommended in this budget that universities and teachers colleges for maintainance be given another $12 million.

I would like to read from the platform in that respect where we say the Republican party recognizes its responsibility to continuously elevate the state's educational system.

Also there is being recommended an $11 million increase in Welfare and Health. That is also a platform pledge—we say we pledge in Pennsylvania the finest public health program in the nation and we pledge expansion of the current administration's outstanding mental health program with continued emphasis on prevention, care and treatment.

Keep in mind that the mandated recommendations are over one hundred million dollars. We in the Legislature ordered that. One hundred million dollars of this budget is what we have told the public must be spent. I am sure that since September 9th there has been considerable change in our government. As I said before, that was prior to the Korean incident going into a full-fledged war—regardless of what we want to call it, it is war.

The cost of living since September 9th has increased greater than at any time in our history. We all know that by the cost of food that we are buying. A good part of this has been due to the Federal government's failure to put a price ceiling on a lot of our commodities.

I feel that this budget with due respect, applies to our platform. We are protecting our people, and I am sure that the gentlemen on the other side of the House will agree that all of these extra funds that we are asking for are definitely needed for the welfare of the citizens of our state.

Mr. ANDREWS. May I have the privilege of asking the Majority Leader just one question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I will grant that one question privilege.

Mr. ANDREWS. I have not, at this time at least, been quarreling with the total amount of the budget. I did not attack the budget, and it was not necessary for the gentleman to defend it.

The question I want to ask is this, is he prepared at this time to end the agony and tell us just what kind of tax or taxes we will be asked to swallow in order to finance this great and glorious budget?

Mr. SMITH. I am sure Mr. Speaker, that in due time it will not be as much agony as the gentleman thinks. The tax program will be submitted to the House and we will be asked to vote on it and approve it very shortly.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman telling me at this hour of agony that he actually does not know?

Mr. SMITH. I would say Mr. Speaker, that I have been told that the tax program will be introduced in the House on Wednesday of this week, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. ANDREWS. I accept the gentleman's apology.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REQUEST TO ADDRESS JOINT SESSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governors Office, Harrisburg, March 19, 1951.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to appear before the Members in Joint Session at ten o'clock a. m., Wednesday, March 21, 1951, to comment on the Budget and to present a Tax Program.

JOHN S. FINE.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

It was agreed to.

Mr. SCHMIDT offered the following amendments:

Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting after line 9, the following:

Section 2. The governing body of any political subdivision upon resolution duly adopted, or electors equal to at least two per centum of the highest vote cast for any candidate in the political subdivision at the last preceding municipal election may petition the country board of elections of the proper county to have a question concerning the production and performance of civic opera as prescribed in the preceding section, submitted to the electors of the political subdivision, and the county board of elections shall cause a question to be placed on the ballots or on the voting machines and submitted to the electors of the political subdivision at the first general or municipal election occurring at least sixty (60) days thereafter, in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth. If a majority of the persons voting on such question vote "yes," then civic opera may be produced and performed by nonprofit corporations and political subdivisions on Sundays between the hours of two o'clock post meridian and twelve o'clock midnight within the political subdivision voting thereon, with the right to charge admission. If a majority of the persons voting on the question vote "no," such right shall be denied, and the same question shall not be voted upon again prior to the election occurring approximately two years thereafter.

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

They were agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. SCHMIDT offered the following amendment:

Amend title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after the word "Sundays" the following: "upon approval of the electors."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BEECH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Beech.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BEECH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the purpose for the recommittal of this bill to the Judiciary Committee, it is for the purpose of holding it up until final disposition has been made of the penal code. Is that correct?

Mr. BEECH. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker would the gentleman object to this bill's going through this House and then lodging in the appropriate Committee in the Senate, to be held up until final disposition of the penal code has been made? My reason for asking that is this: In the event something should happen that the penal code should not be passed in the Senate, that then this bill could properly proceed through the Senate.

Mr. BEECH. Mr. Speaker, I do object to the gentleman's request. I would rather this bill be recommitted to the Committee on the Judiciary of the House.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Beech spoke with me prior to the session this afternoon, he did suggest to me that this bill be recommitted to the Judiciary Committee following its amendment, so that it would be held up pending the final disposition of the penal code in the Senate.

Following my talk with him it occurred to me that in the event the penal code should for some reason not come out of committee in the Senate then I would find myself in a position where my bill would be lodged in a committee of the House, and there may be some difficulty there.

I fell that the merits of the bill, although I may not discuss it on this motion, are such that it should finally pass both houses, I believe that under the amendments that took place here just prior to this motion, this bill will meet the objections of all groups throughout the state.

I would, therefore, ask the House to defeat this motion, permit this bill to pass in the House, go to the Senate and then if necessary remain in committee in the Senate until some final disposition has been made of the penal code.

Mr. BEECH. Mr. Speaker, I ask the House to send this bill back to the Judiciary Committee as per my agreement with the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. SCHMIDT. I would like to make this statement; if the gentleman from Allegheny understood or feels that I have an agreement with him that this bill shall be recommitted by reason of the fact that I did have this discussion with him, I will remove my objection and ask that the bill be recommitted to the Judiciary Committee in the House, if he has that understanding.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is what I wanted to inquire, Mr. Speaker, as to whether there was an agreement concerning the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 47, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (i) of section one thousand four hundred and one of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, (P. L. 1225), entitled, "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals; and amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating thereto," by providing for the purchase of and payment for policies of insurance on commission property.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 77, Printer's No. 43,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON SECOND READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar, by Mr. COOPER.

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 160, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 198), entitled "An act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof" by conferring upon said court certain jurisdiction in the trial of criminal causes and suits for penalties granting powers to said court for trial of such causes and suits.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COOPER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 6), page 2, line 1, by striking out the figure "6" and inserting in lieu thereof: "5" is hereby amended to read as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 6), page 2, line 5, by inserting after the word "thereof" the following:

Section 5. (a) The prothonotary and the clerk of courts of Allegheny County shall be the [clerk] clerks of the court hereby created, and each shall assume and perform all of the duties of [clerk] clerks thereof to the same extent and in the same manner as is now required for the court of common pleas and the court of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the county, respectively, or as directed by the judges of the court. At each place designated for the holding of said court there shall be established an office, in charge of a clerk, or clerks, appointed by the prothonotary or the clerk of courts, who shall have the custody of the seal to be kept at such place, as well as of the docket of the court, and of all papers pertaining to the particular business of the court at such place. All other necessary clerks and assistants shall be appointed by said court; and their compensation shall be fixed and paid out of the treasurey of Allegheny County, in the manner in which other county expenses are now fixed and paid by law, and the duties of such assistants (except as in this act set forth) shall be determined by a majority of the judges of such court.

(b) All fees received by the prothonotary and the clerk of courts from the business of the County Court, may, as in the case of other fees received by them, be applied to the payment of the salaries of said officers respectively, their clerks and assistants, and any other expenses in connection with the discharge of their duties.

All fees or other sums received by any clerk or employe of said court shall be paid into the treasury of Allegheny County.

(c) The president judge of the court may appoint such tipstaves and officers, or employes, as are reasonably necessary to perform the duties usually pertinent to such officers in and about the court-rooms or elsewhere. Their number and compensation shall be determined, from time to time, by a majority of the judges of the court.

The court shall appoint such official stenographers as shall be necessary. Said stenographers shall be appointed, and discharge theor duties, and be paid compensation under and subject to the stenographers' act of one thousand nine hundred and seven, its amendments and supplements.

Section 2. Section 6 of said act

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

Mr. COOPER offered the following amendment:

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting after line 19, the following:

Section 3. Section 8 of said act as last amended by the act, approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 535), is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 8. (a) In any case brought in this court in which the parties are entitled by the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth to a trial by jury, the plaintiff, if he desires a trial by a jury, shall, at the time of filing his statement, indorse thereon, or file separately, a written demand for a jury trial, in substantially the words, "Jury trial demanded," signed by himself or his counsel, and, if no such demand is made by the plaintiff, but a trial by jury is desired by the defendant, he shall in like form, at the time of filing his answer, demand a trial by jury (except a municipality, not being required to file an answer, shall, when defendant, make ias demand at least three days exclusive of Sunday before the time fixed for the hearing by the writ). If neither party shall make a demand in writing for a trial by jury, he shall be deemed to have waived his right to trial by jury, and the court shall proceed to try the case without a jury. The party making demand for trial by jury may withdraw the same with the written consent of the other side, filed in the case, and the parties shall be deemed to have waived their right to trial by jury, and the court or any judge thereof may proceed to try the case without a jury the same as if the demand had never been made.

(b) Cases tried by the court without a jury shall be tried under such rules of procedure as the court shall prescribe: Provided, That at the trial in the county court of cases before a judge, without a jury, either party may present to the trial judge such requests for findings of law or fact as he may desire, which requests shall be answered by the trial judge; to which answer either party may, within the time prescribed by the court, except; and thereupon such requests for findings and the answers of the court thereto shall become part of the record. The testimony shall be taken stenographically at the expense of the county, and transcribed at the expense of the party desiring such transcript, or at the expense of the county, if the court so orders; and such testimony, when transcribed and certified by the trial judge, shall also become part of the record.

(c) When a jury trial is demanded by either party, the court shall direct trial by jury in the manner now provided by law, [the jurors to be summoned and paid as they are for the courts of common pleas of said county: Provided, further, That when a jury trial is demanded the court] and shall make a separate list of such cases, from time to time, as are put at issue and proceed to the trial and determination of said cases at the county-seat. It shall be the duty of the proper officers of Allegheny County to provide such jurors for service in the County Court as may from time to time be requested by order of the president judge, or as may be fixed by general order of the president judge. Jurors shall be summoned as provided by law, and shall receive the same compensation and be subject to the same duties and liabilities as jurors summoned to serve in the courts of common pleas of said county.

They were agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COOPER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2, page 7, line 1, by striking out the figure "2" and inserting in lieu thereof: "4."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third section was read.

Amend Sec. 3, page 8, line 4, by striking out the figure "3" and inserting in lieu thereof: "5."

It was agreed to.

Mr. COOPER offered the following amendment:

Amend Bill, page 8, by inserting after line 12, the following:

Section 6. The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

It was agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. COOPER offered the following amendment:

Amend title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after the word "suits" the following: "conferring powers and imposing duties on the clerk of courts of Allegheny County, and providing for the disposition of fees, the appointment of officers and employes and for jurors."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar, by Mr. COOPER.

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 161, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section eight article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County to detail one or more of the judges of the County Court to hold the courts of oyer and terminer and the courts of quarter sessions of the peace of said county

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the Chair will return to page 2 of today's calendar, bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 18, entitled:

An Act to further amend Sections 301 and 302 and to amend Sections 304 and 408 of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by changing the membership and organization of the Pennsylvania Game Commission the Pennsylvania Fish Commission the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and the State Council of Education.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. I desire to discuss the bill and also to offer an amendment. First I would like to comment on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. This bill, House Bill 18, is perhaps one of the most significant measures that has yet appeared upon our calendar. It proposes a basic, fundamental change in our method of conducting the affairs of our Commonwealth. I understand that it was the decision of the majority caucus that if I offered amendments to this bill, that the majority would fight the amendments. It would be very unfortunate if a measure of this kind should be resolved upon the basis of party affiliations. There are members of my caucus who are opposed to this measure as a matter of principle.

At past sessions members of the minority party have held that there should be a distinct line of demarcation between the functions of the administrative branch, of our Government, and of the legislative branch of our Government, and these members, on what they term constitutional grounds, said that it was our business to legislate and it was the business of the various Departments and Commissions to administer.

Now, for quite a number of years I have been one of those who have believed that the General Assembly should by means of observers seek to oversee the Commissions and the Departments which in many instances have resolved themselves into what are in effect legislative agencies. Our commissions and our departments frequently by their rules and regulations and their methods of procedure actually legislate. No member of the majority group has a monopoly of the idea that it would be a good plan if the General Assembly as far as our Commissions are concerned has what might be termed listening posts. Now it is particularly true that the Fish and Game Commissions should be, and pride themselves that they are nonpolitical organizations.

Some members of the Commissions and some persons very active in the realm of sportsmen have asked me to oppose this bill on the ground that if we created listening posts in these two Commissions it would be a step in the direction of plunging the Fish Commission and the Game Commission into politics. The only way to clear ourselves of the suspicion that we are attempting a political move is to be nonpolitical in our approach to the problem of establishing listening posts. And in order that our effort might of itself testify that we have no political intent, I am, Mr. Speaker, offering the following amendment to House Bill 18.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 301), page 4, line 8, by inserting after the word "Pennsylvania" the following: "In each case one member shall be chosen from each of the two major political parties."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it is within the power of the majority group in this House to proceed in this matter from the partisan standpoint and to regard the listening out-posts in these two Commissions as part and parcel of party patronage. I say to you that if you desire to stamp your representatives who would serve the purpose of listening posts in these two organizations, if it is your purpose to stamp those places as part and parcel of political patronage, you have the votes to do it. I question its wisdom. I question the value of this bill if it passes with the partisan angle the controlling factor. If we are going to have two Members of the House to listen in on what these two Commissions are doing, I say that the way that we will have the least repercussions is to have one member from one party and the other member from the other party, and in the same manner as far as the Senate is concerned.

However, if you want to regard it as party patronage, I repeat, that is your privilege; you have the votes to do it. I do not think it is wise; I do not think it is reasonably smart, and I do not think it is going to gain you any support among the sportsmen of this Commonwealth, who would be inclined to resent what they would term legislative intrusion into their affairs.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, at this time I would like to review the operation of this type of legislation as it has existed in Pennsylvania for some time. I think it is all apropos and fits into the arguments that go along with this bill.

Some ten years ago this idea was proposed and was adopted and Members of the House and Senate were placed on the Aeronautics Commission of Pennsylvania. Since that time these men have served without pay; they have given of their time and efforts in order to produce what is considered in the United States today the outstanding aeronautics commission. At that time there was no indication, no argument of any kind of a political nature. The question of whether a man would be a Democrat or Republican who might be appointed to this Commission was not raised. The Governor was given the authority to appoint, and has since that time continued to appoint, and at no time in the history of the operation of this piece of legislation have I ever heard a partisan argument in the Commission.

At that time when the Governor appointed the members of this Commission, he took into consideration the minority, and at that time appointed four people, three Republicans and a Democrat. It happens at this particular time that Senator Dent, Westmoreland County, the Minority Floor Leader in the Senate was a representative of the minority party.

I also want to point out, that this has produced a very healthy situation, the very thing that we are trying to develop in this particular legislation right now.

If you gentlemen will go back over the years you will recall that in the ten years there has never been a "no" vote on a piece of aeronautics legislation; never been a "no" vote in the House or Senate. That is due to the fact that the difficulties that a bill might encounter in the House and the Senate were ironed out before the bill was introduced. That in itself is worth thinking about.

It is also interesting to note that because of this close functioning, this cooperative attitude, the Aeronautics Commission came in at the last session with a request for an appropriation of approximately ten thousand dollars less than the preceding year. I defy any other Department on the hill to show an operating budget like that.

I would like to go on and point out that the gentleman by his very arguments, by his very insistence on the floor of this House that we have a division of these people spelled out in this bill makes it political. His own argument smacks of politics; he brings up a political argument right here.

Let me point out to you that on the other boards and commissions that have been established by this Legislature,—let us look at the Local Government Commission for instance. The legislation says merely that the Governor shall appoint five House Members and five Senate Members. In the appointments the Governor has been cognizant of the minority's place in government, and he has appointed three Republicans and two Democrats of the House, and three Republicans and two Democrats of the Senate. The Joint State Government Commission, a creation of this body, has on it a representation of eleven Republicans and three Democrats in the House, and eleven Republicans and three Democrats in the Senate. The Interstate Commission on Cooperation merely states that the Governor shall appoint five Members of the House and five of the Senate. Again the Governor took into consideration the minority and appointed four Republicans and a Democrat of the House, four Republicans and one Democrat of the Senate.

I think that is conclusive proof in itself that the minority gets its representation, it is recognized and if we tie this bill down to any particular number from either party I would like to point out that the condition can arise where we may have on either side of this House a dozen or twenty-five, and if you go around these Commissions you are going to be over-working a few and others will have nothing to do. It would be an impractical situation.

If you want to keep this thing out of politics, if you want to have none of these arguments, then I say give the appointing power to the Governor and, be he Democrat or Republican, let him make these appointments.

I would like to point out another thing Mr. Speaker, that these boards and commissions are creations of the Legislature. We give to them legislative powers in fact, by, at the end of the bill, saying that they shall promulgate rules and regulations to carry into effect the foregoing.

I realize that there is some repercussion on this bill. I realize too that the Members of this House have been labeled as political snoopers. I want to take this opportunity to point out that there is no intention on the part of the Members of this legislature to try to run these boards and commissions. In the first place, we are here only two, three, or four months out of every two years. We do not have the opportunity, nor the time to get beneath the problems that these boards and commissions have. By putting legislative representation or listening posts, as the gentleman from Cambria wants to call them, on these boards, then we have a perfect liaison between the commissions and the Legislature. We have someone to whom we can go and ask our questions, to whom we can direct our inquiries when a board or commission brings in its legislative program. It is the intent and the purpose of this Legislature to be useful and helpful, not a hindrance. And the intent and the purpose of this bill is to place the Legislature in a more knowing position, a more intelligent position when it comes to voting on legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge that these amendments be rejected in the interest of this non-partisan legislation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I could hardly agree with the gentleman from Indiana that the evidence of nonpolitical intent was an eleven-to-three division on any body which was an arm of this General Assembly.

The gentleman from Indiana runs true to form; he believes that to the majority party, to the victor belongs the spoils. Doubtless he already has selected the personnel from the House in the event that this bill passed.

I shall desire a roll call on this amendment, because the roll call will reveal perhaps the strength that this measure has. I say very frankly unless we can have a fair, above-board approach, non-partisan approach I am opposed to this bill. I hope in the event that these amendments fall that all of the Members on this side of the House, in response to the protests that this measure has aroused, will vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. COOPER, RONALD L. THOMPSON, EWING and HAUDENSHIELD offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1951.

Death came to Dr. Joseph G. Steedle on March 8th, 1951. Unlike the lot of many men, it fell to Dr. Steedle to become an acclaimed leader in three important fields of human activity—medicine, fraternalism and civics.

After graduation from the University of Pittsburgh Medical School, he came to McKees Rocks where he practiced his profession faithfully and well for many years. In rendering medical service to his community, Dr. Steedle early became affiliated with the staff of the Ohio Valley Hospital.

Although his professional work was demanding, yet his reserve of energy and interest was such as to find expression in the exciting arena of politics. As a legislator, and later as a burgess, Dr. Steedle served his State and community in accordance with the best tenets and traditions of civic performance.

As one who loved his fellowmen, Dr. Steedle sought every opportunity to mingle with men and women, to enjoy their moments of happiness, to share their hours of trial, and always to give of his wisdom and counsel when his timely guidance would point the way to a resolution of a vexing question.

The Eagles and the Elks embraced him fraternally and awarded to him their certificates of commendation for constructive services to their respective organizations.

McKees Rocks has sustained a grievous loss of one of its distinguished civic and medical leaders in the passing of Dr. Steedle; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives express its deep sympathy upon the death of one of its former Members, who was also a towering personage in the civic and scientific activities of his beloved community; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House be directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the only surviving relative of Dr. Steedle—his niece, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Rousseau of Crestmont Pines, Perrysville, Pennsylvania.

The President pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PRESENTATION OF PUPILS OF WILSON HIGH SCHOOL, SPRING TOWNSHIP, BERKS COUNTY

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I would like to present to the Senate and to the President one hundred ten pupils of the Wilson High School, Spring Township, Berks County, under the leadership of their principal, B. Anton Hess, and their teachers, Lloyd Miller, Aaron Miller and Samuel Clauser. They are in the balcony.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Will the Wilson High School students please rise?

We are very happy to have you here, I am sure.

I would like to recognize at this time the principal, B. Anton Hess, and the teachers, Lloyd Miller, Aaron Miller and Samuel Clauser.

PRESENTATION OF STUDENTS OF SPRING CITY HIGH SCHOOL, CHESTER COUNTY

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, we are honored today by a delegation of students from the Spring City High School, Chester County, accompanied by Doctor Rothermel.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Will the students please stand up?

We are pleased to recognize Doctor Rothermel, the Principal. We are very happy to have you here. I hope you will benefit by observing the statesmen that are seated in the Senate chamber.

THE HONRABLE WILLIAM S. RAHAUSER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would like to present a very distinguished alumnus of this institution and presently the District Attorney of the great County of Allegheny, former Senator Rahauser. Will he stand please and take a bow? Those of you who have had the privilege of serving with Senator Rahauser know that he is up to his old tricks. He was always absent when the roll was called. Will you come in please and take a bow? We heard his speeches early and often. If he will limit himself, we would like to have him say "hello" to one of the greatest clubs in the United States.

Mr. RAHAUSER. This is one of the greatest pleasures of my life, to get back here and say "hello" to all my old friends in the Senate. I assure you it is a great pleasure, indeed, to be here. I certainly thank you, Mr. President, for the privilege of addressing this body from this rostrum. It is an honor I will not forget. Thank you.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair at this time invites the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (A. Evans Kephart) in the Chair.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, for the information of the Senate, I do not intend to take up a complete summarization of the budget nor the Budget Message at this time. However, I do want to call attention to one pertinent fact that the Senate ought to keep in mind when they go home over the week end and consider the budgetary message.

Mr. President, first of all, for a good many years there have been some of us in the legislative halls who have fought for a continuance and a broadening of the powers of the Joint State Government Commission. Many of us have felt that this particular Commission was an agent and a direct arm of the legislative branch. Every two years we have presented to us a budget, and it is difficult for the Members of the Senate, particularly the new Members who are sworn in sometime in the early part of January and then called upon within the next thirty or sixty days, to pass upon an expenditure of over a billion dollars, and to pass upon this expenditure with little or no knowledge of the effect of the expenditure upon the economy of the State or the soundness of the program of financing the expenditure. Therefore, many of us have fought for years to have the Joint State Government Commission become a strong, determined, independent group, working for and with the legislative branch of government.

Mr. President, as all of us know, we are in the position of being puppets, as it were, when it comes to the question of administrative expenditures. We must take the recommendations of a person who is supposed to give us some insight into the spending of the Commonwealth. However, I venture to say that out of the fifty Members of the Senate, including myself, there are not ten per cent of us who have had the time, the energy or the inclination to dissect the complete Budget Message and the raft of figures contained therein and come up with a reasonably right answer.

Mr. President, I notice in the 1951-53 Budget Message, under Appropriations and Allocations for the Legislative Department, an appropriation item of four thousand three hundred dollars for the Joint State Government Commission. I know I have been told by some of the Members that perhaps if we wait a little longer, a little later in the Session a bill will be passed that will call for a larger appropriation for that particular body, and we would again be able to function and operate, but if you take the Governor's message in which he says that he has a total, a rough total of six hundred eighty odd millions of dollars of foreseeable income as against eight hundred sixty-five million dollars of income for the past biennium, then he finds himself in a position of needing one hundred sixty-three odd millions of dollars more for the Commonwealth's purposes.

No, Mr. President, if that message is to be construed as a message for the Legislature to use as a guide, then we must, of necessity, curtail all expenditures not called for within the Budget Message. Anything that we add to the expense of government by special resolution will put us into the position of demanding more than what the Governor has said he has available.

Mr. President, I say to the Members of the Senate that it would do well for each and every Member to get a copy of last night's Pittsburgh Press, and it is not often that a newspaper takes time out to compliment a department of government. The usual purpose of a newspaper, at least in my young lifetime, has been to destroy the departments of government by criticism rather than give credit when something good has been accomplished. I do not say newspaper men particularly take that attitude. It is just their editors. However, there is an editorial entitled "Watchdog Needed" and in this editorial it goes on to explain the duties of the Joint State Government Commission, and the wonderful work that group has performed. I think it justifies the faith that some of us have had in that group for the past sixteen years. However, it calls attention to the fact that this particular group is the only agency on Capitol Hill that has an independent viewpoint of the expenditures of government, and it was through the working of this agency that we discovered an eight million dollar shortage or eight million dollar waste in the administration of public relief in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, if we allow this group to be destroyed now, we are derelict in our duties, because I frankly admit it is impossible for me, and I have been here quite a few sessions, to fully determine the needs of this Commonwealth from January 2 until March 19, and then stand upon the floor and vote for a biennium appropriation of over a billion dollars. That may have been all right, Mr. President, in the days when the total budget of Pennsylvania was less than a hundred million dollars, but we are big business now. We are bigger business than the Members of this Senate realize. The entire budget of your Federal Government was sixty-five billions of dollars, including your total expenditures for European and Asiatic relief, for your Army and Navy and Air Force, for your preparedness, for your civilian defense and for the other expenditures of government, and we here in Pennsylvania are spending one billion two hundred and twenty million dollars in a period of two years, without expenditures for Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Air Corps, without foreign commitments of any kind and with the aid and assistance of the Federal Government to the tune of fifty-two odd millions of dollars. We are too big a corporate interest now to do without the Joint State Government Commission.

Mr. President, I have pleaded with the Majority on many an occasion to have them make that group a bipartisan group, to give to that group the same number of Senators from one side as they do from the other, the same number of House Members from one side as they do from the other, and then allowing the Speaker of the House and the President pro tempore of the Senate to be the deciding vote which would give the majority ruling party at the moment the deciding vote on questions that must be determined when they are close by a majority vote.

Mr. President, if we allow this budget to stand as it now is before us, we will destroy the only branch of government on Capitol Hill that has no ties to the administrative branch. I have also been told that the Governor can, out of the general fund, keep the Joint State Government Commission in existence. That would be utter folly. That would be worse than dropping them right here and shutting the office down because then they, too, would become part of the Administrative branch rather than the Legislative branch. In the days when we had Democratic Auditor Generals, Democratic State Treasurers, there was some check upon the expenditures of the Administrative Branch of government through the Chief Executive, but now you have in Pennsylvania the Administrative, the Legislative and the Judicial, all of one particular political party, and although the facts prove that the Republican Party has a majority in the Senate, the majority in the Senate of thirty votes still represents only forty-nine per cent of the vote of the people of Pennsylvania, and that the twenty members on the Democratic side represent fifty-one per cent of the people of Pennsylvania. That does not help the people when a vote is before us, because we can only cast the twenty votes that we are here entitled to, but it does do this. It gives one particular party the complete running of the entire government without any check whatsoever upon expenditures, without any check whatsoever upon the rights of the departments to expand beyond their legal limits, the piling of one particular duty upon another in various departments of government under different sections of government, with the money being spent for the same purposes by different groups of people.

Mr. President, these things are true, and although I have heard a great deal of talk by the former Governor of Pennsylvania, Jim Duff, about the fat in the Federal budget, I want to say to the Members of the Senate that after a seven hour study last night, I did not find any fat in the Pennsylvania Governor's budget, but I assure you by next Monday I will show you a great deal of milk and water.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman of the Senate that this is not the last speech they will hear on the budget of Pennsylvania before we adjourn sine dine. I do not know what there is about a budget that prompts a difference of opinion, but unfortunately it does, and we will discuss that in detail so that the forty-nine percent represented by the Majority in the Senate will at least have an opportunity of giving full expression to the budget.

Now, Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I am sorry that the information which he should have had was not given to him earlier. For the four years under Governor Duff, he generally was tipped off as to what was going to happen in the front office before I was, and I just assumed he knew what was going on.

I want to again point out to the gentleman from Westmoreland that this bipartisan relationship that he is discussing is bending over backwards just a little. I have noticed with a great deal of interest that all of the boards, bureaus and commissions that we are creating on Capitol Hill always very carefully say that the Minority Leader of the House and the Minority Leader of the Senate must be members of that particular board, or bureau or commission on Capitol Hill. Up to this point, no drafter of that legislation has seen fit to open the door just a little wider so that the Majority Leaders' in the House and the Senate, who represent only forty-nine per cent of the people, can get in and find out what is going on. Now, that, of course, is bipartisanship in the highest sense.

Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland with regard first to the budget for the Joint State Government Commission, the Governor of the Commonwealth recognizes the Joint State Government Commission as a branch of the Legislature. It is staffed by the Legislature, it is controlled by the Legislature and the Governor is firmly of the opinion that the Legislature should determine how much money they need to operate their fact-finding body, and when they have determined that, that will be placed in the appropriation bill and that is the sum that he will approve. He does not feel that the Executive Department should dictate to the Legislative Department on a matter that is so peculiarly of a legislative character, and the gentleman from Westmoreland, who is a member of the Joint State Government Commission, knows that during the last biennial period that is now coming to a close, the Joint State Government Commission, because of additional responsibilities placed upon it, was obliged to ask for a deficiency appropriation, and we were just a little embarrassed because we had to ask for a deficiency appropriation for one of our own children. However, in the forthcoming biennial period it is the desire of the Governor that the Members of the Joint State Government Commission advise their colleagues who are serving in the House and Senate with them, so that they can put into the appropriation bill the money that they feel the Joint State Government Commission will need.

Mr. President, there is no desire to freeze it out. It is just a desire on the part of the Governor to see to it that we set our own standards of expenditure for our own fact-finding body.

Now, Mr. President, lastly, I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, he and I agree a thousand per cent that we are one of the few big corporations that try to forecast their fiscal policy for a twenty-four month period, and I know that the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Wood, will be very happy to know that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, has joined in his crusade for an amendment to the Constitution so that we can have annual sessions. I think that would be a splendid thing, and I think we will be a little happier if we can be charged with the responsibility of having a fiscal prognostication for a twelve month period rather than a twenty-four month period. I agree with him that it is hazardous and dangerous, and I do hope that he will help Senator Wood eliminate that hazardous condition from the fiscal picture of this great Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I want to say further to the gentleman from Westmoreland that I want him to peruse the budget with a great deal of care. I know that he will seek the best fiscal advice that is available, and I know that in the days to come he and I will have a great many really pleasant discussions here on the floor of the Senate regarding the milk and honey or the water or the 'fat' in the Executive budget, and if there is any way that I can assist him in eliminating any of that, if he happens to find it in there, I am sure he will find the Majority just as anxious to save the forty-nine per cent of the taxpayers as he is to save the fifty-one per cent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that we keep the record somewhere near on the straight and narrow, I think the gentlemen will realize that the only reason that the Minority Leader is represented upon the various commissions that have been created during this past biennium is because of the fact that prior to this, prior to the 1949-1951 biennium, the Minority was always represented on the Commissions by elected officials, known as the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, and the minute they were defeated at the polls, the proper thing to do then on all the important commissions was to find some permanent officer of the Minority and put that person on the standing commissions of the Commonwealth. The only two permanent officers that they could find, unless the day comes when we will not have a minority in the Senate or House, until that unhappy day comes, while there are minority leaders, whether they are Hiram Andrews and Johnny Dent, or others, they will be on the Commissions, and if you will notice, it specifically says, the Minority Leader and not Senator John H. Dent.

In the Senate, February 6, 1951.

Whereas, The AMVETS are sponsoring and promoting a program for blood typing, designed to exercise a salutary part in the recovery and the rehabilitation of those who are wounded or sick; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the Senate commend and applaud said project of the AMVETS for its humane and sympathetic motive, and be it further which was laid over for one day under the rules.

Resolved, That the Department of Health and other departments of the State Government be urged to encourage and to cooperate with the AMVETS in a successful prosecution of their worthy program of blood typing.

PRESENTATION OF STUDENTS FROM ORWIGSBURG HIGH SCHOOL, SCHUYLKILL COUNTY

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, we are always very happy to have visiting groups of students from our high schools attend Sessions of the Senate. We have had two such groups introduced this afternoon, and there is another group now present in the gallery that comes from Schuylkill County, a fine group of boys and girls, as we find from all of these schools, with this addition; in this group are two girls from Germany who have been permitted to come to this Country, stay here for a year or more, starting last August, and these two German girls, whose trips are sponsored by a church group at home and who have been received in the homes of Orwigsburg citizens, will graduate this year from Orwigsburg High School.

I have the pleasure of calling the attention of the Chair and of the Senate to the presence of fifty-eight students from Orwigsburg, Pennsylvania, including the two girls from Germany to whom I have made reference, who are here under the guidance of Miss Mattern, Mrs. Houtz, and Mrs. Drumheller, their very able teachers and advisers.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair desires to welcome the guests of Senator Wagner from Schuylkill County and hope that they enjoy their stay in Harrisburg.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. ROBINSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 376, entitled:

An Act to further amend Clause XXXIII of Section 23 of the act approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 252) entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the traffic in malt and brewed beverages, as herein defined; providing for the licensing of the manufacture, transportation, sale and distribution of such beverages; imposing license and permit fees, and providing for collection and distribution thereof; restricting ownership and interest in licensed places; permitting municipalities and townships, by vote of the electors, to prevent the licensing therein of places where such beverages may be sold for consumption on the premises, and regulating elections for this purpose; imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, quarter sessions courts, district attorneys, the Department of Justice, proper authorities of political subdivisions of the State, and election officers; providing penalties; and repealing existing acts" by prohibiting the sale of malt and brewed beverages between the hours of two o'clock ante meridian and seven o'clock ante meridian on any day, and at any time on Sundays.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 377, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 411 of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34), entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale, manufacture, possession, transportation, importation, traffic in, and use of alcohol, and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State government, courts, and district attorneys; authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses, subject to local option, to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises; forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in, connection with, and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others; providing for the forfeiture of certain property; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees; and imposing penalties," further regulating the hours when sales may be made by licensees.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. FREED read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 378, entitled:

An Act authorizing and requiring municipal authorities and public utility companies engaged in the supplying of water, to shut off the supply of water for nonpayment of sewer, sewerage, or sewage treatment rentals, rates, or charges imposed by municipalities; authorizing and requiring them to supply to such municipalities lists of metered water readings and flat-rate water bills and other data; authorizing them to act as billing and collecting agents for such municipalities; and conferring certain powers upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission in connection therewith.

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. McPHERSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 379, entitled:

An Act to add section 4.1 to the act, approved the twentieth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1143) entitled "An act relating to free, public, nonsectarian libraries and branch libraries within this Commonwealth; providing for their establishment, maintenance, and regulation, and for the maintenance and regulation of such free, public, nonsectarian libraries as may have been already established by the several counties, cities, boroughs, towns, and townships; and providing that all library property, and all gifts, devises, grants, or endowments for library purposes, shall be exempt from taxation; and providing that the several counties, cities, boroughs, towns, and townships may levy taxes, condemn private property, and borrow money for library purposes; and imposing penalties for injuring library property and for violations of library regulations; and repealing existing laws in relation to the above subjects," by further regulating county libraries, permitting cities, boroughs, towns and townships to withdraw from county library districts and payment of county library tax.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. MALLERY, STEVENSON, MAHANY and HALUSKA read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 380, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the seventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1368), entitled "An act amending, revising and consolidating the laws relating to delinquent county, city, except of the first and second class and second class A, borough, town, township, school district, except of the first class and school districts within cities of the second class A, and institution district taxes; providing when, how and upon what property, and to what extent liens shall be allowed for such taxes; the return and entering of claims therefor; the collection and adjudication of such claims, sales of real property, including seated and unseated lands, subject to the lien of such tax claims; the disposition of the proceeds thereof, including State taxes and municipal claims recovered and the redemption of property; providing for the discharge and divestiture by certain tax sales of all estates in property and of mortgages and liens on such property, and the proceedings therefor; creating a Tax Claim Bureau in each county, except a county of the first class, to act as agent for taxing districts; defining its powers and duties, including sales of property, the management of property taken in sequestration, and the management, sale and disposition of property heretofore sold to the county commissioners, taxing districts and trustees at tax sales; providing a method for the service of process and notices; imposing duties on taxing districts and their officers and on tax collectors, and certain expenses on counties and for their reimbursement by taxing districts; and repealing existing laws," by giving municipal claims equal priority with taxes in the distribution of certain moneys recovered under the provisions of said act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. WAGNER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 381, entitled:

An Act to amend further Section 1146 of the act approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by providing revised minimum salaries for certain part-time teachers and supervisors of general extension education classes and activities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 382, entitled:

An Act to further amend Act No. 286 as approved with amendments June 4, 1943, and with amendments approved subsequent thereto, entitled "Regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth; vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and a Personnel Director certain powers and duties; providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employees of the Commonwealth; authorizing service to other State Departments or agencies and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties; making certain appropriations, and repealing certain acts and parts thereof" by further extending the merit provisions thereof, by increasing the duties and obligations of the commission and of the director, by providing for systematic and meritorious salary increments, by clarifying salary provisions of employment with maintenance, by modifying the examination requirements, by according regular status to employes with required periods of service, by making definite provisions covering sick leave and vacation leave and by strengthening the provisions covering furlough and re-employment.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. BARR and WALKER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 383, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes, exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," by permitting employes to make up back payments to the retirement system from the time they entered school service, and securing to such employes the full benefits of the retirement system from the time they entered school service.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. BERGER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 384, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (c) of Section 401 of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by providing for special permits for certain vehicles of nonresidents.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

INTERROGATION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. It is always a pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. Walker, on February 19, Senator Dent, Senator Lane and Senator Bane introduced a resolution, Resolution No. 114, which requested certain information from Milo Draemel, Secretary of Forests and Waters. According to the records, this Resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules, of which you are the Chairman. Has the Rules Committee considered this Resolution?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate, on Page 101 of the Senate History, Senate Resolution 114, presented by Senators Dent, Lane and Bane, was referred to the Committee on State Government. I am just a little confused.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I remember very distinctly that that Resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Now, it is supposed to be in the State Government Committee.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry if the Committee on Rules does not have the Resolution in question. I will say to the gentleman from Northampton County, Senator Yosko, that we will be very happy to consider the Resolution, but we do not have it.

(The Senate was at ease)

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I would still ask for an answer to the question on Resolution 114.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the Rules Committee up to this point has not considered the Resolution.

Mr. President, might I advise the gentleman from Northampton that Resolution 114, as printed on Page 101 of the Senate History, is the one we are discussing, and I would like to recommend his attention to the distinguished gentleman from Crawford, who has the Resolution he is talking about.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. Mahany, on February 19, 1951, Senators Dent, Lane and Bane introduced a resolution which is Resolution No. 114. The record indicates that it was referred to the Committee on State Government. Has that Resolution been considered by the Committee on State Government?

Mr. MAHANY. It has not as yet been considered, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I have had numerous inquiries as to why the name of Milo F. Draemel has not been before the Senate for confirmation. Frankly, Mr. President, I was going to move today to take the nomination from the table so that we could take a vote on the confirmation of Mr. Draemel. However, some Senators from this side thought we would like to have some of the information that they requested in this Resolution, as well as the resolution that was submitted by Mr. Andrews in the House. These resolutions, apparently, are still in Committee and have not been considered.

Mr. President, I am going to withhold my motion to take the nomination of Mr. Draemel from the table for a period of two weeks, and give the Committee a chance to consider these resolutions. I suppose Mr. Draemel could answer the inquiries outlined in the resolution if he wanted to, but he would have the right to assume, too, that he should wait until the resolutions come to him officially. If we do not act on the resolutions in two weeks, he also has the right to assume that somebody is trying to shield something. There are newspaper stories and rumors floating around that there are irregularities in the Department of Forests and Waters. If there are irregularities, we of the Senate have the right to know what they are, and we have the right to an answer to these inquiries.

I, therefore, trust that the Committee on State Government, as well as the Committee on Rules in the House, release the resolutions which they have in their possession and transmit them to Mr. Draemel so that he can answer the inquiries contained in these resolutions.

If the resolutions are not released within two weeks, I am not making any threats, but I will ask that the nomination be taken from the table so that we can vote either for or against Mr. Draemel within a two week period. If there is anybody who has anything against Mr. Draemel, I think they ought to get up on the Floor and talk about it; if they have nothing against him, then I think we ought to confirm him, as we confirmed all the other Members of the Governor's Cabinet.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton County, Senator Yosko.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YOSKO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Northampton if he has located Resolution 114 in the State Government Committee.

Mr. YOSKO. In the Journal?

Mr. WALKER. Is it in the State Government Committee?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. Mahany said it was.

Mr. WALKER. I would like to further ask the gentleman from Northampton if he is a Member of the State Government Committee?

Mr. YOSKO. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. I desire to ask the gentleman from Northampton if he has been attending the meetings of the State Government Committee.

Mr. YOSKO. I have.

Mr. WALKER. I desire to ask the gentleman if at any time during the meetings of the State Government Committee, he ever asked the Chairman of the Committee to consider Resolution 114?

Mr. YOSKO. I did not. However, Mr. President, I would like to clarify my answer. It was my impression that the Resolution in question was in the Committee on Rules. Insofar as bringing it up in the State Government Committee, I should know by looking at the record that is true, but I had no knowledge up until the present time that the Resolution was in the State Government Committee. The next time that Committee meets, if he Chairman does not bring it up voluntarily, I will so move.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, apropos to the discussion that is going on on the floor, I think it would be foolish to continue the condition that we have facing us in the Senate. Here is a man who has been serving as the Secretary of Forests and Waters for a period of four and a part of a fifth year, and we find that his name has been presented to this Senate Session, for confirmation. The question of whether or not he is confirmed is very important not only to the Members of the Senate and the people of Pennsylvania, but I would say more personally so to Mr. Draemel himself.

Now, whether he has been or has not been a good public officer is a question that must be resolved before the Senate can pass upon him. I think all the purposes would be served if we were to suggest, and it can only be a suggestion, that Mr. Draemel appear before either the Executive Nominations Committee of the Senate or at an open meeting of the Senate Members who care to attend, and that the questions that have been raised upon the operation of his particular Department can then be resolved as to whether they are fictitious or whether they are factual. I think the gentleman deserves that consideration. If his name were to appear upon the floor at this moment, I would be torn between the question of whether or not I would be serving the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania, no matter which way I voted.

There have been stories in the newspapers that have every indication that something is wrong, and yet, being a person who does not believe in condemnation or conviction or indictment of an individual upon stories that have not been proved to be true, I would be faced with the problem of resolving in my own conscience whether or not I was doing justice to this individual, and remember if you do not do justice to the individual you cannot do justice to the people as a whole.

Mr. President, I think we are living in a terrible age in our country today, where persecution of an individual in public life seems to be the rule of the day rather than the exception, where school children are losing their faith in the elected officials of the Commonwealth, of this great Nation and of the communities in which we live, where the accusing finger of scorn and ridicule is pointed at every man who seeks public office, where today the greatest demonstration, the greatest show upon the airways is a TV show in New York City involving public officials and giving it to the scandal-mongering crowd in this country who want to destroy the very foundations of the Government we live in, a show unparalleled in the history of the human race. You cannot do those things and keep this form of government alive.

Mr. President, we have presently legislation presented to us that every day curtails the individual mental freedoms of individuals, of the persons within our Government. It seems today that the only man with any standing in his community is the man who can point an accusing finger at a public official and say, "There goes a thief." That seems to be the only man or person in the community that has any standing. I think for the dignity of the offices which we fill, let us get this matter out in the open and clear it up. If there has been something wrong in Mr. Draemel's administration, then he and any other public official who is guilty of wrongdoing ought to be prosecuted, but I do not believe that any person ought to be prosecuted upon hearsay evidence or the whims of any individual.

For instance, Mr. President, right here in our Senate today we have a Member of the Senate whom we all honor as a Member of the Senate, who took himself out of the job that he liked, the position in government that he loved, and, thinking he was doing a service to his people, sought another office, and from the day he entered that office he has been the victim of a personal campaign, a campaign aimed at the destruction of his superior officer in that community, although not deliberately or intentionally aimed at him. If that is the type of government we are trying to preserve, I question the justice of preserving it.

Mr. President, I think the time has come when men of good will and men of character must stand up. Sure there are rackets. There are rackets everywhere in the whole world. There is no spot in this whole world of ours that does not have something that can be termed a racket, if you wish to call it that. I have often said that if you took two men and put them on a desert island, the first thing they would seek would be a place for shelter, for protection against whatever dangers may be upon that island. The second thing they would seek would be food for their stomachs, and the third thing, they would find some flat stones and try to outpitch each other as to who would carry the water from the ocean. There is a natural human element in it. Why, we sit around and the first thing you hear a group of men say is, "I will bet you this and I will bet you that," and in all probability they are not gamblers. It is just a human element, and there are a great number of people who have found that human element to be so strong, they have sought to make a living at it, and they will do it in spite of anything we or anybody else says or does. The good ministers have preached against it from the pulpits ever since the beginning of time, and they have not stopped it and they are men of good will.

Mr. President, if Mr. Draemel is not guilty of any misdemeanor in the administration of his office, he ought to be confirmed by this Senate so that the cloud is removed; if he has done something, then let us, as duty bound citizens and officials of the Commonwealth, do our proper job and do something about it. I tell you that a political office is not worth seeking under conditions today. As my father often said, "If you are in a crowd and a man starts hollering thief, you look in his pocket for your purse," and that is what I think of these great loud reformers, who disgrace the name of reformer. A sincere reformer is a great asset in any community, but a person seeking revenge upon another for political purposes is a disgrace not only to the community but to the race of people from which he sprang.

Mr. President, let us take an instance right here while I am on my feet and have this subject hot in my blood. Let us take two parallel cases. You have an investigation started almost two years ago in the City of Philadelphia that spent less than fifty thousand dollars. You have an investigation started, for political reasons in Allegheny County, in the City of Pittsburgh, that has spent well over a hundred thousand dollars, and has now come in for a deficiency appropriation, and if all the findings that they have are all that they are going to get, it is a disgrace upon the office of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is nothing but a political hay ride and a fishing expedition from the start until it is over. Right now they are on a six weeks vacation in order that they can drag it out into the General Election. If that is the only way that they can win office in that County, then the office they are seeking is not worth it, and the men seeking office are a disgrace upon their party and upon the people of the Commonwealth. If you cannot get elected upon the merits of your political sagacity, your political strategy and your political honesty, you have not any business serving. In all the years that I have sought public office, and I thank God for this, I have yet to stand upon a platform in my district or in the State of Pennsylvania, when I sought the office of Lieutenant-Governor, and maligned any person or party. I do not believe that it is the key to good government and I think these political persecutions ought to stop; the way to stop them is to expose the people who start them, and I venture to say that the great majority of the persons who started them, in every instance, are not fit people to associate with the decent citizens in their communities.

Mr. President, I know the people who have started it out my way and I know whereof I speak. Scavengers upon the body politic from the day they were born and going down through life doing no good for anybody. The whole thing leads up to this. If we in public office have not any respect for the offices that we hold, then the citizens cannot have any respect for us. The time has come when we have got to take a stand and I say it is now. Either we give some credit and dignity to public office or let the whole system be destroyed, because it will be destroyed of its own weight if we do not stand and defend it. We are a democracy and we make mistakes, and we will make them as long as we are in existence. The perfect form of government has always denied people liberties. We do not deny people liberties, but I say to you Members of the Senate, unless we can uphold the dignity of the office of the Senate, we cannot expect the people to dignify the office either.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to apologize to the gentleman from Northampton. I am sorry that Senate Resolution No. 114 is not in the Rules Committee. It sounds like it is a very interesting resolution, and I am sure the Rules Committee would love to read it some day.

Mr. President, we have gotten pretty far afield, and I am not quarreling at all with what the gentleman from Westmoreland has said about the dignity of public office. I subscribe wholeheartedly to his political philosophy in that vein, and I do wish that he had been the Democratic nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania in 1950. That public office would have had a lot more dignity than it did when their nominee was out trying to blast every public official that had been fortunate enough to even aspire to public office. I certainly subscribe wholeheartedly to the philosophy of Senator Dent rather than the philosophy of the person who was their nominee.

Mr. President, I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I am a little confused on how Admiral Draemel got into this Senate Resolution No. 114, and if the Senate will be at ease for a couple of minutes I would like to privately interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland and see if at long last we have come to an agreement.

NOT VOTING—1

Bomberger,

The majority required by the Constitutions having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 273, entitled:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the court of common pleas in the twenty-fourth judicial district

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ANDREWS. I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to the interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Can the Majority Leader inform the House as to how many bills of this general tenor are likely to come before us? This is a bill to give Blair County an additional judge and I understand that a bill is in the offing to give Somerset County an additional judge. Is there any program as to how many counties are to have additional judges?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, in answering that I am afraid that I am going to have to be very indefinite. These bills have been put in by the Members and I cannot say how many are going to be put in or how many are even in at this time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Well, would it not be possible to sort of hold these bills until we have accumulated a package and then debate, or least if we do not debate, receive information from the various counties as to the need for an additional judge in the respective counties, and have some idea as to how many judges we are putting into the pool instead of passing them one at a time?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether this type of legislation could even be put in an omnibus bill, if you want to call it that.

Mr. ANDREWS. I do not mean that, but to have all of the bills from the Members that want additional judges on the calendar for consideration, and we would consider them county by county as to the need.

Mr. SMITH. We probably could do that Mr. Speaker, but I know how the gentleman feels about these lawyers' bills and having a whole calendar of lawyers I do not know how I should feel about that. I do not know, Mr Speaker, but I think it is possible to do that. I think this bill that is out on third reading, we should pass this one, and if in the future we can arrange to do what the gentleman requests I would be perfectly agreeable to doing it. I have no objection either way.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I did not want to take the time of the House today to have the Members from Blair County give us the facts, figures as to their court calendar, the number of days that their judges are in court and as to whether or not this particular situation needs an additional judge. If we are to pass this bill today, that is what I would insist upon, knowing all of the facts and figures and the data, and I would want to be in a position to interrogate at length. So if the sponsors are agreeable to defer any action upon this bill and not do it today, but do it next week, maybe when we have more time.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the sponsor of this bill is prepared to stand for interrogation and if the gentleman on the other side would like to interrogate him, I would suggest that he go right ahead.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Erb, whether he would have objection to this bill being passed over at this time?

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Miller.

Mr. HAROLD G. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the calendar since last Wednesday and I am sure that this has been ample time for the Minority Leader to inquire of us the information he desires.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority Leader desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Miller.

Mr. ANDREWS. I do. It is not a question Mr. Speaker, of whether I know the facts and figures; it is a question of whether the House knows the facts and figures and whether we are or are not simply adding an unnecessary judge to the state payroll.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair Mr. Miller, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAROLD G. MILLER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. How many days in the year does the Blair County court devote to criminal cases?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question. If he would ask me a question I am prepared to answer, I would—but I do not mean to evade the question.

The SPEAKER. Will Mr. Andrews ask a question the gentleman is prepared to answer?

Mr. ANDREWS. How many days in the year does the Blair County court devote to the consideration of civil cases?

Mr. MILLER. I cannot answer that.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has asked the wrong question again.

Mr. ANDREWS. How many criminal cases are tried before the Blair County court in the course of a year?

Mr. MILLER. I cannot answer that question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. How many civil suits are brought before the Blair County court for consideration in the course of a year?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman requests, we will agree to pass this bill over, and at that time I will give him the information I have and get the additional information for him.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to assure the gentleman from Blair that I have no disposition to oppose the creation of an additional judge in Blair County if there is any need in that County for an additional judge. I am of the conviction that before we spawn additional judges this House should be satisfied that there is a need for the spawning.

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to passing this bill over at this time? The Chair hears none, and the bill is passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 341, as follows:

An Act giving liens against real property priority over each other in point of time fixing the time which priorities extend and imposing duties on judges and certain court and county officers and employes

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Lien Priority Law"

Section 2 Liens against real property shall have priority over each other on the following basis

(1) Purchase money mortgages from the time they are delivered to the mortgagee if they are recorded within thirty days after their date otherwise from the time they are left for record

(2) Other mortgages and defeasible deeds in the nature of mortgages from the time they are left for record

(3) Verdicts from the time they are recorded by the court

(4) Adverse judgments orders and decrees from the time they are rendered

(5) Amicable judgments from the time the instruments on which they are entered are left for entry

(6) Writs which when issued and indexed by the prothonotary create liens against real property from the time they are issued

(7) Other instrument which when entered or filed and indexed in the prothonotary's office create liens against real property from the time they are left for entry or filing

Section 3 (a) The recorder of deeds shall endorse upon each mortgage and defeasible deed and on the record thereof the time when each is left for record

(b) The person who records a verdict or a judgment order or decree rendered in open court shall endorse on the record thereof the time it was recorded

(c) The judge who signs a judgment order or decree shall endorse thereon the time he signed it

(d) The prothonotary shall endorse upon (1) each instrument on which an amicable judgment is entered or which otherwise creates a lien against real property the time it was left for entry or filing and (2) each writ creating a lien against real property the time it was issued

(e) The prothonotary shall note on the dockets in his office where each verdict judgment order decree instrument or writ creating a lien against real property is entered the time it was recorded rendered left for filing or issued

Section 4 (a) The act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 440) entitled "An act relating to the lien of mortgages and defeasible deeds in the nature of mortgages and protecting the lien of mortgages given by purchasers to sellers if recorded within thirty days from the date of such mortgage" is hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts are hereby repealed insofar as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this act

(b) This act does not affect the priority of tax liens nor does it repeal or otherwise affect any provision of the act approved the third day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1234) known as the "Judgment Lien Law"

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of September one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and shall apply only to liens created on and after that date

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1951

The Sarah Heinz House located on the north side of Pittsburgh is currently celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its founding

During the half century of its existence it has developed one of the best youth training programs in the United States furnishing the youth of the north side of Pittsburgh splendid opportunities to engage in sports games camping and handicrafts at a cost to them which is practically nominal

The achievements of the Sarah Heinz House constitute a solid answer to the blight of juvenile and parental delinquency that clutters the headlines of our newspapers daily This institution in the public interest run by private funds has built character over five decades and is now building character for the grandchildren of the children it began to serve

The Sarah Heinz House has increased its worth by retaining the unsolicited interest and support of the children it fosters when they mature and has an "alumni" association as large proportionately as any university now therefore be it

Resolved (by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania) That we hereby extend our congratulations to the Sarah Heinz House in Pittsburgh on its fiftieth anniversary for its many achievements over the years and to all those benefactors who have been instrumental in guiding it along its successful paht and be it further

Resolved That the Chief Clerk shall transmit copies of this resolution to Mr. R. J. Jeffrey Sarah Heinz House Pittsburgh Pennsylvania Mr. H. J. Heinz II Heinz Manufacturing Company Pittsburgh Pennsylvania and Mrs. Joseph Quashnock Mt. Troy Road North Side Pittsburgh Pennsylvania

WEDNESDAY, March 21, 1951.

The Senate met at 9:30 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Senate Chaplain, the prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Doctor Ruth.

Almighty God, we thank Thee that Thou hast given us another opportunity to show the efforts that we make to make this place, this State, a home for all.

We thank Thee for the heritage that has come down to us through the years, of men and women who have given their best that this might be the greatest State of the Union, where men can live together in love, in piety and in faithfulness. Today as we stand at the helm of guiding those opportunities, give us the same faith that our fathers had that we may do as well.

We ask this in Thy holy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. BERGER, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The President and Members of the Senate proceeded to the Hall of the House of Representatives.

SENATE RETURNS FROM HOUSE

After some time the President and Members of the Senate returned to the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CHAPMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, last week I sponsored jointly with Senators Meade and Stiefel a resolution pertaining to the urgency of the completion of the proposed Independence Hall Mall in Philadelphia. As this year marks the One Hundred Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, this great "title-deed" of the human race engendered on the soil of Pennsylvania, it is for us Pennsylvanians to become attuned to the significance of our greatest national shrine—the Independence Hall. It is in connection with our sacred shrine that I desire today to make a statement.

The building in Philadelphia now known as Independence Hall was built as the colonial capitol of Pennsylvania. In the late 1720's a group of Philadelphians, headed by Andrew Hamilton and his son-in-law William Allen, started a movement to build an adequate and suitable meeting place for the Provincial Legislature. At that time there was agitation to have some other Pennsylvania town made the provincial capitol and Hamilton and his associates wished to forestall this movement by building a permanent capitol in Philadelphia. Hamilton, an eminent lawyer remembered for his part in the Peter Zenger case, chose the site on Chestnut Street and made the architectural plans for the red brick building, which was begun in 1732. By 1735 the Provincial Assembly began to meet in the east room on the first floor of the unfinished structure. The Liberty Bell was placed in the tower in 1753, but the building was not completed until five years later.

When the First Continental Congress met in Philadelphia in September, 1774, the provincial assembly was in session and this hall was not available for the Congress, which met in Carpenter's Hall, at Fourth and Chestnut Streets, which had been completed in 1771 by the Carpenter's Company of the City and County of Philadelphia. In those days the Pennsylvania Capitol was generally called the "State House." On September 16, 1774, George Washington wrote in his diary that he had "Dined at the State House at an Entertainment given by the City, to the Members of Congress." The Second Continental Congress met in the State House and there Washington was chosen Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army in 1775 and the Declaration of Independence was adopted and signed in 1776. Later the Articles of Confederation and the Federal Constitution were drafted and signed in the same room. After the British evacuated Philadelphia in 1778, it took a month to make the State House a fit place for their sessions again. On July 15 of that year, President Henry Laurens of Congress wrote:

> Various impediments prevented earlier assembling. One was the offensiveness of the air in and around the State House, which the Enemy had made an Hospital and left it in a condition disgraceful to the Character of civility. Particularly they had opened a large square pit near the House, a receptacle for filth, into which they had also cast dead horses and the bodies of men who by the mercy of death had escaped from their further cruelties. I cannot proceed to a new subject before I add a curse on their savage practice.

It was not until many years afterward that the old State House became known as Independence Hall and the room in which Congress and the Constitutional Convention had sat became known as the "Declaration Chamber." The State Capitol was moved to Lancaster in 1790 and to Harrisburg in 1812, and the old State House was purchased by the City of Philadelphia for $70,000. From 1802 to 1825 a large part of Independence Hall was rented to Charles Wilson Peale, naturalist and portrait painter, for use as a museum. In 1943 President Roosevelt, acting under authority of an act of Congress, declared the group of historic buildings in Independence Square a national memorial and shrine to be maintained jointly by the National Parks Service and Philadelphia. In addition to Independence Hall, the group consists of the West and East Wings, which are connected to the main building by arcades, Congress Hall, in which Congress set from 1790 to 1800, and the Courthouse or Old City Hall, in which the Supreme Court of the United States met during the same period.

I known of no finer evaluation of the significance of Independence Hall than the one made by Richardson Wright in his prologue to a book entitled "Diary of Independence Hall" by Harold Donaldson Eberlein and Cortlandt Van Dyke Hubbard:

> "That ancient Philadelphia dowager, Independence Hall, can look back on her past with understanding, merriment and equanimity. Some things she is proud to remember, others she's better forget.
> She has known both the heights of exaltation and grubby treatment as well. She sheltered men who strove to stabilize a colony. She adapted herself to being a gaol for war prisoners and a hospital for the fever-ridden. She watched the gestation of revolt and served as midwife to the birth of a nation. She accepted the affront of being turned into a museum for curios, was tinkered at by this person and that, and long knew shabby leglect.
> No, having become a national shrine, preserved for all time, she is looked upon with affectionate regard by the local citizenry and approached with reverence by all to whom liberty is a precious heritage.
> None can enter her doors but is humbled by the realization of what happened there. We treat her halls sofetly. The welter of perplexities through which the young nation struggled recedes into the shadowy past of battles long ago. Yet the men who laboured there remain very much alive. They left something of themselves in her walls—something of Washington and Jefferson, Adams and McKean, Read and Rodney, Hancock, Biddle, Cadwalader, Gerry, Wolcott, Franklin, Matlack, Light Horse Harry Lee and both the youthful and the aged LaFayette."

Section 1 Section 612 of the act approved the seventh day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1368) entitled "An act amending revising and consolidating the laws relating to delinquent county city except of the first and second class and second class A borough town township school district except of the first class and school districts within cities of the second class A and institution district taxes providing when how and upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for such taxes the return and entering of claims therefor the collection and adjudication of such claims sales of real property including seated and unseated lands subject to the lien of such tax claims the disposition of the proceeds thereof including State taxes and municipal claims recovered and the redemption of property providing for the discharge and divestiture by certain tax sales of all estates in property and of mortgages and liens on such property and the proceedings therefor craeating a Tax Claim Bureau in each county except a county of the first class to act as agent for taxing districts defining its power and duties including sales of property the management of property taken in sequestration and the management sale and disposition of property heretofore sold to the county commissioners taxing districts and trustees at tax sales providing a method for the service of process and notices imposing duties on taxing districts and their officers and on tax collectors and certain expenses on counties and for their reimbursement by taxing districts and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 612 Hearing and Order If upon hearing the court is satisfied that service of the rule has been made upon the parties named in the rule in the manner provided by this act and that the facts stated in the petition are true it shall order and decree that said property be sold at a subsequent day to be fixed by the court freed and cleared of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind to the highest bidder and that the purchaser at such sale shall take and thereafter have an absolute title to the property sold free and clear of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind except ground rents separately taxed Out of the proceeds of such sale shall be paid the costs set forth in the upset price at the prior sale and the additional costs incurred relative to this sale including the fee for title search not to exceed fifteen dollars ($15) and the court order may specify that no sale shall be made except to the county unless a bid equal to such costs is offered The remainder of said proceeds shall be distributed by the county treasurer as hereinbefore provided After the purchaser shall have paid over the purchase price the bureau shall make and deliver a deed in the manner hereinbefore provided When aforesaid petition for sale is presented within three (3) months after the date of the former sale th court on its order shall direct that no further advertisement is required In cases where said petition is presetned after the three (3) month period has expired the court shall in its order fixing a subsequent sale direct that the readvertisement of such sale need not be published three (3) consecutive weeks nor include a list and description of the lands to be sold but need only be advertised by one (1) insertion in one (1) or two (2) newspapers as hereinbefore provided for such advertisements at least (30) days prior to the sale and include the purpose the time and place and the terms of such sale with a reference to the prior advertisement

In any such petition for sale the bureau may if it deems the same advantageous request the court to fix the place of sale at the property to be sold and if the court is convinced the taxing districts interested will be benefited thereby it shall order the sale to be held on the property to be sold

Section 2 Section 612.1 of said act as added by the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1579) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 612.1 County Commissioners May Bid and Purchase Property [When no Bids Offered] Whenever any property shall be put up for public sale upon order of court as provided in section six hundred twelve the county commissioners are hereby authorized to bid [the sum of one dollar ($1)] for said property at such sale and if no higher bid is offered the property [is] shall be sold to them for the county and the county shall take and have an absolute title free and clear of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens and charges and estates of whatsoever kind except ground rents separately taxed in the same manner and to the same extent as a private purchaser would have taken

Any property purchased at such sale by the county may thereafter by the county commissioners be (1) leased to any taxing district to be used for public purposes (2) used for any suitable public purpose by the county or (3) sold in the manner as any other real property owned in fee simply by the county

Section 3 Section 703 of said act as amended by the acts approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1579) and the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1602) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 703 Such Properties to be Sold Under Provisions of Article VI All properties so turned over to the bureau which have not been sold at private sale as hereinbefore provided with the exception of such properties leased to a previous owner or other member of his family dwelling therein and receiving or within the preceding sixty (60) days having received assistance from any public agency shall be sold by the bureau at public sale held not later than the first day of June one thousand nine hundred [fifty-one] fifty-two or at a public sale held not later than [two] three years after this act [becomes effective as to] has been accepted by such taxing district Such sales shall be made if requested by the county commissioners taxing district or trustee which delivered possession thereof to the bureau in the same manner as if said property was being sold at a first sale on a tax claim as provided in Articles III and VI and if no such request is made upon petition to court for an order to sell clear and free of all claims liens mortgages and estates in the same manner with like proceedings and with like effect as if said properties had been first exposed to public sale as provided in Article VI but not sold because of insufficient bid The sale of properties turned over to the bureau under the provisions of this article shall except as herein otherwise provided be subject to all the provisions of Article VI in so far as they may be applicable and when sold at public sale by order of court as above provided such properties shall be sold free and discharged from all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates whatsoever

It is the intent of this section that where said property is exposed to a first public sale at the request of the county commissioners or trustee as above provided but is not sold because of insufficient bid the property shall thereafter be sold by order of court as herein provided freed and discharged from all liens and encumbrances as provided under Article VI

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

Whereupon,

The President pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JOHN S. FINE

Submitting Tax Program to a Joint Session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly, Wednesday Morning, March 21, 1951.

To the Honorable, The General Assembly
of the Comonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On Monday of this week I presented to you, the Members of the Legislature, the Biennial Budget for 1951-1953 with my Budget Message. In that message and Budget I showed that I am recommending $853,000,000 of appropriations for the 1951-1953 biennium, and promised to give you my recommendations today for revenues to meet that amount. In my Budget Message, I showed that the estimate of revenue from certain existing taxes for 1951-1953 is $680,000,000 which, with an estimated surplus of $10,000,000, is $163,000,000 short of the $853,000,000 of the recommended appropriations.

Before taking up revenues, there are some comments I want to make about the Budget and, especially, I want to show why a large amount of additional revenue is necessary.

I want to reiterate and emphasize the statement I made in my Budget Message. It was that the large amount of obligations to be financed because of legislative mandates prior to this Administration, and the tremendous tax burdens the people are now carrying, made it imperative to cut requested appropriations to an irreducible minimum.

An examination of the Budget shows just how that was done. Appropriation requests were pruned and repruned. There is no fat in this Budget. Rather, my concern is on the other side. We are predicting for two of the most uncertain years imaginable. Since the advent of the Korean war, prices have been going up; and who can tell what will happen to them in the two years from next June 1st. Some of the appropriations may prove to be insufficient—we may have pruned too close. We hope we have not done so.

I made a special attempt to single out the essential functions and to give them special attention in the allotment of funds. At the head of the list are Civil Defense, Health, and Education. Provision was made for continuing the excellent program of examining school children. The medical hospitals—both State-owned and State-aided—were allotted additional funds; provisions was made for additional patients and better and enlarged care and treatment at the mental hospitals. The tuberculosis sanatoria Crippled Children's Hospital will be able to take in more patients with the funds recommended.

The problem of the treatment and care of indigent patients with active tuberculosis is not completely solved. The Department of Health is now making a thorough study of this problem.

The State is now treating in its three sanatoria 1,764 patients with tuberculosis.

	Patients in Sanatoria	Unused Beds Due to Lack of Medical-Nursing Staff
Mt. Alto	707	218
Cresson	573	58
Hamburg	484	120
	1,764	396

There are at present 471 cases listed and waiting admission to these institutions. Personnel difficulties preventing complete occupancy, if and when solved, would enable these institutions to provide treatment for 396 cases. It would be vain to expand our facilities until we have the staff and personnel to utilize our present capacity. Cities and counties are caring for 1,524 cases in local tax-supported institutions.

To assist local communities, as Philadelphia, in bearing some of this case load, new legislation has been introduced (House Bill 54). This will permit many cases to be cared for in local hospitals and help to relieve the wating lists by reimbursing local political subdivisions for a part of their costs. The Health Department is now studying this legislation, as well as the problem of using our facilities to the fullest extent, and should have recommendations at a later date. Stream pollution elimination will be continued; and adequate provisions was made for all other Health Department functions.

For the whole Department of Public Instruction, including universities and colleges and public school subsidies, $368,000,000 is recommended, as compared with $298,000,000 in the present biennium—an increase of $70,000,000. Of this increase public school subsidies consume $48,000,000, and universities and colleges about $10,000,000 additional. The appropriation I recommended for the universities and colleges represents a 40 per cent increase to help those institutions with dwindling enrollment and other financial problems in the trying period ahead.

In view of decreasing student enrollments which likely will be accelerated by defense demands, good judgment dictates that consideration of State co-operation in the establishment of a Free City College in Philadelphia be at this time deferred.

In these times of international tension, when bombers from a hostile country could reach our State within a few hours, we would be derelict in our duty if we did not take whatever steps can sanely be taken to safeguard the people and minimize the damage from such a castrophe. There is much conflicting opinion existing in the Federal Government and among the states on what can sanely be done now. I am recommending that a reserve appropriation for Civil Defense be established, so that in this way the Legislature can provide for such a contingency without running the risk of a Special Session for that sole purpose, which would be costly in money but infinitely more costly in time.

The obligations which confront this Administration from legislative mandates prior to its inception amount to $112,000,000. The reserve for Civil Defense considered necessary is $20,000,000. Twenty million dollars is considered necessary as additional aid to the public schools beyond the requirements of present law; and about $10,000,000 additional is required for the universities and colleges during these critical years. Also, $10,000,000 additional is considered necessary for the Welfare institutions due to higher costs and additional patients and the staffing of new buildings as the latter become available. There was a large reduction in the amount allotted for Public Assistance, $61,000,000; but this was more than offset by the $63,000,000 surplus from the 1947-1949 biennium which was used to finance the Budget of the present biennium. This is a way of showing the need of $163,000,000 of additional revenue.

A more simplified way of showing the need follows: The total appropriations I am recommending, as shown in the Budget, amount to $853,000,000, as compared with $766,000,000 in the present biennium—an increase of $87,000,000. Total funds available for the next biennium from certain existing taxes and surplus are estimated at $690,000,000. This is $76,000,000 less than the present Budget of $766,000,000; and, since my recommendations exceed the present Budget by $87,000,000, the total amount needed is $163,000,000.

The Budget I presented calls for General Fund appropriations, as stated, in the total amount of $853,513,930. To meet that amount of appropriations, I recommend that all emergency taxes, excepting the soft drink tax, be re-enacted. I recommend that the manufacturers' exemption from the capital stock tax be postponed for two years. With all such emergency taxes re-enacted, General Fund receipts are estimated at $680,000,000. With an estimated surplus of $10,026,557, which remains after providing for $16,583,545 of deficiencies, there is an estimated $690,026,557 of available funds for the 1951-1953 biennium. This amount is $163,487,253 less than the required funds necessary for the recommended appropriations.

Early last year there were those in the Duff Administration who estimated that we probably would need about $150,000,000 in additional taxes for the 1951-1953 biennium. Then on June 24th came the outbreak of conflict in Korea. The National economy immediately started to soar. Our own fiscal picture in consequence looked far better. A rise in income and a lessening in expenditures, particularly in the Department of Public Assistance, could be foreseen. Estimates were then drastically revised. By fall of last year, 1950, income had increased somewhat. Industry made plans to produce war materials, and we anticipated a further sharp and precipitous drop in expenditures for public assistance. These two factors alone were expected to whittle down previously anticipated revenue needs. Some were optimistic enough to predict that outgo and income might conceivably balance. But these expectations did not materialize until after the first of the present year, and then not fully. When income did take an upward trend it was not as big a rise as many leaders versed in fiscal affairs had expected, nor did expenditures drop to a degree where a decrease would be reflected appreciably in this biennium.

We now anticipate, with good reasons, a marked decline in the number of those on the public assistance rolls. There is unmistakably a big increase in employment now that the war economy actually is taking larger shape. Employment opportunities should increase, and, more, they should be sustained. Then, too, we will have stricter supervision by the Department of Public Assistance. These encouraging factors should effect the reduction in expenditures for this Department as indicated in the Budget.

The foregoing shows some of the dificulties of predicting State finances under the abnormal conditions existing since the outbreak of the Korean War. This is not only true of State finances—it is true in business and in many walks of life.

The most severe criticism that can be levelled against those upon whom I relied for advice in fiscal affairs last year, and whose counsel I followed, is that they were overly optimistic. But who is so infallible as to assert that they were unduly optimistic as that time and in the circumstances which motivated their predictions? True, subsequent events disproved their optimism. The passage of time has been even more severe in the exposure of the pessimism of others. We erred in optimism by over $100,000,000 in estimates; the opposition erred in its pessimism by more than $200,000,000. However, two wrongs do not make a right. Nor do I suggest a balancing of these wrongs to attempt escape from a mistake through means of a lesser degree of error.

Frankness and honesty impels me to a full admission of our own error. This wrong and this error must be admitted, candidly, humbly. No one regrets this mistake more than I, because it now confronts me with the unpleasant task of proposing new forms of taxes which I, in good conscience, thought could be avoided. Do not misunderstand me, I am not now trying to excuse that error. Nor do I for a moment condone it. We did err in our estimates by our failure, if you wish to so term it, to forsee the great increase in expenditures and new demands of this abnormal period.

We are now confronted with the problem of raising the required funds. We can be thankful at least a problem more than twice our margin of error is not posed for us by the fulfillment of the prediction of the opposition that $300,000,000 to $350,000,000 would be required for the next biennium. We, all of us, must be realistic in trying to meet the conditions with which we are faced and which we must have the courage to meet. It is not easy to impose the taxes we must raise. I take no pride in the paternity of any new tax measures I recommend to you. Those who may be critical for these proposals may with good integrity, ask themselves: "What would I propose as taxes to raise $163,000,000 with equitable contribution by the taxpayer?"

Today we are faced with the fact that the cost of everything are rising fast. The upward flight is due to the Korean conflict and the prospect borne of it for a Third World War. That is the situation. It is here in government as it is in every business, every industry—yes, even in every household in Pennsylvania. All of us must face it, however much we dislike it. Just as it costs you more today than it did six months ago to run your house or business, so it costs more to conduct the business of the Commonwealth.

That is why we have to impose additional taxes today that were not foreseen even back six months ago. That is why I cut to the bone the appropriations I have asked the General Assembly to approve that we may run the State's business properly. I shall insist that the State's business be run economically during the next two years.

I am convinced that the reductions I have made will not impair the services rendered our citizens by the various departments of the State government.

In preparing the Budget I likewise slashed requests for construction appropriations I did this because I feel that under the increasing stringencies which necessarily are a part of any wartime economy, materials will not be available for public works at anywhere near the level some people contemplated. However, if the war economy should at any time permit, construction can be taken care of under the State Authorities.

I have given a great deal of thought to the problem of raising this $163,000,000 of additional revenue. I have conferred with legislators, with representatives of many groups, and with many individuals, about this problem.

I firmly believe that the financial requirements of the Commonwealth have outgrown our present revenue system. I am firmly convinced the situation demands a broadening of the tax base. To further postpone this imperative step would be the timid answer to political expediency. A sound State financial structure is now essential. We can tolerate no further delay.

Over the years there has grown up a system of selected sales taxes, including the profits of the Liquor Stores, which along with two major taxes on corporations, constitute the bulk of our State revenue system.

As you know, there was a large amount of additional revenue raised in 1947. That was accomplished in a large part by increases in existing taxes, which increases have been continued since that time.

I believe you will agree with me that we have gone as far as we can go in increasing most existing taxes. There are ominous signs that to go further we would reach the point of diminishing returns, if indeed we have not already passed that point. I am convinced that existing taxes in relation to the taxes in surrounding states are as high as they should be.

The point I want to make here is that we cannot secure $163,000,000 in additional revenue by making all existing taxes top-heavy.

That is the situation at the present time. In recommending a program for additional revenue, I am looking ahead two years, and even beyond that. One of the great increases in State appropriations is that for the public schools. For instance, in the 1945-1947 biennium $125,000,000 was appropriated for public school subsidies, only a part of the amount provided for education. In 1949-1951, $203,000,000 was appropriated for the same purpose. My recommendation for 1951-1953 is $250,000,000—double that of 1945-1947.

Now, let's look forward to the 1955-1957 biennium. School costs, under our existing laws, are estimated to be $96,000,000 above the amount required in the present biennium.

The present taxation system has been stretched to its limit. A new source or new sources are necessary to meet the increasing financial needs of the Commonwealth. In looking for new sources we are circumscribed by the Constitutional provision that all taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. We have considered all possibilities, and have arrived at the decision that an individual flat rate income tax of ½ per cent will distribute the burden most widely and will be the least burdensome to the people of the State. It will fall least heavily upon those who can least afford to pay additional taxes.

The greater part of the need for additional revenue arises from financing the Soldiers' Bonus, Civil Defense, and additional public school subsidies and payments to the Teachers' Retirement Fund. It seems to me that all citizens of this State should share in paying off the Soldiers' Bonus, in paying for Civil Defense, and in helping to pay the cost of educating our children. With the Federal Government rates of income tax from 20 to 91 per cent of our net income—and in all probability they will go higher—I regret that it becomes a necessity to ask this contribution of ½ of 1 per cent from our citizens for these worthy purposes which are so clearly a common responsibility of all of us.

A consideration in recommending this income tax is its anti-inflationary character. Still another consideration is that the tax paid will be deductible in computing tax liability for the Federal income tax. The net effect of this feature will considerably reduce the size of this tax for many taxpayers.

For many years tax study groups in this State have recommended an unincorporated business tax, to help equalize the situation between incorporated and unincorporated businesses and to require unincorporated businesses to contribute to the support of the State Government. Under this tax the net income of unincorporated businesses will be included.

In weighing the relative effects of this tax with other broad based taxes, such as general sales and gross receipts, the conclusion is inevitable that with the income tax less harm would be done to business in areas such as Philadelphia and others adjacent to surrounding states, as Delaware, New York and New Jersey, none of which have a sales tax.

An important consideration with any new tax is the problem of collection. Since this income tax would have a withholding tax feature affecting most taxpayers, it has distinct advantages for collection purposes. Moreover, its collection will be aided by a certain amount of correlation between the reported income for this tax and the Federal income tax.

In the consideration of this tax I was aware that it would conflict with the salary and wage tax and tax on net profits of businesses in Philadelphia and a number of other localities. But, in my opinion, the State cannot be excluded from this great field of taxation because some local governments have taken previous action. The State has reserved to local governments a great tax base —real property—and should not be circumscribed to the extent of being excluded from another tax base such as income taxation. Especially is this true when the State is assuming the cost of so many functions of government, the cost of which in other states falls upon local governments, or falls more heavily upon local governments than in this Commonwealth.

This conflict will need, however, the earnest deliberation of the Legislature. The Legislature should give authority to Philadelphia and other local governments to continue their tax along with this State tax. I shall be glad to co-operate with you in solving this problem.

I am also recommending an increase in an existing tax, the Corporate Net Income Tax, because I believe that under the stimulus of defense production and greatly increased Federal taxes corporations can pay that increase in the next two years without undue burden, and I believe that we should keep the income tax on the individual at the lowest possible rate when we consider the whole tax burden which people are now carrying. By increasing the Corporate Net Income Tax one per cent, it appears that we can, with a 1/2 per cent individual income tax, derive sufficient funds to meet our immediate requirements.

My recommendation in this message is estimated to yield the following amounts:

GENERAL FUND REVENUE AND RECEIPTS

	Actual and Estimated 1949-1951	Estimated 1951-1953	1951-1953 Over or under* 1949-1951
Taxes
Bonus	2,543,000	3,400,000	857,000
Gross Receipts Tax	20,909,500	20,375,000	534,500*
Insurance Premium Tax	23,105,000	20,335,000	2,770,000*
Malt Beverage Tax	46,378,000	46,000,000	378,000*
Legal Documents and Transfer of Securities	1,229,000	1,250,000	21,000
Inheritance Taxes	40,917,000	42,077,609	1,160,609
Cigarette Tax	87,519,000	89,000,000	1,481,000
Liquor Tax	35,557,000	36,800,000	1,243,000
Soft Drink Tax	29,073,000		29,073,000*
Other Taxes, Penalties and Interest	1,759,500	1,299,780	459,720*
Capital Stock, Shares and Loans	115,791,000	121,612,500	5,821,500
Corporate Net Income Tax	149,880,000	220,000,000	70,120,000
Individual Flat Rate Income Tax		119,487,253	119,487,253
Total Taxes	554,661,000	721,637,142	166,976,142
Licenses and Fees	10,979,713	11,410,270	430,557
Fines and Penalties	1,081,398	1,117,880	36,482
Miscellaneous Revenue	11,197,889	9,987,110	1,210,779*
Institutional Reimbursements	20,580,000	19,334,971	1,245,029*
Liquor Store Profits	80,000,000	80,000,000
Total	678,500,000	843,487,373	164,987,373

The increase in the existing Corporate Net Income Tax from 4 per cent to 5 per cent is estimated to yield $44,000,000, which is just slightly higher than the amount estimated for each per cent of the existing 4 per cent tax for the fiscal years 1950-1951.

The individual income tax recommended is a flat rate tax of 1/2 of 1 per cent, and estimated to raise $119,000,000 for the 1951-1953 biennium. A bill will be submitted to you shortly which will provide for a comprehensive system for the levy and collection of an annual tax upon the income of residents of Pennsylvania, subject to deductions permitted by the Constitution, and upon the income received by non-residents from property owned or from any business or occupation carried on within this State. Provisions will be made for the withholding of this tax on salaries and wages. The Department of Revenue will be charged with the administration and enforcement of the Act.

The amount of the tax for different amounts of income would be as follows:

TABLE OF FLAT RATE INCOME TAX

Income	Tax At 1/2 Per Cent	Income	Tax At 1/2 Per Cent
$1,000	$5.00	$6,000	$30.00
2,000	10.00	7,000	35.00
3,000	15.00	8,000	40.00
4,000	20.00	9,000	45.00
5,000	25.00	10,000	50.00

I have explained to you that the common functions of government to be carried out require a large amount of additional revenue, most of which is the result of legislative mandates prior to this Administration. I have recommended the measures which I consider best for all of our taxpayers, consonant with good fiscal practices. However, if you should arrive at a better solution of this problem with sufficient additional revenue, you would have my co-operation.

JOHN S. FINE.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. LANE and NEFF read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 388, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act, approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith; and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," by providing for determination of the annual rate of such tax by the county commissioners.

Which was committed to the Committe on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 389, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 756), entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal-mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith," by requiring shot-firers in mechanized mines to have helpers and defining the duties of such helpers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. LANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 390, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 9 of Article 4 of the act, approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 756) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal-mines of Pennsylvania, and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith," by providing for the installation and use of water pipes and sprinklers to allay coal dust at certain operations in mechanized mines.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. LANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 391, entitled:

An Act to further amend section 1 of Article V and to add section 10 to Article VIII of the act approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 756), entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal-mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith," by further regulating inspection of mines by fire bosses regulating transportation of portable machinery.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Messrs. LANE and NEFF read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 392, entitled:

An Act to promote the safety of employes and travelers upon railroads by requiring common carriers by railroad to furnish flag protection to all trains occupying the main track; and to provide a penalty for the violation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF FORESTS AND WATERS AND REPORT SUBMITTED TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SENATE.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO, offered the following resolution which was twice read, and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, March 21, 1951.

Whereas, Many of the facts, figures and documents pertaining to the affairs of the Commonwealth's Department of Forests and Waters have apparently been classified as "top secret," and

Whereas, Both press and public have upon occasion been denied access to facts, figures and documents properly a public record, and

Whereas, As a result of the failure upon the part of the Department of Forests and Waters to establish a helpful public relations policy, rumors and charges detrimental to the Department have been circulated, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on State Government of this Senate be requested to obtain from the Department of Forests and Waters and report to this body the following information:

(1) A complete list of all purchases of land for various projects, the prices paid for the various parcels together with the assessed valuation of each parcel.

(2) Total cost of surveys made by the Department from January 1, 1947, to January 1, 1949, together with a breakdown of the survey cost for each particular item or project.

(3) Names and salaries of departmental personnel who were non-residents of Pennsylvania at the time of their employment by the Department of Forests and Waters, or immediately prior thereto.

(4) List of salary increases over and above original salary base of departmental executive personnel employed on any phase of the Schuylkill River project.

(5) List of engineering fees, paid to whom and for what particular projects or surveys.

(6) List of financial commitments, if any, made by the Department of Forests and Waters, during last three years before funds were legally available for its use.

(7) Terms of the contract with the company organized by the Department of Forests and Waters for the purpose of handling the engineering phases of the Schuylkill River project.

(8) The reasons why departmental records relating to the public business have not been made available for the use of the representatives of the press.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not want to delay adjournment today of the Senate nor do I want to go into the message of the Governor in toto. I just want to refer to the last two lines of the Governor's remarks, which to refresh your minds I will read, and I quote:

"However, if you should arrive at a better solution of this problem with sufficient additional revenue, you would have my cooperation."

Mr. President, I think that the Governor is entitled to the courtesies of the Senate and Members of the Legislature and the benefit, if any, of our studies of the State's fiscal problems, and the recommendations, if any, that we may make, and I believe that that is a proper approach to a governmental duty. I have long been a critic of the type of senatorial activity in the Federal Government where the opposition has sniped for years and I regret, too, that the Governor saw fit to inject into his statement today some very cutting words relative to the Federal Budget, and I assume he knows no more about that than I do. He excuses the increase in Pennsylvania on the ground of increased cost, but does not give the same consideration to those that have the same problems and for the same reasons in the Federal Government. However, you will note that although there is a great deal of criticism against the Federal Budget, and the words "fat" and "lard" are used quite extensively, it is also true that there are hearings held upon the departmental requests.

Mr. President, I have looked through the budget, and for the information of the Senate, so that the Members of this Senate may take a little something home to study, I want them to take Page 1 and Page 38 of the Budget. I want them to take the figures used by the Governor under "Funds Available" on Page 1. Then, take on Page 38 the item headed "Summary of General Fund Revenues and Receipts," and take the "Total General Fund Revenue," and make a comparison between Page 1 and Page 38, because that will be the subject of my discussion on Monday.

Mr. President, I think it is only fair that I should tell the Senate that I, too, am seeking the truth in the matter. I am not interested in the political angle of it. If I am wrong in my assumptions, you will better be able to tell me so if you know what I am going to talk about.

I do not believe, and I say it now from an offhand study of the Budget Message and of the budget itself, that we need one hundred and sixty-three million more dollars. I do not believe that we necessarily must put an income tax burden upon the people of Pennsylvania. Under some conditions I subscribe to a broader tax base, and under Act 481, upon the floor of the Senate I said that we would rue the day that we passed that piece of legislation. I think the day has arrived. I do not believe at this moment that this is an all-inclusive tax and budget message. I believe the Governor, with the advice that he has received, is trying to do his best in the matter, but I do not believe that any person can base a tax or a need for revenue upon a campaign speech.

Mr. President, I have told people, and they have not believed me, that when the campaigns were on, the talks of surpluses were nothing but catchall phrases, hoping to get the votes.

Mr. President, I think that in 1946, the Democratic Party was defeated largely by the well publicized statement that there was a two hundred million dollar surplus in the budget. Governor Duff was elected I think to a great extent upon that statement. I said then that there was no such animal and I said last year that there was no such animal when it was again used in the campaign. However, if the people, through the medium of the newspapers, want to keep on being fooled, that is no blight upon my conscience. I do not suppose much of what I say will ever get to the public, but some day somebody may read it.

Mr. President, if the Members of this Senate will take the speeches made in 1947 and 1949 by the Democratic leaders, you will find that every statement we made has been borne out by the facts. We were ridiculed by the opposition, but the facts remain.

I say now publicly there is no need for additional taxes in Pennsylvania. I say now that the budget itself, as I have said before, may not contain "fat" but it contains a great deal of "milk" and "water." I want you now to agree with me, if you can, that if the Governor is sincere in desiring to be cooperative, the proper thing for the Senate to do, the Appropriations Committee to do, is to call before it every department head with his request for his departmental expenses, and the Budget Director, to tell us how they have arrived at the figures and how they have arrived at the budget. If we do not do that, we are guilty of committing the same errors that we have committed for many years in Pennsylvania, and remember, it is more serious now than at any time in our history, because the history has been that when a tax is placed upon the books, that tax becomes a permanent feature of our haphazard tax structure. I agree with the Governor that our tax system in Pennsylvania is outmoded. We have said that for years. I say that at this time we ought to take the word "emergency" away from the so-called emergency taxes passed in 1935 and 1937 by the Earle Administration, for which we were defeated by the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I say that it is time we make them what they are, permanent taxes, permanent in every aspect, and stop this business of coming in here and fighting through every two years a set of taxes that are no more an emergency set of taxes than the man in the moon; they are absolutely no emergency taxes because since 1935 they have been permanently placed upon the books of this Commonwealth. I think that the time has come when we should have the courage to stand before the people and say, "These are the taxes of Pennsylvania," so that the next Legislature when it meets will not be asked to come before the people and reinaugurate taxes that have been on the books for years.

Mr. President, if after three months we are not entitled to two weeks to study the budget, then I agree that we ought to meet four or five days a week, put your tax bills in—you have the votes—pass them over the opposition, railroad the situation through and go home within three weeks from today. However, if you are going to allow a perusual and study of the budget, we may have to stay two months or more, but in the face of the fact that you are now placing a new type of taxation upon the people of Pennsylvania, you ought to study its effects.

When the original income tax was passed by the Federal Government, it was passed with the cry that it was an emergency proposition. I have the arguments that were given in the Federal Congress at the time by the proponents of the tax measure, and Lord only knows what has happened to the Federal Income Tax. You need not believe that a half of one per cent wage tax or earnings tax, whatever you want to call it, now placed upon the people is the last word. If you are going into that phase of taxation, let us take the argument of the Governor, in which he said, If I remember rightly that to some this tax, by virtue of the fact that it is deductible from Federal Income Tax, will be a reduction in taxes. That, of course, is a logic I cannot follow through. However, he did say that, and if that is true then perhaps we ought to study the tax structure, eliminate certain other phases of taxation and then put on a broad base tax, but put it on the basis that we can say that this is sufficient money for Pennsylvania for the next biennium, and the next biennium and the next biennium.

Mr. President, I cannot understand the negative language in the Governor's message, and this to me is double-talk if ever I heard any, and I think it is fair to say it that way without being unduly critical, in which he says and I quote:

"Still further evidence of the fact that this budget has been severely pruned is that $35,000,000 has been cut from normal departmental requests for appropriations, not including requests for construction."

Now, Mr. President, in effect he is telling us he saved us thirty-five million dollars by the departments asking for thirty-five million more than what they received, money that they have never spent or ever had budgeted before. He saved thirty-five million dollars. Now, by the same logic he could have saved two hundred fifty million dollars by having the departments ask for two hundred fifty million more than what they needed. That is a negative argument. The fact that your administrative costs have gone up in this biennium—some of you who are harboring the illusion that there is a cut in the budget are not being fair to yourselves or your constituents, because the departmental expenses have gone up.

Then, Mr. President, he said that there has been an increase in school teachers from something like one hundraed twenty-five million to two hundred fifty millions of dollars since the 1945 biennium. That is true, mandated increases by the Legislature, but who in this room would suggest that teachers' salaries go back to the 1945 maximum and minimum? We cannot do that. So, that is a proper item. However, just take your budget and search it. Your administrative cost of the Executive Branch of Government directly under the Governor, have gone up from thirty-one odd million dollars to seventy-two million dollars in the same period.

These items are items of interest to the people of Pennsylvania, and I do not hope to break the news with them. I am hoping to tell you, as Members of the Senate, that regardless of who the Governor is, regardless of who the Chief Executive is, we still are the persons who are responsible for the tax program in Pennsylvania. We still are the persons who are responsible for the appropriations in Pennsylvania, and the last two lines which I quote again, and I quote them because those last two lines contain the meat of the entire situation in Pennsylvania:

"However, if you should arrive at a better solution of this problem with sufficient additional revenue, you would have my cooperation."

Mr. President, if we accept this budget and the Governor's tax program in toto, we are in effect saying to the people of Pennsylvania that we know no better, that we have searched for nothing better, and that what we ought to do is come to Harrisburg, take the little petty bills that are presented to us—some appear on the Calendar today—pass them, wait for the Governor to give us his message, take the bills that he drafts which are sent over here, pass them and go home, that we are no longer a separate branch of government.

Mr. President, I have said this even in the Democratic days and I say it now. This budget needs pruning, this budget needs cutting. There has not been one person dropped from the pay rolls in Pennsylvania under this budget, not one person dropped from the pay rolls. We were told that two hundred fifty thousand dollars would take care of civil defense on the floor of the Senate. I said twenty million dollars. I was laughed at, the papers ridiculed me, but in this budget it is twenty million dollars for civil defense. I can only say I was right. It will not do the people any good, but these are things that are important and things that from now until Monday you and I have a chance to study in a sincere effort to show that there is no need in Pennsylvania, no need in Pennsylvania, and I emphasize that with every bit of sincerity at my command, there is no need in Pennsylvania for an income tax.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unaminous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland, we certainly are not going to discuss the budget this morning. That was the shortest non-discussion of the budget we will hear, I will assure you of that.

Mr. President, may I suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I agree with him one hundred per cent when he discusses some of the idiosyncrasies in performance as compared to platform.

Mr. President, the first campaign in which I was permitted to indulge, not as a voter but in an endeavor to arouse the voters by ringing door bells, was the campaign of 1916, in which the winning candidate at that time had a slogan of, "Relect Wilson because he kept us out of war," and I certainly suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that it has been my observation, not as a political matter but merely as a student of government, that a long series of Democratic administrations has suggested to me that the field of performance as far as they are concerned is sown with the seeds of confusion.

Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that we are just as deeply interested on this side of the aisle in taking this budget apart slowly, step by step, reconstructing it so that the people of Pennsylvania will know that as far as the General Assembly is concerned, the fifty Members of the Senate are going to do their utmost to give a clear, concise picture of the fiscal problems facing Pennsylvania without attempting to confuse it with a cloak of political bric-a-brac.

May I say, Mr. President, that the statement contained in last two sentences that were quoted over and over and over by the gentleman from Westmoreland from the Governor's message is made with all sincerity. Since I have been a Member of this Senate, I have had the pleasure of listening to the gentleman from Westmoreland get up shortly after every budget message and give his budget message to the Commonwealth. That budget message I have always very carefully read, and may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I have filed them away, and when we start to discuss the Dent budget for the 1951-1953 Session I will have on my desk the Dent budget for 1945, the Dent budget for 1947 and the Dent budget for 1949.

May I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, when he reverts to that twenty million dollars for civil defense, his suggestion carried more weight with the Chief Executive in that particular phase than did mine. I said two hundred fifty thousand and he said twenty million dollars. You can see what happens now. Evidently he has a lot of influence in the Executive Department because that is what you find in the budget.

Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that if he has any more suggestions to make, he can keep on making them, because he is having a lot of luck with them. When we start taking this budget apart and putting it together again, may I suggest that we do so with the idea of not criticizing either political party, but let us see if we cannot give the people of Pennsylvania the truth.

Mr. President, we are not going to get to first base in discussing this budget if we start to revert to how we are attempting to hide things in here that should not be here. For example, the gentleman from Westmoreland mentioned the fact that not one payroller has been dropped from the pay roll in this budget. Why, Mr. President, there is a gyro off Capitol Hill at this present time, and every Department Executive knows it. Every employee we have is being weaned away from us by the exorbitant salaries that are being paid by the Federal government. There is not a day goes by that we do not have a graphic example, and I give this example just as an illustration. A typist at twenty-one hundred eighty dollars under the State pay roll starts out as a typist in the Federal Government at thirty-four hundred eighty dollars. No wonder we are losing employees on Capitol Hill. They are being weaned away from us by the exorbitant salaries paid by the Federal Government. We cannot hope to meet those salaries in this budget, and we are not going to try to. It is not a question of dropping employes. We are going around on our hands and knees trying to beg people to stay with us.

Let us be fair with the people of Pennsylvania when we start to analyze this budget, and nobody, Mr. President, will be more constructively critical of the figures in here or the modus operandi to arrive at a crystallization of opinion than the gentlemen on this side of the aisle.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Presilent, I appreciate that all of this started back in Wilson's day, and I guess we can blame the budget increases on the fact that Wilson made a statement in his campaign that he would not take us back into war or rather there would be no war. However, bringing it up to date, I think that if the gentleman will look into the facts on Federal Government pay rolls, he will find that just as we have classifications, the Federal Government also has them. You may blame it on what that illusive non-governmental agency calls Civil Service, something that took out of the hands of men in public life the right to set salaries and the right to hire people, because they said that Civil Service would take politics out of government. It has perhaps taken politics out of government but it has certainly put it into the hands of a few people who, regardless of what title they go under, still work on the old operation of taking care of their friends regardless of what they are.

Mr. President, I might say that weaning away is not only a process that the Federal Government might be accused of, because I understand that even college presidents are being weaned away from presidencies of colleges at seventy-five hundred dollars a year to take fifteen thousand dollar jobs.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, for seventeen years I have been here in the General Assembly and each Session the same story gets out about budgets, and a budget politician tries to disguise how to cut budgets but not hurt any of his friends.

Mr. President, today we have in Pennsylvania the greatest hodgepodge tax system than any state in the United States. On the State level, the county level, the borough, the township and the city level, we have overlapping government expenditures of money that are not necessary, and I think this is the opportune time, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, to present a bill to provide for the creation of the State-Local Relationship Committee, in which the people shall be selected from business, from the Economy League, from the Chambers of Commerce, from the Manufacturers Association, who will actually make a study of government and bring government and taxes up to date, because as it is now, there is no rhyme or reason to the taxation system.

Mr. President, we have the largest budget, I believe, any State in United States has, with the exception of New York, and one which has increased in the last fifty years a thousand per cent. I believe it is time for us to get some people in there to help us with a little bit of brains because, God knows, this budget as given to us does not mean anything but a jumble of figures. We do not know what they represent, who they represent or what type of work is being done.

Therefore, Mr. President, I rise in place and present to the Chair a bill to provide a State-Local Relationship Committee, which will make a study of government services as well as the tax problems of Pennsylvania. This is in line with the "Little Hoover Commission" which all you Republicans are always talking about.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOLLAND, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 393, entitled:

An Act to provide for creation of a "State-Local Relationship Committee," prescribing duties of said committee, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BERGER, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 394) entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred six of the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225), entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by eliminating the provisions making it unlawful to carry unloaded rifles and shotguns in or on any vehicle or conveyance unless said rifles and shotguns are in cases or securely wrapped, and also eliminating the provisions making it unlawful to possess cartridges or shells for hunting in vehicles or conveyances unless they are in unbroken original cartons, or securely wrapped.

Which was commited to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. BRYNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BRYNE, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 395, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 5 of the act, approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566), entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities, and all county or other public employes, if any, paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof, and out of the treasury of said cities; and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions," by providing for the refund of contributions upon the death of any pensioner when such contributions exceed beneficiary payments made to such pensioner.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, March 26, 1951, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:51 o'clock a. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, March 26, 1951, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 21, 1951.

The House met at 9:30 a. m.
The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Honorable Charles R. Reagan, a Member of the House from Union County, offered the following prayer:

May Thy yoke help these sincere servants to carry the burden that is theirs. Make Thy presence felt so that no one can forget Thee or ignore Thee; for in Thee do we trust and Thy strength is made perfect in our weakness. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, March 20, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

SENATE MESSAGES

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTIONS

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1951.

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That the Senate and House of Representatives meet in Joint Session Wednesday, March 21, 1951 at 10:00 o'clock a. m. in the Hall of the House of Representatives for the purpose of hearing an address by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1951.

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That a committee of three on the part of the Senate, (if the Senate shall appoint such committee), be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to address the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session on Wednesday, March 21, 1951 at 10:00 o'clock a. m. pursuant to a concurrent resolution already adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to escort the Senate to the Hall of the House for the Joint Session has performed that duty, and the Senate is now present.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly, the President pro tempore and the Secretary of the Senate are invited to the rortrum.

The Members of the Senate will be seated in the chairs provided for them in the well of the House.

The Chair has the honor to present the Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Lloyd H. Wood who will preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly.

JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LLOYD H. WOOD PRESIDING

COMMITTEE ESCORTING GOVERNOR

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, the committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. DIEHM. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, John S. Fine, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Members of the General Assembly, I have the honor and the privilege of presenting His Excellency, John S. Fine, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who will now address you.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JOHN S. FINE

To the Honorable, The General Assembly
Of The Comonwealth Of Pennsylvania:

On Monday of this week I presented to you, the Members of the Legislature, the Biennial Budget for 1951-1953 with my Budget Message. In that message and Budget I showed that I am recommending $853,000,000 of appropriations for the 1951-1953 biennium, and promised to give you my recommendations today for revenues to meet that amount. In my Budget Message, I showed that the estimate of revenue from certain existing taxes for 1951-1953 is $680,000,000, which, with an estimated surplus of $10,000,000, is $163,000,000 short of the $853,000,000 of the recommended appropriations.

Before taking up revenues, there are some comments I want to make about the Budget and, especially, I want to show why a large amount of additional revenue is necessary.

I want to reiterate and emphasize the statement I made in my Budget Message. It was that the large amount of obligations to be financed because of legislative mandates prior to this Administration, and the tremendous tax burdens the people are now carrying, made it imperative to cut requested appropriations to an irreducible minimum.

An examination of the Budget shows just how that was done. Appropriation requests were pruned and repruned. There is no fat in this Budget. Rather, my concern is on the other side. We are predicting for two of the most uncertain years imaginable. Since the advent of the Korean war, prices have been going up; and who can tell what will happen to them in the two years from next June 1st. Some of the appropriations may prove to be insufficient—we may have pruned too close. We hope we have not done so.

I made a special attempt to single out the essential functions and to give them special attention in the allotment of funds. At the head of the list are Civil Defense, Health, and Education. Provision was made for continuing the excellent program of examining school children. The medical hospitals—both State-owned and State-aided—were allotted additional funds; provision was made for additional patients and better and enlarged care and treatment at the mental hospitals. The tuberculosis sanatoria and Crippled Children's Hospital will be able to take in more patients with the funds recommended.

The problem of the treatment and care of indigent patients with active tuberculosis is not completely solved. The Department of Health is now making a thorough study of this problem.

The State is now treating in its three sanatoria 1,764 patients with tuberculosis.

	Patients in Sanatoria	Unused Beds Due to lack of Medical-Nursing Staff
Mt. Alto	707	218
Cresson	573	58
Hamburg	484	120
	1,764	396

There are at present 471 cases listed and awaiting admission to these institutions. Personnel difficulties preventing complete occupancy, if and when solved, would enable these institutions to provide treatment for 396 cases. It would be vain to expand our facilities until we have the staff and personnel to utilize our present capacity. Cities and counties are caring for 1,524 cases in local tax-supported institutions.

To assist local communities, as Philadelphia, in bearing some of this case load, new legislation has been introduced (House Bill 54). This will permit many cases to be cared for in local hospitals and help to relieve the waiting lists by reimbursing local political subdivisions for a part of their cost. The Health Department is now studying this legislation, as well as the problem of using our facilities to the fullest extent, and should have recommendations at a later date. Stream pollution elimination will be continued; and adequate provisions was made for all other Health Department functions.

For the whole Department of Public Instruction, including universities and colleges and public school subsidies, $368,000,000 is recommended, as compared with $298,000,000 in the present biennium—an increase of $70,000,000. Of this increase public school subsidies consume $48,000,000, and universities and colleges about $10,000,000 additional. The appropriation I recommended for the universities and colleges represents a 40 per cent increase to help those institutions with dwindling enrollment and other financial problems in the trying period ahead.

In view of decreasing student enrollments which likely will be accelerated by defense demands, good judgment dictates that consideration of State co-operation in the establishment of a Free City College in Philadelphia be at this time deferred.

In these times of international tension, when bombers from a hostile country could reach our State within a few hours, we would be derelict in our duty if we did not take whatever steps can sanely be taken to safeguard the people and minimize the damage from such a catastrophe. There is much conflicting opinion existing in the Federal Government and among the states on what can sanely be done now. I am recommending that a reserve appropriation for Civil Defense be established, so that in this way the Legislature can provide for such a contingency without running the risk of a Special Session for that sole purpose, which would be costly in money but infinitely more costly in time.

The obligations which confront this Administration from legislative mandates prior to its inception amount to $112,000,000. The reserve for Civil Defense considered necessary is $20,000,000. Twenty million dollars is considered necessary as additional aid to the public schools beyond the requirements of present law; and about $10,000,000 additional is required for the universities and colleges during these critical years. Also, $10,000,000 additional is considered necessary for the Welfare institutions due to higher costs and additional patients and the staffing of new buildings as the latter become available. There was a large reduction in the amount allotted for Public Assistance, $61,000,000; but this was more than offset by the $63,000,000 surplus from the 1947-1949 biennium which was used to finance the Budget of the present biennium. This is a way of showing the need of $163,000,000 of additional revenue.

A more simplified way of showing the need follows: The total appropriations I am recommending, as shown in the Budget, amount to $853,000,000, as compared with $766,000,000 in the present biennium—an increase of $87,000,000. Total funds available for the next biennium from certain existing taxes and surplus are estimated at $690,000,000. This is $76,000,000 less than the present Budget of $766,000,000; and, since my recommendations exceed the present Budget by $87,000,000, the total amount needed is $163,000,000.

The Budget I presented calls for General Fund Appropriations, as stated, in the total amount of $853,513,930. To meet that amount of appropriations, I recommend that all emergency taxes, excepting the soft drink tax, be re-enacted. I recommend that the manufacturers' exemption from the capital stock tax be postponed for two years. With all such emergency taxes re-enacted, General Fund receipts are estimated at $680,000,000. With an estimated surplus of $10,026,557, which remains after providing for $16,583,545 of deficiencies, there is an estimated $690,026,557 of available funds for the 1951-1953 biennium. This amount is $163,487,253 less than the required funds necessary for the recommended appropriations.

Early last year there were those in the Duff Administration who estimated that we probably would need about $150,000,000 in additional taxes for the 1951-1953 biennium. Then on June 24th came the outbreak of conflict in Korea. The National economy immediately started to soar. Our own fiscal picture in consequence looked far better. A rise in income and a lessening in expenditures, particularly in the Department of Public Assistance, could be foreseen. Estimates were then drastically revised. By fall of last year, 1950, income had increased somewhat. Industry made plans to produce war materials, and we anticipated a further sharp and precipitous drop in expenditures for public assistance. These two factors alone were expected to whittle down previously anticipated revenue needs. Some were optimistic enough to predict that outgo and income might conceivably balance. But these expectations did not materialize until after the first of the present year, and then not fully. When income did take an upward trend it was not as big a rise as many leaders versed in fiscal affairs had expected, nor did expenditures drop to a degree where a decrease would be reflected apprciably in this biennium.

We now anticipate, with good reasons, a marked decline in the number of those on the public assistance rolls. There is unmistakably a big increase in employment now that the war economy actually is taking larger shape. Employment opportunities should increase, and, more, they should be sustained. Then, too, we will have stricter supervision by the Department of Public Assistance. These encouraging factors should effect the reduction in expenditures for this Department as indicated in the Budget.

The foregoing shows some of the difficulties of predicting State finances under the abnormal conditions existing since the outbreak of the Korean War. This is not only true of State finances—it is true in business and in many walks of life.

The most severe criticism that can be levelled against those upon whom I relied for advice in fiscal affairs last year, and whose counsel I followed, is that they were overly optimistic. But who is so infallible as to assert that they were unduly optimistic at that time and in the circumstances which motivated their predictions? True, subsequent events disproved their optimism. The passage of time has been even more severe in the exposure of the pessimism of others. We erred in optimism by over $100,000,00 in estimates; the opposition erred in its pessimisim by more than $200,000,000. However, two wrongs do not make a right. Nor do I suggest a balancing of these wrongs to attempt escape from a mistake through means of a lesser degree of error.

Frankness and honesty impels me to a full admission of our own error. This wrong and this error must be admitted, candidly, humbly. No one regrets this mistake more than I, because it now confronts me with the unpleasant task of proposing new forms of taxes which I, in good conscience, thought could be avoided. Do not misunderstand me, I am not now trying to excuse that error. Nor do I for a moment condone it. We did err in our estimates by our failure, if you wish to so term it, to forsee the great increase in expenditures and new demands of this abnormal period.

We are now confronted with the problem of raising the required funds. We can be thankful at least a problem more than twice our margin of error is not posed for us by the fulfillment of the prediction of the opposition that $300,000,000 to $350,000,000 would be required for the next biennium. We, all of us, must be realistic in trying to meet the conditions with which we are faced and which we must have the courage to meet. It is not easy to impose the taxes we must raise. I take no pride in the paternity of any new tax measures I recommend to you. Those who may be critical of these proposals may, with good integrity, ask themselves: "What would I propose as taxes to raise $163,000,000 with equitable contribution by the taxpayers?"

Today we are faced with the fact that the costs of everything are rising fast. The upward flight is due to the Korean conflict and the prospect borne of it for a Third World War. That is the situation. It is here in government as it is in every business, every industry—yes, even in every household in Pennsylvania. All of us must face it, however much we dislike it. Just as it costs you more today than it did six months ago to run your house or business, so it costs more to conduct the business of the Commonwealth.

That is why we have to impose additoinal taxes today that were not foreseen even back six months ago. That is why I cut to the bone the appropriations I have asked the General Assembly to approve that we may run the State's business properly. I shall insist that the State's business be run economically during the next two years.

I am convinced that the reductions I have made will not impair the services rendered our citizens by the various departments of the State government.

In preparing the Budget I likewise slashed requests for construction appropriations. I did this because I feel that under the increasing stringencies which necessarily are a part of any wartime economy, materials will not be available for public works at anywhere near the level some people contemplated. However, if the war economy should at any time permit, construction can be taken care of under the State Authorities.

I have given a great deal of thought to the problem of raising this $163,000,000 of additional revenue. I have conferred with legislators, with representatives of many groups. and with many individuals, about this problem.

I firmly believe that the financial requirements of the Commonwealth have outgrown our present revenue system. I am firmly convinced the situation demands a broadening of the tax base. To further postpone this imperative step would be the timid answer to political expediency. A sound State financial structure is now essential. We can tolerate no further delay.

Over the years there has grown up a system of selected sales taxes, including the profits of the Liquor Stores, which along with two major taxes on corporations, constitute the bulk of our State revenue system.

As you know, there was a large amount of additional revenue raised in 1947. That was accomplished in a large part by increases in existing taxes, which increases have been continued since that time.

I believe you will agree with me that we have gone as far as we can go in increasing most existing taxes. There are ominous signs that to go further we would reach the point of diminishing returns,, if indeed we have not already passed that point. I am convinced that existing taxes in relation to the taxes in surrounding states are as high as they should be.

The point I want to make here is that we cannot secure $163,000,000 in additional revenue by making all existing taxes top-heavy.

That is the situation at the present time. In recommending a program for additional revenue, I am looking ahead two years, and even beyond that. One of the great increases in State appropriations is that for the public schools. For instance, in the 1945-1947 biennium $125,000,000 was appropriated for public school subsidies, only a part of the amount provided for education. In 1949-1951, $203,000,000 was appropriated for the same purpose. My recommendation for 1951-1953 is $250,000,000—double that of 1945-1947.

Now, let's look forward to the 1955-1957 biennium. School costs, under our existing laws, are estimated to be $96,000,000 above the amount required in the present biennium.

The present taxation system has been stretched to its limit. A new source or new sources are necessary to meet the increasing financial needs of the Commonwealth. In looking for new sources we are circumscribed by the Constitutional provision that all taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. We have considered all possibilities. and have arrived at the decision that an individual flat rate income tax of ½ per cent will distribute the burden most widely and will be the least burdensome to the people of the State. It will fall least heavily upon those who can least afford to pay additional taxes.

The greater part of the need for additional revenue arises from financing the Soldiers' Bonus, Civil Defense, and additional public school subsidies and payments to the Teachers' Retirement Fund. It seems to me that all citizens of this State should share in paying off the Soldiers' Bonus, in paying for Civil Defense, and in helping to pay the cost of educating our children. With the Federal Government rates of income tax from 20 to 91 per cent of our net income—and in all probability they will go higher—I regret that it becomes a necessity to ask this contribution of ½ of 1 per cent from our citizens for these worthy purposes which are so clearly a common responsibility of all of us.

A consideration in recommending this income tax is its anti-inflationary character. Still another consideration is that the tax paid will be deductible in computing tax liability for the Federal income tax. The net effect of this feature will considerably reduce the size of this tax for many taxpayers.

For many years tax study groups in this State have recommended an unincorporated business tax, to help equalize the situation between incorporated and unincorporated businesses to contribute to the support of the State Government. Under this tax the net income of unincorporated business will be included.

In weighing the relative effects of this tax with other broad based taxes, such as general sales and gross receipts, the conclusion is inevitable that with the income tax less harm would be done to business in areas such as Philadelphia and others adjacent to surrounding states, as Delaware, New York and New Jersey, none of which have a sales tax.

An important consideration with any new tax is the problem of collection. Since this income tax would have a withholding tax feature affecting most taxpayers, it has distinct advantages for collection purposes. Moreover, its collection will be aided by a certain amount of correlation between the reported income for this tax and the Federal income tax.

In the consideration of this tax I was aware that it would conflict with the salary and wage tax and tax on net profits of businesses in Philadelphia and a number of other localities. But, in my opinion, the State cannot be excluded from this great field of taxation because some local governments have taken previous action. The State has reserved to local governments a great tax base—real property—and should not be circumscribed to the extent of being excluded from another tax base such as income taxation. Especially is this true when the State is assuming the cost of so many functions of government, the cost of which in other states falls upon local governments, or falls more heavily upon local governments than in this Commonwealth.

This conflict will need, however, the earnest deliberation of the Legislature. The Legislature should give authority to Philadelphia and other local governments to continue their tax along with this State tax. I shall be glad to co-operate with you in solving this problem.

I am also recommending an increase in an existing tax, the Corporate Net Income Tax, because I believe that under the stimulus of defense production and greatly increased Federal taxes corporations can pay that increase in the next two years without undue burden, and I believe that we should keep the income tax on the individual at the lowest possible rate when we consider the whole tax burden which people are now carrying. By increasing the Corporate Net Income Tax one per cent, it appears that we can, with a ½ per cent individual income tax, derive sufficient funds to meet our immediate requirements.

My revenue recommendation in this message is estimated to yield the following amounts:

GENERAL FUND REVENUE AND RECEIPTS

	Actual and Estimated 1949-1951	Estimated 1951-1953	1951-1953 Over or under* 1949-1951
Taxes
Bonus	2,543,000	3,400,000	857,000
Gross Receipts Tax	20,909,500	20,375,000	534,500*
Insurance Premium Tax	23,105,000	20,335,000	2,770,000*
Malt Beverage Tax	46,378,000	46,000,000	378,000*
Legal Documents and Transfer of Securities	1,229,000	1,250,000	21,000
Inheritance Taxes	40,917,000	42,077,609	1,160,609
Cigarette Tax	87,519,000	89,000,000	1,481,000
Liquor Tax	35,557,000	36,800,000	1,243,000
Soft Drink Tax	29,073,000		29,073,000*
Other Taxes, Penalties and Interest	1,759,000	1,299,780	459,720*
Capital Stock, Shares and Loans	115,791,000	121,612,500	5,821,500
Corporate Net Income Tax	149,880,000	220,000,000	70,120,000
Individual Flat Rate Income Tax		119,487,253	119,487,253
Total Taxes	554,661,000	721,637,142	166,976,142
Licenses and Fees	10,979,713	11,410,270	430,557
Fines and Penalties	1,081,398	1,117,880	36,482
Miscellaneous Revenue	11,197,889	9,987,110	1,210,779*
Institutional Reimbursements	20,580,000	19,334,971	1,245,029*
Liquor Store Profits	80,000,000	80,000,000
Total	678,500,000	843,487,373	164,987,373

The increase in the existing Corporate Net Income Tax from 4 per cent to 5 per cent is estimated to yield $44,000,000, which is just slightly higher than the amount estimated for each per cent of the existing 4 per cent tax for the fiscal year 1950-1951.

The individual income tax recommended is a flat rate tax of ½ of 1 per cent, and estimated to raise $119,000,000 for the 1951-1953 biennium. A bill will be submitted to you shortly which will provide for a comprehensive system for the levy and collection of an annual tax upon the income of residents of Pennsylvania, subject to deductions permitted by the Constitution, and upon the income received by non-residents from property owned or from any business or occupation carried on within this State. Provision will be made for the withholding of this tax on salaries and wages. The Department of Revenue will be charged with the administration and enforcement of the Act.

The amount of the tax for different amounts of income would be as follows:

Table of Flat Rate Income Tax

Income	Tax at ½ Per Cent	Income	Tax at ½ Per Cent
$ 1,000	$ 5.00	6,000	$30.00
2,000	10.00	7,000	35.00
3,000	15.00	8,000	40.00
4,000	20.00	9,000	45.00
5,000	25.00	10,000	50.00

I have explained to you that the common functions of government to be carried out require a large amount of additional revenue, most of which is the result of legislative mandates prior to this Administration. I have recommended the measures which I consider best for all of our taxpayers, consonant with good fiscal practices. However, if you should arrive at a better solution of this problem with sufficient additional revenue, you would have my cooperation.

The PRESIDENT. Governor Fine on behalf of the General Assembly I wish to thank you for your message.

The committee on the part of the Senate and the House of Representatives will escort His Excellency, the Governor to his chambers.

The business for which the Joint Session of the General Assembly was convened, having been completed, I declare this Joint Session adjourned. The Senators will please reassemble in the Senate chamber.

THE SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) IN THE CHAIR.

PROCEEDINGS OF JOINT SESSION TO BE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. GEER. RESOLUTION No. 23.

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1951.

Whereas, Problems relative to the family, to divorce, to non-support, and to the custody of children are of the essence of our social order; and

Whereas, Criticism and complaint concerning the adjudication of domestic problems in Allegheny County have been expressed to a degree that a general dissatisfaction with the disposition of such cases has become manifest; and

Whereas, A specialized treatment of domestic matters by courts separately organized with competent personnel for the same has been in popular and effective vogue in other jurisdictions; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized to study the advisibility and to examine the expediency of the establishment of a Domestic Relations Court in Allegheny County for the exclusive purpose of determining all actions arising from divorce, custody, non-support, and other domestic relations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. BLAIR. RESOLUTION No. 24.

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1951.

Whereas, For almost two years the Fort Le Boeuf Chapter of the Daughters of American Colonists and interested citizens of the Borough of Waterford have maintained and staffed the Fort Le Boeuf Memorial, a new historic property of the Commonwealth, which was acquired too late for provision to be made for it in the last general appropriation; and

Whereas, They have improved and kept open to the public a historic shrine which is significant as the scene of George Washington's first service to his country, as the site of the first French fort in the headwaters of the Allegheny, and as a center for the settlement of Northwestern Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, Such examples of citizens acting to help the State without compensation or credit are unfortunately all too rare; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its thanks to the members of the Fort Le Boeuf Chapter of the Daughters of American Colonists and to the citizens of the Borough of Waterford, Erie County, for maintaining and caring for the Commonwealth property at Fort Le Boeuf Memorial until a State appropriation could be made available, and cites them as an unusual example of people acting to aid in a State undertaking; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be directed to send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Cynthia Ensworth, Regent of Fort Le Boeuf Chapter of the Daughters of American Colonists, and to Mr. Fred Giesler, Burgess of Waterford.

Referred to Committee on Rules.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 545, entitled:

An Act to amend Subsection (f) of Section 302 of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" by providing that employers' reserve accounts shall not be charged with compensation paid to certain employes.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROBERTSON offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 302), page 4, line 4, by inserting after the word "based" the following:
"And Provided further, That no compensation shall be charged to the account of any base year employer under the provisions of this subsection unless such base year employer was also the last employer by whom the compensated employe was employed prior to the date on which he filed his valid application for benefits. Nothing herein contained shall affect the rate or amount of benefits to which a claimant may be entitled under the provisions of Article IV of this act, based upon the claimant's entire base year wages."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be trnscribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 77, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 319 of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled, as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; and prescribing penalties," by changing the employer's right of subrogation.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. DOWLING offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 319), page 2, line 10, by striking out the bracket before the word "where."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 319), page 2, line 13, by inserting a backet before the word "for."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 319), page 2, lines 16, 17 and 18, by striking out "] Where a third person is liable to the employe or the" in line 16, and both of lines 17 and 18.

"Reasonable attorney's fees and other proper disbursements incurred in any litigation or in effecting a compromise settlement shall be prorated between the employer and employe, his personal representative, his estate or his dependents."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. DOWLING offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of title, by striking out all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof:
"by providing for the proration of attorney's fees and expenses in subrogation cases."

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous censent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today a legislative child has been born. apparently born of confusion, sired by indecision, with misinformation attending as the midwife. However, judging by the happy faces I see and by the tumultuous applause, I would gather that this child if indeed not indirectly sired by the majority Members by some sort of artificial insemination that it was at least a welcome advent.

I would gather from the statements made by His Excellency, the Governor, that you had all been consulted, that one by one you had travelled into the office of the Chief Executive and almost on bended knee had said "For God's sake, Governor, give us a flat income tax."

This particular proposal has been a well kept secret. Either you were bound by some sort of unusual understanding, the Governor was mistaken, or the members of the majority party are the most pronounced prevaricators I ever saw. Because last night I circulated among Members of this House whom I have learned to regard as leaders and I asked "What is likely to be the name of the baby that will be born tomorrow?" And one by one, with the most honest look that I ever saw in the eyes of a Republican, they said "So help me Heaven, I don't know. I don't have the faintest idea of what the Governor is going to propose; I have not been consulted."

Now it was not necessary, I presume the way we operate, that you should have been consulted. Perhaps it is not yours to question why; yours just to do and die, and come up to the mark and say "That is it."

I did not arise primarily for the purpose of discussing the budget this morning. I wanted to comment on the fact that we have on our shoulders a billion two hundred and some million dollars as an over-all budget.

We have met intermittently since the first of January. We meet today without benefit of advice from the Budget Office. I have consulted with more than one Republican leader to ask to what extent the Budget Office was co-operating with the Members of this House in enabling us to reach a clear conclusion as to the financial situation, the needs of our Commonwealth, and I have been told by your Republican leaders that the more they talked to the Budget Officer the more they were confused.

This budget reminds me of the method used to balance one of Governor Martin's budgets. They wrangled and they worried and finally the Budget Officer said "I'll tell you what we will do; how we will balance the budget. We will just lop $21 million off the expenditures, and we will boost estimated receipts by $69 million and that will balance the budget."

A casual survey of this budget would lead me to suspect that that same method was used in balancing this budget.

Now we have a billion two hundred million on our shoulders. Two years from now the billion two hundred million may be a billion four hundred million, and we will meet presumably under the same situation of unpreparedness, of inability to cope with the deceptions, the persistent misinformation which it has been the policy of the Budget Office to disseminate—and every leader on the other side knows it.

I think that this General Assembly should do something to establish its own position as a coordinate branch of our state government, and as a step in that direction I am introducing a bill for which I would like to have Republican co-sponsorship.

I have not sought Republican co-sponsorship for this bill up until this time, but I am going to drop this bill into the hopper, and before I do, if there is any Member on the other side of the House that cares to co-sponsor it I would be glad to welcome his cooperation.

This bill will be accompanied by a resolution. The bill simply provides for an annual salary of Members of this House of five thousand dollars a year, and the resolution declares it to be the sense of the General Assembly that the House and Senate should convene in annual session.

It is my conviction that only by establishing a salary schedule that will make it possible for the Members of this House to devote an increased amount of time to the considerations of the problems that face us, and only by meeting in annual session will we ever be able to pass intelligently upon budgets carrying a billion, two hundred million.

You have heard some discussion concerning who is right and who is wrong concerning their estimates as to what new money would be needed at this session. For myself and for the Minority in the Senate I can say that the published record shows declarations upon the floor of this House that we both said that when this day arrived the amount of new money that would probably be needed would be $160 million.

I made that statement over a year ago, and it was the figure that I used throughout the campaign. I was not deluded by Harold Stassen who said we would need 300 million; I was not deluded by Jay Cook, who said we would need 350 million. Nor did it happen that I was deluded by any Democratic leader who also might have thought,—probably following the leadership of Stassen and Cook and others,—that the figure would be 300 million.

But we did say, and all of our leaders said, that it is time we found out something concerning the incidence of taxes in the Commonwealth; that it is time we found out what the Federal taxes, the local taxes, the State taxes meant to business, meant to the individual taxpayer, and it is time that we endeavor to establish a scientific tax by means of an inquiry that would show the relative amounts that the various taxpayers in the Commonwealth are now paying. Is business overtaxed, is it undertaxed? Is the consumer overtaxed, or is he undertaxed?

Now, the so-called normal taxes—I may not have the exact figures I am using them principally from memory, I think I am approximately right—the normal taxes, and various taxes on business bring us in somewhere between $240 million and $250 million. Then the emergency taxes —and the emergency taxes with the exception of the capital stock tax are consumer taxes—raise probably $315 million.

Then we have the liquor store income, which is also a consumer tax. That comes along with $80 million. Now, I do not know, and I am not prepared to say this morning, that the consumer is overtaxed as compared with business, but I say that when you have a Federal income tax and you have a local wage tax and you come along with a flat state income tax, it is high time that we begin making a scientific inquiry as to who actually is paying these taxes. What amount of all the taxes that we levy on business stays put?

We will have more to say about this general situation as the days go by. I am just wondering how much of the program that the people thought they were buying at the last election has been scrapped. I am not one of those who favor economy at any price. I believe that good schools are worth what they cost. I believe that an over-all sound health program is worth what it costs. There are other essential services that are worth what they cost.

But there are other things that have been promised—I wonder, maybe the Majority floor leader could tell me. On September 30, 1950 there was a specific promise made that there would be financial aid to economically stricken coal communities by means of a revolving fund. The nawspaper story said:

> "In a rally last night at Scranton, a former Superior Court judge proposed a revolving state fund to provide funds for communities desperately in need in order to invite industry to them."

Quite likely that has gone by the board,—I do not know. If that is not rue, if it is in works. Well—that will be that.

Then I have another, on October 26 the judge said that Pennsylvania is going forward with low-cost housing projects so that poor citizens may have a decent place in which to live. Now has that proud and glowing promise been scrapped? Has the revolving fund for the hard coal communities been scrapped? I think we ought to know.

Those are things to be balanced against other needs of the state. Perhaps they do not have any place in an over-all program. I am wondering whether the Committee on Education is satisfied with the program that has been outlined. I say that if the Committee on Education and the Members of this House are not satisfied with the amount of the increase for education it is our business to find a little more money somewhere for education.

The proposal is that we have a budget, we have a tax program. We do not have expert advice upon which to rely and so our duty becomes one of rubber-stamping the budget and rubber-stamping the tax program, permitting the Executive to write in its entirety a legislative program.

I thank the Members of the House for their interest and if there is not any Republic who will put his name on this bill with me, which is designed to increase the salaries of Members of the House, I will send it up all by myself. I am not committing any member of the minority party to support this proposal. Anyway apparently there are no volunteers on the other side. Well perhaps, gentlemen, you are worth exactly the price you place upon yourselves.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman be kind enough to hold that bill, and if he desires any sponsors of this side of the House it may be he can get them.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. Oh, gladly, gladly.

Mr. SMITH. I was afraid, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman would agree.

In regard to the gentleman's bill, I think he would probably have to ask first of all for unanimous consent to have the entire membership of the House sign the bill. I do not believe there is enough room on the front page, nor has he given us sufficient time. So I would suggest that he hold the bill up for a few days, if that is his offer, and maybe he will find he has more sponsors than he realizes.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would I be permitted to place this bill in the keeping of the Majority Leader as trustee?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman really trusts me and if he trusts me to that extent, I will keep it right here in my desk under lock and key, with permission for him to check on it day by day.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith assumes a grave fiduciary responsibility.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have a resolution which is not very long and I would crave the privilege of reading it.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the reading of the resolution? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Mr. ANDREWS. Whereas, the problems awaiting legislative action are continually arising, and especially during a period of uncertainty and change; and

"Whereas, the present practice of offering a biennial solution to the legislative complexities that accumulate during an interim term too frequently precludes the responsive action required by public necessity; and

"Whereas, the periodic peak loads of accelerated activity that are thrust upon the governmental departments and bureaus not only dislocate their normal work routine but cause inconvenience and uneasiness to their personnel and occasionally engender short tempers in all; therefore be it

"Resolved, That it is the considered opinion of the House and the Senate that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania shall convene annually to take the pulse of public thought, to precuss its basic trends of action, and to remedy current exigencies promptly before they can crystallize into chronic complaints."

The SPEAKER. This is not a privileged resolution and will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would first like to ask the gentleman a question.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask mine first.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask mine first.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to decide.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I bow to the gentleman if he would prefer asking his question first as long as he has the floor.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, has the Majority Leader any idea as to how many of my resolutions are sewed up in that Rules Committee at the present time?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I probably do not know the number but I would say all of them. The gentleman would know the number better than I.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman inquire how many dead people there are in the cemetary?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, on some future occasion that remark will deserve a seething commentary.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will wait anxiously.

Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he is asking for joint sponsorship of his resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am. I would appreciate it.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if he will take it away from the desk and pass it over to my desk, I will also take trusteeship of that.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would so request.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Governor himself has made a statement to that effect and that is one of the reasons for our offering a constitutional convention bill. There is definitely a need for annual sessions to be held; it is a difficult thing to budget our needs for a two year period, and if the gentleman would like to pass the resolution over, he possibly can have joint sponsorship on that too.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I accept the gentleman's offer to act as trustee with thanks.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman withdraw his resolution for the purpose of adding additional sponsors?

Mr. ANDREWS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has covered a lot of territory this morning. I am very much afraid, because of lack of time, that I will not be able to answer all of his questions. However, there are some of his statements that I am at this time in position to answer.

First of all, I would like to say that I think the gentleman has a bad viewpoint as to the kind of a child that has been sponsored by the Republican party. He insinuates it might not be just quite legitimate. It is. We are going to be proud of it. The tax basis that has been offered today, I am sure, he will agree is fair and just. It broadens the tax base.

It is an easily collected tax. The gentleman has even admitted himself that it is a painless tax. I am quite sure that before this session ends we will be proud of its parentage. He knows that we need new taxes—I think we all know that.

The gentleman has made reference to statements that were made prior to September. I am quite sure that if he will refer—and I am sure he has a copy of it—to the platform of the Democratic party he will definitely see that it states that there will be a Republican deficit.

I would like to remind him that the budget now has an estimate of a surplus of $10 million—no deficit.

The gentleman claims that he hit $150 or $160 million on the head. I admire him for his ability. I think he has great ability in budget affairs, but I would suggest that he pass on some of that judgment to some of the members of his party. Evidently he was right and the candidates of his party were entirely wrong. They mentioned definitely $300 million would be needed in additional funds.

They even went so far, the latter part of October, one of the very top candidates of his party, to say that there would be a $350 million need for new taxes.

The Governor today brought that out in his message. If the gentleman was right in his statement I admire him, but I do not think the candidates of his party should have ignored by what he said and put something in the platform, their own platform, admitting that there would definitely be a deficit.

In regard to the revolving fund, I understand that there is today in the House a bill on the subject and the Committee is making a study of it. That is the only answer I can give to the gentleman. If he will look it up he will see that there is such a bill.

If the gentleman desires answers on those other questions, I am sure that at a later date we can get together and I will be able to give him the answers that I am sure will satisfy him that we of the majority party are serving the public of the State.

We in the Republican party are not trying to hide anything. If we have erred in any of our statements—and we probably did prior to the campaign, we are admitting our error. I think it would be just as nice if the minority party would admit its error when it said there would be a deficit and that $300 million of new taxes would be needed. We have a surplus and only need $163 million. We are going to submit a tax program that is a fair and equitable tax program, and as I have suggested, we will be proud of the child that was born today.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 160 as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 198) entitled "An act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof" by conferring upon said court certain jurisdiction in the trial of criminal causes and suits for penalties granting powers to said court for trial of such causes and suits conferring powers and imposing duties on the clerk of courts of Allegheny county and providing for the disposition of fees the appointment of officers and employes and for jurors

Section 3 Section 8 of said act as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 535) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 8. (a) In any case brought in this court in which the parties are entitled by the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth to a trial by jury, the plaintiff, if he desires a trial by a jury, shall, at the time of filing his statement, indorse thereon, or file separately, a written demand for a jury trial, in substantially the words, "Jury trial demanded," signed by himself or his counsel, and, if no such demand is made by the plaintiff, but a trial by jury is desired by the defendant, he shall in like form, at the time of filing his answer, demand a trial by jury (except a municipality, not being required to file an answer, shall, when defendant, make its demand at least three days exclusive of Sunday before the time fixed for the hearing by the writ). If neither party shall make a demand in writing for a trial by jury, he shall be deemed to have waived his right to trial by jury, and the court shall proceed to try the case without a jury. The party making demand for trial by jury may withdraw the same with the written consent of the other side, filed in the case, and the parties shall be deemed to have waived their right to trial by jury, and the court or any judge thereof may proceed to try the case without a jury the same as if the demand had never been made.

(b) Cases tried by the court without a jury shall be tried under such rules of procedure as the court shall prescribe: Provided, That at the trial in the county court of cases before a judge, without a jury, either party may present to the trial judge such requests for findings of law or fact as he may desire, which requests shall be answered by the trial judge; to which answer either party may, within the time prescribed by the court, except; and thereupon such requests for findings and the answers of the court thereto shall become part of the record. The testimony shall be taken stenographically at the expense of the county, and transcribed at the expense of the party desiring such transcript, or at the expense of the county, if the court so orders; and such testimony, when transcribed and certified by the trial judge, shall also become part of the record.

(c) When a jury trial is demanded by either party, the court shall direct trial by jury in the manner now provided by law, [the jurors to be summoned and paid as they are for the courts of common pleas of said county: Provided, further, That when a jury trial is demanded the court] and shall make a separate list of such cases, from time to time, as are put at issue and proceed to the trial and determination of said cases at the county-seat. It shall be the duty of the proper officers of Allegheny County to provide such jurors for service in the County Court as may from time to time be requested by order of the president judge, or as may be fixed by general order of the president judge. Jurors shall be summoned as provided by law, and shall receive the same compensation and be subject to the same duties and liabilities as jurors summoned to serve in the courts of common pleas of said county.

Section 4 Said act is hereby amended by adding after section 14 thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 14.1 It shall be the duty of the presiding judge of said court to assign sufficient judges to the trial of criminal cases so that all cases exclusively triable in the said court in which prosecutions may be begun therein or which may be brought therein for trial by the district attorney shall be tried and disposed of as soon as possible after indictment found

It shall be the duty of the district attorney of said county to prosecute all cases in which prosecutions have been begun in the County Court or which have been returned to court by aldermen or justices of the peace for trial and which are exclusively triable in the County Court or which the district attorney elects to try in said court Fees and costs shall be allowed and imposed by said court in criminal cases as fixed by law in cases arising in the courts of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace in Allegheny County

In desertion and nonsupport cases there shall be no preliminary hearings but the person accused shall be immediately brought before the court for trial

Except as modified by this act or by its own rules duly adopted by a majority of the judges the practice and procedure shall be the same in the County Court in all matters of which it has jurisdiction as in similar matters prosecuted and determined in courts of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace of the county of Allegheny

Section 5 Section 15 of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 15 The said court shall have power to establish rules for the conduct of business of the court and from time to time alter and change the same but no rule shall require the parties to file written pleadings other than as required by the provisions of this act Subject to the provisions of this act the court shall have all the powers of a court of quarter sessions of the peace and oyer and terminer in the county of Allegheny including the power to issue writs of habeas corpus Any clerk of said court shall be empowered to administer oaths or affirmations

Section 6. The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The title of the act aproved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 458) entitled as amended "An act creating as bodies corporate and politic "Parking Authorities" in cities of the first second second A and third classes prescribing the rights powers and duties of such authorities authorizing such authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate parking projects to conduct research of the parking problem and to establish a permanent coordinated system of parking facilities and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such authorities empowering such authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government State political subdivisions of the State or any agency thereof exempting the property and securities of such parking authorities from taxation and conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates" as amended by the act approved the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 969) is hereby further amended to read as follows

An Act

Creating as bodies corporate and politic "Parking Authorities" in cities of the first second second A and third classes boroughs and townships of the first class prescribing the rights powers and duties of such authorities authorizing such authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate parking projects to conduct research of the parking problem and to establish a permanent coordinated system of parking facilities and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such authorities empowering such authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government State political subdivisions of the State or any agency thereof exempting the property and securities of such parking authorities from taxation and conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates

Section 2 Section two and subsections (a) and (b) of section four of said act section two and subsection (a) of section four which were amended by the act approved the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 969) are hereby amended or further amended to read as follows

Section 2 Findings and Declaration of Policy

It is hereby determined and declared as a matter of Legislative finding.

(a) That residential decentralization in cities of the first second second A and third classes boroughs and townships of the first class has been accompanied by an ever increasing trend in the number of persons entering the business sections by private automobile as compared with other modes of transportation

(b) That the free circulation of traffic of all kinds through the streets of cities of the first second second A and third classes boroughs and townships of the first class is necessary to the health safety and general welfare of the public whether residing in the city borough or township of the first class or traveling to through or from the city borough or township of the first class in the course of lawful pursuits

(c) That the greatly increased use by the public of motor vehicles of all kinds has caused serious traffic congestion on the streets of cities of the first second second A and third classes boroughs and townships of the first class

(d) That the parking of motor vehicles on the streets has contributed to this congestion to such an extent as to interfere seriously with the primary use of such streets for the movement of traffic

(e) That such parking prevents the free circulation of traffic in through and from the city borough or township of the first class impedes rapid and effective fighting of fires and the disposition of police forces in the district and endangers the health safety and welfare of the general public

(f) That such parking threatens irreparable loss in valuations of property in the city borough or township of the first class which can no longer be readily reached by vehicular traffic

(g) That this parking crisis which theratens the welfare of the community can be reduced by providing sufficient off-street parking facilities properly located in the several residential commercial and industrial areas of the city borough or township of the first class

(h) That the establishment of a parking authority will promote the public safety convenience and welfare

(i) That it is intended that the authority cooperate with all existing parking facilities so that private enterprise and government may mutually provide adequate parking services for the convenience of the public

Therefore it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to promote the safety and welfare of the inhabitants thereof by the creation in first second second A and third class cities boroughs and townships of the first class of bodies corporate and politic to be known as "Parking Authorities" which shall exist and operate for the purposes contained in this act Such purposes are hereby declared to be public uses for which public money may be spent and private property may be acquired by the exercise of the power of eminent domain

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to addres the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Lane and myself I present the following resolution, and I wish the Senate would listen to it while it is read because I think it is of vast importance. I might add at this time that last week as we went over to hear the Governor's Budget Address, I had a folder on my desk dealing with this subject and I do not know just how to say it, but anyhow the folder disappeared and my memory is pretty good and I can remember a number of things that were in this folder.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

URGING THAT A COMMITTEE OF SENATORS BE APPOINTED TO CONDUCT INVESTIGATION OF THE STATUS OF THE KEYSTONE MUTUAL CASUALTY COMPANY

Messrs. BARR and LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, March 26, 1951.

Whereas, The Keystone Mutual Casualty Company, at the suggestion of the Attorney General was declared insolvent and ordered liquidated on June 26, 1947; and

Whereas, It appeared from the results an independent audit ordered by the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Dauphin that the Company is now and was in 1947 substantially solvent; and

Whereas, The public press has carried numerous stories of the conflicting claims to this controversy; and

Whereas, After four (4) years the Insurance Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, charged with the liquidation of this Company, has accomplished no visible results; and now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania, through the office of the President pro-tem appoint a committee of Senators to conduct a general investigation of the status of the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company, and present its findings and recommendations to the Senate for action previous to their adjournment.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WATKINS, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 26, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 2, 1951, at three o'clock, p. m., E.S.T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconcene on Monday, April 2, 1951, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m., E.S.T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION

STATE POLICE TO REMOVE RESTRICTED SPEED SIGNS ERECTED WITHOUT THE APPROVAL OF THE SECRETARY OF HIGHWAYS

Mr. SNOWDEN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 26, 1951.

Whereas, "The Vehicle Code" authorizes the establishment of restricted speed zones on the roads and streets of the Commonwealth in certain cases and under certain conditions, by either Local Authorities or by the Secretary of Highways, and

Whereas, In certain cases Local Authorities are required to secure the approval of the Secretary of Highways before restricted speed zones may be established, and

Whereas, Many signs designating restricted speed zones have been erected in areas and at locations which, in the eyes of the users of the highways, do not warrant restricted speeds; therefore be it

Resolved, That the State Police make a survey of all restricted speed zones and signs on State Highways, and direct the removal of all restricted speed signs which have been erected without the aproval of the Secretary of Highways and submit a report to the Secretary of Highways relative to any existing restrictive speed zones in which the restriction of speed does not appear to be warranted, and be it further

Resolved, That it is the intent of the Senate that restricted speed zones should be established only when necessary for the safety of the public, and that unwarranted or unlawful existing restricted speed zones be eliminated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before going into the next order of business, I desire permission at this time to make a statement for the record.

Mr. President, the question of the needs of the Commonwealth for the next biennium is one that poses a grave problem to the Members of the General Assembly. In order that we have some record from which we may be able to discuss the matter in future debate, if any, upon the subject of the Budget, over the Easter week end I have tried to put down on paper my impressions of the Budget and the problems that face us.

This is the beiennium of 1951-1953. We are again faced with the eternal, biennial question of raising taxes and juestifying our position to the people of the Commonwealth.

I refuse to believe, even in the face of history, that it is impossible to change a budget message of the Governor or to cut the cost of government by logic, fact and courage.

It appears to be an established custom in Pennsylvania for the Legislature to accept carte blanche the Executive's Budget and tax recommendation.

I have been accused over the past three bienniums of making an unsound appraisal of the State's revenues. Just for the record, let us take a look into the past for a guide to the future.

Knowing beforehand how little of what I say will reach the average citizen, I am reserving the right to extemporize as I proceed when necessary to more clearly illustrate a significant point in this analysis. This phase of our Budget battle is the saddest of all, the inability to reach the people with Democratic Minority's viewpoint. However, that will not dampen our spirits, nor will it dull the edge of our pruning knife. We will give what we think is an honest appraisal, and to show our sincerity we, herewith, request public hearings upon the revenues, expenditures and the entire Budge before action is taken on the Governor's Wage and Income Tax proposal.

As I noted before, I have given previous analyses to the Senate in prior bienniums. Let us see how our figures compared then and now.

Since 1943, we have, in speaking for the Minority, charged that a deliberate misrepresentation of revenues and expenditures has been contained in the Budget Messages. The figures prior to that are not at my command at the moment, but I remember distinctly the number of times we have attempted to get into the daily press a truer picture of the financial structure in Pennsylvania than the Budget Message contains.

Every biennium I have analyzed tax by tax, expenditure by expenditure, and we have, at least to the satisfaction of the record, been consistent in our position of an underestimation of real tax revenues.

The record briefly stated is this:

The 1947-1949 Budget Message said total revenues available would be (Page 46—13th Message 1947) $558,018,209.

The actual revenue collected in 1947-1949 (this is revenue and not income) Page 45—15th Message 1951, was $647,467,266.78, or a difference of $89,349.057 in General Fund Revenues. (Budget analysis by Dent, 1947).

This figure of $89,000,000 plus is in line with my prediction at that time, which was widely ridiculed upon the Floor, that the Budget Director was underestimating the income by approximately $80,000,000.

The figures for 1949-1951 are just as interesting. However, an actual picture will not be obtainable until the 1953 biennial Message, due to the practice of carrying estimates and actuals for the entire budget period of two full bienniums before actual returns are available for legislative study. That, my friends, is one of the greatest weaknesses in our system of appropriating money in the state of Pennsylvania. However, the figures available at the printing of the 1951 Budget, and mind you, it may go back as far as January, 1951, there are still six good income producing months available in this biennium, but we find that even at this early date, the misrepresentation in revenue available for the 1949-1951 biennium is actually $25,500,000 over the Budget Director's estimates. I have said before and I will say now that it will reach $100,000,000 before the biennium is over.

If these biennium figures are true to form, then the margin of misrepresentation and underestimation of revenues will be even greater than the amount proved in the 1947-1949 period.

To show that this is not a hit-and-miss analysis by the Minority, let us take a quick look at the figures for 1945-1947.

General Fund Revenues. The estimate on page 53 of the 12th Message 1945, gives an estimate of $369,000,000. Actual revenues received, as contained on page 47 of the 15th Message 1951, shows $432,556,667, or an underestimation of $63,556,557. It may be that some of you can excuse a $63,000,000 miss as an everyday occurrence in government, but actually, Members of this Senate, if these underestimates were not deliberate, the need for new taxation would not have arisen every two years. I can prove this again, if you will be tolerant and give me your attention, when I take the Governor's Message and biennium budget for 1951-1953.

On January 2, 1945, Governor Martin said, and I quote, "Estimated receipts for 1945-1947 are $80,500,000 below the estimated receipts for the present biennium." He said then that we would receive $80,000,000 less in the 1945-1947 biennium than what had been estimated the previous biennium. If your memory is clear, I remember distinctly, and you should remember that I stood upon this Floor and said that that figure was exaggerated. However, let us see what the record shows. The record shows, the actual picture shows that the difference was a little over $16,000,000, giving Governor Martin a cushion of $64,000,000. It seems like a waste of time for me to further illustrate the point, but even so, the truth will eventually seep down to the ordinary citizens of this Commonwealth, and when they find out what has been going on for many years here in Harrisburg, they may demand the public hearings we are pleading for.

Mr. President, I say again by way of emphasis that no new wage or income tax is needed in Pennsylvania this year. I will prove this beyond a shadow of a doubt before the Senate votes on this tax bill, if you are willing to have it proved to you.

These figures do not include the Motor License Fund. For purposes of developing the picture of underestimation of revenues, for the specific and premediated purpose of increasing revenue sources on the part of the Administration the following figures give the actual difference between total estimates and total income.

Governor Martin's 1945-1947 Budget Message said, that the estimate for that biennium would be $708,316,703. The actual amount of money collected by this Commonwealth was $848,965,657, or a difference or so-called surplus over and above the estimate, of $140,648,844.

Governor Duff's 1947-1949 Budget Message stated the total estimate of revenue available for that biennium was $954,968,321. The actual income for that period in Pennsylvania was $1,108,840,446, or a difference of $143,872,125.

Now, let us take the latest figures that we can possibly secure. Governor Duff's 1949-1951 Budget Message said the total estimate of revenue available for that biennium would be $1,030,404,651. The actual revenues received, or the total income of the Commonwealth, was $1,253,438,513, or an underestimation of revenues and total income of $223,033,852.

Mr. President, the foregoing figures prove that when the Democratic Minority took their position against new taxes, they were justfied by the record. The same will hold true today.

Every Governor seems to be at the mercy of his financial advisers. Governor Fine in his address on March 21, 1951, said, and I quote: "The most severe criticism that can be leveled against those upon whom I relied for advice in fiscal affairs last year, and whose counsel I followed, is that they were overly optimistic."

Gentlemen, you cannot keep following these same advisers and escape the just criticism you will deserve, if you pass an unneeded wage and income tax in this Session of the Legislature.

Mr. President, the 1951-1953 Budget and its weaknesses, as I see them, and as we agree they are, are:

First, in this section of my discussion, I want to deflate the ego of any person who thinks that he or she has performed a major pruning operation on the 1951 Budget appropriations in regard to departmental expenditures. Governmental operations, other than subsidies, show the following comparison. I will only read round figures.

1943, $98,000,000; 1945, $120,000,000; 1947, $163,000,000; 1949, $195,000,000; 1951, $214,000,000.

These are expenditures over and above subsidies. These are governmental operation figures, an increase since the 1943-1945 biennium of $116,000,000 or about 120 per cent increase in operational administrative cost of government; and increase over the last biennium of $19,000,000 or about ten per cent increase over the last biennium. This increase, in spite—in spite, mind you— of non-recurring appropriations for specific departments, such as $600,000 saved in the Department of Property and Supplies by virtue of the fact that the State had given up its vacations for boys at Indiantown Gap, that was financed so timely by the taxpayers during the Duff campaign. Also a reduction of over $10,000,000 to the Department of Forests and Waters for construction and land purchases taken over by the General State Authority.

As an example of the increases that just sneak up on the budget makers is a $50,000 increase to $600,000 for the Governor's salary and expenses, and that, mind you, in the face of the fact that as to the expenses of the Legislators, when it was proposed that they get an increase of $50 a month of expense money in this day and age, we were told that that was impossible, because it would cost $50,000 a biennium and that we did not have the money, but that $50,000 being one-half actually of the expenses of the Governor's office. Then there is an increase of $15,000 for our Honorable President of the Senate, or up to $48,000.

This is true all along the line in administrative offices, and if you do not think it so, just read the Budget.

However, there is a reduction in one department, and you can guess which one that is. Yes, the Legislative Department has a nice little reduction. This can easily be understood when you note that the salary schedule in the Senate in 1951 is exactly the same as when I came here in 1935. It seems that government is dear for some people and dear to others. The Auditor General must also be in the "doghouse," because his is the only department of government whose expenses are maintained at the status quo.

Mr. President, I do not intend to take the time to really pot shoot this Budget. I do not intend to take the time of the Senate to read what I found out after spending two full days looking at it, but I suggest to you Members of the Senate, before you give any Governor, Democratic or Republican, a carte blanche on revenues and expenditures, you look into the departments.

The only difference that I can find in Governor Duff's so-called emergency taxes and Governor Fine's emergency taxes is the dropping of the pop tax of twenty-nine millions, as they put it, and putting on a one per cent additional corporate net income tax. Is it not about time that we as men make these taxes permanent, either change our tax structure or get away from this business of coming in here ever since the Earle Administration, when we carried the brunt of passing the emergency taxes to feed the people of Pennsylvania, when the budget items at that time were sixty-five per cent for relief needs alone and today it has dwindled down to where in this budget it amounts to a little over twelve per cent of the whole budget, and yet you are still carrying the same taxes and calling them emergency taxes. What is the emergency? Government itself must be the emergency.

Now, Mr. President, if this is true, and the budget so states, and if his statement concerning future outlook has any merit, Governor Fine ought to have an income of at least fifteen million dollars more than Governor Duff had for the present biennium. However, you cannot have a fair analysis of income revenue if you talk out of both sides of your mouth at the same time. On Page 13, and I think it is interesting that you read that page of the Governor's Message, dated March 21, 1951, we find the following statement and I quote:

"The increase in the existing corporate net income tax from four per cent to five per cent is estimated to yield $44,000,000, which is just slightly higher than the amount estimated for each per cent of the existing four per cent tax for the fiscal year of 1950-1951."

Mr. President, this tax yields by historical fact between thirty-eight and forty-five million dollars per cent of tax—this is my own statement that I have arrived at after studying the past five biennial budgets—per cent of tax depending upon industrial activities. The public assistance rolls rise and fall about the same as the tax yield in corporate net income. That is why we find in Governor Fine's message some seventy million dollars less allowed for relief in this biennium.

Now, Mr. President, the Governor states it is sixty million dollars net. It is sixty million dollars less, counting the amount shown from 1949 to 1951, plus or rather compared to his specific amount of budgeting. However, there are ten million dollars in the fore part of the budget that he said he will use out of so-called surplus before the end of the biennium, giving a total expenditure of two hundred six million dollars for public relief, as compared to one hundred thirty-six million that the Governor has in this Budget. That is seventy million dollars of non-recurring expense according to his Budget

Mr. President, going back to Governor Fine's Message, let us look at Page 12 for the same days relief. There we find an interesting summation of revenues for General Fund purposes. This shows a total revenue from the corporate net income tax of two hundred twenty million dollars or seventy million dollars more than was available for the Duff Administration in the field of taxation, or about forty-one million dollars more than the Duff taxes, with the pop tax eliminated.

The question comes back to the added expense of government or mandated expenses that Governor Fine falls heir to.

First we have approximately one hundred twelve million dollars of mandated increases in appropriations for the Soldiers' bonus, schools, and General State Authority rentals. This appears to be the figure accepted by the Governor and by most of the Legislators I have discussed this problem with. I will accept that figure for purposes of comparison. If this is true, then we shall see how much real difference there is between this item of need and how much is available from revenue sources already accounted for.

First, Mr. President, let us take the extras. We pick up and I go back to the sixty million dollar figure, allowing the Governor the ten million dollar cushion. We pick up the sixty million dollars not allocated to relief. Second, we pick up approximately sixteen million dollars of non-recurring appropriations to the Schuylkill River Project. Third, we pick up fifteen million dollars more of non-recurring appropriations for public housing. Fourth, we pick up at least nine million dollars which is not contained in the budget, nine million dollars from the Federal Government for categorical relief which we have never received in Pennsylvania, giving at least nine million dollars in that Department more than we had in the Duff Administration. Next, we pick up four million dollars in miscellaneous revenue from the Garrett Estate that is contained in the Budget, but not contained in revenues. This gives us a total of $104,000,000 of non-recurring and miscellaneous revenues for for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania over and above the amount of revenue that Governor Duff had from 1949 to 1951.

That is significant and important if you are really interested in the revenues of the Commonwealth. $104,000,000 of actual cash that we will have more than what was had by Governor Duff, and if you take the $112,000,000 of mandated expenses, you only have a difference of $8,000,000 in the entire picture, but let us look at the picture, let us face the civilian defense proposition.

Mr. President, the Governor proposes an expendidture of $20,000,000 or does he propose an expediture of $20,000,000? The people believe that we need $20,000,000 for defense, the people and the papers so say, but did they read the Message? He says that $20,000,000 is going to be held in reserve, but he said that $1,200,000 of it would be used for expenses of administration of civilian defense. I figured out pretty well. I am a Member of the Commission. If they spend it justly, and honestly and equitably, I expect to get $120,000, a lot more than I ever had, and I might need some defense before the Kefauver Committee. However, there is $1,200,000 which he said must be used for administrative expenses. That is nothing but plain tommyrot. No man acquainted with civilian defense can tell you what it is going to cost, and the Governor admits that, because in his own Message he says, and I quote from Governor Fine's Message:

"It appears that in case of an actual war emergency requiring greater expenditures than provided, the Constitution would allow us to borrow funds immediately."

Mr. President, that is what I have been saying week after week here on the Senate Floor, and to do the thing right I introduced today a bill by the enactment of which, if you will accept it, you can save at least 98 per cent of the $20,000,000, because you cannot spend it until you need it and you should not tax the people for it before you need it. That is a principle of government you must never get away from. You cannot tax the people of Pennsylvania for unexpended money. You cannot allocate $20,000,000 and say in the same Message that you cannot spend it and tax the people for it. If you start doing that, there is no limit to the amount of taxes that you can put upon the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I say, give the Governor under his supervision, the same as New York and any other sensible State Legislature is doing, let him have, let us have, let we the people have all the money that is needed to alleviate a situation created by an actual emergency, but only give a basic sensible amount, an amount calculated upon the direct needs, and let us set up a civilian defense administration for somewhere near the figure that the gentleman from Allegheny quoted. I think he was sincere and I think he was right. You can establish a wonderful administrative office of civilian defense for a quarter of a million dollars. All you do is disseminate news anyway, disseminate the order of procedure to the people in the various districts. You cannot do anything else.

Gentlemen of the Senate, this statement coincides with and I think it fully vindicates my position all along on the matter of financing civil defense. I disagree emphatically with the proposal to spend $1,200,000 for administrative purposes. With the limited action that can be put into this effort, that sum will be an invitation to waste and political job seeking. I know and you know what the answer to the billion dollar budget is. We have failed to stop the raids upon our treasury at the beginning and wake up at the end of the biennium with a full grown department "of voting age," upon our hands. That is the crux of the whole situation. You cannot stop it once you start it; the time to stop it is before you let it get too big. I said that to you when you created the Department of Commerce. You made a very humble appropriation of $150,000. You gave them the status of a cabinet office and you spent $3,000,000 in the last biennium, over $780,000 of it for propaganda in booklet form, carrying a full picture of the Governor during the campaign, and that is all it was spent for. If you want to spend that money for that purpose, go ahead and do it, but it is not justice, it is not equitable, it is not fair to the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, let us have civilian defense but let us have it in the spirit of sacrifice, for no other method will prepare the people for the ordeal and the catastrophe of a war. Let us put up an intelligent and reasonably calculated fund for the administration costs, then give the Governor by a Legislative Act, if necessary, the power to spend with his approval all the necessary funds out of current State income and revenue. We always have a credit of twenty million dollars. The bill is here and it is now in the hopper. If you are interested in doing it, you have the vehicle. I believe if you let the habitual job seeker in this Commonwealth know that we have twenty million dollars for the defense effort, you will have the longest line of applicants since we opened up the Public Assistance Department, which is one of our heirs and for which I assume my share of blame. I was one of the persons who was against the setup but because of the same political pressure that you are under today, being in the majority, I, too, went along, and I want to say publicly that that is one of the most grievous mistakes I have made in my political career. Of all the monstrosities ever foisted upon the body politic, the Department of Public Assistance rates number one. If we do this we can eliminate, as I said, about ninety-eight per cent of this appropriation of twenty million dollars and we can still have a workable, reasonable, competent department of civil defense.

Mr. President, let us recapitulate a little. In doing all this, we do not cut out any of the added services that the Governor wants, because we can still recommend ten million dollars that the Governor asks for for the Welfare Department's expanded program of beds and supplies for the new institutions. We are only correcting some of the institutional ailments that are now in existence. Eleven million dollars for the universities and teachers colleges, which we understand are in dire need. The Governor asked for it; we can give it to him out of the revenues that we have without an additional income or wage tax. A one million dollar loan for the Public School Authority for advanced rentals, which will be returned to us as soon as the institutions that we are creating in the Public School Authority start paying money back to us. One million five hundred thousand dollars for the fulfillment of the creation of the Point Park Project in the city of Pittsburgh; four million dollars for the development of the Mall in Philadelphia. These things we can still do. We can still progress as a government. We can still keep this State of Pennsylvania going forward, but we do not need an income or wage tax. One million dollars for dredging the so-called desilting basins of the Schuylkill in a certain section that is still needed, according to the Governor's Office. A total of twentiy-eight million dollars, and under the financing program that I have read to you and that is contained within the Budge,t, you still give the Governor a five million dollar cushion.

This, my friends, is not the real cushion because the underestimation of the revenue will prove, as it has proved for the last four bienniums, that we have a far greater cushion than that which I have called your attention to. The fact that department salaries and expenses are a major expense ought to give us some leeway in a sincere attempt to reduce the expenditures for this biennium.

I wish you would read in the Governor's Message—I think I ought to read it because I do not like to be misquoted on this statement. It is too important. I want you to hear this. This is on Page 11 of the Governor's Message and I quote:

"Still further evidence of the fact that this budget has been severely pruned is that thirty-five million dollars has been cut from normal departmental requests for appropriations, not including requests for construction."

Gentlemen of the Senate, he saved thirty-five million dollars because the departments asked for thirty-five million more than he gave them. If they would have asked for one hundred fifty million, the Governor would have saved the people one hundred fifty million dollars just by turning them down. It reminds me of Abbott and Costello, "Who's on first and what's on second?"

In conclusion, Mr. President, if we fail to get the necessary information and cooperation to do this, we still have a very, very heavy cushion of normal increased revenues because of the inflated earnings under the so-called emergency taxes. I thought by including the word "normal" I would give the emergency taxes more of a permanency than they seem to enjoy in the minds of the Legislature.

Mr. President, in conclusion, there is no need for a wage and income tax at this time. If and when such a tax must be considered because of need, it should be considered in relation to other taxes. The total State economy and the whole tabloid of governmental functions must be re-examined. In an effort to be of service to the people, the Democratic Minority stands ready to cooperate. However, cooperation does not mean recapitulation. It means an honest exchange of views, a trading of information and a desire to cut expenses and limit expenditures. When the proper time comes, item by item I will be glad to review for any that doubt the things that I have said here today are contained within the Message of the Governor. I will point out the pages and the dates.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, with a few well chosen words of some four hours duration, I would like to reply to this. I would like to advise the gentleman from Westmoreland that eventually the tax program and the Budget will before us, at which time I will be very happy to review with him our mutual budget problems.

Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that there are a few things in which he and I agree. It is very difficult for two boys who originated in Armstrong County to come here, out of the wilds of that rural community, and attempt to understand a billion dollar budget. I am glad that he has been spending some time on it.

I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that, appreciating my own shortcomings, I have taken the liberty of having some Budget experts who are not connected with the government, who happen to be Certified Public Accountants, to attack this Budget as though they were Indians descending on a fort in one of our western thrillers, and tear it apart, and eventually I will discuss it with the gentleman because if there are any "bugs" in it, I am for putting them right out in the middle of the floor, discussing them and correcting them.

Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland about emergency taxes. Emergency taxes are somewhat like the temporary buildings we have in the back of the Capitol Building. They were put up temporarily. We have a saying, "Nothing is so permanent as a temporary tax."

Mr. President, I want to say, because I think it should be said, that one of the most sincere statements that has ever been placed in a Budget Message is contained in the one that is before us now, in this Fifteenth Annual Budget Message, when the Governor says very carefully that if anybody can come up with a better program or a better suggestion, he will be for it, he will cooperate with them. He meant it when he put that clause in there, he still means it, and I am sure that everybody on the Majority side of the aisle means it. I think we ought to say this to the people of Pennsylvania, because we are all going to receive and we have all received a lot of mail from people who are disturbed by newspaper comment. They are disturbed about our problem here and they want to help us solve it. Some of the criticism has been constructive and some of it has just been strictly of the destructive nature.

Mr. President, I think one of the interesting things in this Budget which the gentlemen of the Senate and the public must realize, is the fact that only eight and two-tenths per cent of this Budget goes for the salaries of employees of the Commonwealth. It is so easy to suggest that one of the first things we should do is to fire everybody on Capitol Hill and thereby materially reduce taxes. I think the people of Pennsylvania will have to understand that there has been a sincere attempt to cut a little of the fat or squeeze all of the water out of this Fifteenth Annual Budget, and I would like to say to the people of Pennsylvania that if it is possible to get any more reductions, we all propose to do it.

Mr. President, I would hope for nothing better out of a Budget discussion, whether it be within the confines of this Senate Chamber or whether it be at public hearings, than to assure the people of Pennsylvania that the General Assembly, and particularly what is sometimes facetiously referred to as the Upper Branch of the General Assembly, proposes to see to it that an honest approach is going to be made to the fiscal problem of Pennsylvania, and that a sincere attempt will be made to solve our tax problems.

We are not going to be able to solve them, gentlemen, if we approach them from a strictly partisan standpoint, because over the years we are going to find out that that is not the solution. One of Pennsylvania's outstanding political figures—he belongs to the Majority Party in Allegheny County and the Minority Party in Oakmont—has said repeatedly that the best politics in the world is good government, and to that we all subscribe and we are all going to see to it that we do the best we can with the tools we have.

Mr. President, as far as the Budget Message is concerned, I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I have a heap of figures here. I have graphs, and charts and statistics. I have some reports, as I say, from a firm of Certified Public Accountants, dealing with this Budget that I propose to discuss with the Senate when it becomes germane to our tax problems, and as soon as we have been able to crystallize the conclusions that this group has come to.

Now, Mr. President, there are one or two things I think we must keep in mind. They are, perhaps, sins of commission that we cannot avoid, and that is as to some of the Budget figures that we must take into consideration. Remember this, gentlemen, that out of the additional moneys that must be realized in this 1951 Budget or the Fifteen Annual Budget, if you want to put it that way, is the fact that $112,000,000 of this additional money comes from commitments which you and I made in prior Sessions of the General Assembly. They are not commitments that have been made by this administration or by this Session of the General Assembly. They are commitments which we are duty bound to live up to and, of course, they have been paraphrased before. You have got a Soldier's Bonus of sixty million, a teachers salary increase, school subsidies of forty-two million and the Authority rentals of ten millions. Now, in addition to that you have a fifteen million dollar item which represents the increased salaries which were granted to State employes during 1950, making a total of one hundred twenty-seven million dollars of additional moneys that we are pledged to, which are not part of the commitments of this General Assembly but which are the commitments of our predecessors, many of whom are still sitting here today.

Now, in addition to that Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, we have some commitments that have been suggested in this Budget and which we must keep in mind. We have civil defense. There the figure has been suggested of twenty million dollars. The first time I heard that twenty million dollar figure, Mr. President, it was given out on the floor of this Senate by the distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland. He is entirely correct when he quotes my figure of two hundred fifty thousand dollars. I know that nobody would assume that there is a chiseler in the Sanhedrin. My suggestion of two hundred fifty thousand dollars was made in all sincerity, and two hundred fifty thousand dollars is still an estimate that I will stick to. Teachers and public education, twenty million dollars; the universities and colleges—every gentleman of the Senate knows very well that every school that gets an appropriation from the General Assembly has been in with long budgets, showing how they must have more money with which to operate, and every one of them has talked to us sincerely about their educational problem, and in this budget is a ten million dollar item for that.

Mr. President, during the 1949-1950 interim, the General State Authority, of which I happen to be a member and of which Senator Dent from Westmoreland is a member, built, in compliance with the recommendation of the General Assembily a large number of mental hospitals all over Pennsylvania. We are proud of the mental hospital program, we are proud of this Pennsylvania, each and everyone of us, and, Mr. President, everybody knows that in order to staff and operate those hospitals it is going to take additional funds and in this budget is an item of ten million dollars for that. Then there is an item that is, perhaps, unfair to say miscellaneous, but there is a ten million dollar item in the Budget which includes additional money for crippled children's homes, tubercoulsis sanatoriums and additional millions for the State-aided hospitals.

You and I know, Mr. President, that every one of the State-aided hospitals has earnestly requested more money so that they can continue to offer that fine, high degree of service to the people of Pennsylvania that they have in the past. They are not going to get all that they ask for. That is understandable in the light of our fiscal picture, but there is in that item, ten million dollars set up which is headed miscellaneous in the Budget and which will have to be considered.

Now, Mr. President, whether or not there have been overestimates or underestimates in prior budgets, or in this Budget now before us, is a question I would like to discuss very seriously with the gentleman from Westmoreland as soon as the matter becomes germane to the problem that is confronting the Senate when the tax program is before us. I agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland, and I want him with particularity to remember that this was said on the floor of the Senate. I want him to remember if there is any tax measure which has been suggested or which would be presented to the Senate that the Senate finds is not necessary, those of us on this side of the aisle will be very eager to make the motion to eliminate that particular tax measure. The levying of taxes is not a pleasant duty.

I can remember, Mr. President, when we sat here on the floor of the Senate, when one side of the aisle voted "Yea" on all appropriations and "Nay" on all tax measures, and they did not like to be placed in that position, and I want to say to the Minority that the Majority does not find any sadistic pleasure in levying taxes. It is one of the unpleasasnt duties of any taxing authority that must be met.

Now, Mr. President, if we meet it as intelligent Pennsylvanians, without any political rancor or partisanship fervor, we are going to get along a whole lot farther. I think it would be a splendid thing, Mr. President, and I know what I am about to say is the seed that falls on shallow ground, and that statement in itself is going to be misinterpreted, but I think one of the fine things in this tax program would be if the newspapers of Pennsylvania would take the trouble and the pains to tell the people of Pennsylvania just what this problem is so that the people of Pennsylvania can help us to solve it. It is not a problem that belongs to the Republican Party or to the Democratic Party, and it is not a problem that can be bandied about in a facetious vein by any group of people in Pennsylvania. The people of Pennsylvania would like to know what this problem is. They would like to know the cold analytical facts without any personal embellishment from any individual who might be the transmitting agency.

Mr. President, if we can get this problem squarely before the people, the people will help us solve it for all of Pennsylvania. Nobody is looking for personal aggrandizement out of this thing. It is a serious problem that we all want to solve, and the sooner we sit down and try to solve it as fifty people on the team, rather than two warring factions, the Commonwealth will be a lot better off.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, sometimes I would like to promote the gentleman from Allegheny County, because I think that if he would go to Washington as a Republican Senator and take that same attitude, there would not be so much misinformation about the government in Washington, about its inflated pay rolls and all the expenses that go on down in Washington.

Mr. WALKER. I accept, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to say to the Gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, if you decide to run for United States Senator, I will vote for you on the Republican ticket, if you will do the same for me on the Democratic ticket. I would like to continue this debate, as it were, on the shores of the Potomac.

However, Mr. President, I recently attended a dinner. It was a magnificent dinner. It was given by the Manufacturers Association of Pennsylvania. It was the first time that I was ever privileged to be there, and I want to publicly thank the Manufacturers Association for their liberality and for their thoughtfulness in inviting my colleagues and myself to this dinner, and I also received a very liberal education while there. I noticed that the principal speakor of the evening was one Senator Byrd of Virginia, and the whole theme of his long speech was on Federal expenditures, cutting the fat out of the budget and cutting down the employees and the salaries paid. He is so good at it that every Republican organization that can get him for a price, gets Senator Byrd to come and speak for them, and he is a Democratic Senator from Virginia. So, if that is true, I think maybe I ought to be in line for an invitation to speaek to the Manufacturers Association. My theme is the same, cut the Budget and cut expenses, and I am not the only one, because, if you will look in the book, I am going by the book from now on, the good book is going to guide me. I am no longer going to be trapped. I will tell you where I am getting it, so you will know that I am telling the truth—the Legislative Journal of January 2, Tuesday, Page 70 and I quote:

"We propose to eliminate the Soft Drink Tax. We are mindful that new obligations have to be financed. But we anticipate that the increases in revenue, the decreases in expenditures arising from this changed situation, coupled with strict economy and good management, will be sufficient to avoid any additional taxes."

Mr. President, that comes from the Republican platform of 1950. Now, we Democrats were defeated because the people believed this. We were defeated four years prior to that bcause the people believed it then. It is easy to say, "Let us keep it nonpartisan," but you cannot keep it partisan during the campaign and expect it to be nonpartisan on the Floor of the Senate. It is a partisan proposition.

Mr. President, we Democrats say there is fat, lard, grease, anything you want to call it in the Pennsylvania Budget. We say that we have the figures to prove our point. We say that you knew last summer, the same as you know now, that the Legislature had mandated, as you say, $127,000,000. That was a known fact. That was knowledge contained in the books, the good book—it tells everything. We mandated the expenses and in my speech before the Senate a few minutes ago I called your attention to the mandated expenses. I did not say that Governor Fine was responsible. I said he fell heir to $112,000,000 of mandated expenses. There they are, but you knew that when you wrote this platform, and you knew that there was not going to be a surplus.

Mr. President, speaking of surpluses, let us look at one figure here that ought to interest every man in this Senate. The Governor states in his Message that he has $10,000,000 surplus from the Duff Administration. Now, in the eyes of the public, that immediately represents a $10,000,000 saving that was made in the Duff Administration, but he does not tell the people of Pennsylvania that the revenues, up until this book was printed, the revenues in Pennsylvania are $25,000,000 more than he estimated them to be. So, actually he spent $15,000,000 more than he asked us for two years ago.

Mr. President, there is not a $10,000,000 surplus. There is a $15,000,000 deficit. That is what it is. If you are in business, you have got to admit that income and outgo have a proper relationship when talking about your net worth. The net worth of Pennsylvania is based upon its revenues and its expenditures. There is no surplus in this Budget. There is no surplus in the economy, as it were, of the Duff Administration. You took $25,000,000 out of a mandated fund and you put it into relief, and I told you on the floor of the Senate, and I can get the speech and the page where I made it on, that you were going to need twenty-five million dollars more for relief. I said you were going to need it, you needed it and you took it out of a fund that was already created for building purposes, and turned over to the General State Authority the job of creating the buildings. I know that and I think the people ought to know it. I know that you took ten more million dollars out of these extra funds that came in.

Look into the picture—why, the traveling expenses alone of this Commonwealth would keep a good sized state going. There is little or no check on travel expenses and allowance in the Commonwealth. I know because I have seen some of it going on for the years that I have been here, but you cannot, just like a voice in the wilderness, say we will cut a hundred here and a thousand here when you are in troublbe, and you are in trouble in Pennsylvania. We cannot afford to stick an income tax on the people of this State. No individual within the hearing of my voice can tell where it will end up. Philadelphia started with a half per cent, and it is now up to one and a half per cent. I say that a man with six children, a family earning twenty-five hundred dollars a year will pay more money on Pennsylvania's half per cent income than he will pay to the Federal Government.

There is another item, and that is very important. Look here, this is something that ought to interest every man in this Senate. Taxes if needed—this is out of the Republican Platform—taxes if needed to provide for the internal security of the Commonwealth, that was intended for civilian defense and for the general welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. That is intended for you and I, and will be levied without placing undue burdens upon any group or class. Where does an income tax of a flat nature place its burden? It places its burden squarely upon the man who can claim no deductions, who can hide no income because he is on a pay roll; the everyday worker of the Commonwealth just as it has been in the past will pay the load. If we needed it, if this State of ours was on its bended knees and we needed one per cent or a half per cent, or twenty per cent or ninety-nine per cent, it would not be too much for the people of this State to sacrifice, but you do not need it. The money is here. You are letting the same man underestimate your revenue and overestimate your need, and if you continue to do so—I mean it—I am going to cooperate, but I will not under any circumstances go away from the facts as they are contained in his own Budget Message. They are right here where you can see them. The figures I quote are contained in the budget messages from 1943 to 1951, and I think everyone of you ought to come up and take a look at it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROSENFELD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I would like to address myself for a moment to the comments made by the Majority Leader, that he is willing that all of us should act as fifty people on the team, and in thinking about the budget particularly, it seems to me that we are starting at the wrong end. Here we are met with possible expenditures for the next biennium of over a billion dollars, and as I think and as I thought about how these figures are derived and how they are arrived at, it occurs to me suddenly that you have a secretary of each department who sits down, and he sets out figures and probably sends them to the Budget Secretary who looks at them and changes them or does not change them, depending upon what he thinks or how he feels, and he sends them over to the Governor and the Governor looks at them and either upon advice or because he happens to know what a particular situation is, he decides either to accept them or change them according to what he thinks or feels. So, in the final analysis with regard to any particular department, you have three people, roughly, perhaps a few more, in the entire Commonwealth who have decided what a particular department should have for the next two years, and then what do we get? We get a printed message that this is required by the Commonwealth for the next two years.

Again, Mr. President, I say that three or possibly a few more men have acted upon the expenditure of millions and millions of dollars for each department, and no more, and we, the legislative arm of the Commonwealth, fifty strong in the Senate and two hundred nine in the House, have nothing but these figures before us.

Now, Mr. President, if we acted as a team, the first thing we would do would be to sit down and see what committee we have that can sit down with the proper heads, with the Budget Secretary or the Governor, or one of his representatives, and let us see whether somebody is wrong, whether somebody is right. Now, that is the only way we can act as a team. Otherwise, we can yell across the room here that we are right and the Majority Party is wrong, and they will do vice versa and none of us will ever know whether either of us were right or wrong.

Now, Mr. President, if we are really sincere about this thing and we really want to sit down and act as a team to determine what the real expenditures of this Commonwealth are, we can only do it by a committee which will sit in hearing and which will discuss the needs of the Commonwealth, which will discuss the needs of each department. Otherwise, all we have here is a compilation which has been made up or passed upon by three or four men for each department and nothing more. I think it is high time in this year of our Lord nineteen hundred fifty-one that we adress ourselves to a direct method of determining what the real needs of the Commonwealth are, and if we do that we can save an awful lot of hours debating across the halls of this Senate whether one side is right or whether one side is wrong.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will accept the gentleman's amendment of a team of forty-nine and a half if that is what he is shooting at, and may I say to him for his own information, the membership of the House is two hundred eight, not two hundred nine. We appreciate the fact that in Philadelphia you sometimes get the fast count, but will you please just keep the numerical strength as it is?

Mr. President, may I suggest this? I have been under the impression that the Appropriations Committee from the House and the Appropriations Committee from the Senate have a Subcommittee that—my assumption was that it was functioning during the interim in an attempt to keep abreast of these figures, and I will say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I am heartily in favor of calling in everybody that has asked for money from the appropriations side of this responsibility, and see whether or not the money requested is necessary and whether or not the fund, the amount that is asked, is adequate or is excessive, because in that way then we will satisfy the people that we are trying to do the thing that they sent us down here to do.

Mr. President, I am heartily in accord with the thought that we should have people in and discuss it, and I think that should be true also of all the appropriations, whether they are departmental, whether they are for boards and bureaus and commissions or whether they are for hospitals and schools. I have watched with a great deal of interest, Mr. President, appropriation bills being introduced by the score. The History shows a lot of them. Everybody is awfully anxious to get an appropriation for his pet pig back home, and may I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, let us call them all in and find out whether or not we cannot save some money.

May I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, when I spoke about being a team I was sincere, and I am assuming that the gentleman from Philadelphia is willing to grant me at least the courtesy of appreciating the sincerity in which the remark was made.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would like to add an amendment to a statement of the gentleman from Allegheny when he answered Senator Dent. He said that he hoped the newspapers would go to the pain and trouble to tell the people of Pennsylvania the true story of the Budget. The only way to tell the true story of the Budget is by public hearings, at which the newspaper men are there.

Mr. President, I am in favor of going to the pain and trouble to tell the people of Pennsylvania what the figures really represent, but I am not in favor of having a closed hearing in the Appropriations Committee or any subcommittee. I am in favor of having a hearing so the people will know what we are paying for advertising, what we are paying for political writers, what we are paying for the Milk Control Commission, what we are paying for telephone bills in this State, which are completely out of proportion to business.

Mr. President, these are things I think the people would like to know and I think the newspaper men should be all in at this hearing. I think we should bring in the Department heads separately and let them give an accounting to the people of Pennsylvania on how they have arrived at the figures we now have in this jumble of figures now amounting to a billion of dollars. I hope you will agree with me that you think the public should be at least advised on how their money is being spent. I am in favor of having them on television. It might prove to be a good television show to tell the people how we are squandering the people's money, how we have a Department of Commerce here that is a very fine political organization, and which is a means of raising funds for the political organization of the Republican Party or the party in power, either way.

Mr. President, these are things I would like to find out, and I do hope that the Majority Leader will agree to make all these hearings public, and if necessary, we can arrange to have the television and radios in so that the people of Pennsylvania will wake up to the fact that there are two rackets; one, gambling, and the other is a racket which is being perpetrated upon them by loaded pay rolls and spending by political parties.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, my colleague has just suggested that I be promoted, I am now a racketeer. Racketeers are getting a prominent place in television and are becoming stars on the Hit Parade. The gentleman from Allegheny's statement reminds me of Jimmy Durante. He keeps saying, "Everybody is trying to get in the act."

Mr. President, if there is anybody I failed to invite into these public hearings, I am sorry. You are all invited. The gentleman from Allegheny is invited, the press is invited, everyone is invited. Only those who are held in the "pokey" are not invited.

Mr. President, I want these hearings to be public. I want the press to be there, and I hope, Mr. President, that the day we have the Department of Commerce there, the gentleman from Allegheny will take the time to come to the hearings, and I think he will find out that after he listens to what the Department of Commerce has done to promote Pennsylvania all over the United States and what they have done to help Pennsylvania continue its pace as a great industrial State, I think there will be a cessation of these capricious speeches on the floor of the Senate about padded payrolls and political hacks because, may I say to the gentleman from Allegheny, I have never noticed that there is even a percentage of what he is complaining about in Harrisburg, as compared to our great Capitol City in Washington where we do not even have the chance of a minority. It will be interesting, Mr. President—they are always talking about what they would do when they were in the Majority. God knows, Mr. President, what a great day it will be if we ever get to be the Majority in Washington. Then, we will see whether or not we can put to work some of these suggestions that we have been making in the political rostrums over the past twenty years.

Now, Mr. President, the public hearings will be held. Everybody is invited. Will the gentlemen of the press please make a note? Please come to the hearings. We well see that adequate space is provided. We will call in the Departments one at a time. We will give the gentlemen of the press, the gentlemen of the Majority and the gentlemen of the Minority an opportunity to thoroughly explore every figure in that Budget. We want the people of Pennsylvania—now that is repetitious, Mr. President, and I am doing it deliberately in the hope that perhaps somewhere on the Minority side, at least one out of twenty will understand what I am saying.

We hope to be able to give the people of Pennsylvania the absolute truth on the fiscal picture of Pennsylvania so that they can help us solve it.

Now, Mr. President, I know very well that when I sit down I will not have the last word on this subject, because I have been trying for twelve years to get the last word with the Minority, and I have not succeeded yet. May I say, Mr. President, as far as I am concerned, I do not propose to discuss the Budget any further this afternoon, because a few of us have to go back to school this evening to study, and we have the Calendar to complete yet and it is with the hope that springs eternal in the human breast that I sit down in the hope that this will be the end of the Budget Message for today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, you know Senator Walker makes me think of an incident which I witnessed quite recently. A lawyer was giving an argument on why a labor union man, who was fired from the labor union, should be put back to work. This was given by a Pittsburgh lawyer, and it was one of the finest arguments on why a man should be put back to work. I remember Mr. Lewis, who is the owner of the Pittsburgh Courier, said to him, "Now, you have been giving a fine argument. I know that the union members think that you are a fine lawyer. Suppose you get on our side of the desk and I know you can give just as good an argument on why he should be fired."

I think he is a very fine lawyer for this reason. Just a few days ago he used the argument in passing or trying to force the civilian defense bill being passed that this was the work of the brains of Washington, and that because it was written by the brains of Washington it should be passed. Now, he states that he feels a little differently now, and I think he should pay more attention to Senator Byrd and the words that he said and the rest of the Dixiecrats in Washington, who are helping the Republicans and do exactly what your party is doing in Washington. I say cut expenditures, see where they are and dig them out.

Mr. President, I know Senator Walker has been very fine in the civilian defense. We asked for a public hearing. We wanted the press to know what was going to be done. Senator Dent told them that they were going to go a little bit hog wild with the mony. Senator Walker said that the people of Pennsylvania should not have a chance to appear, that the men who knew more about civilian defense than we do should not be brought down to Harrisburg and attend public hearing, that this bill had to go through because it was the brains of some bureaucrat in Washington. I wish he would keep his argument straight. One day he is arguing to put the bill through because it has Washington approval, and the next day he is arguing just the opposite. He is a fine lawyer.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 26, 1951

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER, (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend William L. Thompson, Pastor of the First Church of Christ, Lock Haven, pastor and guest of the gentleman from Clinton, Hon. Clarence E. Moore, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, the centuries are in Thy Hands, so also are the minutes. We, as humans, have only the minutes, yet we need the wisdom of the centuries.

Therefore, we pray, permit Thy Wisdom to dominate the minutes of this legislative session. Slay within us every tendency to make light of our responsibilities. Cause us to act always for the good of the people whom we represent.

In the joy of this season we approach the problems before us. Give us Thy Peace, we pray, in the fulness of our trust in Thee and from within the will of our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER . Are there any corrections to the Journal of Wednesday, March 21, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. There will be a Republican Caucus immediately after the calling of a recess.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess for twenty minutes. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the attention of the Majority Leader, not that I have any intention of interrogating him today. I feel that doubtless some of the information that he carries around in his head, and which he doubtless imparts to the Majority party caucus, should be more generally distributed, so that we hight all share in the financial secrets which we find embodied in the Governor's budget.

As I see the budget there is $120 million in so-called mandated increases, the expenses incident to the bonus and similar items $120 million. Now it is worth while giving serious thought at a time when it is propesed to enact new taxes as to how much money is actually needed —new money that is, if any. If you have looked at the budget you will see that there has been a decrease over the amount appropriated or spent during the present biennium of $60 mllion in public assistance. So we mark $60 million down on the ledger that we did spend and we will not have to spend this time.

Now there is the recurring item of $16 mill for Forests and Waters and there is a non-recurring item of $15 million for public housing. There is $9 million that we are going to get from the Federal Government for public assistance that we did not get before.

We are going to get $4 million from the Garrett Estate and we are going to have so they tell us, an increase, a natural increase of $41 million in the corporate income tax that we do not increase even.

Then we will take the $60 million and the $16 million and the $15 million and the $9 million and the $4 million and the $41 million, we have $145 million.

Now it is proposed to establish a reserve fund of $20 million for civilian relief for an emergency. I seriously urge you upon the attention of this House that if we come squarely up against an emergency that the Commonwealth, the Governor, can borrow for the purpose of any disaster, riot, insurrection, needs of war, all the money the Commonwealth needs, all the money that the Commonwealth operating through the General Assembly could appropriate, and that we do not need $20 million somewhere in the bank awaiting the time of emergency, because we can finance the emergency without convening the Legislature when the emergency arises.

So I say in all seriousness that in the face of $120 million of mandated increases in the state budget, that we look squarely in the face of $165 million in non-recurring items and one of decreases in public assistance and in the civilian defense reserve fund, and on the basis of the figures I seriously urge upon the Majority Leader that he personally study the budget and that in due season, at the proper time when he has further consulted the Budget Office . . . you know, consulting the Budget Office makes me think of the men called upon to explain a very intricate problem.

He said "Now have I talked sufficiently to confuse you so much that you do not have any more questions to ask."

I would say to the Majority Leader that he probably has discovered that when he talks to the Budget Secretary that the Budget Secretary could well reply "Now have I talked sufficiently so that you do not have any more questions to ask; do not know and cannot ask any more questions?"

Another matter, the Department of Public Assistance said that in the calendar year 1949 the income of Pennsylvania citizens amounted to practically $15 billion, the income of the citizens. I presume that means the income, the personal income of the citizens.

Now it is proposed to enact a one half of one per cent state-wide income tax to raise $120 million.

Now if the people of the Commonwealth have a total income of $15 billion and you have a half of one per cent income tax, you are not raising $120 million in a two-year period; you are raising nearer $160 million. That is another thing to put down on your book, to figure out.

I would like to have at the proper time from anyone who represents the administration, who can fathom the intricacies of the budget, a reply and straighten out my mind concerning these budget figures which I am at this time presenting.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I appreciate, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's kindness in flattering me by saying that I might have these figures in my head. At this time I do not.

There are several things, though, that he has asked me that I feel I might be able to answer in some degree. I will try to answer all of his questions when I have consulted with the Budget Office, and for his information, let me tell him that I am a Dutchman, a persistent guy and I am not going to give up. I will get the answers.

So far as civil defense is concerned and the $20 million, I agree with the gentleman that under our Constitution, in case of emergency, we can borrow unlimited sums; but it might be doubtful what an emergency would be In the meantime while we are waiting for an emergency, there are going to be necessary expenses.

It is also possible that the Federal government might come along with an appropriation under which we as a Commonwealth would have to match those funds. We must have money available to do that, to be able to match it so that we will not lose any of it in this state. I would think that this $20 million might possibly be called insurance. It insures that we do not lose any money that is made available to us.

The gentleman has made the statement that Public Assistance has given a figure of $15 billion of public income in this State. I think that figure probably includes public assistance, as one thing. It includes direct relief and would probably include work relief, government retirement payments, veterans' pensions, workmen's compensation, social security, and military money, reservists' pay. That would reduce our total income—I am just stating round figures now—probably to $12 billion in our state, rather than a total of $15 billion.

That is the only answer that I can give at this time to the gentleman. I will do my best to get all the answers for him in due time.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. WOOD asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to unduly prolong discussion concerning this bill, nor do I have any desire to embarrass the sponsors of it by any questions that I may ask.

I have risen to discuss this bill because measures like this emphasize the fact that as far as spawning new judges is concerned we have no formula; we have no standard.

If you will look at the population of the various judicial districts throughout the Commonwealth, you will find that there are some judges who serve less than 40,000. You will find other judicial jurisdictions where the population within the jurisdiction is over 150,000.

We are told that we do not have enough judges. If you will take a survey of the state, you will find that we have too many ailing judges; too many judges that are physically incompetent to perform the duties incumbent upon them.

The need for a judge in Blair county does not arise by reason of any pronounced increase in new business. In fact, over the last ten years, over the last twenty years, there has been no increase in the Civil cases brought before the court in Blair county. Neither has there been any increase in the number of days it has been necessary for the court to devote to the consideration of civil business.

The judge is not old, he is not as old as I am. He is only 69 and is running for re-election, and has the situation rather well in hand out there in Blair county. He has had it rather well in hand these many years.

Has the court asked for assistance? The court has not. Has the bar association by a two-thirds vote asked for an additional judge? The bar association has not. The bar association in Blair county, by a split vote, not more than half, a bare majority, voted that the County needed another judge.

Well, the county under the law is entitled to a juvenile court judge. You get this judge, this additional judge, and sure as shooting the County will come in under its legal right and ask for a juvenile court judge. The creation of a juvenile court judge in Blair county will probably solve the problem.

I say we have too many judges that are too old, who have ill health. The judge in Blair county has been in ill health for quite a long time. In my own County the judge who will seek re-election is seventy-four years old. He will be nominated and he will be elected. At the end of his term he will be eighty-four. Well maybe he will be good at that time. I do not know. He may improve with the years.

There is a difference of opinion in Blair county. The Altoona Tribune wants to know why two judges, and then goes on at some length to urge the view that Blair county does not need two judges.

The other paper out in Altoona, the Tribune which is the minor paper—it does not amount to so much maybe, possibly because it is partially Democratic sometimes, I do not know—but the powerful paper, the Altoona Mirror goes on to ask what is this bill? It concludes by stating that in the bar association it was voted on by only 37 lawyers, a little more than half the membership—21 favored a second judge, 16 did not.

The second question referred to the establishment of a second judge in the Orphans Court. On this question, 15 of the 16 negative lawyers voted, voted 8 yes and 7 no. So there is no united demand on the part of the press or on the part of the bar in Blair county for this judge.

Other counties will come in asking for the creation of additional judges. They may be needed. What I am urging is that the majority party create some sort of standard by which it will be possible to determine when a new judge is needed and where, and when a new judge is needed according to the standard the General Assembly automatically would create the new judge.

But we are just going helter-skelter now. We spawn them whenever a part of the bar association asks that they have a new judge. On the basis of population as compared with other counties Blair county is entitled to another judge. If you compare it with Bucks it needs a judge. If you compare it with Chester, with York, even with Berks, you can compare it with my own county, it needs another judge.

But when the judge now on the bench in Blair county was in good health, was on the job, he did not want an additional judge, they did not need a new judge. Now they are creating a new judge in Blair county simply because they have an old man and a sick man on the bench.

If that is the standard to which we want to adhere, very well, let us understand that when you get an old man and a sick man on the bench, you add another judge. I do not believe that is a proper standard. I hate to vote against this bill, and yet I hate to vote for it, because as soon as that judge gets warm in his seat he will be up here asking for an increase in salary. He will want more tipstaves and he will want more this and he will want more that, and we automatically increase expenses back home everything we here at Harrisburg create another judge.

I say, I hate to oppose this particular bill, because the representatives from Blair county have as much right to ask for an additional judge as a lot of the other counties that have been getting additional judges. And they have as much right as some of the other counties that will come in. And so, I hope that I will be the only man that votes against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection (f) of Section 302 of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 1897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" as added by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1854) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 302 Establishment and Maintenance of Employer's Reserve Accounts The department shall establish and maintain for each employer a separate employer's reserve account in the following manner

* * * * *

(f) Subsequent to June thirtieth one thousand nine hundred forty-nine such account shall be charged with all compensation by even dollars paid to each individual who received from such employer wage credits constitutiong the base of such compensation in the proportion that such wage credits with such employer bears to the total wage credits received by such individual from all employers but no employer's reserve account shall be charged with any compensation paid to any employe who voluntarily left the service of such employer Provided That no compensation shall be charged to such account under the provision of this subsection (f) if a charge has been made under any other provision of this section to such account with respect to the wages of the compensated employe upon which such compensation was based and Provided further that no compensation shall be charged to the account of any base year employer under the provisions of this subsection unless such base year employer was also the last employer by whom the compensated employe was employed prior to the date on which he filed his valid application for benefits nothing herein contained shall affect the rate or amount of benefits to which a claimant may be entitled under the provisions of Article IV of this act based upon the claimants entire base year wages

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of that bill to explain the purpose of the bill.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 545, Printer's No. 110, is presented for the action of this House to take care of this particular situation: in the event that I, as an employer, would have an employe, who stayed with me, say five to ten years, and then left me voluntarily or left me under a situation which is not compensable under the unemployment act, and then went to work for a second employer. If the second employer fires the employe within a year, the act as presently constituted and the unemployment compensation fund as presently organized, takes the base year which in the situation which I have just noted, would go over into a period in which the man was normally employed.

What this bill does is to state that the person who has hired the employe during the base year here and which has nothing to do with his now being unemployed, his account in the Unemployment Compensation Bureau would not be charged with the amount of unemployment compensation paid to this particular employe, and the amount of funds expended for unemployment compensation would be charged to the employer actually discharging the employe. It does not change in any way the manner of figuring the amount of unemployment compensation nor does it eliminate or change the amount which the employe will receive. It merely sets up as to which of the employers' funds shall be charged under Unemployment Compensation.

I do not know whether that answers the gentleman's question or not.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if an employe should be fired by the last employer, would he be eligible for unemployment compensation from the last employer or the former employer, provided he would not have enough time with the last employer?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, the base year would be made up from both employers. He would be paid on that base year, but the employer that would be charged under Unemployment Compensation would be the employer who fired him, and not the employer when separation was agreeable to both parties. In other words the first employer is not chargeable under the act.

Mr. MORAN. Then, under this bill, Mr. Speaker, the employe could not lose, is that right?

Mr. ROBERTSON. That is absolutely right.

Mr. MORAN. Then I am satisfied, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 26, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, April 2, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, April 2, 1951, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to welcome a former Member of the House, Hon. William H. Milliken from Delaware County.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. GEER offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. KOHL, GUTENDORF, JUMP, MIKULA and FLACK offered a resolution which was read and considered as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 26, 1951.

Whereas, The Honorable Leonard A. Najaka, a member of this august body since 1946 representing the fourth district of Luzerne County has found occasion for uplifted spirits and for added strength, joy and steadfastness in the pursuance of all tasks due to a new found responsibility; and

Whereas, It has become known that Mr. Najaka's inspiration for new spirit, strength, joy and added accomplishment is the birth to him and his wife, the former Clementine Belefsky, of a baby daughter, Susan, weight six pounds, seven and one-half ounces at Nanticoke State Hospital, on Good Friday, March 23, 1951; and

Whereas, The said birth is a noteworthy occasion of which due recognition is hereby taken by this House and Mr. Najaka's many friends; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House extend its congratulations and best wishes to the new father and mother; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Najaka at her residence at Glen Lyon, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, according to the traditions, the long established customs and practices in this House, such an occasion as the resolution celebrates has become fixed as one where I am due for at least one can of tobacco, and I have not got the tobacco.

He is the wisest father I have encountered in the House because when he has come through with all the expenses, a cigarette will probably be all he can afford.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Najaka.

Mr. NAJAKA. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Mr. Andrews for that little speech. He will have a can of tobacco tomorrow.

To my colleagues from Luzerne County, I wish to thank them for this privileged resolution. And speaking for the mother and daughter, Susan, I wish to say: "Thank you."

The SPEAKER. The Chair also congratulates the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Najaka and hopes for a speedy recovery.

The Chair noted that he appeared at the microphone with his attending physician.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1951. 139th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 32. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 1951. No. 27.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 27, 1951.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN C. MOORE, Pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, Coudersport, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Direct us, Oh Lord, in all our doings with Thy most gracious favor and further us with Thy continual help, that in all our works begun, continued and ended in Thee, we may glorify Thy holy name, and through Thy gift of faith bring our perplexities to the light of Thy wisdom and receive Thy blessed encouragement and a clearer knowledge of Thy will.

We thank Thee, Oh Father, for all of these, Thy gracious gifts. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. PROPERT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained leave of absence for himself for Wednesday and Thursday.

RECESS

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, to permit a meeting of the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

THE HONORABLE THOMAS F. LANSBERRY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HARE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would like to call the attention of the Senate this afternoon to the presence of a gentleman I am quite proud to call a friend. Fifteen years ago he served as a page boy in this Senate, and in 1943, he and I went away together in the United States Navy as enlisted men, and today he is carving out a future for himself as President Judge of my county, one of the youngest and one of the most efficient that the bench has ever had back there, The Honorable Thomas F. Lansberry.

LADIES AUXILIARY OF WHITE HALL REPUBLICAN CLUB PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. FREED. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not have any school girls here of high school age but I do have their ma's and grandma's here, and they came to the occasion, thinking that we might be acting on Senate Bill No. 27, because they do believe in singing "God Bless America," and then they pledge allegience to the flag and wind up with singing our good old National Anthem. I will not get political now at all, but it so happens that the President of this Club is Mrs. Helen Kotch and her assistant today or publicity girl is Mrs. Ann Black, and they are from the Ladies Auxiliary of the White Hall Republican Club. Will they please rise in place?

REPORT FROM THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

"COMMONWEALTH RETIREMENT SYSTEMS: STRUCTURE AND COSTS"

Mr. WAGNER, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, submitted the following report which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Joint State Government Commission
Harrisburg, March 27, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission dealing with "Commonwealth Retirement Systems: Structure and Costs," Session of 1951.

Copies of this report for distribution to the members of the Senate have been delivered to the office of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Respectfully submitted,
BAKER ROYER,
Baker Royer, Chairman.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be noted in the Journal and will be printed in full in the Appendix.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, March 26, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, April 2, 1951, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, April 2, 1951, at four thirty o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 273, entitled:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the court of common pleas in the twenty-fourth judicial district.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

House Bill No. 484, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section 704 of the act approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225), entitled "The Game Law," by permitting the use of semi-automatic shotguns for the hunting and killing of small game, predators and unprotected birds.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

House Bill No. 545, entitled:

An Act to amend Subsection (f) of Section 302, of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law," by providing that employers reserve accounts shall not be charged with compensation paid to certain employes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in beginning my talk I want to reiterate what I said on this floor a number of times. I have the deepest respect and admiration for Senator Sordoni, the present Secretary of the Department of Commerce. In fact, my respect for him has increased after he was appointed when he stated he would not accept a Fifteen Thousand Dollar a year salary due to the fact that his duties as Secretary of Commerce did not require full time.

Senator Sordoni has been a very successful businessman. He has always had to work hard for the money he earned.

I believe that if we had more Senator Sordoni's appointed to political offices in Pennsylvania and they were permitted to put efficiency in the administration of their office, we would be cutting taxes today instead of raising them

I have requested the payroll of the Department of Commerce. It was not given to me for about three weeks, or shall I say until they cleaned up a little matter of getting rid of a man who was placed by the Ketchum, McCloud and Grove Advertising Company in Pittsburgh.

This man was supposed to work for a period of about a month and was to do work in connection with the celebration of Pennsylvania Week. It seems that his one month's job was stretched out to a period of two years, for they found that this man was very clever in writing political statements and speeches.

Warren Wheaton wrote speeches and driected all the publicity as Chairman of the Duff-Fine Publicity Committee. Now they had to find a job for him as he is the writer of Governor Fine's speeches and news releases. So this non-political part of the Department of Commerce found Mr. Wheaton as their Public Relation Specialist at a salary of Twelve Thousand Dollars a year.

I ask any of the Senators who think that Mr. Wheaton works in the Department of Commerce to check up on him, as I have been reliably informed that you will find him in the Governor's Office in charge of Governor Fine's publicity. The Department of Commerce never was rightfully used to advertise Pennsylvania but to advertise the Governor of Pennsylvania.

The State was merely used as a back drop to promote the Governor

Since the Chamber inception under Governor James, it was used to promote the candidacy of every Governor to either the United States Senate or President of the United States. It succeeded in two out of three cases.

Now, let's go into the payroll. They have a Director of Tourists and Recreation Information at a salary of $8,472 a year. He has an executive assistant at the same wage as the Director, or $8,472 a year. There is a Senior Public Information Assistant at $4,176 a year and just a plain Public Information Assistant at $3,516 a year. There is a Junior Public Information Assistant at $3,204 a year.. There are Advertising Publicity Clerks, two of them, at $3,024 a year. There are five Junior Publicity Clerks each receiving $1,956 a year. I might add that they are pretty good in creating titles.

Now the Public Relations Specialist gets $12,000 a year. They have a Publicity Director who get $3,472 a year and they have an array of Stenographers from Supervision Secretary Stenographers at $4,176 a year to two Advertising Secretary Stenographers at $3,204 a year. One Senior Secretary Stenographer at $3,024 a year. One correspondent secretary at $2,700 a year and two Secretary Stenographers at $2,700 a year; one Junior Secretary Stenographer at $2,328 a year; one Senior Stenographer Typist at $2,328 a year and three Stenographical Clerks. I suppose these Clerks assist all these Stenographers at $1,956 a year. In addition, they have Photographers all the way from Advertising Photographers at $3,516 a year and Senior Photographers at $3,204 a year; Photographers at $3,024 a year and Assistant Photographer Clerks at $2,328 a year. They have Controllers at $6,000 a year; Assistant Controllers at $4,176 a year and Junior Accountants at $3,516 a year. They have Senior Industrial Representatives at $4,668 a year and a Chief Industrial Representative at $6,900 a year. They have Reproduction Machine Operators at $2,328 a year and one Junior Reproduction Machine Operator at $1,956 a year.

Mr. President, I spent twenty years in Advertising and Sales. I ran a business of over two million dollars a year. We advertised as heavily as the State of Pennsylvania ever has, and we operated with about one-tenth of the employees that this Department has.

Three Photographers on a yearly basis and a Photographer Clerk is more than Life Magazine has, and you will agree with me that Life will take more pictures than the Department of Commerce. I am positive with all the Public Information employees that they have on the payroll, they must have to ask each other questions to keep busy if they are in the office.

Now, I have heard the expression many times of being clipped by politicians. I believe this Department does a swell job of clipping the public and for the first time in my life I have seen the job on the payroll for the Department of Commerce carried on its payroll one Senior Clipping Clerk at $2,328 a year and two Junior Clipping Clerks at $1,956 a year. Of course, I realize that they are supposed to clip newspapers, but I honestly believe the specialty of this Department is clipping the public.

Now, Mr. President, I am not going into the payroll of the State Planning Board because the same system is used in that as is used in the Department of Commerce. They have enough employes on the payroll to make plans for not only Pennsylvania, but the whole United States. I am going to ask unanimous permission instead of reading it to have it placed in the Legislative Journal, and I only hope that the Journal gets out in time to have some interested party go over this that knows a little about it.

Mr. President, I have heard many speeches about economy and efficiency in the Government by Senator Martin, Senator Duff and Governor Fine and I have read a number of editorials praising their speeches and pointing to them as examples of men who are trying to do a job of cutting the expenses of the Government. I have never heard or seen such hypocrisy practised and was practised in the last election and is still being practised by these men.

I believe that Governor Duff in his four years as Governor outdealt the New Dealers.

We are talking new taxes. If you were in business and your expenditures were greater than your income, you would do only one thing; you would start to cut your expenditures until they met the income.

I have been told by good authority that there is practically no difference in this budget today as there was in Governor Duffs.

Mr. President, I would suggest that we of the Senate give an ultimatum to the heads of the State Departments, that a Hundred Million Dollars be cut from the budget. If this ultimatum is given, you will not hurt the service given by the State at all.

The only thing you will require is a day's work from every employee and the drones who only come around on payday to collect their salaries will be eliminated.

I have in the last year visited many State offices as a visitor, not as a State Senator, and observed time and time again that there are only a few in every office that really work and others are there because they have political pull.

The workers on the payroll if they are kept on, can run this Government easily a Hundred Million Dollars cheaper than it is being run.

The Department of Commerce can be transferred to the Internal Affairs without any trouble. All the records they use are secured from Internal Affairs.

Let us bring back a little more confidence in Government by putting efficiency and economy into it. I hope the Majority Leader doesn't start to talk about Washington as he always does. No one here is elected to do a job in Washington. We are elected to do a job in Pennsylvania.

Let us accept our own responsibility instead of excusing ourselves. There is no use of us passing bills requiring loyalty oaths of employees to defend the Constitution when we permit the waste of money that results in high taxes and a drain of the economic system of our great State. Let us make an example of Pennsylvania as a State where efficiency and economy is really practiced and not merely mentioned in speeches.

Mr. President, after I finished writing my speech, I secured some inside information from a very reliable source and, according to this information, there is a question as to the value of the tremendous sums that have been spent by the Department of Commerce.

I quote in part from this source of information:

> "I believe the General Assembly will probably find that over the course of the past ten years business enterprises have expanded in other states both in number and in the value of products at a substantially greater rate than in Pennsylvania. I believe that the General Assembly will also find that some of the country's leading industries have considered establishing new or additional manufacturing facilities in Pennsylvania, but have refrained from doing so because of excessive and discriminatory taxes at the state level."

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to place in the Legislative Journal the record of the pay rolls of the State Planning Board and the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, my few comments in answer to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny are somewhat handicapped. I have been barred from discussing what goes on in Washington and, of course, I do not blame the gentleman for wanting to eliminate that as a subject of discussion, because from my observation that from the few Democrats elected to do a good job in Washington, no wonder he does not want to talk about it.

I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that if he will read the speeches that were made by former Governor Duff, and the speeches that have been made by our present Chief Executive, Governor Fine, he will find in there that the mantle of those speeches has been woven entirely by the gentlemen who deliver the speeches. Neither former Governor Duff nor Governor Fine have ever needed or have ever used ghost writers. The phraseology, the vocabulary, the type of delivery is all theirs. They are as much the editors and the authors of their speeches as is the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny in the inspiring tribute which he pays to the Department of Commerce here on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. President, may I also suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that if somebody would ever open up a volume of the official records from Washington, D. C. and start to read the number of non-military personnel that has been placed upon the Federal pay roll, say in the last sixty days, it would be a revelation and an amazing disclosure to the taxpayers, not only of Pennsylvania, but the other forty-seven States of the Union.

May I also suggest, Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny is going to protest against the Department of Commerce, that he come up with something concrete that is wrong with what they are doing, whether it be a sin of omission or a sin of commission. The gentleman keeps complaining about them wasting money and he points out that they hired employes to do the very things the Department was created to do.

Mr. President, I would complain if they did not have people down there that were supposed to sell Pennsylvania to the United States. That is their job and they are doing it, and they have hired people to do it. After all, Senator Sordoni, as remarkable as he is, cannot do it all himself. He must have a little assistance and he has employees down there, and if the gentleman from Allegheny is suggesting that the Department is overstaffed, or that it is overpaid or that it is underpaid, I would suggest to the gentleman that he go down and have a conference with Mr. Sordoni and come up with facts and not merely some hybrid conclusions that he wants to draw by innuendo and insinuation; once more that old hackneyed business of trying to sow the seed of suspicion, the thing that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, and I abhor so greatly. I would suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that he have some constructive criticism and not these suspicious remarks that he is constantly making on the floor of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to get into the debate any more than the Senator from Allegheny wants to get into it. However, I think he, too, recognizes the position that he takes and the weak point upon which he stands when he compares the proposition proposed by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, to the situation as he thinks it is in Washington. I understand that all of the statements that have been made by the Republican orators in Washington have been based upon the same type of investigation as has been made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

Mr. President, I have said for a long time that I would like my facts to be as close to the truth as it is possible to get them, but to stand up here and complain that the Senator from Allegheny is wrong because something in Washington is wrong is not entirely a positive argument. You cannot legitimatize a child born out of wedlock by having another one. That is exactly what he seems to be wanting to do.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is a bit confused. Is this a contest to determine the paternity of an illegitimate child?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am afraid that is what it is, and on behalf of the illegitimate union, I think we should protest. We have been called a lot of things, Mr. President, on the floor of the Senate, but never by each other.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just wanted to illustrate very explicitly that if Washington is wrong, it does not excuse us. If what we do is wrong, we cannot excuse it on the ground that Washington does something twice as bad. I am trying to place upon the record the fact that what has happened in Washington, although it is indirectly a responsibility of ours, it is no greater responsibility of ours than if is of every citizen in the Commonwealth. Too many people in Pennsylvania are confused. I received letters from people asking me to do something about legislation that is down in Washington before the Federal Congress, and I write to them and tell them that we have nothing to do with the Federal Congress. They turn around and read the papers and see that everything that has happened in this Session, if it points to criticism of the State Government, why, we are answered by the fact that the Federal Government is twice as bad.

Now, Mr. President, I do not know how bad the Federal Government is. If the pepole of Pennsylvania want to send me there to find out, I submit that I am willing to go. However, until they do I cannot say that they have too many employees. I cannot say that their budget is overburdened with fat. I cannot say those things. Senator Duff says it is. Now, Senator Duff is in a better position to know than what I am, but I submit to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that we are in a better position to talk about our Budget, a better position to talk about our Departments, a better position talk about our State economy than we are about the Washington affair, and I say, for the benefit of all the people of Pennsylvania, let us stick to our knitting and stay in our own back yard.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, during this Session I have heard it said by the Majority Leader, at least three or four times, that the Commerce Department did a great job in so far as progress in Pennsylvania is concerned. Now, I am not going to argue whether the Department of Commerce should remain or whether we should abolish it and let the Department of Internal Affairs do the work. Neither do I want my remarks to be construed to mean that I am opposed to Senator Sordoni. I met Senator Sordoni, I like him, he is a successful businessman, and I think, if the Department of Commerce remains, he will do a good job, but so far as the work of the Department of Commerce in the past is concerned in bringing about a better Pennsylvania, it seems to me that in any progressive movement an increase in population would follow. If the Department of Commerce did the great progressive job that the Majority Leader says was done in Pennsylvania, then I think the last census would have indicated that the population in Pennsylvania would have increased. Instead of that, the population of Pennsylvania deceased, in spite of the Department of Commerce, to the extent where we are losing three Congressmen in Washington.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, you know the gentleman from Allegheny County always forces me to have the last word. I am not trying to sell Pennsylvania. All I am trying to do is to put some efficiency in government, by transferring a department that should not be a department in itself into the proper department where it belongs. The Department of Commerce belongs in the Department of Internal Affairs, and it can be run there for about $100,000, where we are spending now $1,400,000.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROSENFELD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, just so Senator Holland will not have the last word, the question seems to recur, and I think that what we argued yesterday is rearing its head again today, and probably tomorrow, and next week and the week after. Do we need clipping clerks in the Department of Commerce or don't we need clipping clerks in the Department of Commerce? Frankly, I do not know the answer and I do not know whether anybody on this Floor knows the answer.

I am prompted to remind the Senate that I have neglected to add the assistant clipping clerks, and I am frank enough to admit that I do not know the answer to that one either, but I think the Majority Leader yesterday indicated that there would be an opportunity for all of us soon, by way of public hearings, I believe, so that once and for all this problem can be definitely resolved.

Mr. President, we may after that have some differences of opinion, but I believe that all of us will know what we are talking about, and I am hoping that within the next few days or the next week some arrangements will be made for those public hearings. If not, I do not mind telling the Members of the Senate now that I will be forced to introduce a resolution which will make this possible, and I think that no matter how much time is spent on those hearings, there will be an awful lot of time saved on the floor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President and my fellow team mates, I appreciate very much, on behalf of Senator Sordoni, the glowing tributes that are always paid to him at the beginning of every remark we get from the other side of the aisle. They always extol the virtues of the individual involved in the Department, and then proceed to blast the Department into little bits.

Mr. President, let me suggest to the gentlemen of the Senate, that Senator Sordoni, as I have been told by the Members of the Minority Party, started out as a poor boy and he has amassed a fortune and has made of himself a great industrial leader in Pennsylvania. Now, gentlemen, he did not do that by encouraging drones on his pay roll, and he does not propose to do that by encouraging drones on the pay roll of the Department of Commerce. Now, if he is half as good as you claim he is, he is not going to have assistant clipping clerks down there that he does not need, and may I suggest that when we have these public hearings, you gentlemen attend and find out from Senator Sordoni whether or not he has one clipping clerk too many.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CROWE, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 366, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection A of Section 221 and to amend Section 241 of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. MOTION THAT RESOLUTION No. 113 BE TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, with the co-sponsorship of Senator Freed, I presented a Resolution on February 6, which is now known as Senate Resolution No. 113, commending the AMVETS of Pennsylvania for promoting the blood typing program, and calling upon the departments of State government to cooperate with them. This Resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, and on March 20th it was reported from that Committee, and I understand from the rules of the Senate it was laid on the table.

Mr. President, I now move that the Resolution be taken from the table for immediate consideration.

Mr. McGINNIS. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may the Senate be at ease?

(The Senate was at ease)

MOTION THAT RESOLUTION No. 113 BE TAKEN FROM TABLE WITHDRAWN

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding the motion.

CALENDAR

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 27, entitled:

An Act requiring every person in the employ of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any political subdivision thereof, other than elected officers, to take an oath of loyalty and imposing certain duties upon the State Civil Service Commission, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and county commissioners.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent at this time to offer an amendment on behalf of Messrs. Mallery, Lane, Neff and myself.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 3, page 7, lines 1 to 16, inclusive, by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof

Section 3 Before any employe shall be discharged under the provisions of this act, he shall have the right to a hearing before the Department of Justice at a time and place to be fixed by it. Notice thereof to be given to the employe and employers at least ten days prior to the hearing. The Department of Justice, after such hearing, shall determine whether or not the employe is subject to discharge, as provided by this act and shall give notice of its determination to the employe and his employer within five days after the hearing. Any employe aggrieved by the determination of the Department of Justice may, within thirty days after receiving notice thereof, take an appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to offer at this time an amendment to Senate Bill No. 27, which would give to an organization the same rights as it does now under the present amendment to an individual. In other words, this amendment provides that before an organization (and I call the Chair's attention to the fact that a political body is within the term "organization") can be declared to be a subversive organization by the Attorney General or the Justice Department, such organization shall likewise have a right to be heard and if dissatisfied with the determination of the hearing, have a right to appeal to the Dauphin County Common Pleas Court.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may the Senate be at ease?

(The Senate was at ease).

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, after consultation between both sides of the aisle, I ask at this time to withdraw my amendment so as not to confuse the printer today, but I intend to offer it tomorrow.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 27, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections? The Chair hears none.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 173 as follows:

An Act relating to the serving in public eating places of imported trout regulating the serving thereof and prescribing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 No person shall possess ready for serving offer to serve or serve at any public eating place trout imported from any country outside the territorial limits of the United States unless notice thereof is printed or otherwise set forth on the menu in type or lettering not smaller than that normally used to designate the serving of other food items

Section 2 Every person firm or corporation and every officer agent servant or employee of such person firm or corporation who violates the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon summary conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not in excess of fifty dollars ($50.00) Each instance in which imported trout is served to a patron of a public eating place in violation of this act shall constitute a separate offense

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 173, as I understand it—I do not know much about bills—is going to create another farce upon the small businessman. The small businessman in the State of Pennsylvania at the present time has a hard enough time to get along the way he is doing now, and if you impose this bill upon him, you will make him spend a lot of money to keep up with his new bill. In my estimation, this bill is just short of something of a new racket, because the first thing you know, you will have every Senator in the Senate introducing bills of the same type and before we know it we are going to be going into every businessman's place in the State and telling him what to do.

Mr. President, I am against the bill because I have attended two meetngis this morning, and at one meeting there were five Republicans and two Democrats, and nobody in the room knew what the bill was all about and they decided to give it up and try it again.

Mr. President, we have a lot of bills on the legislative books now that should really be wiped off the calendar, because it is just a thought of some State Senator here or there, where he gets a letter to do this, that or the other, and the first thing you know you have a bill. So, I am going to vote against this bill and if possible try to do something to help the poor businessman along.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I do not think the gentleman, as he explained, understands much about any bill and so I will endeavor to explain to him what this is all about.

Mr. President, this is to protect Pennsylvania industry. We have a number of commercial trout hatcheries in Pennsylvania that have been seriously harmed by the importation of Danish trout, and all the bill requires is that if any trout appears on a menu and the trout comes from outside the territorial limits of the United States, it must be so labeled. It is no hardship. Anyone can wrie "Danish" in front of trout on their menu. They can do it with a pencil if it is necessary, and that is all it does.

No, Mr. President, the commercial hatcheries in Pennsylvania are needed by the sportsmen who have to stock private streams that they have on their club grounds. It is needed by the Fish Commission because they buy fish eggs and fish from these hatcheries to supplement the fish they already have.

No, Mr. President, this Danish trout is produced at a cost of about forty-five cents a pound. It comes here frozen and comes here through the Marshall Plan, and it is a direct threat to Pennsylvania industry and that is what the bill is here for.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not quite like the implication made by the gentleman from Monroe with reference to my colleague from Philadelphia County. I think Senator McCreesh, from Philadelphia County, knew what he was talking about when he said you are imposing a hardship upon the small businessman. Once you start, Mr. President, to place upon your menu where and from whence comes a certain item, you must do it with beef, chicken, sugar and every other edible item. Why, it is silly that we must place upon our menu the written word that this fish comes from a foreign country, and it was because of the Marshall Plan. If that is the situation, I feel sorry for the men in this Chamber who would stoop so low as to oppose or uphold any bill just because it has the Marshall tag on it. It does not make sense for us to pass legislation of this nature. I never heard of it and you are starting something, and only God knows where it may end. This bill should be defeated for the reason stated by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I dislike very much to oppose legislation sponsored by my colleague, Senator Crowe. However, I believe that we are subjugating the bill to a field that is going to cause us considerable trouble, because eventually some one here is going to suggest that maybe we should place the name of Wisconsin before the butter we sell over the counters of our stores.

On top of that, Mr. President, in reading the penalty provisions of this bill, you will note that it says, "every person firm or corporation and every officer agent servant or employe of such person firm or corporation who violates the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon summary conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not in excess of $50".

Now, Mr. President, the question in my mind is whether or not we can place summary jurisdiction upon a misdemeanor. I do not believe it can be done, and I believe the penalty would have to be changed on this.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 173, on third reading, go over in its order until we straighten out a few things on it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, with genuine regret, I must object to the request of the gentleman from Washington. I think the bill should be acted upon. It does not come under the heading of legislation which requires waiting for but, nevertheless, I think the Senate understands the bill, and I think we should act on it today.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I cannot get worked up over this kind of legislation. If it were not so serious it would be laughable. The plea is made here that we are going to protect some Pennsylvania hatcheries. If anybody thinks that trout is not a luxury, just go down to the Penn-Harris and order a trout dinner. The trout that comes in from Denmark, the trout that is caught in the coastal waters usually sells in restaurants below the type of restaurants that sell brook trout. Brook trout has never appeared on the menus of restaurants that sell the so-called "blue plate special," and the hardship that is being created is created upon the people who like fish and like trout particularly.

Mr. President, it is impossible to sell domestic grown trout for everyday menu purposes in Pennsylvania, and it is just as logical to say, as Senator Haluska has called your attention to, there is a great deal of food that appears on our daily menus that is brought into this Country, some under the Marshall Plan because the Marshall Plan is conceivably part of our system of trying to create a world of peace. I do not think fish belong in the Marshall Plan or that it has anything to do with it. However, I do not think this trout ought to turn into a red herring.

Mr. President, I do not think that we ought to stoop to this type of legislation. We have got a great deal of important work to do. You cannot pass special legislation to take care of one, or two or three trout hatcheries. Those trout hatcheries went into business primarily for the purpose of raising trout for specific use. Danish trout has been coming into this Country for a century or more; other fish have been coming into this Country for a century or more. If tomorrow somebody starts to do something in Pennsylvania and he decides that the Legislature ought to pass a bill to throw a protective wall around him, do you think that the Legislature of Pennsylvania ought to do it?

I think the major sugar supply of this Country comes from Cuba, and yet the Louisiana sugar industry was on its knees a few years ago. Should we say that Louisiana sugar should have preference, and we are not allowed to import? That is not our jurisdiction.

Mr. President, I think that this type of legislation deserves a bipartisan vote of "no". I would hate to see this bill voted on on party lines. It makes us a laughing-stock to the people of Pennsylvania. If there is anybody on my side that thinks it is good legislation, vote for it, but by the same token, some of you men who think on the other side, ought to vote against it.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the distinguished gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Crowe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monore, Mr. Crowe, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Monroe, Senator Crowe, how do you propose that this law, if passed and approved, would be enforced?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, why, by the Department of Health.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Monroe, Senator Crowe, how?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, just like they enforce all the rest of the Pure Food Laws.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I would like to further inquire of the gentleman from Monroe, Senator Crowe, how do they do that?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I do not know the modus operandi of the Department of Health, but they seem to get along all right.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you, Senator Crowe.

Mr. President, the only way that you can enforce this act, if it becomes a law, is by hiring a lot of investigators to visit restaurants and other places where food is served. Here we are, gentlemen of the Senate, talking about a billion dollar budget. We are talking about levying an income tax on the people of Pennsylvania to finance the functions of government. Certainly, we do not want to add other people on the pay roll to police eating places in Pennsylvania with a law such as this, and I say, what sense is there in passing a law that you cannot enforce and you need an army to enforce this. For that reason, Mr. President, I think it is a bad bill.

Mr. President, in addition to that, what evidence has been submitted to us that the industry that the gentleman from Monroe talks about has suffered any injury? I think it is a bad bill, and for that reason I for one am going to vote against it.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, due to the fact that the Majority and Minority Floor Leaders are of one mind today, and they feel we should act upon this bill as of now, I withdraw my motion that this bill go over in order. I must take the position of opposing this type of legislation because I do not believe that in its present form it belongs upon our statute books.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the a ffirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REMARKS BY SENATOR DENT

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to note that we of the Democratic Party believe in free trade and free enterprise, and the Republicans are against free fish. I just want to say this in all seriousness. There is not a man in this room—and I think I am as good a judge of fish as any man in this room—that can tell a piece of imported trout from ninety-nine other species of fish once it is cooked and on the menu.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GEER and PAUL F. JONES.
RESOLUTION No. 25.

In the House of Representatives, March 26, 1951.

Whereas, The Juvenile Court of Allegheny County was established on the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, by Act No. 312 of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and

Whereas, The said Juvenile Court of Allegheny County has now been in operation since 1933; and

Whereas, There have been certain complaints made known to the Representatives from Allegheny County by lawyers therein and other individuals who claim that they have not been given fair treatment in the said Court; and

Whereas, The Juvenile Court of Allegheny County by its act does govern and have complete control over the lives of those children which come within its jurisdiction and that the said court can hear or rehear a case within its own discretion; and

Whereas, Great sums of money have been expended for the upkeep of the said court and it is impossible to know whether or not these sums of money are being properly directed toward the correction of juvenile delinquency and whether it is possible that this money could be more properly appropriated in the same court; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania Joint State Government Commission be directed to appoint a committee of three of its members, residents of Allegheny County, to make the following investigation:

1. To hear all complaints against the Juvenile Court of Allegheny County and to determine whether or not such complaints are sincere.

2. If, upon determination by the said committee it is concluded that these complaints are sincere and that there is just cause for further examination, then the said committee shall examine all of the records of the cases upon which these complaints have been made to determine whether or not there is sufficient cause for the decisions and penalties made in such cases.

3. Further, if the said committee finds evidence to substantiate and justify the complaints that were made, then the said committee shall, before the next meeting of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, investigate and rehear all complained cases which have resulted in the confinement of any children in institutions in this Commonwealth, and determine whether or not any of these confinements are unjustified and unfair in whole or in part, and whether or not there are children who are in the wrong institution for their correction; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall report its conclusions to the next meeting of the General Assembly and recommend whether or not the Juvenile Court of Allegheny County should be continued and, if so, what changes in legislation are necessary to make it operate more perfectly toward the purpose it was intended.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 98, entitled:

An Act regulating the appointment, promotion, suspension, reduction, removal and reinstatement of employes (except superintendents assistant superintendents inspectors and chief clerks) in bureaus of police in cities of the second class and defining the powers and duties of civil service commissions in such cities for such purposes

The first to eleventh sections inclusive were separately read and agreed to.

The twelfth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. THOMPSON offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 12, page 11, lines 3 and 4, by striking out both of said lines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Is it the intention by offering this amendment that the effective date of this bill, if it becomes a law, shall be September 1st of this year?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. That is correct.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Now would the gentleman please state the reason for the change from the bill becoming effective immediately and September 1st.

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a bill that puts the Pittsburgh Police Department under civil service. By that I mean, it puts the entire Department under civil service, up to the rank of Inspector.

The original bill that I introduced included the Inspectors to be placed under civil service, but because of the protests of the Mayor of Pittsburgh, who said the Inspectors are policy markers when he appeared in front of our Committee twice to argue this point, we deleted the inspectors from the bill in Committee.

Now, I understand statements have been made by the Director of Public Safety that the defectives of the city of Pittsburgh are not now considered to be under civil service. They are political appointments outright by the Mayor. The Director of Public Safety has made the statement that these men, these 37 city detectives, have been tested and examined by the Civil Service Commission of the City of Pittsburgh, and that the results of these tests and examinations are now known to the Civil Service Commission; but that nothing can be done about this matter because of the pending bill in Harrisburg that would put the entire Police Department under civil service.

Therefore, I have offered these amendments to postpone the effective date of this bill until September first so that the Mayor of Pittsburgh and his Director of Public Safety and his Civil Service Commission will have plenty of time to put into effect any reforms or any changes that they wish to make among their city detectives.

Embodied in this bill, of course, is the usual thing that is in any civil service bill and that is this: that when the bill becomes effective anybody holding a position of city detective or city patrolman, or any other position in the Pittsburgh Police Department up to the rank of Inspector, will be, as the expression is, frozen into their jobs.

The Director of Public Safety, as I have read his statement to the press, insinuated that this bill will interfere with the Mayor's prerogative of reorganizing this Detective Bureau. By making this bill effective the first of September, it gives him five more months to reorganize his Detective Bureau to suit himself, because at the present time these men are not affected in any manner whatsoever by civil service status.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that at the present time there has been instituted, or rather I should say the benefits of the Civil Service Act of the City of Pittsburgh have been extended to the detective force?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. The only knowledge I have of that is what I have read in the papers.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Well, is not the gentleman's argument then, a recognition of the fact that these men have been given an examination under the Civil Service Act of the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. I understand from the newspapers, and the gentleman says, that the Director of Public Safety has stated that these men have been examined and I believe even, if I remember correctly, in the Monday morning paper, I believe that the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission also made the statement that these men had been examined, and that their scores were now known, but that nothing could be done about making any changes until they received word from Harrisburg as to what is going to happen to this bill.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, that is all based upon what appears in the newspaper as a reported statement on the part of these officials. Is that correct?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. That is correct. That is where I got my information.

Mr. SCHMIDT. But it is an admitted fact that the City has taken steps to carry out the provisions of civil service insofar as the detective force of the City of Pittsburgh is concerned.

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. So far as I know, that is correct.

Mr. SCHMIDT. The fact that this has been done, does that make any necessity for the change in the bill as now written that it should take effect immediately upon passage of this proposed Civil Service Act?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. Yes, I think this amendment is necessary, because for a good many years now the present Mayor of Pittsburgh has held office,—I believe at least over the last five years, and previous to that time he had had a tremendous amount of influence on the government of the City of Pittsburgh. And as a matter of fact, two years ago this same bill was passed by this House and it was opposed by the city administration.

Five months ago, I believe, the Mayor announced that he intended to put the city detectives under civil service. Now at the present date the announcement has been made that the examinations have been completed but that this bill is affecting or holding back the city from making the corrections, if any are required, that they may consider necessary.

Therefore, this amendment is to give the city officials plenty of time to make whatever corrections they deem necessary, if any.

Mr. SCHMIDT. In other words, it is the thought of the proponents of this amendment that they question the sincerity of the administration of the City of Pittsburgh in carrying out the provisions of the Civil Service Act of the City of Pittsburgh insofar as detectives are concerned?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. I would like to answer that in this way: I am primarily interested in the fundamental principle of this bill. The city detectives are incidental to the bill. The bill so far as the Police Department of the City of Pittsburgh is concerned has a complete civil service, starting with patrolmen and running up to the office of Inspector, and it so happens that at the present time the detectives of the City of Pittsburgh do not come under civil service.

Under this bill they would automatically be included, and the only interest, so far as I can see where this detective issue comes into this thing, is in the fact that this bill covers them under civil service, but the detectives really, as far as I am concerned, are a side issue in the bill. The main principle of the bill is to provide the police with civil service protection, that is, the entire department.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman were thoroughly convinced that these grades that he states are being withheld purposely were to be made known today or tomorrow, there would then be no necessity for this amendment that he now offers?

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. I believe that that is possibly correct. However, I would point out to the gentleman that we have been most cooperative with the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh in this matter.

This bill was introduced early in this session and has been held in Committee, permitting the Mayor to appear before the Committee two times to speak on it. Up to the present date, I would say that we have been most cooperative and the only reason that I saw fit to introduce these amendments was to give the city administration plenty of time to do whatever they intended to do about their city detectives. In other words, if there are to be any changes or if they have any feeling that we are trying to crowd them on time, I wanted to give them plenty of time.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the particular amendment at this time. When the bill comes up for final passage, I shall talk further on the bill; but insofar as the amendment at hand is concerned, I feel that, as has been stated by the sponsor of the amendment, the only purpose behind this amendment is to force, as you may say, some action on the part of the city administration in making known the grades that were earned by the present members of the detective bureau who have been subjected to the test by the City Civil Service ordinance. There is no reason for questioning whether or not these grades will be made known. The only indication that there is is the report that appears in the paper that these grades were being held up subject to the decision of this House on the bill before us.

Now this bill is only in the House, and assuming that it might pass this House, it still has to go through the Senate; there would be no reason whatsoever to delay those grades for such a period of time.

These men, as I stated before, have taken examinations under civil service, and the city administration at the proper time will make known the effect of these grades, and I would ask each and every one of you to vote down this amendment because if you do it, you are always going to find where some administration, whether it be Republican or Democrat, in any municipality, is held in doubt by a Member of the Legislature, this will be a method of so called questioning the sincerity of that administration and I say it is wrong. We first have to see what the administrative action may be.

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I will ask you to vote for these amendments. These amendments are offered only in a spirit of giving the city administration of Pittsburgh plenty of time to find out anything they want to know about their present city detectives and to do anything they intend to do regarding them. These amendments are not offered in the manner of using a hammer to force somebody to do something. As a matter of fact, we give them five more months in which to take any action that they see fit.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 18, Printer's No. 42,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 30, as follows:

An Act to add clause (5) to section two thousand five hundred forty-one of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by providing for payments on account of pupil transportation where school buses are used for purposes of better gradation

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section two thousand five hundred forty-one of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" as amended by the acts approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 456) the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1195) and in part by the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 457) is hereby further amended by adding at the end thereof a new clause to read as follows

Section 2541 Payments on Account of Pupil Transportation School districts shall be paid by the Commonwealth for every school year on account of pupil transportation which and the means and contracts providing for which have been approved by the Department of Public Instruction in the cases hereinafter enumerated an amount to be determined by multiplying the cost of approved reimbursable pupil transportation inicurred by the district by the district standard reimbursement fraction In addition thereto the Commonwealth shall pay to school districts which own their own vehicles an annual depreciation charge of ten per centum (10%) to be calculated on the basis of the certified cost at which the district acquired the vehicle for which depreciation is claimed

Such payments for pupil transportation shall be made in the following cases

* * * * *

(5) To all school districts for pupils transported to and from schools used for the purpose of better gradation and approved by the county superintendent of schools

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 195, entitled:

An Act requiring owners and operators of tourist camps having heated cabins to provide adequate chimneys or escape vents for harmful gases and imposing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to move that House Bill 195, be committed to the Committee on Judiciary for clarification and possible amendment. It is not the idea to send this bill back to committee to kill it. We absolutely are sending it to the Committee on Judiciary for clarification. This bill originally was reported from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, therefore, I do not want anybody to get the impression that we are trying to kill the bill by sending it back to Committee. We absolutely want this bill passed in this session. We would like to have the Committee on Judiciary give it the consideration it merits.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 199, as follows:

An Act to further amend section four thousand three hundred twenty-four of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" by requiring certain payments to be made to the Firemen's Pension Funds by cities

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section four thousand three hundred twenty-four of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" as amended by the act aprpoved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven (P. L. 1032) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4324 Payments to Firemen's Pension Funds by City There shall be paid to the firemen's pension funds by every city annually a sum of money not less than one-half nor more than one per centum of all city taxes collected by the city other than taxes levied to pay interest on or extinguish the debt of the city or any part thereof

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-two

NOT VOTING—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 207, as follows:

An Act to further amend the second paragraph of section 2 of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 493) entitled as amended "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof" by further providing for the appointment of the plumbing inspector in certain cases in third class cities

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The second paragraph of section 2 of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 493) entitled as amended "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof" as last amended by the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 168) is hereby further amended to read as follows

* * * * *

The mayor of said cities is hereby authorized and required to appoint a practical plumber of at least ten years experience and not engaged or connected directly or indirectly with the plumbing business as plumbing inspector whose duty it shall be to supervise superintend and inspect all plumbing house and building drainage in conformity with the provisions of this act And the several cities are hereby authorized and required to make proper provision for the payment of the salary of the said plumbing inspector as provided by law Whenever the mayor of any city of the third class finds it impossible to secure as a plumbing inspector a qualified person who is not engaged in or connected with the plumbing business he shal have the power to appoint a person who is engaged in or connected with such business providing such person has the other qualifications herein prescribed In such event the mayor shall as the occasion may arise appoint a substitute inspector who shal supervise superintend and inspect the work done by the regular inspector or by the firm with which he is connected in the course of their private business Such substitute inspector shal be paid for such work reasonable compensation to be fixed by council.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor to explain the purpose of the bill.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, this bill, to give a little history of it, was passed by this House during the last session, and through an inadvertence on the part of my colleague Senator Mahany it never got out of committee in the Senate.

What the bill does briefly and very simply is this: the situation has arisen in one of my third class cities, and I think it has in other third class cities of Pennsylvania, where they are unable to find a plumbing inspector who will qualify under the present law. The reason being that the law now requires that the plumbing inspector be a master plumber of ten years' experience and not engaged or in any way connected with the plumbing business.

We have found in the last few years in Meadville that we are unable to find a plumbing inspector who would qualify under that law because there is no plumber available who is not engaged in some way in the plumbing business.

This bill would eradicate that situation to the extent that in any third class city where the same situation existed and they could not find probably a plumber who had retired and would take a job of plumbing inspector which pays about $50 a month; in that event they could appoint a plumber who was engaged in the business and had ten years experience as a plumbing inspector.

The bill goes a little further and provides that in the event a third class city has to appoint that type of person, the Mayor has the power to appoint another plumbing inspector to inspect the inspector's work, so that he cannot get away with anything. He is the super-inspector.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for his explanation, but that clause that says the inspector inspects the inspector sounds very good. Maybe we ought to have that in a lot of other places.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 77, Printer's No. 99 and

Senate Bill No. 237, Printer's No. 75

were passed over at the request of the Speaker.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution which was read and considered as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 55, Title: "An act prohibiting certain practices of discrimination because of race, color, religious creed, ancestry or national origin by employers, employment agencies, labor organizations, and others, as herein defined; creating the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Commission in the Department of Labor and Industry; defining its functions, powers and duties; providing for procedure and enforcement; providing for formulation of an educational program to prevent prejudice; providing for judicial review and enforcement; and imposing penalties."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on February 5, 1951.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, history once again is repeating itself. We face an issue that has been pending before this General Assembly definitely since the 1945 session.

In the 1945 session, the 1947 session, the 1949 session events followed the pattern. We had a bill admittedly controversial in nature. It was submitted to Committee. It was a bill that had been endorsed by both parties and by the Governor. It dangled in Committee, died in Committee, notwithstanding efforts to bring it upon the floor for a vote.

This bill has been pending in Committee since February 5th. It is a cardinal feature of the program, the platform on which the Governor of this Commonwealth was elected. It is a part of the program to which many Members of this House have declared their allegiance, and yet it has been slumbering in Committee.

What reason is there why a bill admittedly of wide concern should slumber in Committee during a period when there has been little important business before the House? Why should this bill be carried along until the last hectic days of the session? It can now be considered at length, calmly, soberly—we have plenty of time; there is every reason for action.

The issue before the House is very plain. Does this House want to bring this bill upon the floor or does this House once again desire to take refuge behind the hostile attitude of a Committee? If the Committee had wanted to act the Committee could have acted.

Now I am well aware of the time honored tradition, that this House is supposed to abdicate its sovereignty in the face of the Committee. Two hundred Members of this House may desire the opportunity to vote upon a measure and yet the tradition is that even though two hundred Members want to vote upon a measure it is possible for eight Members or ten Members to deny them that right.

I am simply asking this House today to register its attitude as far as any FEPC legislation is concerned. If you want to kill this bill, today is the time to kill it. I shall not again endeavor to discharge a Committee from an FEPC bill, although another measure is pending. It is for this House to make the record; it is for this House to say where it stands. If you do not want this bill, keep it in Committee. If you want this bill, bring it out or obtain some definite commitment either from the Majority Leader that the bill will come out, or from the Chairman of the Committee that the bill will come out, or from the Governor of this Commonwealth that he will jolly well see to it that this bill will come out.

Former Governors have been for bills of this kind and they have not come out. Former Majority Leaders have been for bills of this kind and they have not come out. Members of Committees have been for this kind of bill and they have not come out. Now while we have plenty of time, let us take our stand. If we are for this bill bring it out; if we are against the bill we will say no, no, we must not interfere with the sacred prerogatives of the Committee They are the keepers of our conscience, they, the Committee, and not this House are the custodians of the pledges made by candidates. A little group of men are the keepers of the conscience and the pledge of the parties.

Will we let this little group of men say that the Governor was wrong, the platform committees were wrong, and we are so afraid of a tradition that we cannot register the convictions which we commonly share?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman on the other side of the House has rather exaggerated what the meaning of a discharge resolution is.

I feel that the Members of this House should know one thing, that a vote to discharge a Committee is certainly not a vote on the merits or demerits of a bill; nor is it a vote on the principles of a bill. We would be taking upon ourselves, as Members of this House, the breaking of a principle of democratic government, if we voted to discharge Committees because they had bills in them that we wanted out.

I am quite sure there are a lot of Members sitting in this House today that have personal bills that they are distinctly and definitely interested in. They certainly would not like the idea of having a Committee setup vote to discharge every bill.

If I am correct in my figures, there are over eight hundred bills in this House today. If we are going to break down the principle of our committee institution why have them? Let us put all the bills on the floor of the House and let us stay here for two or three years and vote on them; that is what we would be doing.

Also, Mr. Speaker, in our constitution I would like to quote from Article III, Section 2. It definitely states that "No bill shall be considered unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom and printed for the use of its Members."

I can assure every Member of this House that voting to discharge a Committee is not voting for the principle of FEPC, whether we want it or whether we do not want it, let me assure you of that.

I can assure the gentleman that the Committee is considering the bills. This resolution refers to House Bill 55. There are others bills in the Committee—542 is also a FEPC bill. I do not believe they are ignoring these bills, but I certainly can assure him that this Committee in not reporting the bills out at this time is not breaking any principle. There are a lot of important bills in Committees, not only FEPC, but also a lot of other administrative bills.

Our Republican platform definitely stated that it would support a FEPC bill. The Governor has stated that, and I can assure the gentleman that if the Governor or the Republican party had any intention of not supporting FEPC legislation they would not have included $350 thousand in their budget for a FEPC Commission. If the gentleman will check the budget that has been offered, he will see that there is a distinct amount of $350 thousand in it.

Let me again reiterate that a vote to discharge a Committee is definitely not a vote on the principle of a bill. We would be breaking down our very democratic type of government if we voted on every bill on that basis.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of unduly prolonging the discussion, but I should like to call to the attention of the Majority Leader the facts that there is a vast difference between a bill that may be charged with personal interest and a bill that may be charged with local interest. Here is a bill that is charged with statewide interest. It embodies the pledges made by representative and responsible party leaders. There is a vast difference. I am sure that if the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Majority leader, will consult his memory and his conscience, and recall his experience with legislative committees he will scarcely say that they and they alone embody the essentials of democracy. They do not embody the essentials of democracy, because they operate behind closed doors; because their record is secret; because nobody knows in Committee who votes for this and who votes for that.

I assure the gentleman that how a Member votes today will be a matter of common knowledge, and that is the difference between the Committee system and the Committee tradition to which the gentleman adheres, and the democratic theory to which we adhere. We want to know how Members vote and we cannot find that out when a committee meets. We cannot establish responsibility. We do not know who thrusts the dagger in our back, but we do know when we get a record vote to discharge a Committee. That is all I have to say, and it terminates the discussion as far as I am concerned.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, again I feel that the gentleman is definitely implying that a vote on the discharge of a Committee is a vote on the principles of a bill. I again would like to state and definitely remind him that it is not a vote on the principles of a bill. I think it is the procedure of democratic government to have secret votes.

I would also like to remind him that there is minority representation on that committee that also has a right to vote. Regardless of how they vote, I do not believe that their vote or any other vote should be divulged. That has not been the process of democratic government, and it should not be today. Voting to discharge this committee, does not involve the principle of FEPC. It is a principle of government that is involved, not the principles of the bill under discussion.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, this afternoon takes me back just two years when this same question came before this House. And were it not for the fact that I know that Charley Smith is over on the other end of the microphone, I would hear the same voice and the same words of Charley Brunner: "Gentlemen, a vote against this resolution is not a vote against the principles of FEPC."

I want to tell you that the session continued for six weeks after those words were said two years ago, and as each and every one of you here today know, we got no FEPC bill. In fact the eminent leader of the opposition party in the Senate told us after the last session, when the newspapers were on the necks of everyone who opposed this resolution, that such a bill was going to be studied by the Joint State Government Commission, and that we would have an appropriate report back to us. Those are the promises we get. It is never a vote against the bill. It is not against the principle of FEPC, but you cannot have it.

Now, Members of this session, each and everyone of you received a questionnaire during the last campaign, from the state organization representing FEPC in which, among several questions, they asked you, "Would you vote for the discharge of a Committee having an FEPC bill before it, if such a bill were held in Committee?" And if memory serves me right, there were many of you on the other side who answered that you would. I say to you again you cannot be for FEPC and oppose this resolution.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I disagree with the gentleman's last statement. I am for FEPC as an individual, and when the bill comes on the floor of the House I will prove it by voting for it.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Rose.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Rose, Andrews and Williams.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. TAHL offered the following reason for his vote.

I am voting "No" on the resolution to discharge the Committee from considering House Bill 55, because we were assured by the Majority Leader that this bill will move, more particularly in view of the fact that the Governor's Budget includes $350,000 for the operation of the FEPC bill.

I am in favor of said bill and will vote for it when it is reported out of Committee.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 2 on page 14 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1951.

The largest group of unknown Revolutionary soldiers from all states lie in unmarked graves at Valley Forge—over 3,000.

A grave of an unknown Revolutionary soldier at Valley Forge was so designated and marked many years ago by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This marked grave at Valley Forge has been nationally known as "The Grave of the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution."

Valley Forge has long been accorded the distinction that this commemoration suggests and is increasingly recognized by the American people; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to adopt legislation officially designating as the "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution," the grave at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, so designated and marked by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives forward certified copies of this resolution and of its adoption to the President of the United States, the Presiding Officers of both Houses of Congress, and to each Senator and Member in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION RECOMMITTED

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for further study.

The motion was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise for a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the Committee on Rules have a statistician who keeps track of the mortuary record and can tell us how many dead men there are now in that Committee?

The SPEAKER. Will the Chairman of the Committee on Rules answer the gentleman's inquiry.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to give the gentleman the same answer that the Speaker did. How many dead are there in the cemetary?

Mr. ANDREWS. All of them.

Mr. SMITH. I think the gentleman has the right answer.

The SPEAKER. This is a gloomy subject.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, noting the enthusiasm with which various Members on the other side of the House have from time to time introduced resolutions, it is a salutory situation that we are now informed that they are all dead.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker: as housewives, the women who are members of the Democratic delegation from Philadelphia, we are, as I believe, quite properly interested in domestic protocol.

We have to see to it that our men folks fare forth into the world properly adorned.

We are particularly interested in making certain that the handsome, affable, statesmanlike leader of our Philadelphia delegation presents a proper front upon all historic occasions. Members of the House will tonight pay a belated tribute to St. Patrick. There are those who say St. Patrick was a Frenchman; others contend he was a Welshman. According to the family tree of the distinguished leader of Philadelphia's Democratic delegation in this House, St. Patrick was an Irishman.

Bridget O'Houlihan Murphy Scanlon was his aunt, and Joe Scanlon of Philadelphia is one of her lineal descendents. Indeed, it was she who made the broom with which St. Patrick swept the snakes out of Ireland. It is Joe Scanlon's proud boast that he has a piece of that very broom today, which he treasures as a family heirloom.

However, Mr. Speaker, in order that Joe Scanlon may, at tonight's celebration in honor of St. Patrick, be accorded the conspicuous attention he so richly deserves by reason of his heritage, the women who are members of the Philadelphia delegation are presenting him with a necktie—a necktie that will stamp him as a member of the immortal St. Patrick's clan.

He is commanded to wear this tie at the celebration this evening and, Mr. Speaker, it is our hope that he doesn't choke with pride—but if he doesn't appear at the affair tonight properly arrayed, we hope he chokes!

The SPEAKER. The Chair will suggest that the gentleman present himself at the Bar of the House, and that the lady from Philadelphia put the tie on for him.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I listened with interest to my colleague from Philadelphia, Mrs. Varallo. I would like to state, rather I would like to raise an objection to her stating that St. Patrick was an Irishman. Two years ago on St. Patrick's day I convinced a certain Italian gentleman that St. Patrick's father was an Italian and I still stand for that fact.

I want to thank the lady from Philadelphia for the tie and she can rest assured that it will be on me tonight.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to welcome a former Member of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Hon. Edward T. Gallagher, Jr.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. COOPER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Banking and Building and Loan Associations to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. WATERHOUSE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Workmen's Compensation to meet during the session of the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROBERTSON. House Bill 62 is presently reported out of Committee. My inquiry is whether I can add an additional sponsor's name to that bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the applicable part of Rule 18 of the House:

> "No House bill shall have more than two sponsors, and no sponsor shall be added after a bill is reported from Committee."

Mr. ROBINSON. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in this particular case could the Rule be suspended?

The SPEAKER. A Rule may always be suspended by unanimous consent of the House, or by 105 votes.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, my inquiry is whether the House will agree to suspend Rule 18. I believe the Speaker stated that would be necessary in order to permit the name of Dr. George J. Sarraf, the gentleman from Allegheny County, to be added as an additional sponsor to House Bill 62 which is presently out of Committee.

The SPEAKER. So that the gentleman will understand, and for the information of the House, a Rule may be suspended by a vote of 105 members, or the same result may be accomplished by unanimous consent, rather than to insist upon the procedure necessary to suspend the Rule.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask unanimous consent of the House to have an additional sponsor added to House Bill 62 presently on the calendar, or will be on the calendar tomorrow morning. The name is George J. Sarraf, the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to add the name of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf to House Bill No. 62? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Mr. RAY L. RILEY IN THE CHAIR

SENATE MESSAGE

An Act to amend section 1408 of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 624), entitled, as amended, "An act relating to the business of banking and to the exercise of fiduciary powers by corporations; providing for the organization of corporations with fiduciary powers, and of banking corporations, with or without fiduciary powers, including the conversion of National banks into State banks, and for the licensing of private bankers and employes' mutual banking associations; defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such corporations, of existent corporations authorized to engage in a banking business, with or without fiduciary powers, of private bankers and employes' mutual banking associations, and of the officers, directors, trustees, shareholders, attorneys, and other employes of all such corporations, employes' mutual banking associations or private bankers, or of affiliated corporations, associations, or persons; restricting the exercise of banking powers by any other corporation, association, or person, and of fiduciary powers by any other corporation; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, prothonotaries, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by making further provision concerning the effect of merger or consolidation of banking institutions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GUARNIERI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on the occasion of St. Patrick's Day and the dinner that we shall all attend this evening, and also being partly musically inspired, and inspired by the muses I wish to offer this tune which I dedicate to the Republican Majority in this House. It is entitled,

"The Talk of the State." It is to be sung according to the lyrics to the tune of "Talk of the Town." I think we are familiar with the former tune which was once very popular, "The Talk of the Town." Well, these are the lyrics and we can all sing it, of course, tonight if we want to at the St. Patrick's Day dinner.

THE TALK OF THE STATE

We can't go any place
We hate to show our face
People stop and stare
It's so hard to bear
Everybody knows we're in session
It's the talk of the State

We promise voters much
We give them such and such
We don't know why we're here
We have no program clear
Everybody knows we're in session
It's the talk of the STATE

We send out invitations to voters and relations
Announcing we're candidates

Voters and relations vote our confirmation
How can we face them, What can we say?

The weather is mighty fine
It's three thousand on the line
The pay days are too few and There ain't enough to do

Everybody knows we're in session
It's the talk of the State.

Dedicated to the Republican Members of the House. In honor of St. Patrick's Day Dinner.

Mr. BOLTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Guarnieri to sing that song.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, perhaps at the present time I do not choose to sing. I'd rather sing this evening and I think that, of course, you all can join in song at the gala St. Patrick dinner. I may have certain qualifications or abilities, but one thing I do lack, although I may play the piano, is the ability to vocalize. I would very much like to favor my colleague with an out burst of song. Of course, I may favor him with that, but of course, at the same time cause undue annoyance to the ears of the other Members here, so I think when we are in a joyous mood this evening after a bit of nectar, having been imbibed, perhaps the Members will make allowance for the raucousness of my voice at that time, rather than at this time in the Hall of the House. So I will ask the gentleman to withdraw his request at this time and postpone it for later. Would he please do that?

Mr. BOLTON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman, and I think I thank God.

THE SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Riley, for presiding.

STUDENTS OF STEWARTSTOWN HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President, I wish to announce the presence here in the Senate Chamber of a very fine group of students from York County. They are thirty members of the Freshman Class of Stewartstown High School, who are presently studying Pennsylvania History. They are here under the leadership of their instructor, Mr. Dewey Taylor.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair should like to ask the guests of Senator Leader to please rise in place and take a bow.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. NEFF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would like to at this time make a few remarks in regard to the Governor's Budget Message of last week. I know that we have heard several dissertations in regard to that Message. This will be in the form of, let us say, a layman's review and report on the Budget, not nearly as all inclusive as was Senator Dent's with a background of fiscal government and experience to draw upon, or as pointed and specific, department-wide, as were the remarks of the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, as of yesterday, but as I reviewed the Budget there were several items that caught my attention, which I feel should be commented upon here in this body.

I call your attention to Page 1 of the Budget Message, top of the Column 2, and I read:

"The financial program set up two years ago for this biennial period has operated successfully and as planned with the exception of expenditures for public assistance and for public school subsidies. Due primarily to strikes, public assistance expenditures have far exceeded expectations. Fortuniately a $25,000,000 contingent appropriation was made. That appropriation is now nearly exhausted and there is need of a deficiency appropriation of $10,000,000 to complete the biennium."

I take exception to that statement by the Governor, as I believe would anyone who is cognizant of the facts.

In the first place, the administration of the Department of Public Assistance has been under fire from several sources for a period of months not the least of which has been the Joint State Government Commission. The Press of the State also has repeatedly made an issue of the gross misappropriations of the tax payers funds by this same agency or department.

Further, I know, and I am sure that many other members of this body know, that the charges leveled by the Joint State Government Commission and the Press at this Department are not only fully justified and warranted but can be construed to have only scratched the surface of a sordid story of a degenerate State administrative body.

Why did the Governor, in the face of the obvious facts, not have courage to frankly state the facts as to why there is a deficit of $35,000,000 in this Department of Government?

I do not like to be kidded, and I do not appreciate a kidder in high office in matters as serious as a $35,000,000 misappropriation of taxpayers money.

I am not naive enough to belive that the Governor would have blandly admitted the truth of the matter and to have reported that, due to necessities of a political compaign in the year 1951, it was poltically expedient to retain as temporary wards of the State on public assistance an undetermined number of chislers and ward heelers, or to admit even now that twenty percent of those receiving a monthly dole from the State in the form of public assistance are the backbone of the hoodlum fringe of numbers writers and common gamblers in the Commonwealth.

However, I was surprised and mortified to read that not only did the Governor evade the truth of the matter, but he had the effrontery to lay at labor's doorstep the odious responsibility for this deficit.

Since when did the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the home of the Farrel Act, a State of dubious rank in the matter of unemployment and workmen's compensation benefits, find a justification in its statutes to pay a subsidy of $35,000,000 during a biennium to striking workers?

The answer to that is not of the sixty-four dollar variety, it is quite simple and even the Governor should know it. The State did not pay this money to Pennsylvania's destitute because of strike action.

I know whereof I speak, for I know who suffers most due to strikes; I know who provides the meager aid to strikers; I know who pays the coal bills of the less fortunate, who provides the medical care for the ill, and who buys the shoes for the kiddies, and believe me it isn't the State or the Department of Public Assistance.

I would feel confident of the truth if I stated that not more than one-half of one per cent of all the strikers in this Commonwealth ever asked or received State aid in time of strike, and that certainly will not add up to a fraction of $35,000,000.

The Governor, in making such an unwarranted charge, has perpetrated an unfairness on a segment of our people. That is not only unfair and untrue, but it should be corrected for the record by the Governor himself, and believing John S. Fine to be of the same caliber as the size of the position he holds, I ask that he do so.

An other matter that I view as cause for comment I find on Page 8 and I read:

"At the last Session of the Legislature an appropriation of $500,000 was made for the first time to promote nurses training in private hospitals. Under that appropriation, eighty-nine hospitals received aid in nurses' training courses. The appropriation was not sufficient, and was exhauted last July. I am recommending a deficiency appropriation of $440,000 to complete the biennium. As it is tremendously important to increase our nursing corps, I recommend an appropriation of $940,000 for this purpose."

I wish to premise my remarks on this matter by stating that I do not take issue with the need for accelerated nurses' training facilities or the need for properly preparing trainees in ever increasing numbers.

However, does it not seem strange that an administrative body can totally and fully disregard the mandate of the Legislative Body to the extent of expending ninety per cent more than the sum allotted to it, and have not one word of comment or criticism directed toward it; in fact, to have such questionable procedure in a left-handed manner condoned by the Chief Exectutive of the State, when he recommends to the General Assembly that the exact amount of the past appropriation, plus the deficit, be granted for the coming or next biennial period.

My only observation to such procedure is, thank goodness for the taxpayer that the original appropriation was not $10,000,000, because by the same yard stick the Governor would now be asking for $20,000,000.

Seriously, I believe that this type of administration is subject to the severest type of criticism. A flagrant disregard of the intent and mandate of the Legislature such as this cannot be condoned.

On Monday, the distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland, the Minority Leader, and again on Tuesday of this Week, Senator Holland of Allegheny, each in turn made a case and a plea before this body for economy in government as an alternative to increased taxation. I, for one, was impressed. I, for one, believe them to have been sincere in recognition of the grave problem encumbent upon us as Legislators, to give to our constituents the best in government at a minimum cost in taxation. So, I listened carefully to their remarks and conclusions that could only have come after long and earnest application to the problem at hand. I am sorry to say that the appreciation that I had for their work did not seem to be shared by a number of others in this chamber. As evidence of this lack of appreciation, issue was taken with their respective comments, and, as is too often the case, ridicule uncalled for and unbecoming to this body was leveled, even to the extent of, by inference, comparing one of these men to a nationally known comedian. And so it is that I shall in all probability be subjected to the same type of a barrage for a similar plea for economy in government. However, If such criticism is my lot, it shall be excused by me, as I am sure it was by these two gentlemen, upon due recognition of its origin.

As I continued my perusal of the Governor's Budget recommendations, I found on Page 22 a request for $6,000,000 for the State Police, and further along, in accordance with a note on Page 22, I found on Page 50, under Motor License Revenue, a request for $14,000,000 for the State Police (both figures are round numbers), or a total request by the Governor of $20,000,000 for the State Police for the coming biennial period.

Now here is an excellent place to start paring the budget and pared it must be.

If it is necessary to economize in government, let us do so where the pinch will be felt the least. I do not feel that this government can afford to spend $20,000,000 for the maintenance of a force of township traffic cops.

Under the procedure established by the Martin Administration, the State Police have degenerated to the place where they perform a limited number of duties, and these not entirely in line with good government. Among these are certain traffic law enforcements for which they are to be commended.

Under the Wilhelm-Martin manifesto that has become an unbreakable code of ethics, they are not permitted to prosecute law violators in the various counties and political subdivisions unless requested to do so by the local authorities or on specific orders from Harrisburg. Under such system, no group of police officers can maintain a semblance of morale, and certainly their value in dollars and cents to the taxpayers, when it amounts to $20,000,000 per biennium, is to be questioned.

In certain counties and other political subdivisions, this group of State officers has degenerated, due to this vicious code of procedure, into little more than a whip to be used by politicians to keep their larceny-minded and racketeeering henchmen in line. This, I know, is no secret, or perhaps I sould say, no revelation to the members of this body, and that being true, I hope that even at a time when crime in America is enjoying an unsavory and disdainful popularity, some of you perhaps can agree that either our State Police be given the status of policemen or be recognized as a group of township traffic cops and bagmen for partisanism politicians and be curtailed accordingly.

It is my sincere belief that this budget request of the Governor can be curtailed to the point that no new tax shall be necessary. Furthermore, I also believe, contrary to an expression of opinion on the part of the Majority Leader as of yesterday, that an appreciable savings can and should be made through a reduction in the number of departmental employees.

The Majority Leader in that instance, made point of the fact, as he put it, that only eight per cent of the budget request could be attributed to salaries. Eight per cent sounds insignificant, does it not, and it was meant to. However, eight per cent of the budget request is approximately $60,000,000, and a twenty per cent decrease that might be prudently wrought, without a damaging blow being dealt in the standard of service rendered, would bring about a savings of $12,000,000. Certainly, even in an atomic age of billion dollar budgets, that is worth the effort. From a more practical view, a new Governor has been elected and the soverign state saved for another four years for the good old G.O.P. A little reduction in the number of pay rollers would not be more than a return to normal, or a reflection on his predecessor.

Let us not forget that the power to tax is the power to destroy. Let us not in any manner be party to destroying the confidence of Pennsylvanians in a thing we all love, our way of life.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to say at the outset to the distinguished gentleman from Lawrence, Senator Neff, that under no circumstances, at any time, do I ever want to suggest that any remarks from either side of the aisle would be adverse criticism, and I want to reassure the gentleman that at any time the distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, and I exchange criticism, there is nothing personal about it, and he and I both understand it. I certainly would join Senator Neff in resenting any personal criticism or individual chastisement or scolding that might be made here on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. President, I would like to make a few observations on his comments on the budget, but first let me say to him that under no circumstances do I want him to feel that anything I might say as to his remarks would be personal criticism, and I do not want him to feel that I am attempting in any way to handcuff him or to bar him from making observations on the Budget or on any other type of legislation that might be before the Senate. We certainly welcome any suggestions that any gentleman of the Senate might have that will improve the fiscal picture of the Commonwealth.

Now, Mr. President, there are one or two things that were suggested that I would like to comment on.

First, on the question of the recommendation of the Joint State Government Commission. Now, Mr. President, as the gentleman knows, the Joint State Government Commission, in a way, is the fact-finding arm of the Legislative Body; it is composed entirely of Members of the General Assembly, it is staffed by Members of the General Assembly, and the sole purpose of the Joint State Government Commission is to endeavor to ascertain, during the interim between Sessions, facts that will assist us in legislating when we come back for each biennial session. As the gentleman will recall, during the 1949-1950 interim, a condition arose which was brought to the attention of the Joint State Government Commission, and the Commission met and decided that they would go ahead and look into this matter of public assistance which they did, but before they looked into it they discussed it very carefully with the fiscal department's set up by law to approve deficiencies. They discussed with them the feasibility of creating a recognized deficiency in their appropriation, to see if they could bring to light some of these matters that had been brought to us as rumors. As a result there was a very careful investigation made, nonpartisan and nonpolitical, and certain recommendations have grown out of that that we feel, Mr. President, will materially contribute to savings in the Administration and the handling of this public assistance problem. I think, Mr. President, that a lot of the facts that were developed by the Joint State Government Commission, and that development, again let me repeat, came from both sides of the political aisle, have contributed in a great measure to the savings which are reflected in the budget in the Department of Public Assistance appropriation.

Mr. President, the gentleman also commented upon the appropriation that was made for nurses training. Now, Mr. President, the General Assembly contributed in a great measure to this problem. I think we are a little embarrassed that it is in here because we do not like to see our own sins of omission or commission brought to light, because we are personally responsible for the figure of $500,000 which was the appropriation to promote nurses training in private hospitals, because as the Budget Message so clearly states, this was the first time that an educational field of this type had been entered into by the General Assembly, and we were somewhat naive in approaching it. We endeavored to solve it with a half million dollar appropriation, and we thought at that time it would be sufficient, but the hospitals and the young ladies seeking training responded so far beyond our expectations that it became necessary to create a deficiency appropriation, and that is what the $440,000 is for. As a matter of fact, I am advised that in a number of hospitals they have not even as yet been paid since last July, and that deficiency appropriation will cover that and the $500,000, plus the deficiency appropriation, is hooked together as the figure which we are recommending as an appropriation for this purpose in the next biennium.

Now, Mr. President, if the General Assembly feels that $940,000 is not sufficient, then it is incumbent upon us to enlarge that appropriation. However, if we feel that the nurses training in the hospitals can be curtailed, then, of course, that curtailment would be reflected in the diminution of the fund set up in the Budget. However, I think that the experience that we have had with this Budget appropriation is such that it is a little too early to decide whether we should increase or decrease the $940,000. I think from what experience we have had, it is indicated that at least for the last biennium it was $940,000, and if we set that figure as the appropriation at this time, we might be able to come somewhat nearer the proper figure. I agree with Senator Neff on the question of kidding about it when he suggests that if it were $10,000,000, that the appropriation would have been for an additional $10,000,000. I think the kidding has escaped from this side of the aisle over to the other side of the aisle, because the gentleman couldn't be serious about it.

Now, on his comments about the State Police, Mr. President, there are two State Police appropriations, one is from the General Fund and one is from the Motor Vehicle Fund. In the General Fund, which is found on Page 22 of the Budget, there is an increase in the appropriation to the State Police of $318,000 over and above what we gave them in 1949. If the gentleman of the Senate will recall, and I am speaking from memory because, as Senator Neff can readily understand, I have had no opportunity to go back and get the numbers of the bills, but as I recall, in the 1949 Session we did increase the number of State Police, and that automatically increases not only on your pay roll but if also increases the contribution which the State makes to the State Police Retirement Fund, which is a separate entity and it is handled in an entirely separate manner from the manner in which we handle other retirement funds on Capitol Hill. Then, too, we have reflected in this General Fund appropriation the same thing that will be reflected in every department on Capitol Hill, and that is an increased appropriation for salaries to take care of the increases which were given in 1950, and for that reason there is the $318,000 increase over the $5,800,000 budget. It is not, percentage wise, an exorbitant increase. It reflects this natural sphere of inflation that you are in.

Now, Mr. President, back on Page 50 of the Budget is the appropriation to the State Police from the Motor License Fund. Now, there have been a lot of serious requests from well-meaning citizenry to have the General Assembly at this Session again materially increase the number of State Policemen so that the highways can be more easily patrolled, and so that the fellows who are patrolling the highways will not have such long tours of duty. I think that problem has been brought individually to every Member of the Senate, as well as every Member of the House, and the question is going to be before us before we adjourn sine die as to whether or not we should increase the number of State Police and assign them, perhaps, specifically to this highway patrol program, so that our ever-increasing highway program can be better handled from a traffic standpoint.

Now, Mr. President, the gentleman from Lawrence, Senator Neff, must understand that the Motor License Fund appropriation to the State Police, which is $14,250,000, comes from the Motor License Fund and not from the General Fund, and that is done deliberately because of the services performed by this particular branch of the highway patrol system, and if the gentleman will refer to the budget from the Turnpike Commission, I think he will find that there is also an appropriation to the State Police to compensate for the patrolling by the Highway Police or the State Police of the Turnpike, and, naturally, as soon as the East Branch of the Turnpike was opened up, there was an increase in the number of men assigned to the Turnpike and, therefore, their appropriation was increased. The same thing will be true when they open up the western end, and if we live long enough, the same will be true when they open up the northern end of the Turnpike, and for that reason the separate appropriations are for specific services furnished.

Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman that under no circumstances do I feel that there is any attempt at all on the part of the Executive Branch of the Government to deliberately falsify figures in this Budget in order to promote or promulgate any political plan of the past or the future. There is bound to be, and I appreciate the gentleman's sincerity—there is bound to be a genuine concern by all of the two hundred fifty-eight members of the General Assembly to see to it that we present the factual fiscal picture to the people of Pennsylvania. That is the thing we are most interested in, and we want to crystallize conclusions that will reflect that factual picture. I appreciate the contribution the gentleman has made, and I hope in turn he will appreciate what the facts are that we are trying to give to him for his consideration.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. NEFF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President, I am duly appreciative of the remarks of the Majority Leader. I would like for his edification to state that I recognize the manner in which the State Police are paid and from what various sources of revenue their pay is derived, that portion of the budget that goes to finance activities of the State Police.

I only say this—to reiterate it once again—that if they are going to be State Police worth $20,000,000 to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth, regardless of what fund the moneys come from, it is tax revenue. Let them be State Police and do the job, and not hamstring them from Harrisburg. It has gotten to the point where in the various political subdivisions in this State, a State Policeman cannot be a policeman unless he is given the O.K. by the district attorney of the various counties or called in by a borough magistrate or the mayor of a city. He cannot go out and make arrests and prosecute law violators as he should.

Mr. President, I am not quibbling that $20,000,000 is too much if the State Policemen are permitted to police the State as they should, but it has not been the practice for them to do that. As a result, I believe that in any body of this kind, the morale of the group, after a period of eight or ten years, would certainly be at low ebb.

Now, Mr. President, as I have followed the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny in regard to the deficiency appropriation for nurses training, it might be understood or misunderstood by some member of this body, or someone within the hearing of my voice, that I object to expanding facilities for the training of nurses. As I stated in my original address, and I quote:

"I wish to premise my remarks on this matter by stating that I do not take issue with the need for accelerated nurses training facilities or the need for properly prepared trainees in ever increasing numbers."

Mr. President, that is just what I meant and I hope that it is not misunderstood, but I do not see how we can condone an administrative agency in expending moneys ninety per cent over and above the original legislative mandate for that body, and whether it is for nurses training, civil defense or anything of a non-emergency nature, it is just not good government. I think that we should let ourselves be heard on matters of this kind, and this is an outstanding example of a total disregard of the mandate of the Legislature. Here is a deficiency appropriation request for ninety per cent of the original grant.

I hope I have made myself clear that I in no way wish to impede this fine program, but this is an outstanding example of maladministration and should not be condoned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not think that we will have another opportunity this week to make suggestions or to discuss the problem that will be before us very shortly, and that problem is the problem of the Budget and the finances to provide for the necessities of the Budget. I just want to make this suggestion to the Members of the Senate on both sides of the Aisle. I suggest that every member of this Senate take home with them the release from the Study Commission of the General Assembly, the Joint State Government Commission, relative to public assistance in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have stated before and I want to restate here now that the Department of Public Assistance is a creature of the Legislature. The Department of Public Assistance was created because some people were of the opinion that it would be the most equitable manner in which to dispense relief.

Mr. President, I have said before and I want to repeat again that the problem as it was known in those days is no longer with us. We have on public relief today in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania sons and daughters of families that have been on relief from the time those sons and daughters were born, and the sons and daughters themselves are married and have children of their own and they have never been off of relief. That is one of the most serious things that faces this General Assembly, whether we have, as men, the courage to destroy this monstrosity that has been built up over the years, and its backbone is the fact that it has the categorical reliefs upon which it can always lean to keep itself in existence.

Mr. President, I have tried on many occosions to have the Senate study the proposition of taking the categorical reliefs and putting them back into the Department of Welfare, and treating the question of unemployed relief as a minor problem in the Commonwealth, instead of becoming the major problem in the Commonwealth.

I was one of those who helped to create it and I state publicly that I am willing to be one of those to help destroy it. I say to you men that unless we are courageous enough, we will make the fit people of this Commonwealth unfit trying to take care of the unfit.

Mr. President, there is a problem there, but it is no longer the acute human problem that it was back in 1935, when that legislation was created. We have now a permanency in the relief setup. Do you realize that we quibble upon the floor of the Senate whether to pay an injured workman twenty-five or thirty dollars a week, whether to pay an unemployed person, through no fault of his own, who left employment for a short period of time, whether to pay him twenty-five or thirty dollars a week, and then we turn around and keep a person on relief for a generation, the best part of a whole generation, and give him as high as two hundred eighty-six dollars a month for his family, and yet the individual with just as large a family, who is unemployed because of injury or unemployed because of a drop in employment in the industry that he is employed in, through no fault of his own, will receive one hundred dollars a month.

Now, Mr. President, let us face this situation. We spent in Pennsylvania this biennium that we are in right now, we have spent today the best part of $206,000,000, plus over $60,000,000 of Federal Funds. We are spending in Pennsylvania for relief almost as much as we spend for our entire highway program, and we pride ourselves on being the most forward-looking state in the Commonwealth of States in our highway expenditures.

If we want to do something let us set aside our political considerations. I think I speak for the Minority when I say to you, that we are willing to sit down and discuss this problem on a nonpartisan basis. It cannot be done any other way.

Mr. President, I have in my files absolute knowledge of the existence in the Department of Public Assistance of a situation that we had never looked for. For instance, during the last campaign in certain areas the visitors and the employees were asked to contribute to the campaign fund with the promise that they would get a raise. I know that our Presiding Officer, who was a candidate at that time, did not ask them to contribute, and I do not think—and I sincerely mean this—I do not think the President of the Senate, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd Wood, would have allowed it to happen if he knew about it. We were supposed to have cloaked these people with immunity from political interference by giving them civil service, but civil service is not the answer. The answer is with this Legislature; we, the elected representatives of the people, have to have the courage to do a job that needs doing.

Mr. President, we talk about Federal expenditures and we have a right to talk about Federal expenditures. We may criticize them and we have a right to criticize them, because in the end we are the ones who pay always, for once we leave the enclosure of the brass rail, we, too, become ordinary citizens, no longer Senators able to speak on the floor of the Senate and say what we feel or how we feel about things, but I want to tell you Members of the Senate that you are only kidding yourself when you put $136,000,000 into the Budget for relief. I venture to say that when we come back here in the next two years, if we do, some of us will I am sure, and when we do we will find that we will have spent closer to $180,000,000 because you cannot stamp that kind of a fungus growth out over night. It has attached itself to the body politic and it is slowly but surely sapping the blood of the people of Pennsylvania.

You have got to do something about public relief in this Commonwealth. The unemployed question is no longer the problem that it was back in the depression days. Have we not reached the point in our economic life where we can say that it is stabilized, at least to the extent that we can act upon that problem now, and not continue to carry it on under the same system that we carried it on during a depression? Separate your categorical reliefs; they are permanent reliefs and they are problems that will be with us so long as a human being lives within the confines of the Commonwealth. They are, relief for the aged, relief for the blind, relief for dependent children and relief for widowed mothers. Those are the four categorical reliefs that remain with us. Those are the ones that we must maintain, but you cannot tell me that we have to maintain over $268,000,000 worth of expenditures for relief in this Commonwealth at this time of our existence.

If you want to get the real meat of your Budget, if you want to start upon a project to really give this Commonwealth a stepping stone to economy, dig into the public assistance program of this Commonwealth, and do not dig into it by referring to what some other State does. The problem is ours and the problem is definitely one that must be dealt with by Pennsylvania, by Pennsylvanians, and I assure the Republican Majority of the Senate of Pennsylvania that if they want to take their pruning knives out on that Department, I will supply the hone.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, although I agree with my friend from Westmoreland County that any discussion upon the subject of relief should be nonpartisan, I want to bring to mind one important factor. That is that while we are talking so much about the Budget, about relief, they are the underdogs, the underprivileged. Back in 1935 I believe I conducted the first investigation in the Commonwealth pertaining to relief, and while I found a number of chiselers and while I am still looking for them, back in my County I must say, to the best of my knowledge, there are no chiselers. There might be one here and there, but they are far and few between.

Mr. President, life has expanded to a greater age, and we have people on relief now permanently that are sixty-five, seventy and seventy-five years old, and whom we must feed, who will never have the opportunity of ever going back to private employment. We have widows, we have the underprivileged, we have cripples and we shall never get away from the fact that we must feed these underprivileged. Now, whether we should conduct an office at Harrisburg or back in our counties is a matter of conjecture, but I say the day shall never come, and I hope it never does come, when we shall close our eyes to the need of those peopie who are hungry.

Mr. President, we are raising everybody on the Hill, increasing their salaries, but we have done very little to increase the Budget of these poor people who must apply for relief, and, God knows, we have many of them. You might say, "Well, times are prosperous." They are for some of us, but we have a certain class of people who never again will go back into private employment. Even today with all of our prosperity, we have men forty-five, fifty years and fifty-five years of age who cannot get a job in private industry. They are too old. They are too slow for the mechanical age. What are we going to do with them? They must be fed whether we like it or not. So, I do not think, with all of this emphasis upon relief, that we are having too many chiselers. It is our duty to feed them unless we can provide employment and that is impossible.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not wish to prolong this discussion in regard to public relief, but there have been certain statements made here that I think I should clarify.

First, Mr. President, any law that is passed is just as good as its administration, and if there is poor administration there must be something wrong with the law. I for one have been in contact over a period of years with the local relief boards, and I say to you that, speaking for the boards in western Pennsylvania, they are endeavoring to do a good job. I believe that the prolem lies right here under the Capitol Dome.

Mr. President, we have passed legislation creating a monstrosity because those boards, those local boards are ham-strung to the point where they are more or less ex-officio. They are trying to do a good pob, and ordinarily go out and make their own investigations. They work in conjunction with our institution districts in the county, and I think they are to be commended for the work they are doing. I agree that we have spent millions of dollars on the public relief, but you know, Mr. President, that is a problem of society. It is here, we have to face it. First things come first, and I believe the job to do is to remedy the evil that exists in this legislation. The only way that can be done, in my opinion, is to give your local boards the authority to go out and administer the law as they interpret it, not compelled to operate by mandates that are sent out by the Capitol, because we must not lose sight of the fact that the Department of Public Assistance is supposed to administer to the needs of ten odd millions of people in this Commonwealth, and to do the job in the sixty-seven counties from the Capitol building in Harrisburg is virtually an impossibility. So, I defend these local boards. I say to you that the local boards in Greene and Washington Counties are doing a splendid job, and if we give them the right to do the job as they see it, they will do a better job.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKED asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not want to make any remarks until I get my very favorite audience back with me because I do not want to interfere with the discussion on the other side of the aisle on this question of public assistance which was established during the time they were in the majority, because I appreciate it. I want to keep it nonpartisan and nonpolitical, and if I get into it, it will become a political discussion, and I know we would not want to have a political discussion on the floor of the Senate at this time, especially on public assistance. I have a few notes, too, on public assistance, how it got started, this monostrosity that was created right after the second administration of Gifford Pinchot. I say it that way so that it is nonpartisan and nonpolitical.

Mr. President, in order to keep this on a high nonpolitical basis, I would like at this time to move that the Senate take a five minute recess to permit a meeting of the Senate Committee on Judiciary General, the meeting to be held in the Conference Room, sometimes facetiously referred to as the "love nest" at the rear of the Senate Chamber, and I think if the gentleman will go there we will be able to get rid of this strain of discussing nonpolitical problems.

RECESS

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, to permit a meeting of the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McPHERSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McPHERSON, from the Committee on Judiciary General, re-reported amended, Senate Bill No. 7, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities to establish and maintain common trust funds for the investment and reinvestment of the moneys of charitable uses or trusts the charge or administration of which has been committed to their care or of the estates of minors of which they may be guardians providing for the administration of funds so established and prescribing the nature and kinds of investments which may be made therein.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 331, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (4) of Section 1401 and Section 1421 of the act, approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949," by further defining "Medical Examiner."

House Bill No. 332, entitled:

An Act to amend Clauses (80), (81) and (87) of Section 101 of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1019), entitled "Statutory Construction Act," by changing the definition of "osteopath," "osteopathic surgeon" and "Physician."

House Bill No. 441, entitled:

An Act providing for the reception as evidence of certification of authorized representatives of departments boards or commissions attesting to the licensure status or non-licensure status of an individual

House Bill No. 501, entitled:

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 375, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (b) of Section 1 of the act, approved the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1183) entitled "An act relating to strikes by public employes; prohibiting such strikes; providing that such employes by striking terminate their employment; providing for reinstatement under certain conditions; providing for a grievance procedure; and providing for hearings before civil service and tenure authorities, and in certain cases before the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board," by changing method of selecting panels for the adjustment of grievances of school district employes and imposing additional duties on such panels.

be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am going to try to keep this on a nonpartisan basis. Everything is to be nonpartisan, but I think this is the dirtiest trick ever done. I talked to two Members of the Senate, who are both interested in schools. I talked to Senator Hare, who represents the Pennsylvania Teachers Association. I also talked to Mr. Wagner, the head of the Education Committee. Both of them agreed that they would hold this bill over until Monday, until we had a discussion with some of the men who are more acquainted with it than I am.

Mr. President, I think this it hitting below the belt, because all this bill does is this: It makes the arbitration of the school board the same as is done by all other governmental functions in Pennsylvania. In an arbitration when they deny the right to strike, they appoint a one man representing the employees, one man representing the department which is concerned and they in turn appoint a third man or agree on the third man. As the bill now stands, the bill states that in the board of education, they appoint a member of the board of education, an employee of the board of education and then the Department of Public Instruction comes in and they are represented. So, you have a loaded board. This has caused more dissatisfaction of the employees of the Board of Education in Pittsburgh than anything in the world.

First of all, Mr. President, there is still a question in this bill, whether or not denying the right to strike is constitutional, but this was a fair way of settling an industrial dispute which may become greater. I say the only fair way is to use the same system that is used by the State, by the municipalities, by the government, where there is an equal representation and a person who is considered nonpartisan and non-biased comes in as the third.

Now, Mr. President, it was agreed by the two people who objected to hold this bill over until Monday, and I am going to ask, Mr. President, that this sneak punch that was just put over, be rescinded or reconsidered. I ask that we reconsider the motion.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I think it is unfortunate that you cannot be friendly with people without being accused of breaking faith. I told the Senator quite frankly that I did not like this bill because it presumes that there is a bargaining agent for school teachers, which there is not in most parts of the State. You are practically asking somebody to come in and establish a union of school teachers, which some people may like and some may not care for, but in the absence of such an agency, this thing cannot operate.

I said I did not care for the bill, and the Senator from Allegheny asked me not to kill it and I said I would not kill it, and I made the suggestion—I do not mind, I guess I can tell it on myself—I made the motion in Caucus that the bill be re-referred to the Education Committee, which is the most familiar Committee with problems of schools when these things come up, and I suggested further that it was a good Committee to re-refer it to inasmuch as the Senator from Allegheny County, who has just spoken, is a Member of the Education Committee.

Now, Mr. President, there was no bad faith, there was no misrepresentation, there was no breach of any promise, there was no discussion with me personally as to the bill going over. The request was that it be not killed, and it has not been killed, and if the gentleman attends the meeting of the Education Committee, as Chairman of that Committee, I assure him that the bill will get thorough consideration. I am not in the position at the moment to promise him that we will let it stay the way it is.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, looseness of speech is one of the things I most abhor. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, came to my seat after we came up from Caucus, and in these words informed me that he was bringing a man by the name of Fetteroff into Harrisburg next Monday, and he would like to have Senator Wagner and I talk with him. At no time did he discuss this bill staying on the calendar, and he never received that promise.

Now, Mr. President, he was hitting below the belt and the belt was pretty high.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I said to Mr. Wagner that I would appreciate it if they would hold this bill on the calendar until they can discuss it. They were the only two men who came to me and took issue on the bill.

Now, Mr. President, I say to him that he is hitting a little lower than the belt on that statement, and I resent it. I resent it because I asked him to hold it on the calendar. I even told Mr. Wagner that I was willing to go along with taking out of that bill the part that teachers were not considered in this bill. We have employees, men who really work and clean up the buildings and the cafeteria workers in the Board of Education in Pittsburgh. I agreed with him to take out of the bill the bargaining agency.

Mr. President, we keep bills on the calendar here for a long long while before they make up their minds, and I do not see why there is any difference. It is not going to harm the bill to keep it on the calendar. If they want to make this a partisan proposition, I am willing from now on to make it a good Democratic-Republican fight for the rest of the Session, and I also tell you, Mr. President, that if it comes down to a point where we have got to have a battle on this thing, I am going to demand that every bill be read at length from now until the last day of the Session, and I never break my word when I say it.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, the gentleman has just stated that he declared he was willing to keep the bill on the calendar. That is correct. He is the only one I heard make such declaration. The promise, on the other hand, was made that the bill would not be killed.

Now, Mr. President, this bill is not being re-referred to the Education Committee for the purpose of killing it. There is not any partisanship in its because if you will look at the sponsors, you will notice that half of them is the Republican Floor Leader of the Senate.

Now, it is just silly to say that there is anything personal or partisan in the matter of putting the bill where it can be considered by anybody familiar with the procedure in problems of this kind in school affairs, and this legislation was originally designed basically for school teachers' problems. Now, this is simply not workable the way it is, and I do not see why anybody has an obligation to keep it on the calendar in unworkable shape until it can be straightened out. He told me, too, about the gentleman, Mr. Fetteroff, who he was going to bring down to see me, and he told me that before this Senate convened. I assume that he probably already knew it was in the hands of the Education Committee, and that is why he was bringing him to see me as Chairman, but we are straining a point. I have had bills on the Calendar that have been re-referred to committees and I never raised an insurrection. I never shot anybody or administered poison nor did I swear vengeance upon them, because it seemed to be good judgment at the time.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am a little reluctant to get in the middle of this argument, being half a Floor Leader. I want to say to the gentlemen of the Senate, and especially my co-sponsor and long time personal and political friend from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that while I am discussing this with the Senate, without any subterfuge, and delivering my remarks principally to him, this is not the first time today that inadvertently I have got out on the well known limb.

I understand, Mr. President, that this bill has in it a clause that the Committee would like to correct. Now I understand there is absolutely no intention on the part of the Education Committee, or the two Members of the Senate who have suggested bringing this back to the Committee on Education, to kill the bill. My co-sponsor is a Member, Mr. President, of that Committee.

Mr. President, I do not mind being heard if he would just listen to what I am trying to say to him. I do not want to hit him below the belt and I do not want to talk about him behind his back. I am endeavoring to explain to the gentleman, Mr. President, that it is my clear understanding from a sincere statement made by a colleague of ours here in the Senate, whose character and integrity I certainly would not attack for a second, that this bill is being brought back to the Committee on Education in a sincere attempt to correct what they say is a flagrant defect in the bill.

Now, Mr. President, my so-sponsor is a member of that committtee and a very active, intelligent member of that committee, and I have absolute confidence in his ability to see to it that our interests are going to be protected in that committee. I have said over, and over and over again that I do not like to co-sponsor a bill. If there is any attempt to kill this bill, for any personal reasons, he and I stand shoulder to shoulder in an endeavor to get it back out of committee.

Now, Mr. President, I believe what the gentleman who are desirious of helping us on this bill have said. I do not think it is a blow in the black, or stab in the back or hitting below the belt. I think that we ought to consider seriously what Senator Neff said awhile ago. It is so easy to attack each other personally when we have been on this Floor a couple of hours and everybody is under hypertension.

Now, Mr. President, if he will just relax and consider the fact that there are fifty gentlemen here on the floor working together as a team, trying to help each other along, and if there is an effort to amend the bill so as to make it workable, I suggest to my co-sponsor that we try this method and if it does not work, he and I are going to try something else, but I say to him in all sincerity, I see no reason for reading bills at length or going off into the wide blue yonder just because he wants to get the bill back.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

RECESS

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, to permit a Democratic Caucus.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we have had a caucus of the Democratic Members to discuss the motion, and the alternative suggested by the gentleman from Allegheny. I want to say seriously that the seriousness of the legislation is known to both the sponsor and to the Members of the Senate who have looked into that legislation.

Mr. President, as I understand it, and I want to present it to the Senate just as I understand it, the gentleman from Allegheny is disturbed over the possibility of the bill being sent to another committee and there dying an unnatural death. Now, I can understand his suspicion, because over the years that has happened on more than one occasion, and being very much wrapped up in this legislation and fearful of the consequences in Allegheny County in their particular school board if some legislation is not passed to alleviate that situation, he is disturbed over the possibility of the bill not being given the kind of consideration he thinks it ought to have. However, I am going to leave it entirely in the hands of the Majority Members, since I understand they have taken caucus action on the matter, and I want to leave it entirely in their hands.

I do believe it would be better if the bill were left on the Calendar and the gentlemen who know more about that particular phase of what this legislation is trying to do will come down Monday and will discuss it with those who are interested while it is on the Calendar. However, if they deem it better that it go back to committee and decide that that is the way they must vote, I assure you that we will try to cooperate, but we want to take the word of the gentleman from Schuylkill that if it does go back to committee, he will give us every opportunity to have the bill amended and the bill come out on the floor again. That is the proposition as we see it. We would rather have it stay on the Calendar if the committee feels it can. If not, we will go along with whatever you decide to do.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I would very much like to see the bill go back to the Education Committee. As chairman of that committee, I will be very happy to entertain suggested amendments by all interested parties that will accomplish what is intended and avoid what would have been done.

Mr. President, I shall further be happy to sit down with any of the Committee, and either or both sponsors of the measure, so that they may join in the consideration of it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 405, on second reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor and the board of trustees of Warren State Hospital, to acquire a certain tract of land with the buildings thereon adjacent thereto for the use of said hospital; and making an appropriation therefor.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 493, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section five of the act approved the fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1293) entitled "An act to establish The Brandywine Battlefield Park Commission and to authorize the acquisition by purchase condemnation or gift of lands for the establishment of The Brandywine Battlefield Park providing for the control management and supervision of the property to be acquired for such park by such commission authorizing the commission to make and enforce rules and regulations for its preservation development and visitation and making appropriations" empowering the commission to deputize special constables be recommitted to the Committee on State Government, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE BILL No. 27 CALLED UP

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I call up from the Third Reading Calendar Senate Bill No. 27, which was passed over in its order temporarily, for consideration at this time.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 27, as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, during this Session I am sure that every Member of this Senate received mail from their constituents or people around the State on the various bills that were before the Senate for consideration, and I am sure that that same thing holds true on Senate Bill No. 27. As a matter of fact, the mail that I have received was greater in number on Senate Bill No. 27 than any other bill that was before this Senate. I am not going to make a speech on Senate Bill No. 27. I am not going to talk for or against the bill, but I am going to read a letter here that is typical of ninety per cent of the letters that I have received relative to this bill, and this is what the letter says:

"I urgently ask that the bill, Senate Bill No. 27, which has been introduced by Senator Pechan, be given a public hearing before it is passed. This bill requires that all public employees swear that they are not subversive persons. It would seem that a really subversive person would not hesitate to sign anything which would further his plan. This bill will, therefore, hit at the loyalty of really loyal citizens. I have taken the oath to the flag ever since I went to school some forty-five years ago. Why now should my loyalty, my honor, my truthfulness be questioned? There are certain sentiments which honorable citizens expect from themselves without question, and these new loyalty oaths are humiliating and indicate a lack or breach of trust on which our democracy is based. Please give this factor your careful consideration."

Mr. President, what is the writer of this letter and other letters requesting? Nothing more than a chance to be heard. This bill does not affect all of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It effects only some people, and that group has written letters to me and I am sure to every Member of this Senate requesting a chance to be heard.

Mr. President, we are here and we represent the sum total of all the people in Pennsylvania, and we are here to legislate in accordance with their wishes. If the people want to be heard, I think we ought to give them a chance to be heard. We have held public hearings, for instance, on the insurance bills. There was no harm done, and I am sure the Chairman of the Insurance Committee will say that the hearings were helpful. We had hearings on the sex offenders bills and I am sure the chairman of that committee will say that there was no harm done. The testimony to be heard, I think, was helpful to the committee because they were amended in some respects. We have had hearings on the bills to create an Accountant General in Pennsylvania, and as a result of those hearings a subcommittee was appointed, of which I have the honor to be a member, and we propose to study the bill with the object of amending it and remove those objectionable features from the bill to make it a good and workable bill. We have held hearings on the adoption bills, and there was no harm done. I think the hearing was helpful to all of us. We held a hearing on the social security bill, and I do not think any harm came from that. I had the honor of serving on that subcommittee and the bill was amended after we got opinions from various persons who come to the hearing and gave their views, and so on down the line, and, frankly, I cannot see where any harm could come from having a hearing on this bill and giving those people who are affected by the bill a chance to be heard. Perhaps they could make some suggestions that might suggest amendments that would be satisfactory to all concerned.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 27, be recommitted to the Committee on State Government, for the purpose of a public hearing.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I have been a Member of this Body for a short time, just a little less than three months. I have learned in that time that I come from a district that very much likes to express itself, and I have gotten communications, letters, from the first day I entered this Senate, but at no time did I get the number of communications both by letter, by wire, by telephone, as I did on Senate Bill No. 27.

Now, Mr. President, the tenor of all the communications was simply this: We feel that this bill is unnecessary. We feel that it will not catch a single subversive because we all know that subversives will take the oath and pay no attention to it, and will not hesitate to take the oath.

Now, Mr. President, I should like to say that these communications came from individuals and organizations of the highest repute in Philadelphia and the State of Pennsylvania. I should like to say this: One of the phone calls I received was from a lady who lives in an elite section of Philadelphia, in Chestnut Hill. She said to me, "I am a teacher. I have been a teacher for twenty-five years. I am a Quaker. Hardly anyone could accuse me of being a communist, a fellow traveler or sympathetic to Communism." She said, "My family has been here since 1682. If this bill passes," she said, "I will have a decision to make whether to give up my career or to do something which is against my conscience."

Now, Mr. President, I say these communications have come from worthwhile organizations and it may be that all of the Members of the Senate have received the same communications from the organization that I am about to refer to, but I think it is worthwhile putting this communication on record. I refer to a communication from the Citizens Council on Democratic Rights, headed by a former Justice of the Supreme Court, Owen J Roberts, who I am sure all of us in Pennsylvania must recognize and have a great deal of regard for.

"Senate Bill 27, introduced into the present Session of the General Assembly, with the laudable purpose of apprehending subversives in the employ of the State and its schools, we believe would fail of its purpose and endanger and destroy some of our most precious and fundamental rights and liberties. The real traitors will not be reached by registration provisions and loyalty oaths. They are past masters in tricks of evasion. The innocent will be made the victims. Intolerance and repression and fear will be the outcome of such legislation—legislation which would jeopardize the most cherished freedoms guaranteed by the bill of rights.

"We are all opposed, individually, and as an organization, to Communistic totalitarianism and every other form of tyranny. We are aware of the insidious methods employed by a large percentage of that small group of persons who today sympathize with Communism. At the same time, we must never forget that our constitutional guarantees were enacted to protect all citizens, especially in times of crisis. So, in this time of great stress, we must go back to fundamental principles. We must bear in mind the basic, simple truths that teachers, scientists, inventors, and educators are prompted by curiosity and a desire to explore. They work best in an atmosphere of freedom. We must show the world that in our American way we can make national security and individual freedom work hand in hand.

"Federal laws have been enacted to cover all phases of internal security wherever it is threatened. Among these are:

"The Espionage Act, the Peace Time Sedition Act, the Subversive Organizations Registration Act, the Foreign Agents Registration Act, and the Internal Security Act of 1950."

Now, Mr. President, it was just this morning that I received a wire asking for a public hearing, and I am not going to read the wire. I just want to read some of the names attached to this wire:

"Charles Arensberg, President, The Pennsylvania State Bar Association.

"Dr. Millard E. Gladfelter, Provost, Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa.

"George A. Walton, Principal Emeritus, George School, Newtown, N. J.

"J. Barclay Jones.

"Francis Bosworth.

"Charles B. Nutting.

"Claude Bowman.

"Gilbert White, President, Haverford College, Haverford, Pa.

"John W. Nason, President, Swarthmore College Swarthmore, Pa.

"Walter Michaels, Chairman, Bryn Mawr Chapter, American Association of University Professors.

"Alexander H. Frey.

"Glenn Morrow.

"Conyers Read.

"Paul Bruton, Chairman, Academic Affairs Committee, Citizens Council on Democratic Rights, Philadelphia, Pa.

Now, we might say, Members of this Senate, that these men are idealists, but remember this, that this Country has been made great by idealists. Let us give these idealists an opportunity to tell us in person what they think about this bill. I join in the motion to recommit this bill for a public hearing.

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I heartily agree with the remarks made by my distinguished colleague, Senator Silvert, and I want to urge the passage of this motion to recommite Senate Bill No. 27 for public hearing.

At the outset, I want to make it perfectly clear that I am not opposed to taking oaths, that I have done it many times both in the armed forces of the United States and elsewhere, and that I will not hesitate for a moment to take the oath embodied in Senate Bill No. 27, but one of the fundamentals of our Democracy is to protect the rights of minorities. In this instance, I am thinking more of religious than political minorities.

Some of my ancestors came to this Country, to this State on Penn's invitation, and my conscience would not permit me as a descendant of those people to ignore the wishes of the descendants of the founder of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, It would be quite easy to go along with this type of legislation. One who does not may not be considered a red hot, or perhaps I should say a white hot patriot, but, on the other hand, it seems to me that we have reached a sad state of affairs when one must persecute the idealists' in order to be a successful, practical politician. In this instance, I prefer to be an impractical politician, if any politician at all.

Mr. President, it may be well worth your while to walk over to the Governor's Reception Room and look over the Violet Oakley murals and read the inscriptions. You will refresh your memories as to the reason for William Penn's coming to America, the principles which motivated his founding this Commonwealth, the philosophy which has permeated and predominated our government for all these years, and I believe that any governor, incidentally, who happens to look up with a feeling of statesmanship could certainly do nothing but veto this type of legislation.

Perhaps Penn and the people who excepted his invitation to come to this State as a haven for those who were persecuted for political and religious reasons appear to us, who think of ourselves as moderns, as having some queer mental quirks or being just a little bit in need of a psychiatrist.

Perhaps we should remind ourselves that there are people in this Commonwealth who put principle above the making of money, above position and career and, perhaps, even above holding political office. Yet, these people are a bulwark of freedom, both political and religious; they are the yeast that leavens the entire loaf; they are the residence of stored up goodness to be a source of inspiration during periods of spiritual depression.

Mr. President, we must never forget that the destruction of freedom from within does not come as a result of a single tremendous blow, but rather from a chipping away at the edges. Just a few days ago we commemorated the crucifixion of the greatest Idealist of all time for simply going about doing good. I say to you that we have no more right to harass, demoralize or embarrass these idealists of today than the practical politicians of His day had to do it to Him.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge that this bill be recommitted.

In the Senate, March 28, 1951.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I venture the opinion that my colleagues on the left, who have spoken in behalf of the motion to recommit this bill, were shocked beyond words, as were most of the people in our Country, when they learned that communists had been employed in the production of atomic bombs. Many of the people in our Country were likewise righteously indignant when they learned that our State Department and other departments of our Federal Government had in their employ communists. The price of liberty is eternal vigilance. The Federal Government, Democrats and Republicans alike, I believe, have made an honest endeavor to rid the pay rolls of the Federal Government of those who would accept American money, the taxpayers' dollars, and at the same time not only bite the hand that feeds them, but destroy our Government.

Senator Silvert referred to a gentleman, former Justice of the Supreme Court, for whom I have always had the highest regard. I studied law under Mr. Roberts at The Law School of the University of Pennsylvania. Apparently he and many other good citizens did not understand the purposes of this bill. One purpose of this bill, as I see it, is to rid the pay rolls of our State and Municipal Governments, and our State-aided schools and State-aided colleges, of any subversive who may be on their pay rolls. I do not how anyone personally who is a communist or a subversive. We have been talking for the past week about the expenditure of tax money for the operation of our State Government, and it does seem to me that if we do any one thing at least we should see to it that none of the tax money of Pennsylvania gets into the hands of subversives.

I read an article sometime ago which I believe appeared in most of the metropolitan newspapers of Pennsylvania, which is brief and which states: "There is no academic freedom at such respectable universities as Fordham, Southern Methodist, Notre Dame or Yeshiva. No professor at such university has the freedom to teach, let us say, atheism."

I sincerely hope that the same might be said about all of the privately endowed universities in our Country. The article goes on to state: "To hold an opinion is a right." This bill does not interfere with the right of anyone to hold any opinion which he wishes to hold.

The article also states: "To hold a job is a privilege accorded under certain conditions." I believe it is the thought of the overwhelming majority of the people of Pennsylvania that they do not want their children, by any chance, to be under the instruction of or even associate with people who believe in the overthrow of our Country.

Mr. President, there has been one criticism made which I believe to be proper. I believe every elected employee of Pennsylvania should be required to take the same oath. I hope that when the bill reaches the House, that such an amendment will be made. I urge my colleagues to vote for the bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will support the motion for a public hearing. I see no harm in a public hearing. I think it is good. It is an important bill and I think the people should have the opportunity to express themselves. I will support any amendment that may strengthen this bill, and I will support the bill when it somes to a vote.

Mr. President, I certainly feel happy that over on my side of the aisle we have independent thought, that we have no caucus action on this matter. We are free to think for ourselves and to vote accordingly. Just how we are going to vote here, I do not know. It is up to each individual. However, Mr. President, someone said if you cannot convince, confuse. I am not convinced that this bill will serve the purpose the sponsor has in mind, but neither am I confused, because I am satisfied that it will serve some purpose at least, some logical purpose if nothing else.

Mr. President, I had three brothers and four nephews, like many others have here, who served in the last war, who fought and slept in foxholes for what? For what we are fighting for today in Korea, to rid this world of ours of communism, and if any school teacher cannot take the oath, to my mind he or she should resign. I have taken my oath on five different occasions on this Hill, and the five times I have been elected I did not hesitate. We are sitting on a powder keg today. We are shedding blood, we are giving up all we have to have a free Country, and if our forefathers were living today, if William Penn were living today, I think he would take this loyalty oath. I cannot see why these Quakers and school teachers appointed to positions in the State government, local government of any nature, should hesitate in any manner whatsoever.

The time has arrived when we must speak. If we have on our pay roll communists, this is the time we should find out. If they take this oath and perjure themselves, then we have them where we want them. Now we have nothing on them.

I do not think the bill goes far enough. Every person in the Commonwealth, regardless of who he or she may be, should be required to take the oath of loyalty. We are fighting for that cause and if we do not fight, we create a haven within a haven for these people, and we are going to regret it.

So, Mr. President, I say I will support the motion for a public hearing. I will support any amendment that is placed in the bill, but in the final analysis I will support the bill as it is.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am very reluctant to get into this act. I think if any bill in this Senate in my tenure here has ever had a public hearing, it is Senate Bill No. 27. Those of you who are Members of this Senate, and the visitors, know that for the last three weeks we just could not move around from being collared by—and I do not want to say this word—by "pinks," and Reds and innocent dupes of these people.

Now, Mr. President, I do not know why anybody would hesitate to take a loyalty oath to this Commonwealth or to the United States of America. The oath, as it is specifically given in Senate Bill No. 27, is the same oath that every civil defense worker is taking who is giving his time for free. I got a thrill when I stood before that Bar and took the oath of loyalty. Why, when I am at a Kiwanis meeting or a school meeting, and swear Allegiance to the Flag and to the Republic for which it stands, I get a little thrill in my heart.

Mr. President, I had a teacher the other day from one of the eastern schools, and, mind you, all this propaganda is coming from one little group in and around Philadelphia. I have not had one letter opposing this bill from any school teacher who is a member of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. Now, I do not know what they have in Philadelphia and I do not care, but I am tremendously suspicious of those people. I had a teacher the other day. She had a political science class, young girls eighteen or nineteen years of age, and she was questioning me about why we needed this bill. In the discussion, one thing brought on another and I said, "do you think it is un-American that we should teach American history and our democratic way of life?" She said, "No, but you ought to teach Russion history and communism." I said, so you can take that twig and bend it to your thinking."

Now, Mr. President, as the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, has just said, if these communists, these "pinks" and these innocent dupes will sign it, they are cheats, liars, and we do not want them, but if they do sign it at least we have them for perjury, and we may get some Alger Hisses out of them.

Mr. President, I hope this is the end of it. I have lost sleep over this thing, and I am against the recommittal of this bill.

Mr. SILVERT. M. President, I should like to call the attention of this Senate that we have on our statute book, passed in 1949, the School Code for school teachers, and may I just read a very short paragraph dealing with the reasons for which they may be dismissed:

"The only valid causes for termination of a contract heretofore or hereafter entered into with a professional employe shall be immorality, incompetency, intemperance, cruelty, persistent negligence, mental derangement, advocation of or participating in un-American or subversive doctrines."

Mr. President, teachers are already covered by the Act of 1949. Any district superintendent, anyone in authority in a school, now has the power to remove any subversive teacher, and I think that this bill, as far as they are concerned is unnecessary.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, much has been said here this afternoon in regard to this loyalty oath, and I will support the motion for a public hearing. However, in the event that the motion fails, I am solidly in support of this type of legislation

Mr. President, you know, as I sat here this afternoon and listened to all these speeches, I wondered what the objection is, if the legislation is unnecessary. I think it is an honor and a privilege to be an American, and I say to you, Mr. President, that any public employee that draws taxpayers' money should willingly swear Allegiance to this Nation of ours, and if we have the "pinks," let us smoke them out. Some say it will not accomplish anything. Well, if it will not accomplish anything, what is the objection to it?

The other day I picked up the newspaper and I read an article by Cecil B. DeMille, in which he says, "Loyalty Oaths Protest Bewildering in View of American Concepts." This is rather an extended article. I am not going to read it in detail, but I just want to preface it and read certain important items in it, and I ask that the complete aricle be spread on the Legislative Journal.

"These are Times of strange contrasts. And none is stranger than the indignation which the loyalty oath seems to arouse among certain of our citizens.

"Several years ago we made a picture about the beginnings of America, centering around a little fort that is now the great city of Pittsburgh.

"It was American history in every particular—the story of people who knew the price of freedom and paid for it in terms of indescribable pain and torment.

"Those early settlers were caught up by a deep pent-up emotion, a volcanic desire to be free. Clamoring, demanding, hard-living, they swarmed across five mountain ranges in matter of fact disregard of life and danger.

"Out of this release of pent-up emotion came a concept of freedom. And from that concept grew America.

"LOYALTY OATH

"I wonder what one of those first Americans would say today were he to be asked to take a loyalty oath—to declare his love for America, which is all a loyalty oath asks? I wonder what his reply would be to the question of whether at any time he had advocated an organization dedicated to the overthrow of America?

"The spirit that founded this nation was, at the same moment, both a loyalty oath and a rejection of the principles of Communism. And any American should be eager to affirm that spirit or disaffirm whatever seeks to destroy it.

"A bold sophistry is practiced by some who have declined to take the loyalty oath. They say no one has a right to make an issue of a person's Americanism. I cannot believe that any real American would reject in this glib manner a liberty for which so many have sacrificed their lives.

"QUESTION OF SILENCE

"They say the anti-communist oath violates free speech yet freedom of speech is illusory if we must sacrifice a more precious right in order to practice it.

"A man has a right to remain silent, assuming he is willing to accept the consequences of his silence.

"As an American he has the right. But he does not have the right to be silent when his silence is decisively un-American.

"That very point was made by the late Justice Cardozo long before it was suggested there might be anything "unconstitutional" about publicly declaring one's love for his country or despising its enemies.

"Justice Cardozo, whose opinions were not tyrannized by rules, gave a concise reply to loyalty oath objections, in a minor case:

" 'There is no privilege of silence when, if tolerated, reticence would thwart the public good'

"EVIL NOT PURIFIED

"Without extending the meaning of Cardozo's phrase, it would seem to say that an American may stand on constitutional grounds up to the point when his position becomes unconstitutional.

"Individual liberty, as we conceive it, is not a tool or a coverup. Ideological racketeers cannot use it to conceal their motives, like a mobster employing a henchman to hide his crime.

"Silence in the face of a patriotic duty to speak could conceivably become as much a threat to national safety as an overt act of treason.

"Clothing an evil with the garment of the Constitution does not purify the evil.

"Americans who are not afraid to stand up and be counted are aware that certain elements are finding the Bill of Rights a convenient and, unfortunately, effective shelter. At a time when two great ideologies are in a death struggle, it is unbelievable that the greatest charter of human freedom could be used as a cover for manipulations which seek to destroy it.

"GROUNDS FOR WORRY

"We're spending millions of dollars to halt the spread of Communist tyranny abroad, but that will be pounding sand in a rathole unless we keep American ideals alive in America.

"We should not fear foreign bombs dropping on Seattle or Detroit nearly so much as the decay of our own national spirit.

"There are grounds for worry when a popular actress can stand up before an audience of 26,000 and say that she wants no part of American ideals—and that audience, instead of protesting, applauds. Or when teachers in our schools see their way clear to unite in resistence to a loyality oath, or make themselves gravely suspect by refusing to disclaim any connection with the Communist cause.

"It is a curious spectacle.

"America is the envy of the rest of the world today because it has kept open the doors of private enterprise.

"CALLED IMPERIALISM

"The Communists call it "American imperialism."

"If imperialism means keeping free nations on their feet—

"If it means feeding millions of men, women and children in countries that can never pay us back except by friendship—

"If it means the American schools and missions strung around the world from Egypt to Japan—

"If it means letting the people know that American free enterprise has produced the word's highest living standards, highest production, highest wages—

"If it means spreading to other countries the idea of free speech, a free press, freedom of religion, free elections—

"If American imperialism means these things, then it's bred in the bones of every real American.

"And he should be proud to stand up for it."

Mr. President, I am not going to hamstring the proponents of this public hearing. I will be glad to attend this public hearing and hear the opposition. I want to know what the opposition is, but after the public hearing I am going to vote for this legislation, and I ask all red-blooded Americans to stand up and support your Nation.

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President, I have followed this bill from the first day it was placed upon the Calendar. I thought it was too loosely drawn. I thought the ramifications and possibilities of injustices were present in the bill. I was privileged with my colleagues, Senator Mallery, Senator Pechan and Senator Lane, to amend the bill on two different occasions.

Personally, I do not see any reason for objection at this time, and I say that knowing something about communists and the way they work. I have been privileged to be a member of an organization whom the communists found expedient to descend upon in the manner of leeches upon a festering sore, because they thought they could use us, and no organization in America has fought against communists with the vigor and the intensity, as unrelentingly as have we in labor. We hate them, we know what they are and what they stand for.

Mr. President, normally I would be against any attempt by anyone to block passage of a measure such as this. Originally, I had intended, once the measure had been amended, to vote for it, but I do not know now whether or not I can vote for it. Innumerable requests have been made to the Members of the Senate for a public hearing. I recall two years ago that we resorted to extraordinary measures on this side of the aisle to give a group of gasoline retail dealers a hearing. Senator Yosko has pointed out we have had hearings on many matters this Session that were requested, not by thousands of citizens in this State, but by a few.

Now, Mr. President, it has been said outside of the enclosure here, "Let us get this measure off the Calendar, let us get it over in the House and they will take care of it over there." I do not feel that way. If we have a measure that is affecting the people of this State, minority groups or otherwise, I think that we here must consider the measure fully and then in good conscience either vote it up or down and not saddle our associates in the House with our problem.

Mr. President, as I previously said, I do not believe there is a thing objectionable in the bill at this time. I do not believe anyone working for this government in this Commonwealth, who is an honest, sincere American, can object to the measure. However, if thousands of our constituents, and literally it is thousands, have asked us for a public hearing, I can see no reason why we should enclose ourselves in this brass rail and decide amongst ourselves that this problem is one that vexes us, that it is a thorn in our side, and we will give the job to the House.

Mr. President, I do not know whether I can vote for a measure premised on that kind of thinking. I think the people of this State have a right to come down here, have a right to buttonwhole the Senators, have a right to tell us and to speak their minds on legislation, whether it be legislation dealing with subversive activities or whether it be just a simple matter, perhaps a matter having to do with trout, but whatever the matter may be, that is their right, and I think when we took the office here and took the oath here, we have obligated ourselves to hearing the pleadings without any limitations on the people of this State and give them a chance to be heard.

Mr. President, I am bewildered. Normally, I would vote for the measure. I am afraid that if it is not sent back to committee, as the gentleman from Northampton has moved, and a public hearing granted to these many, and many of them are fine people, who have asked for a public hearing, that I am going to have to vote against it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest to the gentlemen of the Senate, both sides of the aisle have been very patient on quite a lengthy debate on the motion, which, under the Senate Rules, is not debatable, and may I suggest if there is a discussion on the bill that it be reserved until the bill is before us on final passage. I do not want to be technical, but there has been considerable debate on the motion for a public hearing. It is a motion to recommit which is not debatable under our Rules, and may I suggest to the gentlemen of the Senate, the continued violation of the Rule is becoming embarrassing to both sides. If there is any discussion on the merits of the bill, I suggest that it be reserved until the bill is before us on final passage.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I would like to suggest that rather than have me get up twice to argue on the merits of the bill, and in order not to lose the trend of thought that has been carried through the prior debates, that I be permitted to discuss the bill at this time.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman tempts me. If I could be certain that this is the last time he would get up on this bill, I certainly would not object to his speaking on it. I enjoy his speeches, but it is the second lap that I get confused on.

Mr. ROSENFELD. I do not intend to speak on the bill on final passage, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld, may proceed.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, it has been a long time since I thought I knew almost everything about everything. Growing up, having experiences, being elected to a body of this kind, meeting men and people from all walks of life and being able to exchange ideas has convinced me over the years that I know less and less than I thought I knew before, and I am thorougthly convinced, as I get older and times goes on that I will come to the conclusion definitely that I will know less next week than I know today or that I thought I knew today.

Mr. President, I think that everyone who rose to discuss this bill this afternoon has done so in good conscience and has felt that what he said has been the thing that his own conscience has decreed is the right thing. As a matter of fact, I find after listening to almost everyone that in a great measure I am inclined to agree with almost everyone who got up on the floor of the Senate, but I think many of us, in our effort to get rid of this hot potato, are trying to close our minds to the problem involved here, because nobody has really touched on the basic problem as I know many on this floor really see it.

Mr. President, we are talking about loyalty oaths and whether people should or should not take loyalty oaths. Well, some of us have different opinions about those things. We know about the Quakers, we know about the Friends, and we know how they feel in their own conscience about taking oaths. Some of us may agree with them and some of us may not agree with them, and the argument thus far on the floor this afternoon has limited itself to the question of whether some one should or should not be required to take a loyalty oath.

I say, personally, that at a time like this it becomes a serious problem whether people who, in good conscience, do not like to take loyalty oaths, should be permitted to exercise that good conscience at the present time. I will admit is is debatable, but I certainly think that they should have a right to come before a committee of this Senate and express themselves, and give their reasons. I am certain that I am not the only one on this floor who from day to day learns things, and I do not see why any of the Members of this Senate should close their minds to what is a brand-new concept in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we are not dealing here with something that is old. We are not dealing here with something that has been a law on the statute books of Pennsylvania before. We are dealing with a brand-new thing, and I know and you gentlemen know that we have given hearings and public hearings for things that were of much less importance.

Now, Mr President, I could talk at length about how I feel about communists and fellow travelers because, like Senator Neff, I have had by hands full with them over the years. Any of you who will take the trouble to pick up the Pennsylvania Manual of 1949, will notice on page 111, that Senator Watkins and I had the distinction of being the only Senators running for office that year who were opposed by the communists. Now, whether he had a fight on his hand or not, I cannot speak for Senator Watkins, but I tell you that I know who they are and I know what they are, and if this was not a public place and I could use the proper adjectives, I could really express myself properly. I do want you to know that I hate them with all the hate it is possible for me to bring up within my system, but that is no reason for me to vote for this kind of a bill.

Mr. President, Senator Mallery said he does not know a communist, but I do. I know a lot of them. Senator Pechan, whether he knows them or not I do not know, but I do know that they apparently did not oppose him when he ran for office, and if I were a vicious or vindictive individual I could say, "That looks very very suspicious," but I know it is ridiculous. I could read and add to this record hundreds of communications from organizations that I know are good organizations, from religious groups, but I do not want to encumber the record.

Mr. President, I do think, however, the one thing that pinpoints the real problem here is a post card which I received yesterday and which reads as follows. It is postmarked Ardmore.

"Dear Senator:

"Please do not pass the loyalty oath bill. It is un-American, un-Democratic. I am even afraid to sign my name to this for fear I will be put on the subversive list. What a state of affairs."

Mr. President, all I can do is echo the same sentiment, "What a state of affairs."

Mr. President, getting back now to the bill itself, this is the beginning of something which, if it goes unchecked, can produce something like Senate Bill No. 87, also introduced by the sponsor of this bill, which would require eventually that people give an awlful lot of information which might require eventually that we carry cards in our pockets showing that we are all right, which might require eventually that we put on arm bands so the people can identify us as we walk down the street. I say for this reason Senate Bill No. 27, referred to all afternoon here as the loyalty oath bill, is more than a loyalty oath bill, and you will find many people who would support this proposition who otherwise will not support it because it is not a loyalty oath bill.

Mr. President, I myself at this time would support a loyalty oath bill that did not have the kinks in it that this bill has. Now, I would like to point out just a few in passing. Number one, there is nothing in the title of this bill that has anything to do with organizations, and yet the body of the bill deals with organizations, subversive organizations and foreign subversive organizations. To my mind, there is no question that it is clearly unconstitutional for that reason alone.

Number two, we have defined "organization" to include political party. Why we do it, I do not know. Maybe it is a good thing, but assuming that the Attorney General, who is given the right to make the declaration here, decides that a certain political party is subversive, what have you accomplished? Your election laws still permit that poltical party to stay on the ballot. Your election laws still permit people to run for office on that political party's ticket. Your election law still permits people to vote for candidates of that political party.

Next, Mr. President, the bill provides on page 5, "Any such person failing or refusing to execute such oath or affirmation or who admits he is a subversive person, according to the provisions of this act, shall be discharged immediately." I would like everyone here to know that the fellow who commits perjury, and who is caught and who may even be arrested and prosecuted, is not to be discharged under this section. There is no provision here for his discharge. The only provision here is that he shall be discharged if he fails or refuses to execute the oath or admits he is subversive.

Next, Mr. President, you have made the oath subject to the penalties for perjury. The penalties for perjury are seven years in jail. The penalties for perjury provide that the person so convicted shall be forever disqualified from being a witness in any matter in controversy. Let us assume that some day we reach the point where we convict some of these people. Let us suppose we reach the point some day where they are willing to give real information as to who the subversives are. You have forever shut the door from being able to get that kind of testimony because the section in our Criminal Code on perjury prevents it.

Finally, Mr. President, you provide a section three, that the Department of Justice, after such hearing, shall determine whether or not the employee is subject to discharge and will so advise the employee and his employer. Now, let us assume that the employer does not discharge the employee. Then what? There is no provision in the bill for it at all. Nobody knows what can be done because it is not covered.

The most important thing, however, is this and I say this without regard to the fact that you may or may not conscientiously be for or against loyalty oaths. That is a matter for your own conscience and, as I say, I myself at this time would be in favor of it. You have given the Department of Justice, you have given the Attorney General, the right to determine whether any organization is subversive.

Now, Mr. President, I appreciate the fact that the result of that, good or bad, will depend upon the Attorney General, his character and his ideals, but I think it is an awful gamble to take when you provide that he may do so without calling in the organization, without calling anybody in, without giving them a chance to have a hearing, without giving them a chance to speak to clear themselves in case they are under suspicion. You have, by direction I think, because I have requested that amendment and the sponsor of this bill purposely and specifically kept it out. I think it is bad, I think it is un-Democratic,

I think it is un-American, and I think if you will extend the idea behind this bill to the forty-eight different States of these great United States and to give the Attorney General of each of those forty-eight States the right to the right to come in, whoever they may be, I can just picture what the Attorney General of Mississippi will do, picture what the Attorney General of Mississippi wil do, what the Attorney General of Oklahoma will do, what the Attorney General of Nebraska or South Carolina will do, and that is the principle that I think is most damaging to this whole proposition.

Now, Mr. President, I do not stand up here before you to waste time or to try to convince you that you should vote one way or the other. You have your own minds and I know you will do what you feel in good conscience is the proper thing to do, but I do hope in some measure that I have been able to make some of you undertsand the bad features of this bill. I do hope you will believe me and feel as sincerely as I do that if there were a hearing on this thing, and I do not care whether it is public or private, if there were a hearing on this thing where these groups could come in and indicate to us what their feeling is, I am sure we would accomplish the thing in the good democratic, American way, without hammering this down the throats of people who in good conscience cannot accept it the way it is.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to make it clear that my remarks were on the motion to recommit for a public hearing. I did not argue on the merits of the bill which, of course, many of those that spoke did do. If I were to argue on the merits of the bill, I would certainly include those in the bill to take this oath who receive relief from the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we just got a report here a short time ago which indicates that $16,000,000 was handed out in part to relief chiselers, and I think those that live from the Commonwealth, from the good citizens of the Commonwealth, certainly ought to be required to take this loyalty oath, over and against the people who have proven themselves to be decent, honest to God loyal citizens of this Commonwealth. Last year I introduced a bill to deny any subversive person relief, and that bill died in committee, and when I introduced that bill, the so-called "pinks" made a march on Harrisburg. They got me out there in that lobby and the treatment they got from me out there they will never forget. I will guarantee you that same crowd will never come up here again to try to manhandle me the way they did before, because I have no use for them and I will deal with them in my own way if and when the opportunity presents itself.

Mr. President, I want to make it clear that the motion that I made, and all remarks I made in connection with the motion, were strictly on a public hearing and I did not argue on the merits of the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on final passage I think it is important that our position be made clear upon the bill for the benefit of those who, for purposes of their own, try to misunderstand everything that is being done in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, as a background, I want it clearly understood that I intend to vote for this piece of legislation. I intend to vote for it in my capacity as a leader of the great Democratic Party in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In 1946, I was privileged to be a candidate of that Party for the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the State of Pennsylvania. I was personally maligned all over this Commonwealth by newspaper editorials, newspaper articles and by my opponents, some of the opponents on the Republican ticket who were running against me, who said that I was friendly to communists, was running with a man for the United States Senate by the name of Joseph Guffey who was in league with Moscow. This man's family had its roots in my own home county since pre-Revolutionary days. I have never known Joe Guffey to be a communist or communistically inclined, but during that particular campaign the cry of the compaign at that time was communism.

Mr. President, I was driving along in my car one night, late at night, going from one town to another to appear at public meetings, and I heard my opponent of that day making a radio speech. He distinctly attacked me personally, my Americanism. He attacked the things that he said I believed in, and it was all based upon a vote that I had given on the Senate floor.

Back in 1945, there was a piece of legislation introduced in the Senate, removing the communists from the ballot in Pennsylvania by legislative act. I took the position then that it was unconstitutional. I said, "This is no way to attack a political party; that under our Constitutions, Federal and State Constitutions, these people, if they want to band themselves into a political party and call it communist, have a right to do so."

Mr. President, I have never knowingly voted for a piece of legislation that in my own mind, after a study and determination, was contrary to the Constitution. I have never knowingly allowed any person to act contrary to the Constitution without raising my voice in defense of the Constitution. However, my vote of "Nay" at that time was the single, sole, solitary opposing vote in this Senate; the vote was 49 to 1. I was the only person in this Senate who voted against that piece of legislation.

Mr. President, during the 1946 campaign, personally and for my party, I had done a great injustice, not that the injustice was one of conscience, but it was an injustice because of the fact that we live in a day and age when what we do is misinterpreted by those who are in power to disseminate the information of the actions of this Body, those who have the power to create opinions by the writing of editorials, operating under freedom of the press. They have the only agency in the Commonwealth to create opinion.

Mr. President, I would be derelict in my duties to the Democratic Party if I did not vote for this piece of legislation today. I agree in principle and in fact with the statements of Senator Rosenfeld, the statements of Senator Leader, the statements of Senator Silvert. I agree with these men. This legislation should not be before us today. However, in my capacity as the spokesman for my party, it has taken from me the personal privilege of voting on this particular issue.

Mr. President, I cannot permit my party to be further stigmatized as a party friendly to un-American activities. I know and every decent citizen knows that the Democratic Party was born within the brain and in the conscience of Thomas Jefferson, the greatest American of them all, the greatest liberal of them all, but I also know that were he alive today and presented with the same problem, his decision would be resolved, I believe, along the same lines that mine are.

Mr. President, I want to say that my vote in 1945, the sole singular vote against that bill, was vindicated, because Governor Duff, now United States Senator Duff, as Attorney General of the Commonwealth, had that legislation taken from the books, the statute books, because it was declared unconstitutional, but of all the newspapers and the people in my community, who felt that they were doing what they thought was right, burned me in effigy upon my front lawn and, although I was characterized as a Red and a near Red or a "pink," or whatever you want to call it, there was never an apology made to my family, there was never a word of retraction made after the bill was declared unconstitutional.

So, Mr. President, in the face of that injustice, in fairness to my family, I will vote for this legislation. We are living in a day when stool pigeons have become number one citizens. We are living in a day when men will hide behind the decent emblem of patriotism to do things that they would not do openly, but as a leader of my party I must subscribe to the days that we live in, and speaking for the Democratic Party at this moment, I am proud that my group are going to vote as individuals on this matter, leaving it upon my shoulders to carry whatever must be carried, whether it be a cross or a halo for the party itself.

Mr. President, I will vote for this measure because the injustices of the day demand me to vote for it.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I think that we must admit today that we are living in the greatest Country in the world, and I think that every Senator on this floor today should vote for this bill. I would be scared and I would be ashamed to go back home to my family if I voted against this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I think it is clear to everyone on this floor that this is the most controversial bill that has come into this Senate this year. I received more protests, telegrams against this bill than against all the other bills, and I am convinced of this: You will not catch a single communist, you will not do any good, and it is very offensive to the Quakers, very offensive to half of our school teachers of this State, and all it will do, just as it has done here today, is create controversies, disputes and you hurt a lot of the best people we have in Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I believe that the right to petition the Legislature for a hearing is a fundamental part of government, and when the Quakers, who in most instances have been here longer in this Country and this State than some of the Members of the Senate, are refused the right to come here and be heard in public hearings, my conscience alone requires that I vote against this bill.

Mr. President, I want to point out to Mr. Mallery that the men on the Committee on Atomic Energy had to take an oath. Hiss had to take an oath, but that did not stop them from being communist spies.

Mr. President, we have the Alien Sedition Law on the books here, and in 1937, I fought to keep it on the books because I thought it was a good bill at that time. You know, Mr. President, not one person in Pennsylvania up to the time that Judge Musmanno started the case in Pittsburgh, was ever tried under the Alien Sedition Law. Any of these people we are trying to get can be gotten under the laws that we now have, and I believe it is an insult to the Friends and to the Quakers, who have asked us in their quaint way to be heard in the public hearing, for us to say, no, to them, because after all they have played an important part in making Pennsylvania what it is today.

Mr. President, due to the refusal of this committee to have a public hearing, I am forced to vote against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—42

Bane,	Haluska,	Meade,	Taylor,

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BLASS, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 176, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 575) entitled "An act providing for joint action by Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the development of the ports on the lower Delaware River, and the improvement of the facilities for transportation across the river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with New Jersey; creating the Delaware River Joint Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance projects by the issuance of revenue bonds; transferring to the new commission all the powers of the Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission; and making an appropriation," authorizing the Governor on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement with the State of New Jersey amending Articles I, II, IV, XI and VII of, and adding Article XIII, to the compact and agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey, authorized and made pursuant to the act herein supplemented, by changing the name of The Delaware River Joint Commission to The Delaware River Port Authority, and the method of appointment of commissioners; removing the present Pennsylvania members of the commission, extending the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the Delaware River Port Authority and defining such additional jurisdiction, powers and duties; to take effect upon the enactment of substantially similar legislation by the State of New Jersey embodying the supplemental agreement between the two States in this act set forth and authorizing the Governor to apply on behalf of the Commonwealth to the Congress of the United States for its consent thereto.

The PRESIDENT. The bill as amended will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order.

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 176, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 575), entitled "An act providing for joint action by Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the development of the ports on the lower Delaware River, and the improvement of the facilities for transportation across the river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with New Jersey; creating the Delaware River Joint Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance projects by the issuance of revenue bonds; transferring to the new commission all the powers of the Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission; and making an appropriation," authorizing the Governor on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement with the State of New Jersey amending Articles I, II, IV, XI and XII of, and adding Article XIII, to the compact and agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey, authorized and made pursuant to the act herein supplemented, by changing the name of The Delaware River Joint Commission to The Delaware River Port Authority, and the method of appointment of commissioners; removing the present Pennsylvania members of the commission, extending the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the Delaware River Port Authority and defining such additional jurisdiction, powers and duties; to take effect upon the enactment of substantially similar legislation by the State of New Jersey embodying the supplemental agreement between the two States in this act set forth and authorizing the Governor to apply on behalf of the Commonwealth to the Congress of the United States for its consent thereto.

And said bill having been read at length the first time Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 354, entitled:

An Act to amend section 15 of the act, approved the eighth day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 298) entitled "An act authorizing the creation of, and providing for, and regulating the maintenance and operation of a county employes' retirement system in counties of the fourth class, imposing certain charges on counties and fixing penalties," by further providing for disability retirement allowances.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 362, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1379), entitled "An act creating in counties of the third class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners; providing for their salaries, payable by the county; abolishing existing boards; defining the powers and duties of such board; regulating the assessment of persons, property, and occupations for county, borough, town, township, school, and poor purposes; authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors, a solicitor, engineers, and clerks; providing for their compensation, payable by such counties; abolishing the office of ward, borough, and township assessors, so far as the making of assessments and valuations for taxation is concerned; and providing for the acceptance of this act by cities," by authorizing the payment of additional compensation to subordinate assessors by the boroughs, townships and school districts in which he makes assessments.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 365, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, this is a civil service bill intended to restrict the present civil service bill now in force in the City of Pittsburgh insofar as the police department is concerned.

For many years we have had a civil service system for both our fire department and our police department. Until recently the police civil service bill covered policemen other than detectives and inspectors.

This bill as originally introduced endeavored to bring all ranks of the police under the civil service provision of the law up to and including our police inspectors. The bill has been amended and has removed from the provisions of the bill that part which would govern the inspectors, but still includes the detectives.

I may say for the information of this House that the City on its own volition, under its Mayor, has provided for the inclusion of the detective force under the provisions of our civil service law. In fact already, as I stated yesterday, the detective force has submitted itself to a written examination the result of which will be made known in the next few days.

This bill as it now appears on the floor contains certain provisions that I feel are not understood even by the sponsor of this bill. For that reason I wish to call them to his attention and to the attention of the House. I feel that after I have made known these provisions he may see fit to ask that this bill be recommitted to Committee.

The sponsor of the bill is the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Thompson, and he himself is a veteran. I desire to call his attention to the fact that under the provisions of this bill the provisions of the Act of 1945 wherein the preference that has been given to soldiers and sailors in promotion under civil service will be wiped out.

This bill as it now is before you states that the City shall conduct a civil service examination for detectives and police, that a list shall be prepared in numerical order according to grades and that thereafter promotions shall be made from this list in numerical order.

Under the provisions of our civil service act members of soldiers and sailors veterans' organizations are given a ten percent allowance insofar as their grade is concerned, but under this bill, once having received that ten percent the men being listed in numerical order, should a vacancy occur or a promotion be in order, the superintendent of the police department of the City of Pittsburgh will be required by mandate of this act to select men according to numerical order, thus eliminating any veteran who may be on the list but who may not be first in order.

I do not think that the sponsor of this bill himself realizes this because I know that he is a veteran and would not want to see the provisions of the Act of 1945 abrogated as they are under this bill which repeals all bills heretofore passed that are inconsistent with the provisions of this bill.

This bill also states that all the rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission as they now exist shall be frozen. It leaves no right in the Civil Service Commission to make rules and regulations which may be found necessary under certain conditions. It may be that the reason for this freezing is to prevent the use of civil service lists for political purposes. I do not care what type of commission you may be dealing with, whether it is civil service or another governmental board no matter what the answer of a board may be, there is the charge from those who are disappointed that it smacks of politics.

The Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh is endeavoring to better the conditions of the police force of the City of Pittsburgh. He has seen fit, as I say, to put the detectives under the provisions of this act and that they be given these examinations. He is anxious that scientific methods be employed in the carrying out of police duties in the City of Pittsburgh. If this bill is passed under the provisions that now exists in the bill, if the city finds it advantageous to hire an ex-member of the FBI or an ex-member of the State Police duly qualified to serve in some special capacity it is precluded from doing that under the terms of this bill, because this bill says that in order to be appointed to the force or promoted you must have been a citizen of the City of Pittsburgh for at least one year; you must have taken the examination; you must be in numerical order and before you are eligible for promotion you must have been a patrolman for at least four years.

Just recently we installed a new crime laboratory; it was necessary for the city to go to Chicago to select a man competent to head that department. If this bill had been on the books at that time the City of Pittsburgh would have been hamstrung in selecting such a man. If you are going to place restrictions, as your are in this bill, on civil service you might as well go to the n'th degree and do it on every other commission. Abolish your commissions and have bills that you can read and understand what the act says, and carry out the instructions of the act.

I would ask you gentleman in all sincerity,—this is not political; it is not a political bill, it should not be a political bill,—I ask that you vote this bill down if the sponsor of the bill insists upon a vote, but I would also ask the sponsor of the bill to reconsider his action in permitting it to come to a vote and that he himself voluntarily ask that this bill be recommitted to Committee for such amendment or further study as may be found necessary.

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, there was considerable said about this bill on the floor yesterday and again today.

The gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Schmidt had explained to you that this bill is a bill that would put the police department of the City of Pittsburgh under its own civil service law. The gentleman mentioned that in Pittsburgh they are attempting to put the city detectives under civil service.

However, if the Mayor of Pittsburgh or council can put those detectives under civil service they can also remove them from civil service themselves. This bill if it becomes a law would make it an enactment of this Legislature.

As to veterans' preference I certainly fail to see anything in this bill that would interfere with veterans' preference. There is a law that veterans in any civil service examination get their fifteen points additional credit.

As far as the promotion list in the police department is concerned, it says that vacancies in the competitive class shall be filled by promotions from persons holding positions in a lower grade in the bureau of police. Promotions shall be based upon merit to be ascertained by test to be provided by the Civil Service Commission. This bill does not state what those tests shall be. The Civil Service Commission can follow their usual procedure and the qualifications of the person to be promoted are shown by his previous service and experience.

The Civil Service Commission can also keep a record of merits according to good service, and demerits according to the number of times the man has been before the trial board or had to be disciplined in some way.

> "The Civil Service Commission shall maintain a numerical list of those persons qualified for promotion to the next superior position, which list shall be permanent and from which list the Director of the Department of Public Safety shall make all promotions in the order in which the names appear on said list. The Director of the Department of Public Safety shall not pass over any name appearing on the Civil Service Commission list for promotion until the promotion is first tendered to the first name thereon."

Now that, as far as I can see, is not interfering in the least with a Civil Service Commission giving the veteran his regular preference, so many extra points because he is a veteran, and then if his name is at the head of the list that is it.

As a matter of practical fact I would have an idea that there is no body but veterans getting on the police department today, with the civil service examination plus the fifteen point preference. I believe that all these examinations for promotions would be among veterans themselves; it would not be a question of a veteran or a non-veteran.

The gentleman has mentioned the fact that the City brought in a specialist to run a crime laboratory. There is nothing in this bill that would prevent such a thing, as far as I can see. If they had to bring in a specialist and none is available, that is a specialized proposition. This bill only deals with members of the police department and I presume that would mean all the people who are on the Department of Public Safety payroll and considered part of the police department.

In this bill the Mayor of the City has the right to appoint the Superintendent of Police, he appoints the Director of Public Safety, the Assistant Superintendent of Police, the Chief Clerk and the Inspectors.

He also on trial boards has the right to appoint the board and the board must be equal in rank or superior to the person to be tried. These are the Mayor's appointments, these trial boards. He can appoint those boards from his own appointments among the Inspectors and the Assistant Superintendent probably.

The Civil Service Commission of Pittsburgh is also a body appointed by the Mayor, and those members can be appointed and discharged at will by the Mayor.

The police department of the City of Pittsburgh, the actual policemen, if they are to be free of political control, absolutely need the protection provided by this bill, and I would ask the Members of this House to vote for it.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, under Section IV of the Act of 1945, properly known as the Soldiers and Sailors Preference Act, it reads as follows:

"Whenever any soldier possesses the requisite qualifications, and his name appears on any eligible or promotional list, certified or furnished as a result of any such civil service examination, the appointing or promoting power in making an appointment or promotion to a public position shall give preference to such soldier, not withstanding, that his name does not stand highest on the eligible or promotional list."

That is the provision under the Act of 1945.
Under this bill, it provides in Section 6 as follows:

"The Civil Service Commission shall maintain a numerical list of those persons qualified for promotion to the next superior positions which list shall be permanent, and from which list the Director of the Department of Public Safety shall make all promotions in the order in which the names appear on said list. The Director of the Department of Public Safety shall not pass over any name appearing on the Civil Service Commission list for promotion until the promotion is first tendered to the first name thereon, and then only when said person refuses said promotion or is physically unable to carry out the duties of the new position."

In the repealing clause of this Act, it says:

"All other Acts, and parts of Acts, inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed."

If the provisions of this bill are not inconsistent with the provisions of the Act of 1945 then I am badly misinformed.

Also I want to call your attention to the fact that the portion I read says that this list shall be permanent, meaning that if at the time an examination is given for either appointment or promotion and a list, let us say, of a hundred is made up, no other examinations can be given under this Act until each and every name on that list has been used up. And if it should take four, five or ten years to use up that list, there will be no other examination given until this list is used up.

Every other civil service provision that I have ever known has provided that a list, an eligibility list, such as this shall either continue for one, two or maybe three years; there is a time restriction on it. So I say, that too, is a bad feature in this bill.

I better also say this, that the two daily newspapers in Pittsburgh have in their editorials requested that this Legislature not act upon these bills at this time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not arise to state a party position; I do not arise to state a caucus position. I simply state a personal position, a personal conviction.

I have personally arrived at the point where I view any extension of civil service as a backward step. I believe a survey of civil service and the inequities that it has developed would convince anyone whose views were not controlled by political considerations that civil service, by and large, in all its ramifications has not improved the public service.

This particular bill freezes a certain number of detectives under the police structure of Pittsburgh. Doubtless Pittsburgh has some good detectives. I do not mean, and I do not believe the Mayor of Pittsburgh would say that all of his detectives were good. However, the detectives that he has carry the reputation of the administration. Somebody should be in a position to rid Pittsburgh of any member of the police force who does not perform his functions. The people of Pittsburgh should not have to depend upon a Civil Service Commission to do it.

One of the evils at Washington, one of the evils here at Harrisburg, is the fact that public servants assured of civil service status just nestle down comfortably in the post, proceed to develop a growing bureaucracy and the longer they are in, the more bureaucratic they become.

Civil service examinations in 99 percent of the cases are simply so much bunk. I do not believe I ought to have to know on what day of the year and of what year Caesar was assassinated in order to be a policeman. The questions that Civil Service Commissions ask are in part related to the job they have to do, and others are purely academic.

And so the reasons I am opposed to this bill are not the reasons urged by the gentleman from Pittsburgh on this side of the House, why he is opposed to the bill. I am opposed to the bill because it is an extension of civil service in a direction that cannot benefit the police force of Pittsburgh. I say if the police force of Pittsburgh does not function, the Mayor and his administration are to blame, and should be voted out of office. But I do not believe the Mayor of Pittsburgh and his administration should be blamed for a non-functioning police force that they cannot dismiss at will.

Mr. RONALD L. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that the Mayor of Pittsburgh would make his police department function one hundred percent by appointing a Public Safety Director who knew his business, a Superintendent of Police who knew his business, Inspectors who were policemen instead of politicians. I think without any civil service whatsoever, if those things were done the police department in the City of Pittsburgh would function just as well as any police department possibly could.

The unfortunate thing about it is that the Mayor of Pittsburgh—and I do not speak only for the present Mayor; any mayor that comes along, apparently is under such political pressure from board chairmen and from his political heelers throughout the city that they just do not do it. Therefore, the people of Pittsburgh have in the last few years been of the opinion, and I think that this is pretty universal in the city, that the police department should be braced up.

I do not say this bill is a perfect bill in so far as doing a job that it will make a perfect police department, but what I do say is this, that it is a step in the right direction. It will take the political pressure off the policeman's neck. If he wants to be a good policeman, it gives him that opportunity without being pushed around politically. Those are the good features of this bill.

As to what the gentleman from Allegheny. Mr. Schmidt, mentioned, that the newspapers in Pittsburgh have been writing that we should not pass this bill, I think we took care of that matter yesterday when I put in amendments that would make this bill not effective until the first of September. That is five months that the police department of the City of Pittsburgh can function on its present basis. During those five months, if the Mayor or his administration intends to do anything to take care of any situation they may have in their detective department, they have penty of time to do it.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, as a final statement, I merely wish to state this, that based upon the statement just made by the sponsor of this bill, the necessity arises out of the fact that we have a politically controlled group of policemen in the City of Pittsburgh who are not doing their duty, do not want to do their duty, and therefore we are going to pass this law and freeze them into office and let them stay there—that is the only logic that I can get out of his remarks—"Keep them there. They are not qualified, but we are going to make sure that they stay there."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 361, as follows:

An Act to further amend section 6 of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 1055) entitled "An act authorizing the release on probation of certain convicts instead of imposing sentences the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and expenses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries" by further regulating the manner of sentencing of convicts in certain cases

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Section 6 of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 1055) entitled "An act authorizing the release on probation of certain convicts instead of imposing sentences the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and expenses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries" as amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-thre (P. L. 975) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 6 Whenever any person cinvicted in any court of this Commonwealth of any crime punishable by imprisonment in a State penitentiary shall be sentenced to imprisonment therefor in any penitentiary or other institution of this State or in any county or municipal institution the court instead of pronouncing upon such convict a definite or fixed term of imprisonment shall pronounce upon such convict a sentence of imprisonment for an indefinite term Stating in such sentence the minimum and maximum limits thereof and the maximum limit shall never exceed the maximum time now or hereafter prescribed as a penalty for such offense and the minimum limit shall never exceed one-half of the maximum sentence prescribed by any court

Whenever any person is cinvicted of any crime punishable by simple imprisonment the court may in its discretion pronounce a sentence either for a fixed term or for an indefinite term as may seem proper under the circumstances of the case but in no case to exceed the maximum term prescribed by law as a penalty for such offense.

Provided That nothing herein contained shall be construed to derogate from the power of the judges of the courts of quarter sessions and of the courts of oyer and terminer or other court of record having jurisdiction of the several judicial districts of the Commonwealth after due inquiry to release on parole any convict cinfined in the county jail house of correction or workhouse of their respective districts as provided in section one of an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 1059) entitled "An act extending the powers of judges of courts of quarter sessions and of oyer and terminer in relation to releasing prisoners in jails and workhouses on parole" its amendments and supplements And provided further That no person sentenced for an indeterminate term shall be entitled to any benefits under the act entitled "An act providing for the commutation of sentences for good behavior of convicts in prisons penitentiaries workhouses and county jails in this State and regulations governing the same" approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one

And provided further That before any parole shall be granted pursuant to the terms hereof notice of an intention so to do shall be given at least ten days prior thereto by the board of prison inspectors to the judge of the county who imposed the sentence if he be still in office but otherwise to the judge or judges of the court of oyer and terminer or the court of quarter sessions then in session or if there be no current term then the next ensuing term thereof and having jurisdiction of cases of the like character Similar notice shall also be given to the district attorney then in office in said county

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, once again I rise to register simply a personal opinion. I am not speaking for any caucus or any party.

I believe this is a bill that has not been properly considered—incidentally I do not often rise in defense of the courts—but this bill to my mind, transfers to the Parole Board, functions that should continue to be resident in the courts.

Over recent years, as I have been permitted to survey the situation, the powers and functions of the Parole Board have been slowly increasing. And to my mind, this is another step in the direction of increasing the powers of the Parole Board at the expense of the powers that should be resident in the courts. While I do not intend to protract the discussion at all, I simply register that as my personal conviction.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to get into any protracted discussion on this myself. However, the purpose of this bill is to do just the contrary of what the Minority Leader speaks.

At the present time the courts have no power in cases where imprisonment is in the county jails or workhouses, which is considered as simple imprisonment as compared to imprisonment in the penitentiaries and have no power to sentence except upon a fixed term. They have no power to fix minimum and maximum sentences and because of that, they have run into serious conflicts with the Parole Board and they have run into serious conflict in Pennsylvania to keep control of their prisoners.

This bill is designed, in those cases where a person is sentenced to either a county jail or a workhouse, so that the court can fix a minimum sentence and on his own motion then, if he want to, or under the law at the end of the minimum term, to parole him and keep him under the supervision of the court rather than to have that supervision transferred to the Parole Board.

Although this is done in many cases throughout the state today, the question was raised on a very serious offense where a minimum and maximum term had been fixed on a sentence to a workhouse. The result of it was that the prisoner was discharged because of defectiveness of the sentence.

We are trying to correct it so the court can keep control of the defendants instead of transferring them to the Parole Board.

Mr. ANDREWS. My personal attorney, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, has just informed me that the gentleman from Cameron is right and that I am wrong. I have great faith in the legal acumen of the gentleman from Cambria, and when the gentleman from Cameron and the gentleman from Cambria both say I am wrong, why I guess I am wrong; and so I will have to vote for the bill.

NOT VOTING—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 587, entitled:

An Act providing a method for the reestablishment of townships of the first class from any city to which they have been annexed and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto and reestablishing the same as separate school districts

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. I would like to ask the gentleman, the purpose of the bill.

As I understand it, it is to provide a procedure by which the township which has been admitted to a city, during a period of ten years can withdraw from the city. Is that substantially correct?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, that is correct.

Mr. SEYLER. I understand from the bill that the procedure provides that after the proper petition has been made and has been placed on the ballot, only the citizens of the city who are former members of the township involved will be permitted to vote on the proposal. Is that substantially correct?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, the bill states that those voters who are residents of that part of the city which was the original township are eligible to vote.

Mr. SEYLER. In other words, Mr. Speaker, I take it that that means that only those people residing in the former townships and now a part of the city.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct in that statement.

Mr. SEYLER. Then I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, to refer to Page 6 of the Bill. On Page 6, Section 10, line 19, I read as follows:

> "All bonded indebtedness of such township as of date of annexation shall be the debt of such township as of the date of its reestablishment as a township."

And now the following passage I am particularly interested in:

> "And the township shall not be liable for any part of the bonded indebtedness of such city existing prior to its annexation."

The question I would like to ask, Mr. Speaker, is this: Will the township, after its secession, be liable for any part of the bonded indebtedness of such city made during the ten year or less period when the township was part of the city?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I believe, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will refer to Section 10, the following words on Page 7, lines 2 and 3

> "And the township shall not be liable for any part of the bonded indebtedness of such city existing prior to the annexation to such city."

The bill itself does not speak of any bonded indebtedness of the city during the period when the township was a part of the city. That should be left to the discretion of the court ordering the vote under the petition, and you will see that the requirements of the petition state that that particular question shall be taken up and the court informed of the various and sundry parts of the bonded indebtedness of the two separate subdivisions.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman to cast his memory back to the events of the last session of Legislature. I ask him whether he remembers House Bill 321. And I will read the title to the Bill to refresh the gentleman's memory.

> "An act requiring the consent of the electors of a township when such township or any part thereof is to be annexed to a contiguous borough." Does the gentleman recall that bill?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not recall that particular bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, the vote in the House was 126 to 60 in favor of that bill and the gentleman is recorded as voting "aye."

Another bill, Senate Bill 44, which before the House during that session was a bill requiring the consent of the electors of any political subdivision "when such political subdivision or any part thereof is to be annexed by a city of the first class," and for the information of the gentleman, the vote on that measure was 204 to 0. Does the gentleman recall that bill?

Mr. ROBERTSON. That bill I very definitely do recall.

Mr. SEYLER. And then thirdly, Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman if he recalls House Bill 19 introduced in the last session of the Legislature?

Mr. ROBERTSON. That was the same bill as Senate Bill 44, if I am not mistaken.

Mr. SEYLER. That is correct. And does the gentleman recall he was the sponsor of that bill?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I certainly do.

Mr. SEYLER. Now, Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his answers.

All of those bills, Mr. Speaker, contain the principle that in any case of secession, or the withdrawing of one part of a political subdivision, it established the principle that all of the citizens of that political subdivision were involved and should, therefore, have some control over the withdrawing or the secession of a part of that from the whole. I submit that the same principle that in those bills is involved in this bill.

This bill proposes that a part of a city established in conformance with the law, which means that all the members of the township involved voted and they were admitted to the city, may secede. Having become part of the city, this bill proposes that they can withdraw from that city without a vote of the whole city, but with the vote of only a part. If it was right and proper at the last session for the gentleman and the other Members of this House to vote that in a case of secession, the vote should be taken of all of the members of the political subdivision in those townships, why is it not just as fitting and proper that in this session we should hold to that principle? The gentleman who voted for that principle last year regarding townships, cannot logically vote for the principle this year and say that in the case of a city, if one part wishes to withdraw, it should involve the vote of all the members of that part.

I have heard that this bill involves a local political dispute in one of our towns. I have no wish to enter into that phase of it, nor do I wish to remark on the ethics or the propriety of referring such a question to this Legislature.

There was a time, I believe, in the history of Pennsylvania, way back when it was quite proper to come to the Legislature and ask for a special enactment to take care of a local political situation; but the makers of our present Constitution found that inadvisable and established the principle that we should not settle local disputes by special legislation. Whether this is an attempt to get around such a provision of the Constitution I do not know, but what I am concerned with is the general effect of this legislation upon the whole state and upon the cities, primarily, because this bill deals with cities.

But the principle can be carried further and applied to boroughs or similar situations. If we are going to allow political subdivisions,—this only refers to first class townships—if we are going to allow them to come into a larger political subdivision by their own choice, stay in for a short time and then withdraw, we are establishing a principle which to my mind is a very dangerous one.

I ask you to consider the predicament of a city. A city is a large organism. It is not merely a bunch of people or a territorial item; it is an organism set up for a specific purpose, to take care of certain problems of its citizens; sewage, garbage disposal, police, firemen, and so on. When they provide for that, they contract certain indebtedness to take care of it.

Now, for example, let us suppose that this bill is passed, a township comes into the city by its own choice; the city proceeds to make provision for the acceptance of that township. It builds, let us say, a sewage plant because the old one is inadequate with the addition of the new territory. Let us say that the township decides to withdraw, it proceeds under this bill to withdraw; the city is left definitely holding the bag, saddled with a sewage system or disposal system or whatever it is which it no longer needs in its entirety, and you cannot divide a sewage system in half and say let the township take half of it along. That is impossible. You have established something for an organic whole. The city to my mind is an organism. The same principle was applied quite a while ago with regard to our nation. The colonists joined and formed one nation; other states came into it. The question is, were they able to withdraw? Well, not by a vote of just the members of the state that wanted to withdraw. We fought a civil war to establish that principle.

It seems to me something of the same sort applies here. When you have established a political subdivision and it acts to meet its problems, it is no longer possible for one small part which came in voluntarily, of its own will, to withdraw and leave the larger political subdivision holding the bag.

I submit that we should vote on this, not as a matter of partisanship, not to clear up a local political issue, but we should vote on it as a matter of principle, and with the full view as to what this will mean to the cities and later on the boroughs and the townships themselves, in regard to this important problem of annexation.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I have just a few observations to make following the gentleman's talk.

First of all the gentleman spoke about sewage systems, water systems and items of that type, and I think the gentleman knows as well as all of us here know that there are a lot of presently existing sewer authorities and water authorities in this State which go beyond the municipal subdivision line.

I think the gentleman also knows and we know that those particular items are paid for by sewer rental and by water rental. So if the mere fact that you might have a sewage system which has been installed by a city, and I am not exactly certain that that is in the question here, the city will not be saddled by it for the simple reason that the sewer rentals and the water rentals will still go on.

The gentleman also brought your attention to the fact that this may be a change of a theory of good legislative practice which was installed in this Legislature last session. Along that line I would like to point out to the gentleman that the fact still remains that the contiguous group of the township, the former township that now wishes to secede is still the group which votes on it. They are the group that determines its own policies and its own future and I submit there is no change whatsoever as far as this situation is concerned.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill to how many communities this bill, if enacted, would apply?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Robertson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I have asked the question; I think the gentleman heard the question.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the question of the gentleman from Cambria it is, to how many particuluar situations would this apply at the present time—is that the question?

Mr. ANDREWS. That is the question.

Mr. ROBERTSON. As far as I know, Mr. Speaker, of my own personal knowledge there is none at the present time, of my own personal knowledge.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, then the gentleman is not in a position to assure us how many cities would be dismembered if this bill were passed.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, as far as I know now there is only one city of any of the three classes which has annexed an entire township, and I believe that is the City of Scranton.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is this bill proposed in the interest of a Scranton situation?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I would rather have the co-sponsor of the bill answer that because he comes from that particular territory.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Robertson yields to the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Spencer.

Mr. SPENCER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I was asked by a group of former residents of former townships to present this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, we have, thanks to the gentleman, been able to localize this particular dispute. We localize it but we do not know whether some other city or how many other cities might be adversely affected.

I have no record here as to the townships that have been absorbed by cities and I think that before we prescribe a formula for secession, a formula for disrupting municipalities we ought to know how wide the range of our shooting is going to be.

The gentleman has referred to sewage disposal plants and all that sort of thing. What he says about that is true, but under his proposal, to township lacking roads, lacking streets, lacking alleys, could come into a city, get its alleys improved, get its streets improved, secure other improvements and say to the city as a whole "Thank you gentlemen, thank you very much. The time has now come when we think it would be well to secede."

Aside from that, I think this bill should at least go over until all the Members of the House have satisfied themselves that it does not apply to their own local situation.

The SPEAKER. Do the sponsors of this bill have any objection to its being passed over temporarily?

Mr. ROBERTSON. None, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will withdraw its decision as to this bill having been agreed too on third reading, and the bill will be passed over. The Chair hears none, and the bill is passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 18, as follows:

An Act to amend Section 5 of the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 565) entitled "An act providing compensation to certain persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States or of any of her allies during World War II providing the method of making payment to representatives of persons who because of death or incapacity cannot personally reveice compensation imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General making an appropriation and prodiving penalties" by extending the time during which applications may be filed for veterans' compensation

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pen sylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 5 of the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 565) entitled "An act providing compensation to certain persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States or of any of her allies during World War II providing the method of making payment to representatives of persons who because of death or incapacity cannot personally receive compensation imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General making an appropriation and providing penalties" ies hereby amended to read as follows

Section 5 Application for Compensation Applications for compensation shall be made to the Adjutant General not they have applied for or received a bonus gratuity or on such forms and in such manner as he shall prescribe

Applicants shall state on their application whether or compensation of a nature similar to that provided for by this act from any other state in the union

All aplications shall be made (1) personally by the veteran or (2) in case of death or mental incompetency preventing the making of a personal application then by such representative of the veteran as the Adjutant General shall by regulation prescribe An application made by a representative other than one authorized by such regulation shall be held void

The Adjutant General shall not accept or consider any application filed with him after the first day of July one thousand nine hundred [fifty] fifty-two

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 237, Printer's No. 75

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, once again I am compelled to take a purely personal position.

I notice in the budget that, as far as the Members of this House are concerned, there is no provision made for any additional compensation. We are having tax bills come into our lap and we will have salary boosters come into our lap. All that I can do about that, as I said, Mr. Speaker, is to take a purely personal position.

My personal position is this: that until we have cleared our thinking as to whether or not we are going to increase the compensation of Members of this House in the future and whether we are going to make any provision for an increase in expense accounts during this session, until we have clarified that situation, my individual, personal protest, will be a motion to place every salary raiser on the postponed calendar and to place the tax measures on the postponed calendar.

We have for twenty years evaded the matter of whether or not Members of this House shall be adequately paid. I have proposed and placed in the keeping of the Majority leader as trustee a bill which would increase the salaries of future Members of the House to $5 thousand.

I have also committed into the keeping of that mausoleum known as the Rules Committee, that tomb from which none emerge, that receptacle into which apparently there is no Lazarus; with no one even if Lazarus were there, having the power to say: "Lazarus, come forth!"

I have another bill pending providing for annual sessions. I think there is merit in the proposal for annual sessions. I think there is merit in the proposal that the salaried compensation of the Members of this Assembly be increased. As a personal position, and I do not suppose that anybody other than myself will pay any attention to the motion, I propose every time a salary increase for anybody comes before this House, to move that it be placed upon the postponed calendar until we have solved our own problem.

I also propose to move that tax measures be placed upon the postponed calendar until we have faced the issue of whether or not we should get the annual session and whether or not we actually think we should have increased compensation and have the courage to take that sort of a stand.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rather hesitate to stand up after hearing the applause on our side of the House. In fact if I did not have this microphone in front of me, I might have joined in with some of the applause, believe me.

I fear that I am placed in the position of the little boy who wants the penny and also wants the cake. The gentleman rather embarrassed me just a couple weeks ago by asking when the tax measures will be brought into the House. I would hesitate to put them on the postponed calendar now that they are in the House, Mr. Speaker.

As far as compensation is concerned, well, I think probably I could agree with the gentleman just the same as every Member on this side of the Houes. I feel that our compensation is not adequate for the services we perform.

I hope he does not put my desk in the same position as the Rules Committee as being a mausoleum. I still have trusteeship of the bill. The only trouble that I have had is in deciding which of the 120 Members are going to sponsor it on our side. I have to fight my way every morning into my office, because the sponsors are numerous, believe me.

As far as annual sessions are concerned, I will gladly agree with him on that. I think the Governor has agreed on that and the Governor is supporting that type of legislation.

I feel again that the tax measures should be on the calendar and should roll, but I do feel that when the compensation bill comes up for the Members, he will have numerous sponsors, as I have assured him before, on this side of the House. I agree with him wholeheartedly on that.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. PFAFF asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, after that beautiful description of the Rules Committee that our Minority Leader gave just a minute ago, I can see where I am going to be a hopeless case. But I do want to bring to the attention of the House Resolution No. 20, Serial No. 29, which was introduced in the House on March 14th.

I know I do not read very many non-privileged resolutions and I do not think a lot of other Members do; but this is a matter of concern to all of us. On March 5th, in one of the leading newspapers in the city of Pittsburgh, a homesick mountaineer wrote a letter to the paper stating that the women of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania, when compared to those of his home State, West Virginia, looked like hags and witches. I think this august body of the Legislature does not agree with that man.

This resolution that I put into the House describes the women of Pennsylvania adequately, and I think we all believe that the women in Pennsylvania are as beautiful, if not more beautiful, than in any other state in the Nation, and may I add especially when you return home tomorrow night or tonight.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WEIDNER.

(Concurrent)) RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1951.

As a part of the platform on which he was elected Governor of this Commonwealth, the Honorable James James H. Duff pledged the eradication of pollution in the Schuylkill River.

He lived up to his promise during his governorship by advocating the necessary legislation and insisting upon expeditious administration with the result that by the end of his term, the greater portion of the project was completed—in spite of the many other increased and additional demands for and upon State funds in general and post-war construction in particular.

His vision and courage in fostering this program will have a longlasting effect on the health and welfare of the public and on the beauty and conservation of the natural resources of our richly endowed Commonwealth; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the first dam completed as a part of the Schuylkill River project, located in Tilden and Windsor Townships, Berks County, shall be designated as the James H. Duff Dm; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Forests and Waters shall erect suitable tablets or markers to perpetuate this rqesolution.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. ERB from the Committee on Counties, reported as committed, House Bill No. 252, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 605 of the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. BLOOM, ROBERTSON and WILLIAM C. LEONARD offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1951.

During the past five years, Bob Clendening has served his county, his State, and his country well. As a Member of the Legislature, his time and talent have been aptly applied to the solution of many problems. As the father of an expanding family, he has given five children to his community.

The family group has long been recognized as a basic building stone in our American pattern of living. And anyone who fashions this stone in a rugged mold of expansiveness, contributes greatly to the intrinsic strength and wealth of his country. Hence, the five Clendening additions to the human resources of their community become not noly potential agents for creative activity, but are factors for the expression of sound citizenship and the amenities of a full life.

It is significant that Bob Clendening, who professes a lively idealism in his views of our American mores, performs mightily to transform these concepts into living realities. More than passing attention should be given to Bob's fait accomplis—five children in five years—a record of achievement that arouses envy and stirs admiration and implies a rigorous home discipline in timing and accuracy; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives announce its unrepressed joy at the arrival of a fifth child—a seven pound two ounce boy, John Harry—into the home of the Clendenings, and offer its devout prayer that Mrs. Clendening and her son will prosper well; and be it further

Resolved, That this House express the hope that the chain reaction of blessed events will run unbroken for many years in the House of Clendening; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Clendening at the Delaware County Hospital.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BLOOM. Mr. Speaker, in the mailbox of each of the Members they will find a cigar, the best available cigar; and to the ladies, a package of cigarettes. This was sent to the House by young John, and the cigars and the cigarettes carry with them the profound esteem and respect which John and the entire quintet have for the colleagues of Bob Clendening.

Young John, when the third child was born during the last session, when a cigar was presented to the Minority Leader, expressed some concern because of his lack of enjoyment of cigars,—so the youngsters told brother John, and today John, because of the lofty ideals of the Minority Leader, and the velvety tongue in which he expresses himself has sent to the Minority Leader five cans of Prince Albert and Velvet tobacco.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I arise to express my appreciation to John, all his brothers and sisters and to his happy parents.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman that had the baby was overly generous with his contribution to the Minority Leader. God help us if we are all going to be tobacco smokers. Later on it is going to be a liability to have babies.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER. The chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Clendening.

Mr. CLENDENING. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of my wife, my family and myself, I would like to express my appreciation for the time taken today from our busy session to give recognition to our happy home event.

It would seem that up to this point in the session we are establishing a precedent for some sort of rule on parental or maternal procedure which has caused me some concern. We have provided cigars for the gentlemen, we have provided cigarettes for the ladies, smoking tobacco for the pipe-smokers. I am still a little bit concerned about the ladies. Whether that is appropriate or not under the rules. Therefore, I would like to suggest that following the session, if they have any suggestions that would be more appropriate to the occasion, I would certainly like to hear about them to rectify any inappropriate action taken up to this time.

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair can well understand the reason for asking for such advice.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CARR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Thursday, March 29, 1951 at 10:00 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 3:17 p. m.) the House adjourned.
